What to Do When

(For chapter Officers, Alumnae Advisers, and Province Officers)

OCTOBER

- 7—Treasurer places monthly finance report in mail to fraternity accountant and province president.
- 7—Alumna finance adviser places monthly report in mail to finance chairman's deputy.
- 10—Treasurer sends chapter's subscription ($2.00) for BANTA'S GREEK EXCHANGE to central office, check made payable to the Fraternity.
- 13—Founders' Day, wear Kappa colors.
- 15—Pledge adviser places order for hand books with the central office.
- 25—KEY correspondent places chapter news letter for December KEY, and pictures of Mortar Board members elected during last school year in mail to editor's deputy. KEY stationery provided by the central office.
- 30—President shall appoint chairman of music and history sales.
- 30—Corresponding secretary sends revised list of chapter officers to the central office, also copies of current rushing rules to the national pan-hellenic delegate, central office, and province president.
- 30—Registrar sends two copies to the central office of the names and school addresses of all active members; and a report of rushing conflicts with other fraternities to the central office, province president, and director of provinces. Send order for year's supplies of pledge and catalog cards, etc., to the central office.

NOVEMBER

- 1—Treasurer mails return postal to finance chairman stating that charge sheets have been mailed to all parents of active and pledge members and letters to the parents of all pledges.
- 1—Standards chairman places chapter standards' program for the year in mail to director of standards.
- 7—Treasurer places monthly finance report in mail to fraternity accountant and province president.
- 7—Alumna finance adviser places monthly report in mail to finance chairman's deputy.
- 7—Treasurer of chapter house boards sends annual financial report to finance chairman and central office.
- 15—Treasurer sends copy of corrected budget to fraternity accountant, finance chairman, executive secretary, and province president, and mails return card to finance chairman stating that budgets have been mailed.
- 30—Treasurer sends to central office per capita tax report and per capita tax for each member active at any time during the first half year, as well as per capita tax for associate members, also check for treasurer's bond with information requested on blank sent for this purpose.

DECEMBER

- 1—Scholarship chairman sends to central office, national scholarship chairman, and province president a report of the scholastic standing of her chapter for the previous year (1935-36) in comparison to the other groups on her campus on blanks provided by the central office.
- 7—Treasurer places monthly finance report in mail to fraternity accountant and province president.
- 7—Alumna finance adviser places monthly report in mail to finance chairman's deputy.
- 15—KEY correspondent places chapter news letter for February KEY in mail to editor's deputy.
- 20—Mail Christmas gifts to Kappa's philanthropic funds.

JANUARY

- 7—Treasurer places monthly finance report in mail to fraternity accountant and province president.
- 7—Alumna finance adviser places monthly report in mail to finance chairman's deputy.

FEBRUARY

- 7—Treasurer places monthly finance report in mail to fraternity accountant and province president.
- 7—Alumna finance adviser places monthly report in mail to finance chairman's deputy.
- 15—Registrar sends to central office two copies of the names and school addresses of active member for second semester, and a report of rushing conflicts with other fraternities to the central office, province president and director of provinces.
- 15—Annual election and installation of officers held between February 15 and March 15.
- 25—KEY correspondent places chapter news letter for April KEY in mail to editor's deputy.
- 28—President shall appoint rushing chairman and alumna rushing adviser for the next school year.
- 28—Corresponding secretary sends name of rushing chairman with college and summer address as well as name and address of rushing adviser to central office.
- 28—Registrar sends to central office annual catalog report on blanks furnished for that purpose.
- 29—Province president sends full report of province to grand president.

WITHIN ONE WEEK AFTER INITIATION treasurer sends initiation fees to the central office. REGISTRAR sends catalog cards for initiates.

Mrs. Boyd Rejoices in "Forward Step"

Our Dear Editor and all the Dear Kappa Girls:

I have just been looking through the last copy of THE KEY and admiring the lovely pictures of girls and places that had to do with convention days and the more I saw, the more excruciatingly painful was my regret at not being able to enjoy it all with you.

I greatly rejoice in the forward step taken by the convention, in planning for the proposed Kappa club houses, which will be a wonderful achievement for the fraternity and a great blessing to many lone Kappas.

Thanking you all for the many kind messages that come to me through the years, I am, lovingly,

Yours,

LOU BENNETT BOYD

Mrs. Boyd's general health is much better than it was in the summer, when the extreme heat was so trying. Since it has been necessary for Mrs. Boyd to limit her writing, to prevent strain on her eyes, Kappas will particularly appreciate this word from our beloved "first lady" who was in all our thoughts on Founders' day, especially.

The Editor Reflects . . .

Upon Proof

That the power of the women's fraternity as an organized group is recognized by the United States Department of Labor's women's bureau, no less.

This evidence is in a letter to the editor from Mary Anderson, director of the women's bureau, enclosing a pamphlet, bulletin No. 146, "A Policy Insuring Value to the Woman Buyer and a Livelihood to Apparel Makers."

"The use of the new type of label (consumers' protection label) discussed in the bulletin guarantees that the garment bearing it was made under sanitary conditions and fair labor standards," states Miss Anderson's letter.

"As the Women's Bureau was requested to prepare this bulletin by eight national women's organizations and the National Garment Label Council, and as the success of the label is dependent upon widespread coöperation of women throughout the country, we thought that you might be interested in carrying some special reference to the contents of this publication."

Since the bulletin arrived too close to our deadline for us to read it carefully, we can make only this reference. Kappas interested may obtain copies of the bulletin for 10 cents apiece from the Superintendent of Documents at Washington.

If efforts are being made to better working conditions and wages for our less fortunate sisters who labor in the apparel industries, we as women are glad. If we, as college fraternity women, can coöperate in these efforts, let us.

In passing, however, we noted a sub-head, "Problems of the Neckwear and Scarf Industry." That reminded us of our problem of the neckwear and scarf industry: how to keep manufacturers from putting on the market any more of those scarves bearing the insignia of the Panhellenic groups. We hope Panhellenic has brought this to the attention of the manufacturers; but we have had no report, despite the fact that Greek public opinion has been aroused. Let us hear!

Upon the Air

Which has lately become another medium through which misinterpretation of the college fraternity system may fall upon the ears of the uninformed.

In the editor's home town a station broadcasts a "fraternity house party." We listened in one evening and heard a nondescript program of music dedicated, unless our ears deceived us, to Delta Chi founded at Columbia in 1842. At one point in the program a song, dedicated to the Alpha chapter, was played—and the song was “The Music Goes ‘Round and Around!” Incidentally, the radio hour uses “The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi” as its “signature song.”

According to the directory of the National Interfraternity Conference, Delta Chi in its membership was founded in 1890 at Cornell!

There is also a “Kappa Gamma Forum” each Saturday afternoon in Detroit. This we have not yet been able to hear. But we understand that the programs have been a series of round table discussions on money.

Even if the college Greeks went on the air themselves, it is doubtful whether authentic fraternity broadcasts would do more than add to the confusion of the public mind. Meanwhile these air-raids are in effect another method of cashing in on the Greeks.

Upon the Season

Of rushing, lately concluded, with its triumphs and its disappointments, its pledge classes of “lovely girls” and its losses of girls, one group to the other.

At Kappa’s convention last summer the plan of the grand council for a national adviser in charge of rushing was adopted. The questions and problems of rushing have accordingly been delegated to the director of provinces.

As all actives, and many alumnae, of every women’s fraternity know, rushing is still a major problem. Rushing on many campuses still falls far short of the ideal.

But we have faith in the ability of Kappa to work out a solution, for the spirit of Kappa is right. As the director of provinces said in a bulletin sent the chapters last September, “Be real Kappas and your rushing will be successful.” Real Kappas are honest, fair, genuine, friendly, as the bulletin stated.

They will never lose sight of the fraternity’s ideals. “Normally friendship is the fruit of shared experiences based on common interests,” said the bulletin, suggesting that Kappas endeavor to have their rushing approach this normal development as much as is possible under rushing conditions.

Kappa’s designation of a national officer through whom the chapters may clear their rushing problems will gradually result in a complete picture of the situation. From this it should be possible to work constructively toward a procedure worthy of Kappa, Panhellenic and the fraternity system, one which will remove the causes of adverse criticism leveled, often all too justly, against rushing.

Upon Subjects

Of conversation in “bull sessions” among our Greek brothers in college, as revealed in The Shield and Diamond of Pi Kappa Alpha for October, 1936.

Editor K. D. Pulcifer sent questionnaires to the chapters and found the results “interesting and, on the whole, complimentary to the intelligence of the newest generation of Pi Kappa Alphas.”

Listed in this order, in his own words, the principal subjects are “Coeds, sports, crime, politics, rackets, religion, hot dates, campus graft, women—again, the New Deal, war and pacifism—and, of course, exams and pipe courses. But not all these discussions are frivolous. Many a bull-fest is a liberal education in itself!”

We’d like to listen in on the girls in college talking among themselves. Some of their conversation would be about men and clothes and dates (minus the adjective) and other girls and courses (not necessarily “pipe”).

We know that Kappas also talk about books and music and current events, with an interest in the cultural subjects the fraternity’s fine standards program has been organized to foster. Our ex-

Santa's Motive Power

Descendants of Dancer, Prancer, et al., Important in Eskimo Economics

By DOROTHY DUBUAR, B A

ALMOST time again for Santa Claus and his prancing steeds! I feel like Mrs. Santa Claus herself because reindeer has been my theme song for a number of years.

Since the first morning when I heard of a very strange business—the reindeer business—and hastened to this office wondering what was the shorthand “curly cue” for the word reindeer, I have written miles of reindeer “curly cues”: spent six months in the Alaska reindeer country with its many reindeer proudly wearing “curly cue” horns: and was tossed home on a freighter which cut numerous “curly cues” through Bering sea because of ice packs and November storms.

Santa Claus' Dunder and Blitzen are about to leap and dash over sparkling rooftops. The reindeer of Alaska are now roaming quietly on the vast open ranges, pawing deep through the snow for their winter food—reindeer moss. Next summer they will be a bit more temperamental and lunch only on mushrooms, blueberries, lichens and other delicate vegetation.

This infant industry is an adopted child of Uncle Sam's. It is the result of a vision held by Dr. Sheldon Jackson, a Presbyterian missionary who observed the difficulties of sustaining life for the Eskimo people. With the coming of the American whaler with improved guns, the whales and walrus were killed off or driven farther north and the Eskimos left in a destitute condition and often faced with starvation. Dr. Jackson brought this to the attention of Congress. As a result, our government imported from Siberia the original nucleus from which the present reindeer industry of Alaska is a development.

Today there are hundreds of herds. Thousands of Eskimos depend entirely upon them for food and clothing. For the first time in history, these nomadic people are developing into a pastoral race with the desire to make themselves self-supporting.

The corporation for which I work was formed in Nome, Alaska, in 1914 by the four Lomen brothers. The name Rare photograph of Santa Claus, himself, in person, at the take-off, with Dunder, Blitzen and the other reindeer well in hand.

Lomen is well-known throughout Alaska. They bought a small herd of reindeer. Now they have a far-flung enterprise employing special refrigerated ships, cold storage plants at different points in Alaska, herds numbering over 250,000 reindeer, and an organization equipped to handle its products all along the line until they reach the meat shops and restaurants of the United States.

You will like reindeer meat. Oscar of the Waldorf recommends it. Forget you are munching on Santa Claus' pets, dry your sentimental tears, and you will find that reindeer meat does not have the sharp taste of venison or other game meats. It has a flavor all its own which might be described as something between that of lamb and breast of mallard duck. It is the festival meat of Europe. This Christmas, Germany and Scandinavia will feast on reindeer meat.

The Lomen corporation has six herds in Alaska, and trading posts at the locations of these herds. Two are north of the Arctic circle. Buying for these trading posts occupies the Seattle office. We send them all kinds of food stuffs and clothing, even to fancy braids and plaid gingham—no checks wanted, definitely say the Eskimo ladies! They like to express their feminine personalities in bright gingham parkas, coyly edged with all kinds of dress braid, worn over their bulky fur parkas which they scarcely ever remove from one year to the next!

The Eskimos trade in their furs at these trading posts. During winter and spring, the Seattle office is often busy opening sacks of silver, blue, white and red fox skins which are perhaps now hugging the necks of Kappas.

At the Nome office, I had something different to do. I figured Eskimo payrolls, with my icy feet reposing on a thick, warm reindeer hide. Yet the sweet peas and nasturiums thrived in the office window boxes—indoor window boxes. Some climbed up seven and eight feet because the 24 hours of daylight wouldn't let them stop growing.

Reindeer fur clothing is featured by the Lomens. The Eskimo women around Nome are skilled sewers. Reindeer fur clothing and reindeer sleeping bags for Arctic and Antarctic use have been supplied to famous explorers—Capt. Roald Amundsen, Sir Hubert Wilkins and Lincoln Ellsworth. They furnished the entire outfit of fur clothing for Admiral Byrd's last expedition to the South Pole.

Each year reindeer are brought down to be used in Christmas promotion plans of large department stores and newspapers. Perhaps you have seen some of them. When so displayed in a hot department store, they lose the glamour of the far north and look depressed and bored.

Reindeer shed their horns in early spring. When shown in the States in Christmas parades, they usually become temperamental and shed their horns before the first parade. Then the exhibitors telegraph wildly for advice, and perhaps try to tie on the horns! This horn business has always worried me. What becomes of the hundreds of thousands of horns shed each year in Alaska? I am told they decompose like the leaves fallen from the trees, but I still feel that the Alaska reindeer country should be shoulder-deep in cast-off horns.

Reindeer have proved so helpful in meeting the needs of the Eskimos in Alaska, that the Canadian government wished to accomplish the same thing for the Eskimos on the Canadian Arctic coast. They contracted with the Lomens to deliver 3,000 reindeer to this region.

The longest drive of livestock in history began north of Nome in 1929 and continued for five years. The leader was a Lapp with a dozen Lapp and Eskimo helpers. The route was across the top of the world, over uncharted country with high mountains and swirling rivers to cross. With sleds drawn by reindeer, the traveling had to be done over the winter ice and snow, while the summer months were spent in camp. The drive was sighted several times by plane: otherwise, they were entirely out of touch with the world.

The fascinating story of this history-making drive is told by Max Miller in his book, The Great Trek. These deer are now contented on their new Canadian ranges and are furnishing a steady supply of food and clothing for the Canadian Eskimos.

Memory and Human Relations

By MARY RITTER BEARD

THE THOUGHT of a sorority is with me an act of memory and in that memory one of the vivid features is the inspiration I derived during my college years from association with two women belonging to sororities other than my own. One was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma. The other was a member of Alpha Phi.

The "Kappa girl" made me understand that even a young woman could really break the social conventions which inclined girls to study belles lettres and boys to study politics. She took as a matter of course her right to enroll in classes for the study of political science even though this was "not done" by members of her sorority that long ago. And taking the affair that way, she was accepted by the men in her class at her own value—one of the highest values accorded to any college girl in my day by the men whom I most respected, one of whom I married.

"The Alpha Phi" made me understand that even a young woman could really break the social conventions which called for pseudo-patrician or genuinely bourgeois manners and be guided in her human relations by a more creative sense of values. She too did things that were "not done" by her clan sisters. Her personality was a perpetual stimulus to my mind and emotions.

As for myself, I may say that probably I too was a "sport" in that I responded to such innovators beyond the conventions of a clan. Nevertheless in memory, the thing that lingers with me in this connection is not the thought of clannishness itself and its tendency to standardize and defeat creative intelligence for, after all, the three clans involved in this memory of mine all protected their errant sisters. It may be that the freedom to dare and do sprang from that very protection.

On a foundation of protective memory the associations of sorority women of the alumnae level are built. Thus memory itself becomes a value with which to reckon. And to this reckoning the French have recently been devoting brilliant analysis. It is the contention of M. Halbach of Paris, in a volume entitled Les cadres sociaux de la mémoire, that memory is, and must be, the thought of social relations—of family, clan, or larger community—rather than of self alone. In other words, it is his contention that when we think back, in time, we think of others and about our life with our fellows. The degree of pleasure derived from that backward-thinking conditions in some measure, perhaps entirely, our readiness to live in our memories and behave according to our memory-patterns. If our memory is of disagreeable, harsh, cruel, tragic human relations, we may seek to free ourselves from its burden by adventures into human relations of a hitherto unexperienced kind. If our memory is of delightful, easy, comfortable and amusing human relations, we may desire to

About Mary Ritter Beard

In her message to the fraternity, published in the October KEY, Rheva Ott Shryock, grand president, referred to the outline of the history of women, prepared by Mrs. Mary Ritter Beard for the American Association of University Women.

At Mrs. Shryock's request, Mrs. Beard has written the accompanying article expressly for THE KEY.

No other woman in the United States has made a more thorough study of her own sex, its history and its place in the world's history, than Mrs. Beard. Among the books she has written are "Woman's Work in Municipalities" in 1915, "The Rise of American Civilization" in 1927, and "On Understanding Women" in 1931.

Mrs. Beard's home is at New Milford, Connecticut. She is the wife of the distinguished educator, Charles A. Beard. She was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta at DePauw university.

(Our sleuthing instincts having been aroused, we strongly suspect that the "Kappa girl" may have been Mrs. Penfield, Kappa's eighth grand president, who, as Jean Nelson, took her degree of Ph.B. from her alma mater, DePauw, while Mary Ritter was a student on that campus.)

cling to the forms of behavior and interests experienced in the good old days. But in any case, according to M. Holbach's thesis, memory takes account of social, rather than, or more than, individual values.

Such a view of memory raises at once the question of the width and depth of memory as it is brought to bear upon the thought of human relations. If one has drifted or been pushed from episode to episode, inevitably one's thought is the thought of events. That may be infinitely narrow or amazingly wide, depending on such incidents as travel, expatriation, shocks of social discovery through racial meetings, and the uses made of eyes and ears.

Yet even the widest traveling and the best possible use of eyes and ears—over a life-time into old age—must confine memory to a surface, or superficial, thinking about human relations, unless memory is widened and deepened by the study of memories other than one's own—memories recorded in historical materials. That is, one's own experience is inadequate to a knowledge of life. This may be illustrated in the case of the ancient Greek, Herodotus, now known at the "father of history," meaning of recited or written history. Herodotus traveled more extensively than most of his fellow-citizens; he was curious, inordinately curious, about everything he saw and heard. Having a retentive memory, when he returned to his people he told them about his journeys and, by helping them to share his experiences, stretched their knowledge and imagination with respect to human relations. For many ages the memory of Herodotus served as the memory of western civilization, in that connection, for the territory which he had covered. It was not until anthropology in fact—a "science" of our own age—broke into the perfection of that memory with a richer research running back to the very beginnings of society that memory was made to concern itself with humanity's first experience as humanity.

Woman Launched Civilization

This was important, for it recovered the memory of basic human needs. Hitherto, among the Hebrews and Christians at least, the origin of clothing, shelter, hygiene, and agriculture and the thought of these essentials for a civilized life had been overshadowed by the thought of human perfection independent of such "material" affairs. Among these peoples, human relations had begun in Paradise, in the Garden of Eden, before Eve sinned. But anthropology thrust thought back to first principles—into the dim and distant past when the first sharp distinctions were made between men's and women's companions, the beasts of the field, and human beings. Through this better memory, the original woman now appears, not as Evil Genius but as Creative Good. In humanity's first and worst crisis, her creative intelligence invented all the industrial arts, according to a remarkably uniform anthropological opinion. The best available evidence seems to indicate that woman also discovered agriculture. In short, woman launched civilization as her primordial urge.

What this signifies may be shown in part by an archaeologist's declaration: "A bit of cloth is one of the most interesting evidences of man's climb from days of savagery to the twentieth century civilization." For her artistry in creating the cashmere shawl and the exquisite perfume, attar of roses, as well as for love of Nur Mahal, her husband called her "The Light of the World" and built in her honor the Taj Mahal. And of course other inventions were equally important in the rise from savagery and survival after paradise was lost, if as the perfectionists so long claimed it was lost. Take the discovery of fire. In Sir John Frazer's "Fire Myths," it appears that about half the legends among primitive peoples ascribe its discovery to woman, some being enchanting tales of sex daring and sex convention. And if it had not been for the play of creative intelligence in that dim and distant pre-historic past, until so recently shut out of our memory, we should ourselves be gnawing raw bones like the beasts of the fields, seeking our food as they seek food, as helpless in the face of the elements as they, and victims of crises just like them. What we are we owe to the push which the first woman gave humanity.

To nourish memory properly, we must however recover social history since primitive times as well as remember social origins. What happened to food, clothing, shelter, hygiene and agriculture, through the ages, that so many of the earth's millions today enjoy so little of these prime requisites of a civilized existence? A few years ago, some of the Germans, in a period of scarcity, sublimated want into a cult of "nudity" and the cult spread to other societies in the period of scarcity; but that can hardly be the answer, in general, to want, for any length of time. Nor does it reckon with food and shelter. Modern scarcity raises a leading question for women: If woman launched civilization through her peculiar responsibility for her offspring, did she leave it to men to carry forward, preserve, improve, enrich, destroy? The common assumption today is that she did drop out of history-making to become the "subject sex" and that the world then became the "man's world."

Was Hers a Different Role?

On the basis of such inadequate memory, even the great student of social origins, Robert Briffault, goes astray. While he is fully aware of woman's original significance, he labors under the popular opinion, which most anthropologists share, that the part and influence of woman in primitive societies "differed markedly from that which their place in civilized societies during historical times assigned them." But who in fact assigned them a different part and influence in historical times? Were women actually removed from a vital role and influence in the shaping of historical development? Did women flee voluntarily into the shadows? If they were in the shadows through the ages, who drove them there, if they were assigned to the realm of ghosts? Or did men and women merely say that women were out of the picture? Or hope so? If so, what women and what men said or hoped this thing?

Memory must make answer—the memory derived from knowledge of social history since primitive times. Anthropological interest is not enough for human interest and wisdom. For thinking about history, both sexes have too long relied on purely legal interpretation; they have left their thinking to lawyers to excess. In practice, no less than in written law, the personality of the woman is to be found. Records of human life other than statutes provide other interpretations of human relations than those framed by lawyers and theologians.

In the quest for women's own historic records and the effort to preserve, collect, safeguard, and make those records, or archives, available, the way is being paved for the widening and strengthening of memory as it is concerned with human relations. Already enough historic material has been "worked" for a canvas depicting woman's share in creating and wrecking and re-creating civilization, since she has displayed both human functions. As the picture unfolds, it will reveal feminine politics in the Oriental seraglio and in the geisha quarter, in the courts of Western Europe, and among the women of the streets. When my college friend, the Kappa girl, was studying political science as a bold adventure into learning, what then was she actually studying, as political "science"? Was she in fact making the great exploration after all? Or was she merely joining in the acquisition of a political memory in America's Age of Innocence? Does the further exploration of political "science" by woman still await the spirit of some truly daring sorority "sister"?

What share have women actually had in elevating ambition, individualism, greed, slavery, power, pomp, ferocity, parasitism, war and general depravity to major manifestations of the human spirit? What share have women had in the humanistic enterprise which has held societies together? Memory may reply when memory has been infused with broader and deeper knowledge. More than 70 years ago, Thomas Henry Buckle, student of civilization, speaking at the Royal Institution in London, declared:

"The subject upon which I have undertaken to address you is the influence of women in the progress of knowledge, undoubtedly one of the most interesting questions that could be submitted to any audience. Indeed, it is not only very interesting, it is also extremely important.

When we see how knowledge has civilized mankind; when we see how every great step in the march and advance of nations has been invariably preceded by a corresponding step in their knowledge; when we moreover see, what is assuredly true, that women are constantly growing more influential, it becomes a matter of great moment that we should endeavor to ascertain the relation between their influence and our knowledge."

A Kappa Inventor

FOLLOWING the appearance of the advertisement for the DISPO paper mop in the April KEY, it occurred to us that many Kappas might be interested in a follow-up article on this new product and the person who thought it up and put it on the market.

Result: a little detective work, and here we give you the fruit of our labors!

This Kappa inventor hails from Upsilon chapter at Northwestern, where she graduated in 1917. As Hester Walrath, she grew up in Evanston. You may be interested incidentally to know that she is the daughter of Florence D. Walrath, the founder of the famous Cradle. Many of you perhaps have friends who have adopted babies from that institution. There are two other Kappa Walraths: Helen, who is now Mrs. John Sanborn of Farmington, Connecticut; and Gretchen, from the Goucher chapter.

After marrying Harry Hunter, a Dartmouth Alpha Delt, in 1920, our inventor was what the census-takers call just a “housewife” for several years, very much occupied with the care of three very active young sons.

The paper mop idea developed as follows: brooding one day on some of the nuisances of housekeeping, our inventor thought: in the modern household, probably the most old-fashioned and dirty article is the ordinary dust-mop, which gathers up and holds dust, dirt and germs so firmly that even the messy job of window-shaking doesn't get it really clean. Why couldn't the modern popular disposable idea be applied to this problem?

It seemed worth trying and the next step, of course, was the working-out of the right sort of device. According to Mrs. Hunter, there followed a period of almost daily visits to the local blacksmith shop in Geneva, Illinois—where she then lived—interspersed with long-drawn-out and discouraging correspondence with paper companies, trying to find just the right sort of paper.

“No existing paper was exactly right for the purpose,” said Mrs. Hunter, “and paper manufacturers think only in terms of tons. Paper machinery being what it is, they simply laughed at the idea of getting up a few feet of a new kind of paper for an inquiring housewife.”

In time, however, with a crude model which at least illustrated her general idea, it was time to try for a patent. In case you have any inventions of your own up your sleeve and wonder how to proceed, Mrs. Hunter advises you urgently to follow her course. Put yourself in the hands of the best patent lawyer you can find and leave this part of it to him. He will send you mysterious lengthy documents to approve and sign, phrased in such solemn technical language that it is almost impossible to recognize your own particular idea. However, with luck and patience, and after the lapse of a great many months, a day may arrive when you open with great excitement a large official communication from Washington, handsomely decorated with seals and ribbon, saying that for 17 years no one else will be allowed to make this brain-child of yours without your permission.

Getting a patent is one thing; selling it, or getting someone to put a new untried article on the market, is a different and harder project, Mrs. Hunter found.

“Very interesting, and perhaps as you say, women would leap at the chance to buy it. But right now, our company

WE HAVE COME THIS FAR

BE CAREFUL, OR YOU MAY END AS DID THESE WOMEN

(1) A Femme Sole or unmarried woman could own property but upon marriage a woman's status changed.

Husband and wife were one — and the husband was the one!

"Nature has given women so much power that the law has very wisely given them little." — Samuel Johnson. — Quite a handicap to overcome!

We finally gained a separate estate — not because courts were interested in giving women some property rights but because fathers wanted to give their daughters property free of the domination of their husbands.

(2) If you reach this point before 1932 go right ahead — after 1932, go back a space and try again. Cause: Section 213 of the Federal Economy Act. In the operation of Section 213 in the Federal Civil service, although 84 per cent of the employees are men and only 16 per cent women the percentage of women dismissed was 75 and of men 25. The basis of the merit system in civil service is efficient work done and marital status of workers should not enter into the question!

(3) To gain this point you must secure "votes." So far, blocked off in 27 states. Go back two spaces until you get sufficient votes to overcome this obstacle.

"True Equality"

By ISABEL S. SIMONS, Editor of The Kappa Beta Pi Quarterly

(Reprinted with permission from the October 1936 issue)

IN ORDER to show in a graphic form the present legal and political status of women I thought of comparing it to a game called "Monopoly" which our children play.

We as women should be actively interested in the legal status of our sisters in the world today. We can do our part by calling attention to the discriminations that still exist in our laws which prevent women from enjoying a true equality with men. We can point out the changes that should be made. We can secure these changes.

This is a game too—and the results have been very gratifying and will be more so if we all play the game together. It matters little what our own status is—the game is played for all women. It has always been the few leaders who have emancipated the whole group of women. So let's play the game and assure the women who will take our places in the professional, social and industrial world, at least as good a position as we have today. Perhaps we can secure a better one for them. At least we can try!

We Started in "The Good Old Days"

About the year 1700. For the next century women's status in England was undergoing a change. However, even at the end of the century, she had no civil status after marriage, apart from that of her husband. Samuel Johnson said, "Nature has given women so much power that the law has very wisely given them little." That was quite literally true—as to the last part, at least. Upon marriage, a woman found that her goods, e.g., money and furniture in her actual possession, became the absolute property of her husband; and that her choses in action, e.g., debts due her, became his if he recovered them by law or reduced them into possession. Her leaseholds did not become his, but he might dispose of them during coverture at his pleasure, and if he sold them, the proceeds of the sale were his property. He also had a tenancy by the marital right in his wife's real estate. This was an estate which he could convey. It could very safely be said at that period that the husband and wife were one—and the husband was the one!

Equity Does Something About It

The rule of law, stated above, obtained in the common law courts. There was another type of court in England known as chancery, or equity courts. Equity courts intervened where there was no adequate remedy at law. In 1800, the equity courts had been engaged for many years in an endeavor to make it possible for a married woman to hold property independently of her husband. The court was not so much interested in accomplishing this, to increase the property rights of married women generally, but to enable a person, e.g., a father, who gave property to his daughter, a married woman, to know that she could possess it as her own and be able to deal with it independently of her husband.

So by the Year 1833—

Something was accomplished. The principle was developed that even though a woman might not be able to hold property of her own, it might be held for her benefit by a trustee whose sole duty it would be to carry out the terms of the trust. Property given to a trustee for the separate use of a woman, before or after marriage, became her separate property, that is, it did not in any way belong to her husband. Her husband, as trustee, was bound in equity to deal with it according to the terms of the trust, and, therefore, in accordance with the wishes of the woman. This property was hers only during her lifetime, and so she could not vest the property, after her death, in her next of kin.¹

The United States Shows the Way

In the United States various states adopted "Married Women's Property Acts" from 1861 to 1893. Many of our states had, of course, followed the English common law as the basis of their jurisprudence. A great number of our states today have common law and chancery courts.

In Illinois, for instance, in 1861, the first married women's property legislation provided,² "All the property, both real and personal, belonging to any married woman as her sole and separate property, or which any woman, hereafter married, owns at the time of her marriage, or which any married woman, during coverture, acquires in good faith from any person, other than her husband, by descent, devise, or otherwise, together with all the rents, issues, increase and profits thereof, shall, notwithstanding her marriage, be and remain during coverture³ her sole and separate property, under her sole control, and be held, owned, possessed, and enjoyed by her the same as though she was sole and unmarried and shall not be subject to the disposal, control, or interference of her husband, and shall be exempt from execution or attachment for the debts of her husband."

So, we see created "a married woman's separate estate."

A wife's separate estate is that property from which the dominion and control of the husband is excluded and from which he is to derive no benefit by reason of the marital relationship.⁴

The Illinois statutes of 1874 provide "a married woman may own, in her own right, real and personal property obtained by descent, gift or purchase, and manage, sell and convey the same in the same manner that the husband can property belonging to him. . . ."

That Brings Us Up to 1874—Also to 1936!

Illinois laws have not been changed to increase property rights of married women since 1874, and in that we are not different from the other states in our country. Do they need to be? Is marriage a partnership? Partnerships are legal relationships between two competent persons, created by an expressed or implied contract between them. The relationship contemplates the union of all capital, property, labor, and skill possessed, to be used for their common profit.

In eighty-seven per cent of the cases a married woman stays in her home. She has no outside occupation. She makes her economic contribution to the savings of the family. She contributes her labor and skill in the home just as the husband does his outside the home. If that is so, should she not share in the wages or salary which the other partner receives from the world outside the home? Should not the family savings, after family expenses have been met, belong to both husband and wife? That is not the law any place in America today!

What About Those Who Have No Estate?

We must recognize the fact that there are millions of women who never have any separate estate—therefore, never have any property after marriage. They do not own property before marriage. They do not acquire any by gift or devise after marriage; they do not work outside of their homes.⁵ What about

An alumna of the Northwestern university law school, with LL.B. degree, Mrs. Simons was admitted to the Illinois state bar in 1917, United States District Court in 1918, and United States Supreme Court in 1925.

She is a former national president of Kappa Beta Pi legal sorority, founded in 1908, and is now editor of its magazine, The Kappa Beta Pi Quarterly. (We note from the Quarterly that members of Kappa Beta Pi also refer to themselves as "Kappas.") Mrs. Simons, who held the office in 1930-1931, is the only woman to have been president of the Conference of Law Fraternities of the United States. She is also a lecturer on current civic questions.

Mrs. Simons has been married for 18 years to a member of the Chicago Board of Trade, and is the mother of a daughter in her third year in high school, who has an all "A" record. Mrs. Simons lives in Highland Park, practices in Chicago and says she hasn't much time for bridge!

these women? They may work, if they are farm women, in the fields as well as in the home, as long or longer hours than their husbands. Is it equitable to allow the husband to dispose of the savings any way he desires and not have the wife entitled by law to any share? Are these savings his or theirs, in fact? Does not the wife through her thrift in the home actually help in accumulating them?

Of course, many men recognize a social obligation and by allowance or gift give a share of the family income to their wives. But what of the cases where husbands do not recognize this social obligation? There we should have a law to fall back on.

Women in twenty-two states who have a separate estate find they are liable, as well as their husbands, for family necessities. If a woman works outside her home after marriage, her income should be pooled with her husbands, we believe, but if she works in her home, she should have some right to ownership and control of the family savings.

for a third person. It is part of her separate estate. In no state may a wife recover for services rendered to husband or family; neither can a husband. (I can't find many husbands who do the work in the home, however, to see if they are satisfied.)

*Community Property Sounds Good—
But Is it the Solution?*

The eight community property states⁶ have not solved the problem of a married woman's property rights. In the states where that law is in effect property acquired after marriage, which is not separate property, is community property. Let's look at the California situation as an example. Community property sounds like a solution, but—although in that state women enjoy a present existing and equal interest in and to the community property—the sole management and control of the real and personal property is in the absolute control of the husband with the limitation that he may not make a gift thereof or transfer, convey, or encumber the real property without the wife joining in the execution of the instrument. Both the earnings of husband and wife are community property, and under the law both are under the sole and exclusive management and control of the husband.

It Seems Not to Solve the Problem

of property rights of married women. If we are going to try to change the present system, to have it develop from where it stopped with the "Married Women's Property Acts," to a more equitable re-arrangement, I believe we will have to develop the idea of marriage being a joint partnership. Until we do, a married woman will not share true equality with her husband as far as property law is concerned.

Let's Go on With the Game!

When a married woman acquired her separate estate, she acquired the right to contract with reference to it, and she was bound by her contracts. Earlier she could contract but was not bound by her agreements since all her property belonged to her husband. Very soon after the time she received the right to hold a separate estate, she also gained the right to make a will. In nearly all the states at the present time it is expressly enacted that a married woman of sound mind may devise her separate real or personal property by a legal will without her husband's consent. In two jurisdictions a married woman of eighteen may make a will, although a single woman may not until she becomes of age—twenty-one.⁷

In Illinois, a married man or woman may dispose of property as he or she likes except that he or she cannot defeat the dower right of the other spouse. Dower is a life estate of a spouse in one-third of all the legal estates of inheritance in which the other spouse is seized.⁸ The surviving spouse must state within a reasonable time after the death of the other spouse that he or she elects to take dower. Dower rights may be barred by jointure;⁹ settlement before marriage; by a deed signed by husband and wife; or may be forfeited by adultery and divorce. Within these exceptions dower will prevail, if elected.

The original dower law had for its object a competent sustenance for the widow. Lord Coke said, "There be three things highly favored in law—life, liberty, and dower."

Since "A Married Woman Makes a Will" is discussed at length in a publication available from the Illinois League of Women Voters office, 225 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois, we will not devote further space to it here. Our concern is that you know you may make a will and that you know that the provisions of the descent and distribution laws of your state will control the will the law will make for you if you die intestate.¹⁰ (Descent and Distribution laws of the state.)

French Women May be Chic

But French women haven't reached this point as yet. Although French women exert a great influence over their men, the law treats them rather badly. A wife may not open a bank account without her husband's permission, unless she herself is engaged in a business or profession. The husband has absolute control over the children and may dispose, as he chooses, of his wife's property, unless the marriage contract calls for a complete separation of goods.

Let's leave the field of private rights here for a while and see the progress women have made in the field of public rights.

At Last We Vote!

The Nineteenth Amendment provided for suffrage for women! It was ratified August 26, 1920.

Since the Federal Constitution takes precedence over any state constitution, all women in every state became fully enfranchised after August 26, 1920. Prior to that time in many states women had achieved part or full suffrage. Of course, women in some countries of the world today do not enjoy this right. But to go on with the situation in the United States.

We May Hold Office

Well, nearly everywhere, if we are elected or appointed. Membership in all state legislatures and Federal Congress is open to women on the same terms as men. Women may hold any public office, elective or appointive, in every state, except that in Wisconsin a woman may not be governor, and in Oklahoma a woman may not hold any major state office. A measure subject to referendum was passed in 1935 giving women this right in Oklahoma, but the referendum failed of passage.

¹⁰ Without making a will. A person who makes a will is the testator or testatrix.

We Have the Right of Independent Citizenship

Citizenship in the United States is acquired in one of two ways, by birth or by naturalization. By naturalization is meant by judicial procedure. In 1907, and from that date until 1922, the law provided that a married woman took the nationality of her husband. An American woman who married an alien, therefore, lost her citizenship. In 1912, the Cable Act was passed which provided that an American woman who married an alien, provided the alien was eligible to United States citizenship, did not lose her citizenship. If her husband were ineligible, however, to United States citizenship, she did forfeit her citizenship. On March 4, 1931, amendments were passed to the Cable Act providing that any American woman's citizenship right is independent of the citizenship of her husband. She does not now lose her citizenship upon marriage to an alien unless she specifically renounces it.

Have women gained true equality as to citizenship rights? Well, almost. But we must remember that an immigrant woman coming to this country before her husband can never satisfy our requirement as to residence and become an American citizen. She is, in the eyes of the law, still domiciled in the "old country" because her domicile, or the place where the law says she lives, is the place where her husband lives.

True equality might allow an alien woman to become a citizen in a shorter time than an alien man upon their marriages to Americans since in many countries women lose their citizenship upon marriage to an alien. But in May, 1934, our law allowing this difference between the sexes was changed, and now both must satisfy residence requirements of three years.

We May Serve in the Party of Our Choice

In July, 1920, the Democratic Party recognized the claims of women to a voice in its counsels by providing that men and women should be equally represented on the Democratic National Committee, which should thereafter consist of two members from each state. In 1924, the Republican Party did likewise.

It would seem to be up to the women to take a more active part in the party of their choice by going into the party in minor positions and earning their way into representation on general party commissions, so that women will be fully represented on the smaller executive committees where many important decisions are made.

We Found No Discriminations

In the original civil service laws which in the Federal Government, the District of Columbia, and nine states provided for employment in government service. The Federal Act provides, however, that appointing officers have the right to specify the sex desired.

But in the Administration of the Law—

Which was changed by Section 213 of the Federal Economy Act, passed in 1932, we find a serious discrimination against married women. That law passed under the guise of economy provides, "in any reduction of personnel in any branch or service of the United States Government or the District of Columbia, married persons (living with husband or wife) employed in the class to be reduced shall be dismissed."

A study of the operation of that Act shows that 1603 employees were dropped. More than three-fourths of those dropped were women although the percentage of men employed is eighty-four and women only sixteen.

Six per cent of the separations were of employees earning over $2000 a year, which indicates that the hardship has fallen on the lower income group. Hard as individual cases are, the thing we are most concerned with is the example set for the states by our government which serves to break down the whole principle of equal treatment of all citizens and good personnel methods.

This sort of legislation fails to recognize current economic changes which makes it necessary for numbers of married women to work to support dependents, to pay debts, to provide necessities, or to save to educate their children.

This clause should be repealed. Jobs under civil service should be filled and held on the basis of efficient work done and not for other reasons. If persons must be dismissed the least efficient should go—regardless of sex or marital status.

And Now We Are on the Home Stretch

And see our goal! The first item we must gain is the right to serve on juries. Twenty-one states and the District of Columbia now have women serving in that capacity. Women are giving conscientious service as jurors in Arkansas, California, Delaware, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Nevada, New Jersey, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, Washington, Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia. As a matter of justice to women litigants they should be allowed to serve in every state. It would mean a larger number of intelligent jurors available and would help women to a better understanding of our judicial system.

The second item we hope to obtain, "For wives a share in the family savings" is not yet realized by law anywhere in the United States.

If We Are to Reach the Third Step

"No discriminations against women in our laws," we must change our domicil laws and give married women a voice in choosing the family domicil; we must allow either spouse to testify for or against the other; and we must change our present property laws and jury laws.

Then, Too, It Is Not Enough

To have good laws. We must see that they are administered fairly and without discriminations against women. Women sex offenders must not be treated unfairly. We must have no dismissals of married women, merely because they are women, from government employ.

When All This Has Been Accomplished

We can truly say we have reached our goal, "True Equality." That means not "Equal Rights" but "Human Rights." We know men and women are different and must secure not only legal equality, which would mean identical laws, but social and economic equality which would allow us to determine what is true equality in each given case and then strive to accomplish that end.

For instance, in jury service we do not want service on the same basis as men, we believe social equality makes it necessary to exempt certain mothers who have the care of young children or the aged.

We recognize that since women in over eighty-seven per cent of the cases give up their employment in industry to work in their own homes after marriage, they should be supported. But legal equality would either make it necessary for them to support their husbands or give up support laws. That surely would not be true equality.

Women need certain compensations because they are women, and just as we wish to help women in industry retain hour laws, so we wish to help all women retain support laws and homestead laws and any other compensation given them because of their social or economic position.

So we say that real equality will not be reached through any equal rights amendment path but only by removing discriminations wherever they exist.

The Problem Is Ours

Can we solve it? Do we appreciate our present status and wish to better it? It has always been the few who have emancipated the many. There is a drive against women all over the world. We feel it in Section 213. It looks so easy to some men to secure the discharge of a married woman and give her place to some man, regardless of her fitness for the particular job.

There is a movement on foot to put women back in the home. We have seen the first step. We must be careful that it does not extend to discriminations against all women in the United States so they go back to the same position of uselessness as women in Italy and Germany. May I quote from Edith Valet Cook's publication, "A Married Woman and Her Job?"¹¹

This attitude toward married women in employment might be dismissed with a tolerant smile and permitted to wear itself out, as in previous periods of depression, were it not for several factors which make it a matter of serious concern to all persons interested in the progress of this country as well as of the world. In the first place, an attack of this sort directed at married women very soon becomes an attack on opportunities for employment of all women, an attitude of mind which has come to be characteristic of that philosophy of government which we know as Fascism. And no one can contemplate without the profoundest feeling of discouragement the present situation in Italy and Germany where women who had won, through years of training and experience, the most distinguished positions in teaching and other professional and governmental fields, have been summarily relegated to a condition of comparative uselessness. And yet, in the days of the German Republic, the proportion of women members of the Reichstag exceeded the proportion of women members in the legislative body of any other country in the world!

¹¹ Published by the National League of Women Voters, Washington, D.C.

We must be careful. It's a short ride down the toboggan but a long climb up.

Luau

(Hawaiian Hints for Holiday Menus?)

By HELEN MURCHIE COSTELLO, Γ Σ and X

TO THE NATIVE Hawaiian, a "luau" is more than a feast. It is the heart of an immemorial tradition. One of the few surviving remnants of the picturesque culture of early Polynesia, it stands for hospitality, gaiety, music and dancing and rich food. To the "malihini" or newcomer, it offers almost the only glimpse of what the islands were before the encroaching "haole" (white) civilization usurped and commercialized them . . . before the gourd and rattle had been replaced by the ukelele, the "holoku" by the latest Paris modes, and the grass hut by the neat Spanish bungalow.

The islands have adopted the luau as a part of their social scheme. In the transition from the old to the new, little of its native color has been lost. It may no longer continue for days on end and the guests may sit on chairs instead of mats, but any event—birthday, marriage, a guest to be entertained, or even a political rally—may be the occasion for its feasting and dancing. The host, judged by the quantity of food and drink and the quality of the hulas he provides, outdoes himself to please. The guests may number into the hundreds.

Everyone arrives in a festival mood. One sees the smiles, feels the warmth and friendliness Hawaii likes to call its own. There is a profusion of leis . . . fragrant carnations, ginger blossoms, tuber roses, candle flowers, gardenias. The women are statuesque in flowered print "holokus," their inheritance from missionary times, designed in a simple sheath leaving the arms bare and the neckline low, with a train frequently several yards long.

It occurs to us, in the light of our own experience, that anyone unfamiliar with the Hawaiian language may wonder about the pronunciation of "luau." It is "lou-ow"; the first syllable like the girl's name, Lou, and the last just plain "ow," as in "ouch." The accent, if any, is on the first syllable.

"Poi" is pronounced like the first three letters in "poise." "Laulau" is "low-low," always with the "ow" sound. "Haole" is "hah-oh-lee," with the accent on the "oh."

In general each vowel is given full value. As we remember, the Hawaiian language uses all the vowels and only the seven consonants h, k, l, m, n, p and w, producing a 12-letter alphabet. The sound of the language is extremely musical.

Years ago we sailed for the islands on the Masi. Before we left home, we were obliged to spell out the name of the ship when anyone asked for it, because we hadn't the faintest idea how to say it correctly. Later it seemed so simple: "Mow," with that "ow" sound, and "ee"—"Mow-ee!"—H.C.B.

The girl at the right in the foreground is a sissy. She's using a fork. So is the second one from the left. 'Way in the background a lad has his forefinger neatly draped in poi. Atta-poi! (It still tastes like library paste). But a luau is great fun, and the food is delicious. Worth sitting on the floor for in any traveler's language.

After the "imu" or outdoor pit where the food is cooked by heated rocks is opened, the guests make their way to the tables. Fresh green fern fronds serve as table linen; down the center is a wreath of red and yellow croton leaves, and at each place is a little bowl of water containing a pale pink hibiscus petal to clean greasy fingers . . . inevitable unless some over-fastidious produce forks. For the most part, however, the prevailing mood is that chicken in one's hair is all part of the festivity.

Roast pig is the piece de resistance, served first and followed by a multitude of savory dishes in rapid succession. There is "laulau," a mixture of pork, salmon and young taro leaves wrapped in the thick ti-leaves that have so many uses in the islands. Especially delicious is "moa" or chicken with taro leaf, cooked in coconut milk, and vaguely resembling occidental creamed chicken and spinach.

Mainland visitors sometimes decide they have had their fill of meat and fish when platters of "hee"—squid tentacles cooked in coconut milk—come round, but the braver soul who can be convinced the sliced tentacles look like cocktail sausages, finds the meat spicy and something the flavor of tongue. Mashed raw salmon combined with tomatoes and onion tops seasoned by kukui-nut relish and called "kamano lomi" is another dish.

Throughout the meal a bowl of poi—the Hawaiian staff of life made by cooking, pounding and straining the tuber root of taro—is at hand. It is a thick grey-pink paste in which the Hawaiian host dips his forefinger, twists it once expertly to get just the proper mouthful adhering. Miss Mainland Visitor anxious to learn everything at one time asks what the difference is in one-finger, two-finger and three-finger poi, always referred to by casual visitors eager to show their familiarity with the islands. A soft laugh tempers the reply that the choice is dictated by one's appetite . . . although the island Emily Posts countenance only one finger.

Roasted with the pig in the imu are the "uala" (sweet potatoes), "kalo" (taro root) and "ma'i'a" (sweet Hawaiian bananas). Relishes usually include an edible variety of seaweed called "limu," ground kukui-nuts and, for seasoning, coarse red Hawaiian salt. For dessert there are wedges of pineapple hiding the disguise of "hala-kahiki," and also a starch coconut pudding.

The feast is gay, for hearty informal eating induces laughter and friendly banter. Intermingling with the talk and laughter, entertainers strum their guitars, while a tall Hawaiian woman in red and white holoku sings a hula, fitting the motion of her hips to the slow, graceful rhythm. Her small hands tell the story in airy pantomime . . . a dance utterly unlike the agitated version of the American vaudeville stage.

Later a troupe of young girls in traditional grass skirts occupies the floor. Garlands of flowers encircle the hair, shoulders and ankles of each dancer. The girls chant a hula from ancient times and supply rhythms for their movements by shaking small gourds filled with seeds. Later they appear in another old-time Hawaiian costume . . .

a sheath of tapa in a brown geometric design on a cream ground. This time the hula is sung to the accompanying rhythm of split bamboo sticks that make a soft clatter as they are tapped on the dancers' shoulders. The final group of old-time hulas is chanted to the deep-toned beat of gourds played by musicians kneeling nearby. Each of these three types of hula antedates the coming of the haole, harking back to the day before the native Hawaiian knew music in the true sense—long before the Portuguese brought the guitar which has since become the symbol of Hawaii's music.

If, as is said, food and amusement are among the best evidences of a developed national or racial culture, it is enough to attend one luau to be convinced the culture of the ancient Hawaiians held a high place. Dietitians, studying their foods, find little on which to improve, either in their choice or in their methods of preparation. As for their hulas and their music—they must be seen and heard to be appreciated.

perience has taught us that Kappas in college are intelligent and mature, girls who know that it is not a sign of maturity and intelligence to talk only of men and clothes and dates and other girls.

Informal chapter house conversation can indeed be a liberal education in itself, and it can just as well be a worthwhile education.

When an oak tree in the garden of the president's house at the University of California was dedicated recently to the memory of Mrs. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, Barbara Bellamy, Pi Deuteron, formally presented the memorial plaque to Mrs. Robert Gordon Sproul, wife of the university's president. Mrs. Wheeler, who died December 23, 1935, was long identified with the life of the university, of which her husband, who died in 1926, was president for 20 years.

New Project Underway

Kappa Gifts Enable Beginning for Hearthstone Fund

By CLARE DREW FORBES, B II

IRENE NEAL RAILSBACK, general chairman of the Kappa club house committee, reports that a Hearthstone trust fund has been officially started!

Jess McNamee Bell, whose home is at 41 Linnean street, Cambridge, Massachusetts, has been named to serve as treasurer of the fund, and already has placed a sizeable number of contributions in the bank for Kappa's Hearthstone.

The Hearthstone!

The very word has a cozy sound! Gathering spot of family and friends down through the centuries—it is fitting indeed that the Hearthstone should be the beginning for Kappa's newest undertaking—the club house.

It is hoped that before 1936-37 is over, the Hearthstone fund will have received contributions from most of Kappa's 25,000 members. With the Christmas season drawing near, what better gift can Kappa members give to Kappa, than a gift to the Hearthstone fund!

1936 Convention voted that the Hearthstone should be the initial step in establishing club house units for Kappa Kappa Gamma. First contributions to the fund were received at convention itself, by enthusiastic Kappas and a few alumnae associations. Convention also voted that proceeds from Kappa's magazine agency, of which Mrs. James Macnaughtan, Jr., is chairman, be diverted to the Hearthstone.

This is a thought to keep in mind when planning your Christmas gift lists this year. Kappa's magazine agency offers the lowest rates available to any reputable agency, so when you order through it, you benefit yourself as well as the Kappa Hearthstone fund.

Widespread interest is evidenced by alumnae associations. Several have signified the intention of making the Hearthstone fund their major project this year.

An enthusiastic committee continues to investigate places, plans, and methods of establishing the Kappa club house. It is interesting to know what parts of the country this committee represents, to learn the wide scope it offers for the gathering of ideas.

Mrs. Railsback, the chairman, whose home is at Newtonville, Massachusetts, near Boston, has a "local steering committee" to assist her. It consists of Helen Snyder Andres, past grand president, who with Clara O. Pierce, originated the club house idea; Edith Reese Crabtree, our new director of provinces on the grand council; Neva Warfel Duddy, an excellent Kappa worker; and the capable treasurer, Jess McNamee Bell.

On the big main committee, Texas is represented by Lyndall Finley Wortham (who incidentally has promised furnishings for the first room in the Kappa club house); West Virginia is proud to have as its representative, Kappa's first grand president, Tade Hartsuff Kuhns. Mrs. Kuhns also has the distinction of being the first contributor to the Hearthstone fund.

Going farther southward, we find Florida's committee member is Mrs. George Mills Von Fruhthaler (Mary Patton-Oesterling). South, on the other side of the States—in California—Ida Henzell Miller is a hard-working member of the club house committee.

The center of the United States has two interested workers, also, Edith Walton Herrick, in Michigan; and Anne Rummell Arrowsmith, in Missouri.

"We want every Kappa to consider herself on the club house committee, however," declares Mrs. Railsback. "Only by working together can we make this new project a success. Our hope is that every Kappa will consider herself a Hearthstone builder, because Kappa is pioneering in this newest fraternity endeavor."

Several invitations to establish the first Kappa club house unit in various localities have been received by the committee. Notable among these is that of Winter Park, Florida, whose mayor was most cordial in extending an invitation. Another Florida city, Miami, also hastened to send letters from city authorities, and from Kappas living there, urging itself as a possible choice for the first Kappa club house.

The committee is most grateful for the interest which these, and other, offers evidence. However, the plan is to go ahead slowly and surely, building securely for the future. Every decision will be made with much care and thought, and only after advice from the grand council. No unit will be established until the Hearthstone fund is a reality.

First, the club house committee wants every Kappa to know about the club house project itself—to know it closely, to recognize its possibilities, and to have an active part in establishing it.

Security!

This is a word we hear much of during current days of national recovery. It is a word which Kappa hopes to have identified with her newest project—the club house.

Although the club house is not planned as a charity for alumnæ members, it is planned to give security to those Kappas whose incomes may be limited in themselves, but which when combined with others, and with the added backing of the Hearthstone fund, will permit lives of peace and pleasure amid the companionship of Kappas bound together by the same high ideals.

With the news of the Hearthstone's beginning, other fraternities, too, are looking to this newest Kappa endeavor for leadership. Just as our members have been proud of previous achievements of our fraternity, so now, we know we can be proud of this. The club house will be to alumnæ what the campus Kappa house is to actives while in school.

Heap up the Hearthstone fire this Christmas! Make it crackle and glow by gifts to Kappa's Hearthstone. And when ordering your Christmas gift subscriptions, give the Hearthstone a further boast by ordering through Kappa's magazine agency.

Be neighborly! Work together with other Kappas to make the Hearthstone grow. Everyone can give something, and that something will count—no matter how little the amount.

"A Good Idea"

From "Afterthoughts," on the contents page of "The Alpha Gamma Delta Quarterly" for November, 1936. The column is signed "L.L.," which we take to be the initials of Louise Leonard, grand secretary of the fraternity.

"Following Grand Council meeting in 1924 we spent a week with Emily Butterfield at her home in Michigan. It was literally a 'visit,' for we talked much of many things, personal and fraternal. One subject which intrigued us was the possibility of establishing Alpha Gamma Delta centers in which members without binding family ties might live inexpensively and comfortably in an atmosphere of friendliness and kinship. We mentioned this idea to some other members but were greeted with the response 'Old Ladies Homes!' Imagine then our feeling when we opened the Kappa KEY of October and discovered that Kappa Kappa Gamma at its Convention in June established its Hearthstone Fund for the support of its newest undertaking—Kappa club houses for their members 'who in later years might otherwise spend lonely lives.' We knew it was a good idea twelve years ago. We are even more certain of it now!"

The Field Secretary's

Marian S. Handy

IF ONE WOULD like to see some of the most typical and picturesque scenes in the United States and become internationally-minded within the borders of this country, he should have been with me the past two months in my travels from coast to coast through the south. It's hard to believe, until you have experienced it, that in this "melting pot" of America there is still so much unmelted. For instance, did you know that in the New Mexico state legislature it is necessary to have an interpreter because of the Mexican members?

Beginning with New Orleans' French quarter, passing through the famous Mexican quarters of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, and ending in Los Angeles' Chinatown, I've practically circled the globe, after throwing in a few African pullman porters for good measure. Just to complete the international angle, I must tell you about my interesting day at the Grand Canyon in Arizona. Between exclamations over and breathtaking views of that unbelievably beautiful work of the ages, my traveling companions afforded much interest. In the two pullman cars which went into the canyon, there were a German couple, a French couple with a young daughter, four young Dutch people, and five Japanese—all talking their native language. It sounded a little more like the Tower of Babel than a trip to the canyon. Somehow we take for granted that Americans visit in foreign countries, but we forget there are sights to attract others to our country.

Getting back to Kappa, which is the cause of all this globe-trotting, each chapter I have visited this fall has a background which is picturesque and typical of its state. They have all had in common good rushing seasons and were either in the throes of it or just over it upon my arrival.

I went south to be with Delta Iota, the infant chapter, during its rushing. With only six active members to begin the year, it meant hard and long work. But showing its usual determination, the chapter came out with 17 pledges. With Leonna Dorlac, the coörganizer, to guide them this semester, they will now quickly develop into a normal chapter. Louisiana State increased its enrollment by 1000 students this fall. In spite of a new dormitory for women and new quarters for men in the almost completed stadium, housing is still a problem. It is a beautiful campus, carefully planned and landscaped. The old, scraggy magnolia trees dripping Spanish moss prevent it from looking too new.

I am going back to Beta Omicron at Newcomb when they aren't rushing, for then I won't be mixed on who are rushers and actives. Rushing is informal there and I got in on a gay rushing hayride. There are some grand girls in Beta Omicron and the chapter is well-established in that aristocratic city of New Orleans. The Kappa scrapbook is brimful of Mardi Gras queens and attendants. I arrived in time to catch Nancy Reeves just before she changed her name, and to see some of her trousseau.

I knew Nancy at Yellowstone, so we did some convention reminiscing at intervals.

I spent several days in the Arkansas campus, nestled down in the foothills of the Ozarks. Gamma Nu is boasting some good pledges and still reveling in that sweet new house. They were busy putting on initiation during my stay, but we took time out to see some of the surrounding country both by day and night. Fayetteville is the birthplace of Chi Omega and that fraternity has given a beautiful amphitheatre to the university as a memorial to its founders, a lovely tribute to them.

Oklahoma's oil wells never cease to fascinate and interest me, especially the much talked of ones drilled in the front yard of the state capitol. The energy and industry of the state is reflected in the university, which is growing rapidly. Evidences of new buildings are all around and even the Kappas have gotten the spirit and are drawing plans for a much-needed new house. Beta Theta pledged an all-time high class. They're making all kinds of plans for the year and it will be fun to watch the plans unfold.

Dallas is just about the busiest city imaginable these days, what with the Centennial still going strong. To add to all the other excitement, the University of Texas and Oklahoma university met in their annual football battle. There was a gala crowd, and it was fun to be running into Kappas from both schools all afternoon. After seeing "Cavalcade," a pageant depicting the history of Texas under six flags, at the Centennial, I was convinced that to have been born anything but a Texan was a mistake, and I would declare from the applause that Texans are as loyal to the Lone Star as to the Stars and Stripes. The Kappas from S.M.U. have been taking quite a part in the Centennial, so have hardly settled down to normal yet. They made a grand job of showing me the sights. Rushing is well out of the way, so their plans and work are getting under way. I'm still hoping that a Panhellenic house or lodges will become a reality before long. I was so glad to see Lois Lake Shapard, former province president, who is president of the Dallas alumnae this year.

My stop in Ft. Worth was just long enough to have tea with Jo Hodgson Halsell, B Ξ, Hardy Adams, B Ξ, and Polly Richey Ebersole, Ω, to hear all about the Ft. Worth alumnae; and an evening spent seeing Billy Rose's Casa Manana with some of the Gamma Phis, before starting west across the Texas plains. You can never quite appreciate that song "Home, Home on the Range" until you see those expanses of sagebrush, dotted by an occasional house and windmill, with cloudless blue sky overhead.

Least I get poetic I must hurry on to the Indian villages of New Mexico where I got another thrill at seeing real Indians in real Indian clothes, living in real adobe houses strung with red chili peppers. I thought things like this existed only on postcards. In surroundings like this the University of New Mexico blends perfectly with its adobe-type architecture. The Kappa house is the same type—a lovely house. Its beauty will be much enhanced when that long-promised grass is planted. The Gamma Betas are riding high on a wave of efficiency (remember they got the Westermann cup at convention along with Beta Upsilon?) and have a fine chapter. A truly Mexican dinner topped off my visit in real New Mexican style.

A short stay in Phoenix gave me a chance to lunch and meet the Kappas—and an enthusiastic and cosmopolitan group they are. Chapters from all over the country are represented there, and they have a fine time together.

Gamma Zeta at Arizona is another chapter with a lot of local color—desert and cactus surround the city of Tucson, and such colorful sunsets reflected on the mountains, you've never seen the like of before. The university draws students from all over the country, which makes it very transient, but with a lot of interesting individuals. Our chapter there is having a grand year so far—had a successful rushing season, carrying out Kappa projects with real Kappa loyalty and deriving a great satisfaction from their comparatively new house. They were a nice chapter to visit.

Gamma Xi at U.C.L.A. finished up my coast to coast sprint with a busy weekend, including initiation and a dance. They are an enthusiastic and alert bunch and keep things pretty lively all the time. Their pledges and high scholarship have them sitting on top of the campus. U.C.L.A. is a delightful school, only a few years old, but has had a regular mushroom growth since its establishment. Built along the lines of the Italian Renaissance architecture, it blends into the sunshiny climate and tropical landscape.

And now I'm speeding eastward on the Los Angeles Limited which the Readers Digest says contains "bored Hollywoodites." Since I failed to see any in California I'm still hoping there are some aboard.

John, was the son of a Methodist circuit-rider. Judge John attended Southwestern university at Georgetown, Texas, where he was a charter member of the Phi Delta Theta chapter. Later he became one of the leading lawyers in Texas. Mrs. Baldwin's mother was Margaret Morrow John, through whom the Houston ancestry is traced. Mrs. John's mother was Nannie Houston Morrow, daughter of Sam Houston.

Another Kappa whose forebears were pioneers in Texas is Margaret Bozeman Cattell (Mrs. Owen), B Ξ, of San Diego, California.

Her great-great-grandfather was J. E. Groce, who came to Texas from Virginia with 100 slaves in his wagon train and settled in Stephen F. Austin's colony on the Brazos, near Waller, Texas. He brought cotton seed with him, introduced it into the state and built the first cotton gin. Sam Houston was often entertained at his plantation, "Bernado." Groce is the man who told Collinsworth to go to Tennessee to get Sam Houston. He was a member of the first congress, but did not sign the declaration of independence from Mexico.

Mrs. Cattell's great-grandaunt was a valiant lady, Mrs. Jane Long, who lived on Galveston island for two years with only a Negro maid for company. The "pirate" Laffitte thought the island was fortified, because Mrs. Long fired the cannon every night and morning.

During the Texas centennial Mrs. Cattell was captain of an advance ticket group with San Antonio as headquarters for 16 surrounding counties. Later she went to Dallas as sales manager and supervisor of the Egyptian art gallery at the exposition. In September Mrs. Cattell returned to San Diego, but her place was taken by another Kappa, Catherine Lee Howard, B Ξ.

would not be interested in putting up a lot of money to try out anything new." Again and again, this was the answer. And time went by,—months . . . more than a year.

In 1935, following the death of her husband, and faced with a new necessity for business effort, Mrs. Hunter decided to put the mop on the market herself. Manufacturing was begun in a small way, sales were made almost immediately to department stores in Chicago, and in a few months the DISPO mop was being sold, in a scattered way, all over the country. In the spring of 1936 the business was sold to the large Wisconsin paper mill which had been making the paper rolls—a mill which has always led in the manufacture of sanitary cellulose products, (facial tissues, etc.)—so that the future of the product looks bright.

"Cinci" Alumnae Rush from Stratosphere

For devoted interest and hard work, the Cincinnati alumnae deserve special mention. Virginia Taylor Myers (Mrs. Robert), alumnae editor of THE KEY, has sent the following account of the program for the initiation banquet last spring, a party given annually for initiates and members of Beta Rho. The alumnae spent weeks writing script and songs, painting scenery, making costumes and rehearsing. The entertainment was conducted as a rush party, and later the banquet chairman announced that if the actives wished to use the idea, costumes, scenery, script and songs, the alumnae would be happy to have them do so.

Consequently, Beta Rho's formal rush party this fall was a "stratosphere flight," a progressive dinner which began at Cincinnati's airport.

HAVE YOU heard of the Kappas' stratosphere flight? Amazing as a success, brilliant as a spectacle, the huge, balloon sponsored by the Cincinnati Alumnae association took off from Kappa field at Cincinnati with stunning passengers abroad.

Prior to ascension time in a haze of blue light there appeared four stewardesses in blue satin rompers and tiny caps to match. Tapping and singing as they came each girl carried a tiny basket in which rested a huge blue ball closely resembling a stratosphere balloon. Suspended from the ropes were invitations to the potential passengers (initiates) to join the flight. The guests having been summoned, there appeared four porters in smart blue satin uniforms to conduct the passengers to the hangar where they were weighed, measured, scrutinized, and satirized, by a registrar in a jaunty blue suit with an official-looking cap.

They were greeted by a charming hostess in a shimmering ice blue satin evening gown who welcomed them aboard and promised to keep their assembled friends, who unfortunately must remain on ground, informed as to their whereabouts.

Amidst cheers and farewells the balloon ascended and soared away. Soon there came a radiogram saying that the balloon was nearing the coast of Normandy, where the passengers would be the guests at the Chateau Fleur-de-Lis.

Soon the passengers had landed and the interior of a French peasant inn was presented. At the door the Madame Concierge greeted her guests, attired in the traditional French peasant costume. She led them to tables spread with red and white-checked cloths and lighted by tapers in old iron holders. She told them in song of the fleur-de-lis, its traditions and lore, and then there appeared at her summons a chorus of peasant girls who clogged and danced their way into the hearts of the passengers.

A second radiogram announced the crossing of the channel and a merrie reception in olde Englande. There the astonished neophytes were ushered into swanky "Owl Inn" where a hostess in full evening attire, even to a "topper" and cane, bade them welcome. In song and dance she told them more, and entertained them with a chorus dressed in black and white costumes. The cleverness of this group was enhanced by the owl masks which they donned at one point in their number.

Another radiogram reported by the hostess told of their flight to old Russia and the different atmosphere into which they were dropped. At the "Sign of the Key" a group of vivacious Russian dancers greeted them with a fast-moving Russian dance and songs. Then suddenly the lights were dimmed; the atmosphere was exotic; and against a lovely screen there appeared a barefoot dancer with her sheer costume, scarfs, and flowing hair, completing the mysterious atmosphere.

Next came the message that the balloon was soaring again, this time headed homeward. Soon with another message, the scene shifted to a charming southern home where the banquet boards were spread with snowy white cloths and lighted by many white candles in crystal holders. Two charming southern girls in costumes of the 60's welcomed their guests. As the guests were seated, a galaxy of belles with powdered hair sang once again that eternal favorite, "The Banquet Song." To its words a gala flight came to a last happy landing.

Books by Kappas

Volumes Rate Special Shelf at Central Office

By GRACE POSTON, B N

ANY CONNOISSEUR of books would find his interest caught and held by the volumes which fill a special Kappa shelf in the central office book-case, so varied and entertaining are their subjects. In the collection of books written by Kappas we find instructive and delightful children's books taking their place beside serious economic studies, the color and charm of poetry, and the cosmopolitan touch lent by two books of French. Science claims space in an interesting little book of articles by specialists in its various branches. Slim pamphlets give the reader a library tour to New England's oldest towns. So you may take your choice, or better still, you will find something to enjoy in all of them.

Mary Geisler Phillips, B A, Alpha province president, is our most prolific authoress. She has contributed four volumes to the shelf. Three are children's books which accomplish the dual purpose of being entertaining and highly instructive. Some grown-ups who remember the lure of a childhood world filled with magical little people would enjoy these books and benefit by learning all about the intensely interesting lives of ants, honey bees, and spiders. Mrs. Phillips has been very careful not to trifle with the facts in her stories and her elves and fairies do more than charm the imagination. They transform the young hero and heroine and take them right into ant-hills, bee-hives, and spider-webs, to learn the inside facts.

In Spider Webs and Sunflowers (published by Macrae Smith in 1928) Jim and Betsy Watson meet Randy, the Spider Goblin, and learn all about the lives and habits of his protégés, the Spiders. The reader discovers that Spiders are not such horrid creatures after all. There is no reason to fear them, for they are not only harmless, but actually do much good. Ant Hills and Soap Bubbles (Macrae Smith, 1927) brings an elf to take the two children of the previous book into the underground homes of the ants. There they see the marvellously organized lives of these insects, which are much older racially than man. The communal interests of the ants in their cities sounds just like fiction but happens to be true. Jim and Betsy are introduced to the bees in Honey Bees and Fairy Dust (Macrae Smith, 1926) with the help of a fairy named Mellifica. By magical means they are able to enter the hives and meet the bees on their own plane. There they see honey being stored in combs, the queen bee and her workers, and discover the mob psychology which precedes a "swarming." Throughout these books the children have a grand time which the reader shares.

Betty of the Consulate, by Lydia Jones Trowbridge, Y, (Doubleday, Doran, 1929), is a different sort of children's book in which China of the 1860s forms the background. Betty and her little brother travel there from America when their father is appointed United States consul by President Lincoln. Their many adventures in this new and exciting country will hold any child's interest from cover to cover. The authoress writes with the authority which comes of having lived in China herself when her own father was American consul.

Glimpses into the World of Science (D. C. Heath, 1929), of which Mrs. Phillips is co-author with her brother, William Henry Geisler, is a series of scientific articles written especially for young people. The book reflects the talent for presenting hard facts in such a palatable manner that they become more interesting than fiction. Each article is written by a specialist in that particular branch. The variety of subjects ranges from the life of Galileo Galilei to the Ice Age in America. A sketch on Pasteur's achievements is particularly outstanding and an article on the miraculous importance of dust in the atmosphere is an impressive oddity. Less scientific, but written by a specialist in travel, is Theodore Roosevelt's article "The Bloodthirsty Piranha." It tells of a South American voyage on the unexplored River of Doubt where the ferocious fish piranha offered constant danger. This book is a miniature library in itself.

La Belle Nivernaise et Autres Contes, by Alphonse Daudet, has been edited by Ruth Hendrickson Allee, M. (American Book Co., 1933) for school use. She has made an unusually choice selection from Daudet's numerous and charming tales. Having been fortunate enough to use this edition in a recent French class, I know that these stories greatly raised the level of class enthusiasm. They were such a blessed relief from the "Je marche dans la jardin" sort of thing we had been reading. This collection shows the imagination, insight, and humor which are characteristic of Daudet, and every class should know the beautiful restraint and poignancy of the famous La Dernière Classe.

Dorothy Frances Dallas', Γ Υ, contribution is Le Roman Français de 1660 a 1680 (J. Gamber, Paris, 1932). The theme is the development of the French novel in the 20 interesting years following the crowning of King Louis XIV. My own sophomoric knowledge of French prevents me from doing it justice, but many of you to whom the language is an open book will enjoy this treatise of the novel.

Eleanor A. Richardson, Φ, is one of the authors of three pamphlets (Ad-Litera Publications) on interesting towns in New England. Exploring Exeter and Exploring Keene give enough vivid details about these old towns to make you want to see them for yourself. The third pamphlet is about Mount Desert island, just off the coast of Maine, the site of Bar Harbor and other well-known summer resorts. Reading these will make that feeling of wanderlust get worse.

There are several bulletins written for special departments of universities on subjects which will interest many readers. Women's clubs will appreciate two extension bulletins from the University of Iowa written by Pearl Bennett Broxam, Β Ζ, (published by the university in 1932 and 1933). They are Glimpses of Stage Folk, An Outline for Study Clubs and Club Program Suggestions for Special Days. Some technical studies include An Economic Study of 147 Turkey Flocks in Maryland (University of Maryland, 1933), of which Mary Ingersoll Jenkins, Γ Ψ, is co-author. Mary Brandon Potts, M, is one of the authors of three bulletins on wool production written for the United States Department of Agriculture and published in 1922, 1928, and 1935. Our members are indeed versatile!

On Behalf of Accuracy is an article by Cleora Clark Wheeler, X, which has been reprinted from the 1933 Year Book of the American Society of Bookplate Designers and Collectors. It explains the importance of accuracy in making bookplates, which is a more complex procedure than the layman would imagine. This same exactness is necessary to achieve perfection in any branch of art. Miss Wheeler shows that she has mastered it by the three exquisite bookplates which accompany the article. In 1922 Miss Wheeler prepared a little book of information about Glacier National Park, scene of our national convention that year. It is a beautifully designed pamphlet, one you would want to keep. It has several examples of her work; especially notable are the cover design and a replica of the official Kappa bookplate.

Two volumes of poetry complete the shelf. Moon-Moths and Wind-Flowers by Amy Howard Wales Bullock, Φ, (Avondale Press, 1927) brings a galaxy of poems written with delicacy and intensity of feeling. There are poems which mirror the writer's innate reverence for nature; love lyrics gracefully written; and verses which acclaim the inspiration of religion. Mrs. Bullock's mastery of many poetic styles and her diversity of subjects give her poems a wide appeal. My favorite is the following:

PLAYING BLOCKS

*Like little children, patiently we build
Our unstable castles block by block
Until they tower high, quake at a breath
Then fall in ruins at the first rude shock.
Perchance we cease our efforts and we weep
Over their downfall. Wiser far are we
If with sure childlike faith we build again,
Laying foundations firmly, carefully.*

Trailings, A Rhymed Sketch Book by Jessie S. Miner, X (published by the Lantern Press, 1930) has caught the picturesque color of many remote countries. It is not only a collection of travel poems, but each verse seems to epitomize all that makes one country distinctly different from the rest of the world. This talent manifests itself particularly in the brilliant poems on Paris and Algiers; but the crowning gem of the collection was written in Luxor, Egypt. One gets the irresistible impression of Shelley's Ozymandias blended with Dorothy Parker's gift of satire. Yet the poem is outstanding in its originality. Here it is:

THE LITTLE WIFE OF THE COLOSSUS

*Rameses second, carved in stone,
Poses on his lofty throne,
His gigantic foot disdains
A line of captive slaves in chains;
'Tis thirty centuries since he Set himself in majesty:
But despite his haughty pose,
Great Rameses has lost his nose,
While, submissive at his knee,
Preserved by her fragility,
In the shadow of his power
Triumphing by beauty's dower,
Stands, just as she stood in life,
The perfect figure of his wife.*

Seven original poems by Charlotte Prentiss-Hardin, charter member of Beta Omicron, were recently given to the central office library by Cleora Wheeler. The poems were later used in Mrs. Hardin's From a Flat House-top. Her books are now out of print.

"They Say, What Do They Say?"

Marian Se Cheverell Hemingway, "Cited for Interest" department, Sigma Kappa Triangle: "The next issue of The Triangle will see a new 'by-line' in this department. The fascinating work of watching the progress of the other Greeks through their publications is relinquished with regrets. We shall miss many things in giving up this work—among them, the humor of Editor Wilkinson which brightens The Phi Gamma Delta; the modesty of Phi Kappa Psi's Shield (newsworthy, but not 'press-agenty' articles about noted members); the supersuperlatives of The Magazine of Sigma Chi; excellent articles of general interest in Delta Gamma's Anchora, Chi Omega's Eleusis, Alpha Omicron Pi's To Dragma; Kappa Alpha Theta's 'Thetas You'd Enjoy'; the splendid editing of Kappa Kappa Gamma's KEY; the Panhellenic pages in The Aglaia of Phi Mu, The Record of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and The Angelos of Kappa Delta. May our successor find to her liking this game of clip and paste!"

At the international council of women's conferences in Yugoslavia last September, 100 books, selected as the most important work done by American women writers in the last 100 years, were exhibited.

Books by four Kappas were included: "The Deepening Stream" (1930), by Dorothy Canfield Fisher, B N and B E; "Later Lyrics" (1866), by Julia Ward Howe, Phi; "My Story of the War" (1888), by Mary A. Livermore, I; and "The House of Exile" (1933), by Nora Waln, B I.

The list was compiled by a committee of college presidents and a book council of authors, in coöperation with the Century of Progress. Mrs. Grace Thompson Seton subsequently gathered the volumes taken to Yugoslavia as part of her "Biblioteca Femina," a collection of more than 2,000 volumes and 100 pamphlets written by women. The collection is housed at Northwestern university.

Beta Beta Deuteron—Chartered 1881,
R. 1915

St. Lawrence University, Canton,
New York

Rushing was carried out under the supervision of Katherine Van Dyke, chairman. The lodge was turned into a boat with a gang plank and all nautical arrangements for the first party. At other parties skits suggested at convention were used and made a big hit with the rushees.

Kappas were outstanding in campus elections this year. The Women's Athletic association elected Phyllis Bauman for its president; Jane McKenna, vice-president; Mary Campbell, treasurer; and Elsa Rohdenberg, secretary; all girls from this chapter. Frances Steele was elected chairman of orientation leaders. In the class elections Carolyn Robbins won the vice-presidency of the junior class.

One of our pledges, Marthe Moisson, is the French exchange student to this college. She has had an interesting life, having lived 19 years in Shanghai, and has much to bring us in interesting bits of information about the rest of the world.

PHOEBE LAPHAM

St. Lawrence—Chartered 1920

Beta Beta chapter was well represented both by active girls and by alumnae at the national biennial convention, an interesting account of which was given by Alida A. Martin, '09, at our September meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Emerson H. Lalone (Dorothy DeGraff, '21). Mrs. A. Barton Hepburn (Emily Eaton, '86) made a short stop at Canton on her way home from the convention. With her were three past national presidents: Mrs. Kyhns, Mrs. Walker, and Mrs. Westermann.

A memorial service for Maude A. Wrigglesworth, '90, was held September 22 at the Russell cemetery, where her ashes were interred in a beautiful spot among the hills of which she was so fond, and which we ourselves had many times enjoyed on picnics at her country home. She died suddenly last July in London, just as she was starting on a European tour, having this year retired from her teaching position in New York city.

The service was attended by a group from Canton.

Personal Items

Alida A. Martin, '09, has been elected president of the St. Lawrence county branch of the A.A.U.W.

Grace P. Lynde, Margaret R. Austin, and Mildred Seitz, '12, went on a motor trip together last summer through Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maine.

Among the summer and fall visitors to Canton were Mrs. Gertrude E. Hoage (Gertrude E. Pierce, '93), Mrs. Frank J. Arnold (Sybil E. Bailey, '97), Mrs. Harold A. Church (Dorothy M. Thompson, '23), Mrs. James K. Gannon ((Norma B. Allen, '25), Margaret R. Austin, '00; Anne Gertrude Sneller, '06; Mrs. Max A. Jameson (Nettie Spears, '08), Mrs. Harry H. Winterbottom (Jessie H. Heaton, '13), Elizabeth Williams, '34, and Elizabeth Fenn, '35.

Mrs. Theodore P. Gibson (Doris E. Pike, '25) and family have moved from their Canton home to the Pike farm on the five-mile square road.

Grace P. Lynde, '93, and Louise N. Reynolds, '15, drove to Bennington in August, where they attended the exhibition of dancing at the School of the Dance.

Mrs. George R. Hardie (Jessie Dell Stearns, '97) enjoyed a visit with Mrs. Warren W. Reed (Frances C. Nearing, '94) late this summer at her summer home at Lake St. Catherine, Vermont.

Adelaide Poste, '08, spent the summer convalescing in her Canton home, later continuing her vacation at Lake Placid. She has now returned to Canton before she resumes teaching in Schenectady.

Mrs. Katherine S. Church (Katherine M. Spears, ex-'18) made a short visit to New York city in October. While there, she lunched at Beekman Tower with Margaret Austin.

Mrs. Fred H. Heaton (Agnes M. Hosley, '06), Mrs. James P. Heaton (Anna A. Root, '07), Mrs. D. M. Salls (Jessie L. Shepard, '09), Mrs. Albert G. Dettinger (Mary Irene Stewart, '10), and Mrs. Jacob B. Deuel (Norma H. Shaut, '11), were in Canton recently, visiting those of their children who are attending St. Lawrence.

Mrs. Edmund A. Whitman (Florence J.

Lee, '82), and Mrs. A. Barton Hepburn (Emily Eaton, '86) attended the meeting of the trustees of St. Lawrence at Canton October 17.

Marjory Robinson, '08, has rented her Canton house on University avenue and gone to New York city to spend the winter with her father. They were present at the Tercentenary of Harvard, and while in Cambridge were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund A. Whitman. Mr. Whitman and Mr. Robinson were Harvard classmates.

Rose M. Libby, '90, has retired as superintendent of schools and plans to live in Colton, her former home. She has just recently started to drive to California, where she expects to make an extended visit.

Mrs. Albert M. Clark (Phyllis Forbes, '12), with her husband and young son, have moved from Milwaukee to a farm three miles from Canton. Mrs. Clark lived in Canton during her college days and for some time after; her family has been long and closely connected with St. Lawrence.

Phi—Chartered 1882

Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts

Our rush party was October 14, in the home of Mrs. Burnham. Rushing season ended October 20, with Kappa pledging 19 girls, November 2.

Our plans for the future include a pledge dance, bridge, rummage sale, and luncheon.

Virginia Parker, president of the senior class, was chosen Gamma Delta girl for Gamma Delta banquet. Marie Hoehle is head cheerleader. Margaret Thompson and Blanche Robinson are cheerleaders for their respective classes for that banquet.

Genevieve Marston is president of Fox hall, the girls' dormitory, and Margaret Thompson is secretary. Jeanne Johnston is president of the Panhellenic house; Fay Dean was assistant editor of the handbook, and is on the freshman service committee; Mildred Grant is on the dean's list and is secretary of the Newman club.

In music, Roberta Brackett played in a concert in Steinert hall, and Margaret Bigelow is a member of the school of religious education choir.

Virginia Parker and Marie Hoehle are big sisters to freshman girls.

Boston—Chartered 1915

The Boston Alumnae association celebrated Founders' day, Kappa's sixty-sixth birthday, by a box luncheon and picnic at the home of Evelyn Jenkins, Indian Spring Farm, Andover. As the day was dull and cold, we had our picnic luncheon around the big fire in the living-room. Mrs. Richard C. Cox (Marjorie Thompson) gave us a fascinating talk about convention in June, to which Mrs. Burnham (Emily Bright) and Mrs. Ware (Charlotte Barrell) added many delightful touches.

Personal

At the commencement of Boston university in June, Mrs. Vladimir Simkhovitch (Mary Kingsbury) was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities with the following citation: "Mary Kingsbury Simkhovitch, graduate of Boston University with the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1890; distinguished social economist; writer, lecturer, settlement worker; above all, the Head Worker at Greenwich House, New York, for the past thirty-four years; a recognized authority on housing, carrying with grace many honors witnessing thereto, including the presidency of the National Public Housing Conference; a Christian woman who has brought social vision into economics, justice into housing and refinement into the common life."

GRACE PEARSON

Boston Intercollegiate—Chartered 1924

The October meeting of our Association was appropriately on Founders' day. Mrs. F. E. Duddy (Neva Warfel, I) was hostess to the group.

Uppermost in all our minds, of course, was hearing about convention from the delegate, Mrs. H. M. Weddle (Esther Bales, F A), who is also our new president. To add to the interest of her report Esther had prepared a clever scrap book of "convention memoirs" so that we might all see her collection of souvenirs.

We were especially fortunate in having so many members attend convention; Mrs. E. Granville Crabtree (Edith Reese, B F), director of provinces; Mrs. R. A. Ware (Charlotte Barrell, Φ); Mrs. A. Burnham (Emily Bright, Φ); Mrs. Ernest Railsback (Irene Neal, Δ); and Mrs. Eugen Andres (Helen Snyder, B II). Following the delegates report, Mrs. Ware spoke to us of the special beauty of the last day at convention. We hope to hear more interesting sidelights from the others at future meetings.

Another timely program feature was a political discussion, with points for opposing platforms presented by Mrs. D. G. McKay (Ruth Capers, B A) and Mrs. D. A. Bell (Jess McNamee, Δ).

Beta Tau—Chartered 1883

Syracuse University, Syracuse, New York

Beta Tau starts the year with 29 pledges.

We inaugurated an open house for our pledges and invited six fraternities to join us in getting acquainted. Now, all the sororities have adopted open house plans.

October 25 the Mothers' club gave a tea to which the actives, alumnae, and pledges were invited and at which the new mothers were the guests.

At last Syracuse university sees the culmination of her many years of sincere effort in the possibility of the use of Yates castle as the temporary Student union building. The enlargement of the university by the building of a new medical school and citizenship building have made the use of Yates castle possible.

Mrs. T. J. Bryson, our chaperon, has been appointed adviser to the university symphony committee by the dean of women. She is planning to form a permanent organization composed of men and women students from the various living centers of the university. The organization will endeavor to promote enthusiasm and sales for the symphony concerts.

Personals

Imogene Weyer has been elected secretary of the sophomore class. Florence James is president of Eta Pi Upsilon, senior women's honorary, and of Theta Sigma Phi, journalism honorary. Frances Storen is treasurer of Eta Pi Upsilon, and social chairman of Women's Student Senate. Virginia Lee Culver will guide the members of Zeta Phi Eta, speech honorary, this year. Jean Blocksidge will call the meetings to order in Alpha Epsilon Epsilon, home economics honorary. She is also general sports manager of the Women's Athletic association.

University publications provide many positions for ambitious Kappa journalists. Betty Barton, Grace Tumbridge, Kathryn Benner and Doris Allen, junior staff members, and Florence James, senior staff member, will aid in the publication of the Onondagan, the year book. Marilyn Hager is junior women's advertising manager of the Daily Orange, while Imogene Weyer is on the sophomore staff. Kay Walker and Dorothy Mackrell are on the circulation staff of the Syracusan, a Syracuse university magazine.

Betty Jayne Roedel is one of the prominent women debaters on campus. Grace Tumbridge and Kathryn Benner have been elected to membership in Boar's Head, dramatic society. Henrietta Leebrick was chosen as one of the two new R.O.T.C. sponsors. Ruth Paige, Betty Cobb and Jean Lorentz are senior guides. Kathryn Benner is a member of the business education student council and is on the second cabinet of chapel broad. Doris Allen is finance chairman of City Women's club and secretary of the social relations committee of the Chapel.

The officers of University cottage, freshman living center, all pledged Kappa.

DORIS ALLEN

Syracuse—Established 1903

Many new Kappas have been welcomed this year to the meetings of the Syracuse Alumnae association which has more than 100 members.

Our first meeting was at the home of Irene Yarwood, where plans were made to assist the active chapter with its rushing, and also arrangements for a bridge party and rummage sale.

The October meeting, always popular and enjoyable as a social get together after the summer vacation was preceded by a supper at the home of Mrs. Irving Smallwood in Baldwinsville. Political talks were given by Mrs. William Reck and Mrs. Kenneth Bower.

October 24 we had a real treat in joining with the Rochester alumnae for a luncheon at the Canandaigua inn, Canandaigua, New York.

MAYSIE NORTON BROWN

Rochester—Established 1907

The first meeting of the new season was October 24, and it was such a success that we all feel this year will be one of our best. We met at the Canandaigua hotel at Canandaigua lake, one of the loveliest of New York state's Finger Lakes. It was a combined meeting of the Syracuse and Rochester Alumnae associations and was so enjoyable that we hope to meet together again soon. About 50 people were at the luncheon. Laura Spurr and Mrs. Tennant, respective residents of the Rochester and Syracuse associations, greeted us, and Miriam Phetepiece, B B, gave us an interesting report of convention. Miriam, in her new capacity as province vice-president, has been busy going to Buffalo and Ithaca for alumnae meetings and returning with many new plans.

The officers of the association are meeting this week at the new home of our President, Laura Spurr, to make definite plans for the coming year.

Personal

The Rochester association welcomes a new Kappa, Mrs. Fred Hovde (Priscilla Boyd) from Minneapolis, Minnesota. Her husband is connected with the University of Rochester.

JEAN CONNER

Connecticut—Chartered 1934

We Connecticut alumnae Kappas have had our charter for two years now, and we are counting it a rare privilege to renew Kappa associations here.

Our president, Mrs. Otto Kassor (Hazel Hall, B T), attended the convention as our delegate. After a picnic supper October 1 at the home of Mrs. Pierson (Olive Dailey) in Cromwell, 18 Kappas were thrilled and inspired by the growing account of convention activities Mrs. Kassor brought to us.

We have arranged to share responsibilities for the programs for the meetings this year, which, with the exception of the annual luncheon, will be at the homes of members.

The following officers were elected for the year: president, Mrs. Otto Kassor (Hazel Hall, B T); vice-president, Mrs. J. Doyle De Witt (Marjorie Everett, F Θ); treasurer, Mrs. R. G. Barton, (Dorothy Brewster, F Δ); recording secretary, Mrs. Henry Taylor (Betty Ruhe, F Γ); corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. P. Schreiber (Edna Hunnewell, Φ); directors, Janet Beroth, I, and Mrs. Robert Canfield (Caroline Merry, Ψ).

Personal

Mrs. J. Harry Wood (Catherine Fitzhugh, B I) has moved to 8 Whitney Road, Newtonville, Massachusetts.

Psi—Chartered 1883

Cornell University, Ithaca, New York

With a new house under way and a period of successful rushing completed, the Cornell Kappas are embarked upon another college year. We have pledged 10 girls.

We are to give a pledge dance, November 21, to introduce the new girls. Not having a house for entertaining this year is a bit difficult, but visions of the lovely Kappa haven to be ours so soon compensates all.

Our president for this year is Harriette Vane; corresponding secretary, Madge Jopson; treasurer, Natalie Perry; standards, Mary Shuster; rushing chairman, Germaine Miller; assistant rushing chairman, Dorothy Burt; assistant treasurer, Ella Thompson; recording secretary, Marie Valck; social chairman, Elizabeth Walsh.

The college year of 1936-37 opened September 30 with a senior-freshie house party at Whitney hall. The house party was arranged by a committee headed by Betty Robinson, social director of the Women's Undergraduate association. Eurith Campbell and June Strickland also helped to make this party a success. Frederica Chapman is president of the Women's Undergraduate association, which corresponds to Mortar Board. Several Kappas are on the year executives.

October 17, after the Queens-Varsity rugby game, Beta Psi gave a subscription dance at the Royal York hotel. Kappas, other fraternity girls, freshies, and even the defeated Queens students, enjoyed themselves immensely.

We are looking forward next week-end to the visit of many Kappas from Delta Delta chapter who are coming up for the McGill-Varsity game.

ROSE A. DAY

Toronto—Chartered 1926

The first meeting for the season 1936-37 was at the home of Mrs. David Walker (Bunty Smith), October 6. Betty Robinson, Beta Psi delegate to convention, told us of her experiences there. Our delegate, Jean Hunnissett, will report when she returns from her European holiday. It was a "double feature" evening, so movies followed. Our president Mrs. Tom Jackson (Lauren Terryberry) had taken them at Beta Psi's twenty-fifth birthday party last May. The cast was familiar and entertaining.

Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont

Jeanette Olsen was elected social chairman at our first fall meeting, September 28.

The cast of "Girls in Uniform," to be given November 3-4, includes seven Kappas: Alice Chase, Jeanette Olsen, Jennie-Belle Perry, Gertrude Biddle, Marjorie Marsh, Helen Kelley and Florence Hulme.

The sorority quota for incoming freshmen was raised by the administration from 8 to 9 girls. Our rushing season starts November 4 and 5 with open houses.

Marjorie Marsh received this year's alumnae scholarship award.

Jeanette Olson has been elected president of the sophomore class and Jean Hoadley is the junior class president.

FLORENCE HULME

Middlebury—Established 1923

Last spring our Alumnae association accomplished its goal, the installation of an electric stove in the Kappa house. To celebrate the event the alumnae gave a tea at the home with the active chapter as guests and with our newly-elected president, Mrs. Edgar Crosby (Glenna Bump, '34), as our guest of honor.

The summer meeting was at the home of Mrs. Crosby in Brandon, Vermont. Mrs. Crosby had been our delegate to the convention and so had many interesting things to tell us. In one room she had arranged attractively the pictures and souvenirs brought from the Seignior Club. Delightful refreshments were served on the lawn.

Personals

Katherine Mix, '25, sailed August 9, 1936, for Wai, India, to resume her duties as nurse under the American Board for Foreign Missions after a year's furlough at her home in Worcester, Massachusetts. On her return to India she visited the British Isles and France.

Margaret Peck, '25, is director of student activities in the Women's college at Middlebury.

Ruth Bryant, '18, is secretary of the Y.W.C.A. council of Vermont.

Katherine Kelly, '36, is associate general secretary of the Y.W.C.A. of Vermont, with headquarters in Burlington.

INEZ C. COOK

Delta Delta—Chartered 1930

McGill University, Montreal, Canada

Rushing is over and we are happy to report that we have 13 pledges. Entertainment included a formal dinner at the Marlborough golf club, a cocktail party, and three novel lunches, Italian, German and Chinese, at which we served the national dishes. A vote of thanks is to be given to our chapter alumnae who worked with the active members to assure a successful rushing season.

Several members of Delta Delta have important positions on the campus. Barbara Barker is president of the Women's union. Joan Patch is the women's representative on the Student's council. In recent elections Betsy MacDonald was chosen president of the senior year and Ruth Russel, athletic manager; Sylvia Howard, treasurer of the junior year; Charlotte Barnes and Joanne Kircher, president and treasurer, respectively, of the sophomore class.

The pearl guard for scholarship goes to Sylvia Howard this year. Judy Moore, the 1935 winner, obtained a French scholarship at McGill last May and is now continuing her studies in Paris.

The chapter has again rented a French-Canadian house at Piedmont for the skiing season and we are looking forward to many pleasant weekends up north.

Gamma Rho—Chartered 1888

Allegheny College, Meadville, Pennsylvania

Gamma Rho made a successful start this year by winning the Panhellenic tea service for scholarship.

After formal pledging in the fraternity rooms, September 30, we had a party and get-together at Dorothy Phillip's home.

October 13 we had our Founders' day banquet at the tea room of a former Gamma Rho.

This year our hop rings were given to Jane Stoner for the highest scholarship in the fraternity, and to Emma Robertson for showing the most improvement.

Since we are not having pledging until second semester and as our chapters are naturally small we are holding our fall party with the Thetas. We are also planning a skating party with the Alpha Chi Omegas.

Personals

Gamma Rho's former president, Laura Beebe, was chosen as May queen last year.

Ruth McKibben and Jane Davies were two out of the four women chosen to represent Allegheny's charm section of the yearbook.

Annabelle Broomall, president of Women's Student government was not only elected to Phi Beta Kappa, but was also chosen as the most intelligent woman, most popular woman, one who had done most for her alma mater, and the one most likely to succeed.

Mary Lou Quay was elected social chairman of the Allegheny Associated Women students.

Jeannette Rose, Jeannette Hirschman, Kay Drury, and Betty Boyd were tapped Cwens last spring. President Jeannette Rose will be sent to the Cwen national convention at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio.

Dorothy McDowell is president of Kappa Delta Epsilon and secretary of Phi Sigma Iota.

Mary Lou Waha and Valerie Fullerton were chosen as representative sophomore women, while Myra June Bankin was elected vice-president of the junior class.

Marian Leslie, Ruth McKibben, Jane

Stoner, Sarah Thompson, and Katherine Starr were initiated by Kappa Delta Epsilon. Marion is also president of the Spanish club and woman's editor of the campus.

Catharine Gardner was elected to Phi Beta Phi.

BEATRICE BROOMALL

Adelphi College, Garden City, New York

Rushing season has just ended at Adelphi, and Beta Sigma is rejoicing over its 14 pledges. Pledging was at Chapter President Elizabeth Penny's.

Ann Mulcahy is on the committee for the sophomore show, to be given in December. Catherine Wilson is playing in, and Dorrit Herman is directing, one of the plays for All-College night. Ann Mulcahy was chairman of the sophomore welcome tea for the freshmen. The chapter as a whole is planning a fall formal.

DORRIT HERMAN

Beta Sigma—Chartered 1927

Ruth Waldo has accepted the presidency of Beta Sigma Alumnae association and plans for an active season are being formulated. Miss Waldo will be assisted by Mrs. James Robinson (Grace Broadhurst) as vice-president, Marjorie White as corresponding secretary, Edith Hurd as recording secretary and Mrs. Thomas Muir (Isabel Nostrand) as treasurer.

As this letter goes to press the fall meeting of the association has not been held and definite news is therefore limited. The detail business of the association will be handled this year by a board of directors so that the general meetings may be given over as much as possible to the programs which Katherine Tobin Mullin, as chairman of the program committee, will present to the group.

Last spring the younger alumnae evidenced much interest in the activities of the association. We hope for their continued support and are considering their interests in planning our activities, for we realize what an important link these younger alumnae forge between the chapter and the older members of the alumnae association.

ETHEL BROWN

New York—Established 1896

The post-convention houseparty for Kappas at Beekman Tower officially lasted two days June 30-July 2, but sisters continued drifting in until the middle of July. We met girls from many states, with the far west and south represented most largely. The fact that we were enjoying a record heat wave did not hold these visitors down. Tours, sailing trips around Manhattan, jaunts to Radio City, the theatres, shops and galleries kept them busy all their waking hours. However, they were not too preoccupied with sight-seeing to attend the tea given for them July 2, at Beekman Tower. The talk, as was to be expected, was largely of the Seignior club and convention, and the enthusiastic and glowing accounts made us stay-at-homes more sorry than ever that we had missed being there.

Our delegate to convention was Dorothy Leary, Δ B. Among others attending from New York were Ruth Waldo, B Σ, Mrs. Guy M. Walker (Minnie L. Royce, I), Mrs. James Francis McNaboe (Almira Johnson, II and H), Mrs. William B. Parker (Rosalie B. Geer, B Σ), Mrs. Theodore Westermann (May Cynthia Whiting, Σ) and Mrs. Irving Galliher (Francis Hope, B T).

Our president, May Bradford Lutz, Γ II, was hostess to our newly-installed officers at luncheon at the Holley chambers, Washington square, May 23. Programs for the coming year were discussed.

ALICE LOUGH CUNIFF

Westchester—Chartered 1934

The Westchester Alumnae association opened its winter season October 23 with a tea at the home of Mrs. John Lowitz (Carroll Dyrenforth, Υ), of Purchase. About 50 attended including Tade Hartsuff Kuhns, May Whiting Westermann, Minnie Royce Walker, and Almira Johnson McNaboe. We felt honored to have so many prominent Kappas in our midst. Our new president, Mrs. Raymond Gunnison (Olive Mason, B B), presided at the short business meeting. Following this we poor stay-at-homes were given a thrill long to be remembered when we were treated to the excellent colored movies of convention taken and shown by Mrs. Westermann's son, Theodore Westermann. It was a delightful way to see how old friends looked after all these years and an unusual way of bringing convention home to us. Then Mrs. Roy Leighton (Martha Watt, B T), our delegate gave us an account of her days at convention and what they meant to her with Mrs. Westermann, Mrs. McNaboe, and Mrs. Walker laughingly interrupting to contribute highlights as Mrs. Leighton reminisced. It made us all wish we had gone, too.

In an impressive ceremony Mrs. Westermann welcomed as new members the following: Mrs. Milan Ashbrook (Elizabeth Barbour, Γ Ω); Mrs. William F. Clymer (Margaret McCullough, B A); Mrs. Roscoe F. Houston (Kitty Brice, Θ); Mrs. M. W. Thornburg (Leila Berry, II).

From Mrs. Walker we gathered this bit of information unique in the annals of Kappa. Her granddaughter, Zella Ward Walker, of Laurel, Mississippi, recently pledged Kappa at Iota, has a Kappa mother, Marian Ward Tippy, and two grandmothers, Minnie Royce Walker and Zella Ward Tippy who are all members of that chapter. A Kappa family indeed!

SADYEBETH HEATH LOWITZ

Essex—Chartered 1935

The 40-odd members of Essex association live in a dozen adjoining towns and have come from all over the country to this metropolitan area. Once a year each of us acts as one of four or five hostesses at a simple luncheon in a home. Each meeting is like a grand party, enjoyable and stimulating. We try to supply our own programs. Our October meeting was at the home of Mrs. Howe Landers (Shirley McNutt, Δ), president and convention delegate. She reported delightfully and inspiringly, giving us a new vision of the scope of Kappa Kappa Gamma and making us all wish we could have been present at convention.

In March about 15 Kappas who cannot come to luncheon meetings were invited by Mrs. Woodward Allen (Kathryn Campbell, Θ), and Shirley Landers to a buffet supper at the latter's home, and with great enthusiasm they started an evening group with Catherine Carrigan, Γ A, as chairman. In December both groups are combining for a buffet supper meeting at the home of Janet Viskniski, B I, and her mother, Mrs. Guy Viskniski (Virginia Gillespie, B I).

ELSIE KRAEMER HOLMES

Gamma Epsilon—Chartered 1919

University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

During Festival week the chapter took second place with a "Contrary Mary" float. Mary Losey Rudd was chairman and Vivien Roberts played the title rôle.

With Jane Springer as chairman, the Kappas received first place in the Women's Interfraternity sing. Ruth Burry was excellent as Old Man Bluebeard, who chopped off all heads except that of the Kappa girl.

Our social calendar includes the Founders' day banquet given us by the alumnae, October 17, an open house after the Penn State football game, November 7, and a house dance for the Thetas December 11.

Our standards program this year includes an informal discussion headed by Miss Thyrsa W. Amos, dean of women at the university, on the outstanding plays of the season.

Personals

Lois Follansbee has received the senior key given by the university to the most outstanding junior woman. She was recently elected president of the Women's Student Government association, and as a representative to the Student Faculty association. She is a member of Mortar Board.

Jean Lawson is the new president of Panhellenic council and a member of Mortar Board.

Virginia Scott works with Lois, as secretary of Womens Student Government association, and is also a member of the Student Faculty association.

Sylvia Fixel and Carolyn Hall were chosen to be placed in the University Hall of Fame.

Two of our graduates, Agnes Dodds and Dorothy Grote, have been admitted to the law school of the University of Pittsburgh.

Jane Bell is on the sophomore hop committee.

DORIS FUHS

Pittsburgh—Established 1919

The only thing that rivals election enthusiasm in Pittsburgh is the enthusiasm with which we've started off this Kappa year. Nearly 100 active members representing 22 colleges marks a new high in the association. All the credit goes to Mary Christie, I, and her committee. Under the direction of our new officers, plans for the year have been completed, including teas, rummage sales, dances, and bridge, as well as the regular luncheon meetings. Nancy Myler, Γ Ε, is president; Jean Wallace, Γ Ε, vice-president; Kathryn Prenter, Γ Ε, treasurer; Mrs. D. B. Spangler (Jane Michener, B I), recording secretary; and Mrs. William J. Pigott (Betty Quarrie, Γ Ε), corresponding secretary.

The big turn-out at the Founders' day luncheon, providing the KEYnote of the year, enjoyed convention movies and an interesting talk about convention by Nancy Myler.

Right now we're mighty excited about the annual scholarship benefit dance, a supper dance at the Hotel Schenley, November 13. Mrs. W. F. Ewart (Margaret Meals, Γ Ε), is chairman.

Almost forgot—we're getting community-conscious. A while back we had Kappa neighborhood parties: eight in all with some 90 guests. We bridged and "gabbed" about children, dogs, "Gone With The Wind," and Kappa till BLUE in the face.

"Through The Kappa Keyhole," our four-year-old newspaper, is turning out the newest news this year. Mrs. H. F. Latham (Phyllis Newlands, Γ Ε) heads the embryo Winchellites.

We're already excited about the Beta province convention being in Pittsburgh this year. Don't forget all you Beta provincers.

Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pennsylvania

Jean Northrup, our new member to Mortar Board, was elected president of the Women's Athletic association last spring. Jane Hess was initiated into Omicron Nu and is also president of Pi Lambda Theta. Lillian Graham is pledged to Pi Gamma Alpha, local honorary Fine Arts fraternity.

This year we are again experimenting with deferred rushing and freshmen cannot be contacted until November 1, when there will be a series of parties given by the Panhellenic council. Transfer students are rushed under the same rules as freshmen. Indiscriminate rushing begins December 1.

We are expecting a gala time at the Hallow'e'en party for the alumnae October 26.

We are holding a "house improvement campaign" from November 1 to November 15.

HARRIETT HETZEL

Philadelphia—Established 1900

The Philadelphia Alumnae association began its fall activities with a celebration on Founders' day. The banquet was in the Mirror room (which coincidentally is decorated in blue and blue) at Whitman's tea room. It was a treat to have with us Mrs. Parke R. Kolbe, sixteenth grand president, and Mrs. Ronald McCarthy (Florence Pumyea, B A), province president. Mrs. Royden Astley (Edna Lockhart, B A), our delegate to Seigniory, told many interesting things about the convention which made every one regret having missed that experience. Irene Garrison Crambet, Γ Ε, who sings on local radio stations, entertained us with songs. There were 75 present, including alumnae from Philadelphia and suburbs, several undergraduate Beta Alphas, and Mrs. George Earle, their new housemother.

We had our June picnic at the home of Mrs. Earl Harrison, B A, in Rose Valley and are looking forward to returning for a meeting next spring when the dogwood are in bloom.

The results of election of officers are as follows: president, Dorothy Roberts, B T; vice-president, Cora Boynton, B A; secretary, Mrs. Gilbert Seil, Γ Ε; treasurer, Louise Hoerner, B A; member-at-large, Mrs. Frank Loescher, B A.

A benefit bridge was given May 23 at the homes of Mrs. M. A. Knight and Mrs. Robert Iredell. We are proud of the fact that many tickets were sold.

June 13 was the date of the annual reunion luncheon at Turkeyfoot Island club.

A picnic luncheon followed, July 15, at Mrs. Robert Iredell's summer home. After luncheon the active and alumnae members heard a report of the national convention from Mrs. Leroy Tomkinson.

The Founders' day banquet at the Akron City club, October 13, showed true Kappa spirit in the larger attendance. During dinner we sang Kappa songs and had interesting talks by Mrs. Tomkinson, alumnae president, and Lenore Goehring, president of the active chapter. Mrs. Eugene Fouse, social chairman, is being complimented on the party.

Dayton—Chartered 1929

The association's first meeting was at the home of Mrs. Adam Schantz III (Miriam Staffey, Θ), September 16.

Founders' day, about 30 Dayton Kappas had dinner at the Woman's club. A dramatization of the founding of Kappa was presented by a group of the members under the direction of Mrs. Willis Bugbee, Jr. (Justine Pritchard, Β Δ). Also we heard the report of our convention delegate, Mrs. Carl Werner (Jane Pontius, Ρ), who is also our president. This was the first time Dayton alumnae have made a Founders' day banquet.

Our rooms have been furnished with new drapes and a radio and we are having a shower for the rooms October 28. Every girl is going to give a gift to make the rooms more attractive.

Our two claims to fame in Mortar Board this year are Margaret Stringfellow, and Marguerite Cox. Margaret is also president of Panhellenic. The "dean's list" published recently, and entitles all members of it to unlimited cuts in classes because of their high scholarship standing, includes among our seniors Margaret Stringfellow and Helen Slusser. Dottie Sawyer and Mary Ellen Brightman are the intellects of the junior class, while the sophomores are proud of Abigail Gross, Janet Kent, Mary Fairbanks, Barbara Lynch, and Jean Milligan.

Everybody is putting forth all her originality and talent for the "Fun-Fest" skit which will be given in competition with the other sororities the week-end of Homecoming. Janet Kent has merited a part in the Wesleyan Players' new production of "Hay Fever" by Noel Coward.

This year two Kappas have attained the responsibility of social chairman at Monnett and Austin halls, Jane Siller at Monnett, and Marion Foster in Austin. Other members of the house council in Austin are Dorothy Gilroy, Mary Morton, and Helen Slusser.

Margaret Leland was recently elected vice-president of Orchesis.

Kappas on the Y.W.C.A. board this year are Dorothy Gilroy, Molly Lacy, Mary Morton, and Helen Slusser.

Marguerite Cox was a guest speaker on a chapel program this month and read The Congo, and The Gypsy Song.

DOROTHY GILROY

Columbus—Established 1901

Our Founders' day banquet at the Columbus Country Club was one of the nicest we have ever given. It was a horoscope dinner similar to the convention one; Betty Malloy was chairman. Our new president, Ruth Bullock Chastang, presided, Eleanor Penniman Boardman was toastmistress, and Elizabeth Rasor Martin read the horoscope for Kappa. Barbara Schumacher sang and the actives gave a stunt, "Kappa Culture." Helen Stephens, president of the actives, introduced the pledges. The only disappointment of the evening was that Margaret Speaks, who was to have been our guest of honor, was forced to send her regrets.

The "new house" was the most-talked-of subject at the banquet. Many of the alumnae had been skeptical about redoing the old house, but everyone is delighted with the results and we are looking forward this year to having all alumnae meetings at the house.

DALLAS STONE MATHEWS

Mansfield, Ohio—Chartered 1936

Even the scorching summer did not restrict the activities of the Mansfield Kappas.

We adjourned to the somewhat cooler shores of Lake Erie for our July meeting at the summer home of our president, Ann Sweetland Hand. After swimming, exploring, and a picnic lunch with emphasis on the iced tea, we planned a rush tea for the high school girls expected to enter college in the fall.

The tea was in September, and although our rushing technique may not have been of the best, we thoroughly enjoyed using it again, and finished with a greater enthusiasm for Kappa than ever.

Now we are planning our November meeting to center around the new Kappa Hearthstone project, in which we are all interested, and the convention reports, which must bring to us the activities of the fraternity, as we were too newly organized to send our delegate this time.

Sunday, June 28, three actives and two alumnae set out for the 1936 convention and returned, after 10 days' association with Kappas from everywhere, with an increased zeal to make plans for rushing. We spent a great part of the summer working out our plans and with the splendid coöperation of the alumnae, who took over the formal rush party, and the help of the Mothers' club, we finished rushing with a fine class of 18 pledges.

Our Founders' day banquet was October 13 in the home of Mrs. Wendell Hanselman (Helen Beiderwelle). A clever skit, first shown at convention and based on the founding of Kappa, was presented. Our hostess gave to the assembled multitude of alumnae, actives, and pledges her interesting and inspiring convention report. A highlight of the evening was meeting Mrs. Hoover, later, at a reception given in her honor, which 14 of us attended.

October 23 brought the pledge formal.

Personals

Jean Angert and Grace Schroetter have been pledged to Sigma Kappa Tau, an honorary Applied Arts fraternity.

Pat Vockell was recently elected pledge queen of the campus at a dance for all pledges at the University Y.M.C.A.

Another of our freshmen, Rowena Gregory, has been chosen freshman swimming manager and freshman chairman of the Inter-class song contest.

The accompanying poem was written by Mrs. W. G. Pownall (Margaret L.), one of the most active members of our Mother's Club.

BETTY MARISE OWEN

*We are Kappa Mothers,
And our daughters we adore;
We want for them the best in life—
Health, happiness and more,
We want to share their joys and woes
Through all the coming years,
So we echo all their laughter
And join them in their tears.*

*We are glad that they are Kappas,
And we hope they'll all be true
To the golden key they proudly wear,
And the colors, blue and blue,
And may they keep their high ideals
In the years that are to come,
When the college days are over,
And Life's work is well begun.*

*So here's to Kappa Mothers!
And to their daughters too,
So full of joy and promise,
So dear to me and you.
Here's to the fondest memories!
And may they ever be
Of the happy friendships we have made
In our Fraternity.*

Cincinnati—Established 1914

Cincinnati Alumnae association inaugurated its 1936-37 season with one of the largest meetings in its annals in the home of Mrs. Wendell Hanselman (Helen Beiderwell) October 13, for a Founders' day buffet supper. A huge cake was cut while approximately 125 Kappas sang "Happy Birthday" to Kappa. Beta Rho presented her pledges in a radio skit; and Mrs. Hanselman, delegate to convention, gave a report, principally on "Convention Personalities," which was so vivid that it literally thrilled the assembled group and stirred them to new activity as nothing else could possibly have done. In a gala burst of Kappa songs the meeting closed. However, the board members went on to a formal reception given by the Cincinnati Girl Scouts as part of the national convention of Girl Scouts October 12-17, in honor of Mrs. Herbert Hoover.

Gamma province convention will be in Cincinnati in March, and the local association is already perfecting plans for it.

Personals

Bertha Baehr, scholarship adviser for Beta Rho chapter, offered as a personal gift a trip to convention to the girl having the highest grades. The award was made to Betty Owen, who had a delightful convention experience.

Mrs. Glover Boake (Bess Cook, B P), is house mother for Beta Rho chapter.

Elinor Gebhardt, B P, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. David Affleck (Jane Fowler), B P, in the Philippines since last May. Mr. Affleck is associated with the Procter and Gamble company there. The three of them expect to return sometime early this spring.

Mrs. Harvey Hessler (Martha Vogel, B P), is serving her internship at the Cincinnati general hospital under the name of Dr. Martha Vogel to avoid confusion, since her husband is also interning at the hospital. Mrs. Hessler comes from a family of doctors. Her father practiced in Cincinnati before her, and her brother is now a practicing physician.

October 19, twenty members of the Newark-Granville Alumnae association were entertained at the home of the president, Mrs. Frank Webb (Shirley Pitzer, Γ Ω), in Newark.

After the business meeting, when plans to paint the house and to have new slip covers made for the davenport were discussed, tea was served. New members welcomed into the association at this meeting were Elizabeth Chambers, Γ Ω, and Mrs. Charles Martin (Dorothy Fernberger, Β Ν).

Committees were appointed for the Christmas party for the active chapter, also for the November meeting which is to be a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Robert Gulick (Ruth Fieberger, Δ).

FRANCES FLORY

Toledo—Established 1920

We had an enjoyable picnic in June at Eagle Point Colony in the home of Mrs. Karl Hoke (Helen Humphreys, Β Δ). A large group attended, including two new members, Mrs. John Hill (Margaret Mikesell, Ρ), and Mrs. Richard Cole (Jane Helmel, Β Δ).

The fall season opened with a rush tea at which Mrs. Ernest Bach (Gladys Hayes, Κ), was hostess. Of the group entertained, four have since pledged Kappa.

The first business meeting of the year followed a dinner at the home of Mrs. Edgar Norris (Jeannette Stryker, Β Ρ). A record number of 24 was present. Plans for the coming season were briefly discussed and Mrs. Richard Cole was appointed chairman of the annual rummage sale.

We then turned eagerly to the program event of the evening—an informal travel talk by Mrs. German Erasquin (Margaret Bassett, Β Δ), who, with her husband, spent part of the summer in Spain, the native land of Mr. Erasquin. Her thrilling account of the outbreak of the revolution and of her subsequent escape on an American battleship held us breathless.

Personals

Marguerite Griffith, Δ, did graduate work in summer school at Middlebury, Vermont.

With her two daughters, Mrs. Chester Woodruff (Grace Baird, Β Γ), now of California, visited many old friends during the summer.

PHYLLIS HASS POWELL

Cleveland—Established 1901

Our first fall meeting was at the home of Mrs. Vernal Diggs (Julia Nelson), September 16, with 45 Kappas present for supper. Plans were made for the beginning of our book group, supervised by Mrs. Robert Harris (Adelaide Evans); our sewing group, in charge of Mrs. Vincent Fulton (Mildred Pearson); and a group in musical appreciation, which is being organized by Mrs. Cleon Bell (Gertrude Carter). The members of the board presented a playlet, "To Budget or Not to Budget", borrowed from convention by our delegate.

Fifty Kappas celebrated Founders' day with a banquet at the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Lee Carlson (Eunice Bickel) and Mrs. Norman Moore (Katherine Kaiser) brought us reminiscences of the convention. A guest soloist and musical skits by our younger members completed the program.

Our first money-making project of the year, the sale of tickets for a lecture-series sponsored by Panhellenic, netted us more than $150. Mrs. John Murray (Lois Stewart) was chairman of the sale.

Delta's swimming team won the championship last spring. We are hoping to be quite active in intramural sports again this year.

Our first social function of this fall was a reception in honor of our new house mother, Mrs. Samuel T. Barnes, who is proving herself most capable as well as winning the affection and admiration of Delta girls.

A special recognition was given Oc-toberty is putting force was given Oc-nality and talent for the "Fur custom of entertaining members of the different fraternities with Saturday afternoon tea dances.

Delta has recently given a liberal donation to the Community Chest of Bloomington.

We are adopting a new system, known as the Friendship Exchange. The plan is to exchange girls with other houses in order to become better acquainted with the members of other sororities.

Personals

Mrs. Hazel Mauck, for many years our efficient and well-loved house mother, is ill and unable to be with us this year.

We wish to extend our sympathy to Susanna and Martha Atkinson on the death of their mother, October 18, 1936.

Doris Seward, our Panhellenic representative, is president of that organization for this year.

Marjorie Helm and Betty Conley are sophomore assistants on the staff of the Arbutus, Indiana university year book.

Our alumnae association enjoyed a luncheon and a short business meeting October 13 at the hotel at McCormick's Creek state park. This was our first meeting since last spring and was well attended.

Mrs. Sanford Teeter (Nellie Showers, Δ), was appointed chairman of our Hearthstone committee.

We are glad to have Mrs. Mitchell Taylor (Marietta Coval, Δ), and Mrs. Ralph Hook (Lucille Stanley, Γ Δ), as new members in our association.

We are sorry to report that the condition of Mrs. James R. Mauck (Hazel Scott, Δ) is unimproved, and that she is still confined to an Indianapolis hospital where she has been a patient for the last six weeks.

Our December meeting will be a Christmas party and a pot-luck supper at the home of Mrs. Fred Beck (Verba Laughton, Δ). The pledges to the active chapter will be our guests.

Iota started the school year by pledging 22 girls. Shortly after pledging we entertained the new girls at a buffet supper, telling them who their fraternity mothers were to be. We hope it will become a tradition of our chapter.

October 16 we entertained at a formal tea for Mrs. James L. Graham, our new house mother.

Louise Lindley was elected to the disciplinary committee of the university, as well as to the junior class committee. Ginger Wheeler is a member of Phi Sigma Iota, romance language society. Betty Nicols was elected to the science club and to Naperian club, mathematics honorary. Jean Stewart was initiated into Phi Mu, honorary musical sorority. Jean Pauley is secretary of the business staff of the De Pauw, and six pledges, Dorothy McMillan, Zella Walker, Ruth Zitzlaff, Susan Sommers, Mary Hall, and Jane Naus also are on the paper. Ruth Brown is assistant business manager of the Mirage, and Doris Goodenough, Louise Lindley, Mary Lou Rose, Ruth Zitzlaff, Jane Naus, and Margaret Flanders are on the editorial staff.

Officers for the year are: president, Eliza-

Rush week opened August 31 with all the sororities entertaining the rushees with informal teas, ours being a southern hospitality tea. September 4 during rush, we gave our traditional Kappa Karnival, with its whirling roulette wheels, gypsy fortune tellers, beano games, balloons, pink lemonade, pop corn, and peanuts. At the conclusion of rush, we entertained our 23 pledges with a formal banquet at the chapter house. We presented our pledges formally to the campus at our annual open house, October 11.

We might say 1500 fingers in a cake might be too many, but these fingers belonged to the 150 guests who attended Kappa's birthday party October 13 and who helped add another year of grace to our fraternity.

The pledges sponsored a book review, Gone With The Wind, by Margaret Mitchell, and presented by Mrs. R. J. Sanders, prominent book lecturer and mother of Betty Sanders, a pledge, October 23 at the house. Initiation service into Spurs, national sophomore organization for women, was conducted in October for Joanne Jose, Genevieve Campbell, Carolyn Varin, and Barbara Jean French and also into Chimes, junior organization, for Betty Weier and Lillian Rees.

Helen Rogge, president of Y.W.C.A., was also elected as a senior representative on the student council.

Because of vacancies left in the chapter, officers were elected at one of our first meetings. They are Betty Weier, recording secretary; Grace Fairchild, registrar; Marjorie Craft, assistant registrar; Lillian Rees, treasurer, Barbara Jean French, assistant treasurer; and Dana Wilking, assistant marshal.

JEANNE F. MITCHELL

Indianapolis—Established 1898

The Indianapolis alumnae association inaugurated the activities of this year with a benefit bridge and style show September 19. Under the direction of Mrs. James Costin (Mildred Chandler), the affair netted sufficient funds to meet our local and national contributions to charity. As this party is our only means of raising funds, every effort is made each year to make it a success.

Mrs. Joe Rand Beckett (Mary Ann Baker) was chairman of our dinner party in honor of Kappa's sixty-sixth birthday. At this meeting convention and rush reports were given and new alumnae were initiated into the association. Mrs. Ella Brewer Clark, vice-president of Delta province, was the guest of honor.

The membership campaign has been one of the most successful in several years. With a potential membership of 375 Kappas in and around Indianapolis, the membership committee, headed by Mrs. Kearsley Ulrich (Melba Donaldson), has achieved a paid membership of 110 with more to be added soon.

With a Kappa, Mrs. R. Hartley Sherwood (Marjorie Brown), as president of the Needlework Guild for the state, we are particularly interested in the work of this organization. Under the direction of Mrs. Warren D. Oakes (Carrie Breden) we hope to make the membership contribution of our association 100 per cent.

Our November meeting will be a luncheon at which Frederick Burleigh, director of our Civic theater, will speak.

The fall meeting of the Muncie Alumnae association was October 12, at the home of Mrs. Harry Long (Clara Davis, Δ). It was a dinner party followed by a business meeting. Plans were made to participate in "delicacy week," a city wide project sponsored by the hospital. Mrs. Charles Van Metre (Wilhelmina Wallace, Δ), gave a report of Gone with the Wind, by Margaret Mitchell. Mrs. George Dyke (Julia Sullivan, I), told a few of the experiences she encountered while doing Red Cross work during the spring floods. Plans were made for our Christmas party early in December.

The first meeting of the year was September 11, at the home of Mrs. Clyde Dreisbach (Georgia Fosler, Δ), with Mrs. Ella B. We were glad to welcome the following new members: Mrs. Harry Haller (Louise Spake, Γ Δ); Mrs. Frank Nusbaum (Mildred Johns, M); Mrs. Alice Nusbaum (Alice McGinnis, M); Margaret Amy Thomas, Δ; and Mary Elizabeth Sieber, Δ.

Mrs. Ella B. Clark and Mrs. John L. Richardson (Margaret Barker, M), were guests at the Founders' day banquet given by the Indianapolis Alumnae association, October 13.

We celebrated Founders' day October 14, with a dinner at the home of Mrs. Ernest Carlo (Lucille Woodruff, T), with Mrs. Gerald Pence (Helen Strawmyer, M), Mrs. Harry Haller, and Alethea Pettijohn, Γ Δ, assisting. A birthday cake decorated in two shades of blue and inscribed with the dates 1870-1936, a Kappa key, and the fleur-de-lis, was cut by our president, Jane McBride, I. A report of national convention was given by Betty Van Arnam, who was our delegate.

Personals

One of our members, Phyllis Bales, Δ, has developed a most interesting hobby from her efforts in amateur photography. She studied this past summer with Nicholas Haz of New York. Recently her picture and an article appeared in the society section of the Sunday Journal Gazette.

Mrs. Charles Miles (Toay Underwood, Δ), now of Wapakoneta, Ohio, was seriously injured in an automobile accident in Michigan in September. She is making a satisfactory recovery at the memorial hospital, Lima, Ohio, where she will be confined for several months.

The officers for the year are: president, Jane McBride; secretary, Mrs. John L. Richardson; treasurer, Elizabeth Patton, Δ.

MARGARET BARKER RICHARDSON

Hillsdale—Established 1921

The first event of the summer was a tea at the cottage of Mrs. Albert Walrath (Ruth Mauck), at which the seniors of Kappa chapter were the guests of honor. (Mrs. Lucien Walworth (Natalie Hennessey) and Mrs. Ted Wiget (Marcia Walrath) were co-hostesses. Since it was just prior to their graduation in June, we welcomed the seniors into the alumnae association.

During the summer we worked with the active girls in redecorating the chapter house. A few venetian blinds with gay drapes, a little paint on inside walls, and a few new tables and lamps brightened and freshened the house. The college enrollment is larger than it has been in years; and the whole campus seems to be organizing for a full year.

We are making plans now for rummage sales and dances so that we can begin as an association as well as individually to contribute to the new Hearthstone Fund.

Personals

Mrs. Ralph Rowe (Della Macintosh, K), has come to Hillsdale as acting dean of women at the college.

Mrs. Albert Walrath (Ruth Mauck), Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Friedrichs (Doris Mauck), and Mrs. Charles Buchanan (Frances Walrath), spent October in Florida.

Mrs. Ted Wiget (Marcia Walrath) flew in March from San Francisco to Hillsdale with her five-month-old daughter. They joined her husband here and are now living in Hillsdale.

Mrs. John Ashcomb, an Adrian Kappa, is a welcome addition to our association.

Death

We all feel deeply the loss of Mrs. Casper Rowe (Ludelle Wheden) who died in Pasadena, California August 18, 1936. She had been a pledge of Kappa chapter at Hillsdale, years ago, and her three daughters, Jeanette, Elaine (Mrs. Philip Kearny), and Genevieve (Mrs. Howard Jefferson) were all members of the same chapter. The family made their home in Hillsdale until three years ago, when they moved to Pasadena.

Detroit—Established 1901

Activities of the Detroit Alumnae association for the year 1936-37 were opened with a hospitality tea at the home of Mrs. Charles Hodgman (Elizabeth P. Ranck, B Δ), September 30. Those assisting were Mrs. H. H. Lippincott (Lucille Myers, B Δ), Mrs. C. Redman Moon (Elsa Haas, B Δ), Mrs. McElvain (Sybil Parks, Γ Δ), and Mrs. Francis M. Dewey (Ruth Sturmer, B Δ). The program chairman, Mrs. Emmett C. Kull (Harriett Ackley, B Δ), announced that the winter's plans included sectional meetings, a keno party, and a trip through the new Detroit radio station, WWJ.

The Founders' day banquet, October 13 at the Detroit Athletic club, was in charge of Mrs. Kull, whose assistants were Mrs. Max Colter (Elsa Haag, B Δ) and Margaret Goodenow, Δ F. The banquet room, lighted entirely by light and dark blue candles, brought memories of "The Banquet of a Thousand Candles" at convention, which those who did not attend were asked by Helen C. Bower, B Δ, editor of THE KEY, and toastmaster, to imagine.

"Celebrating Kappa's Sixty-Sixth Birthday with 1936 Convention Impressions," the theme of the dinner, was carried out by brief talks by Margaret Goodenow, association delegate; Mrs. Harold R. Smith (Aletha Yerkes, B Δ), Delta province president; Mrs. Ainslee C. Chenoweth (Marion Ackley, B Δ), chairman of the Rose McGill fund; Dorothy Whipple, B Δ, editor's deputy and Hoot reporter; and Mrs. Charles M. Overstreet (Wilhelmina Bates, Δ Γ), visitor. Motion pictures of the 1936 convention followed the talks.

The Detroit association welcomes 12 new Delta Gamma Kappas this year.

The sympathy of the Detroit association is extended to Mrs. Charles S. Cole (Georgena McSweeney, B Δ) in the death of her husband.

Grand Rapids—Chartered 1935

In June, Miss Clara Limbert, A '86, entertained us with a dinner at her lake-side estate. This was our final meeting of the year, and was in honor of Miss Mildred Hinsdale, B Δ '90, and her sister Dr. Mary Hinsdale, a Delta Gamma from the University of Michigan. After teaching in Grand Rapids junior college for many years, they have retired, and have returned to their family home in Ann Arbor. We all miss Miss Hinsdale's gracious presence at our parties. At this meeting we voted to continue our donation to the Panhellenic revolving scholarship fund at junior college, which we have supported for several years.

Our first pot-luck dinner this fall was at the home of Mrs. David Gray (Winifred Fletcher, H). Plans were made for the coming year, and the following committee chairmen appointed: publicity, Mrs. Raymond Baxter (Dorothy Rusche, Δ Γ); telephone, Mrs. Robert Harrison (Julia Davis, B N); and Christmas philanthropy, Frances Taliferro, T.

Classes began at Adrian College, September 17.

The freshmen, and other new students were entertained at a tea, September 30, given by the Woman's league. The Panhellenic tea was an event of October 1.

October 7 was the date of the annual faculty reception.

Plans are being made for Adrian's Homecoming, October 24. A parade, football game, a tea, and fraternity parties promise to make the day a success. The football team selected five college girls to compete for the title of "Homecoming Queen." Jeannette Kirk is one of the contestants. Leona Braun is to crown the queen.

The Dramatic club, October 29, will present a revival of Anna Mowatt Ritchie's play "Fashions." Betty VanDusen has the rôle of Millenette in the play.

An All College party is being sponsored by the Student council, October 30.

The annual Panhellenic dance is scheduled for the evening of November 27.

To stimulate a closer union between the active and alumnae chapters, two Xi actives now attend each alumnae meeting.

We had the kitchen of our chapter rooms redecorated before the faculty reception, October 7.

We entertained the women members of the faculty at dinner in the chapter rooms, October 19.

Alyce Kortie is associate editor, and Betty Van Dusen is circulation manager of the College World, our school publication.

Adrian—Chartered 1924

Another year in the history of the Adrian association began with the meeting early in September for which Alice Baldwin was hostess. The report of the national convention given by Majel Jones, our delegate, was the chief feature of the evening. Her enthusiasm, as well as that of Alice Kortie, active delegate who was present also, has been most contagious. Needless to add, the former's well-filled convention scrapbook has been much in demand.

A rummage sale October 3 of which Alice Rorick was chairman was a noteworthy success. Mrs. Henry Lutz (Helen Rankin), assisted by Mrs. Waldron Stewart (Geraldine Miller) and Mrs. Kenneth Tolford (Dorothy Palmer), graciously opened her home for the second meeting of the year. Margaret Kells and Frances Heckert, guests from the active chapter, gave an account of the chapter's rushing program and of new features of the college this year.

We are all glad to have among us again Mrs. Frank Ballenger (Margaret Stover), whose husband is the new director of athletics at Adrian college; Rachel Beal, now teaching in Adrian; and Mrs. Edwin Clement (Jeanne Hornby), whose recent marriage has brought her back to Adrian to live.

As this is written, we are looking forward with anticipation to the November meeting for which the Misses Cora and Sadie Palmer are to be the hostesses, with Mrs. Charles Hood (Louise Burr) assisting. Christmas means that many former Adrian Kappas will be home for the holidays and for the association's Christmas tea.

When we returned to school this fall, we found a new house awaiting us. Due to painters' and plasterers' strikes during the summer, the first two weeks were spent in a maze of carpenters, saw-horses, and nail-kegs. But when rush began, the house was a finished product to meet the eyes of the rushees. A true show place it is, both inside and out.

A new rush system was inaugurated by Sarah Schaaf, president of Kappa Kappa Gamma and of Panhellenic. Instead of dropping bewildered freshmen into the midst of a whorl of teas and dinners, the first two weeks of school are devoted to orientating the freshmen to their new life, giving both rusher and rushee an opportunity to become better acquainted. Formal rush now lasts two weeks and is a marked success over the previous years' whirl-wind method of three short days of mad rush.

September 25, the alumnae entertained the actives with a scholarship picnic at Monmouth park. Crested bracelets were presented to Helen Hoog and Betty Quay. Helen had the highest average in the chapter and Betty made the greatest improvement in her grades.

Founders' day was observed by the placing of flowers on the graves of the two founders buried here, Anna Willits Pattee and Minnie Stewart Field, by the presidents of the active and alumnae chapters. After this brief ceremony a formal banquet was given at Hawcock's. The program was in charge of Kate Parker, who introduced the speakers of the evening, among whom were Misses Georgia and Mabel Pillsbury. We are always glad to have these early Alphas with us and it seemed especially fitting that they should be here at this time.

As a feature of the Leap-year week-end, October 16-18, the Kappas sponsored an open house where the co-eds assumed the rôles of the ardent swains for an evening. Plans for our winter formal and for rushing, which begins November 23 and ends with pledging December 5, are progressing rapidly.

Monmouth—Chartered 1934

June 10 we were granted our last initiation ceremony for those members unable to come to Monmouth for initiation at the time Alpha was reinstated. The initiates were: Mrs. Harold Azdell (Janette Wilson), Doris Evers, Mrs. Harry Clarke (Gayle Comstock), Mrs. John Gibson (Mae Wallace), Mrs. C. A. Johnson (Dorothy Kobler), Marjorie Hill, Mrs. James Hutchison (Vera Marshall), Helen McClanahan, Mrs. David McMichael (Grace Nash), and Mrs. H. A. Porter (Margaret Quinby).

Our association and the active chapter enjoyed a picnic at the park September 25, at which time we presented the two awards given each semester to the active chapter. Helen Hoog received one for making the highest grades, and Elizabeth Quay received the other for making the greatest improvement in grades.

Founders' day we placed flowers upon the graves of the two founders buried here, Anna Willits Pattee, and Minnie Stewart Fields. That evening our Founders' day banquet was held at Hawcock's with Kate Parker as toast-mistress. Two early initiates of the original Alpha chapter, Mabel and Georgia Pillsbury of Washington, D.C., were our guests.

As an additional incentive to increase attendance at our monthly meetings, an attendance contest was started last spring. We divided our group into two teams, the Kappas, and the Gammas. At the end of the year the losing team will entertain the winners at a dinner party.

After all the festivities of rush-week, pledging, and teas, we settled down to our studies and activities. The Kappas are well represented in nearly every activity on the campus—athletic, literary, and musical.

Our Home-coming was October 16-18, and we won first prize on our float in the parade. A great many alumnae came back for this week-end, and among them one of our very oldest, Mrs. Abbott (May Round), who was graduated in 1875. It was through her that Epsilon won the prize for having the oldest alumna return for Homecoming. She interested us no end with her stories of old college days at Wesleyan in the "Seventies," and we were quite amazed at her vivacity and participation in all the activities.

Just now, we are trying to get back into routine after a strenuous week-end.

Personals

Charlotte FitzHenry, Alice Beyer, and Helen Barnes are on the Argus staff.

Martha Niertheimer and Elizabeth Jones are associate and art editors, respectively, of the Wesleyana.

Myra Ann Peairs is president of both Y.W.C.A. and Pi Gamma Mu.

Esther Hawks, Betty Boulton, and Ruth Wilson made the varsity hockey team.

MARY BARR

Bloomington, Illinois—Established 1895

The final event of last year's program was a picnic at Mrs. DeLoss Funk's (Sina Belle Read, E), with 45 Kappas present.

Commencement day the association members gathered at the Kappa house, and celebrated the close of a successful year with the dedication of the library. The Benjamin picnic, traditionally on that day, was scheduled this year for August, and in spite of the terrific heat was well attended.

Home-coming festivities this fall included a spread at the Kappa house with 100 present, and a tea immediately following the game.

Personals

Association members who attended summer school were Ruth Ahlenius at the University of Michigan, Mary Jeanette Munce, E, and Mary Bodell, E, at the University of Illinois. Helen Dooley, E, is studying at Columbia this winter.

Mrs. Leon Mayeur (Frances Webber, E) and Margaret Jones, E, spent the summer in Europe, in travel and study.

Blooming, Illinois, alumnae of Kappa Kappa Gamma extend sympathy to Mrs. Louis Forman (Bess Welty, E), Mrs. J. W. Probasco (Charlotte Leonard, E), Charlotte Clay Probasco, E, and Mrs. Olin Kettlecamp (Geraldine Rhodes, E).

Eta—Chartered 1875

University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin

Our year started successfully with the pledging of 27 girls. Two of them, Alma and Cecilia Moore, are identical twins and have so far completely confused the campus as well as their own pledge mothers, as to which is which. Open house, in honor of the pledge class, was October 9 at the chapter house. Initiation was October 17.

Eta chapter commemorated the sixty-sixth anniversary of the fraternity, October 13, with a banquet at the house. We, as well as the school, are preparing for the Homecoming celebration, October 31. The decoration theme is to be that of Halloween and the Wisconsin spirit combined.

AUDREY VOET

Madison—Established 1917

Our March and April meetings were supper meetings in the homes of Mrs. Claude Maurer (Jessie Bosshard, H) and Mrs. Copland (Margaret Thompson, F K). At our first meeting, Patty King, H, spoke on her work and experiences at the University of Wisconsin employment office; while in April, we heard Mrs. Frances J. Bloodgood's (Janet Cleveland, H), illustrated talk on the "Holy Land." Her colored lantern slides, the first ones she had ever made, were beautiful.

Mrs. Joseph Ford (Vera Veerhusen, H), and Mrs. O. D. Brandenburg entertained the Kappa alumnae at luncheon in May and June in their homes on Lake Mendota. Mrs. Kowalke (Winnifred Titus, H) took some movies of the alumnae in the gardens this year. Ruth Davies Wilson, H, from New York city and Mrs. Napier, Kappa chaperon, were our guests in June.

September 23 we met for supper at the home of Mrs. Phillip Porter (Ruth Thomas, H), and had about 50 present. This was the largest alumnae meeting we have ever had, and included three new members: Jean Fisher, Elizabeth Bloodgood, and Margaret Frey, all Madison Eta graduates in June. Besides discussing rushing prospects, we heard Patty King, our alumnae delegate to convention, give a report of convention.

Mrs. Philo M. Buck (Aletheia Hall, P), opened her house to the Kappas at an informal supper October 14. The assisting hostesses were: Mrs. C. P. Higby (Jane McKinney, B T), Mrs. J. T. Giles (Georgianna Bowman, Δ), Brynhilde Murphy, H, and Mrs. O. T. Nelson (Marie Ramsey, B Z). Mrs. Vern Bell (Betty Overman, Δ), our alumnae president, told us about our 27 new Kappa pledges. Among them were several Kappa daughters: Barbara Bickel, daughter of Mary DePuy Bickel, H, and Fredric March's niece; Mildred McKinnon, daughter of Edna Rankin McKinnon, H, and niece of Jeannette Rankin, first Congresswoman; Dixie and Alice Davis, daughters of Edith Swenson Davis, H, and Eloise Susan Eager, daughter of Eloise Seavert Eager, H. Mary Swenson North's two daughters, Jean and Mary, pledged Kappa last semester, so there are now four daughters of the Swenson girls in the present chapter.

Mrs. O. T. Nelson (Marie Ramsey, B Z), is chairman of another Kappa rummage sale November 7, the proceeds of which will go toward our second $50.00 to the University of Wisconsin scholarship fund this year. This is a gift, and not a loan, for needy students.

Mrs. Claude Simpson (Ibby Carrigan, B Z), from Austin, Texas, was welcomed into our alumnae association at this meeting. Her husband is an English instructor at the university.

With Homecoming festivities and our province president, Mrs. Gregory, from Evanston coming, it looks like October 30 will be a busy week-end.

Personal

Mrs. Lindley V. Sprague (Virginia Clement, H) has just been elected president of the Madison League of Women Voters. The league is sponsoring a series of public lectures on current events, international relations, and constitutional law, besides talks on farm and monetary aspects of campaign issues by various prominent professors at the University of Wisconsin.

KATHRYN E. PARKINSON

Milwaukee—Established 1919

The Milwaukee association met at the College Women's club October 13 for a "Birthday Dinner." Mrs. Horace Condit (Helen Rugg), Epsilon province vice-president, was guest speaker. Mrs. Holland Coleman (Blanche Hall, Δ Z), convention delegate, spoke on "Convention Highlights." At this meeting each member was presented with an attractive blue and blue printed program containing a list of the officers and committee members, the program for the year with hostesses for each meeting, and the association roll call.

The officers for 1936-1937 season, installed at the June meeting at the home of Mrs. George Chamberlain (Helen West, H), are as follows: president, Mrs. Carl Wagner (Sarah Sutherland, B Δ); vice-president, Virginia North, H; treasurer, Eliza Bartlett, H; and secretary, Mrs. Williard Newberry (Frances Neville, B Z). Mrs. Kathleen Peck (Kathleen Robinson, H), is again Panhellenic representative with Patience MacBriar, H, as alternate.

Personals

Mrs. Phillip Fox (Lorna Quarles, H) has returned to Milwaukee and to the Alumnae association.

Ann Harley, H, a graduate of last June is among the new members of the Milwaukee association.

Janet Pray, H, is spending the winter in Milwaukee with her aunt, Mrs. Robert McMynn (Elizabeth Palmer, H).

Mrs. Russell Mann (Lucille Robinson) is now making her home in Milwaukee.

Charlotte Huse, Σ, is spending the winter in Milwaukee, where she is employed by the Securities Company of Milwaukee.

Mrs. W. K. Smith of Racine, is a new member of the association.

Virginia North, H, vice-president of the Milwaukee Alumnae association, is spending the winter in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, where she is assistant research professor in the law school of the University of Louisiana. Virginia was assistant district attorney in Milwaukee from 1929 through 1932.

Guests at the "birthday dinner" included Mrs. William Van Cleef, sister of Victoria Huntzicker, and Billie Robinson, sister of Mrs. Russell Mann.

Mrs. William Powell (Gertrude Forkin, H) has come to Milwaukee as a bride.

Mrs. John Huth (Augusta Maverick, B Z) spent the fall in San Antonio, where she visited her mother, Mrs. Augustus Maverick.

Chi—Chartered 1880

University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minnesota

September 27, fall formal rushing on Minnesota's campus with an afternoon tea. After three of these teas and four dinners, Chi chapter pledged 17 girls, October 5.

New officers elected are: corresponding secretary, Betsy Bruce; assistant corresponding secretary, Betty Almers; assistant registrar, Catherine Boucher.

October 10, after the Minnesota-Nebraska football game, an open house was given by the chapter.

An annual Founders' day banquet was given October 13, in the King Kole hotel. The pledges entertained after dinner.

Minnesota—Established 1892

Our annual picnic and business meeting was August 4, 1936 at Mrs. Donald Cotton's (Grace Gillette, X) home, Groveland, Lake Minnetonka. A picnic luncheon was followed by a business meeting. A committee headed by Mrs. Clyde Stephens (Eleanor Hanna, T), was appointed to begin work on a directory, which it is hoped, will be ready sometime in November. The book will contain names and addresses of alumnae residing in Minneapolis and St. Paul. A report on convention was given by our delegate Mrs. John Locke (Virginia Mott, X). Ruth Kelley, active rushing chairman, read the list of rushees and also the rushing rules, with the alumnae giving what information they could concerning the girls on the list. Alice Wright planned the picnic.

Mrs. Harry M. Schoening (Mary Louise Bohmer, X), was in charge of the alumnae rushing tea at the chapter house September 28.

October 13, our annual Founders' day banquet took place at the King Cole hotel in Minneapolis. Mrs. Robert Van Fossen (Theodosia Foot, X), was chairman, and Helen Austin, X, was toastmistress. The pledges were introduced by the president of the active chapter, and entertainment was provided by a group of them.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Hovde (Priscilla Boyd), have moved to 42 Varinna drive, Rochester, New York.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Winding (Katherine Cudworth), have moved to 331 West State street, Ithaca, New York.

JANE B. ORME

Duluth—Chartered 1936

Although we are a newly chartered Alumnae association, we have 24 members representing 11 different chapters. With Mrs. Clarence Hartley (Marie Damon, H), as our president, we have organized, have received our charter, and are now planning projects. Our officers are: president, Mrs. Clarence Hartley; vice-president, Mrs. Laird Goodman (Cordelia Collins, X); corresponding secretary, Mrs. Alan Starkey (Lucille Bieberman, H); treasurer, Mrs. Harvie Garver (Margaret Hope Fogbt, S); KEY correspondent, Antoinette Andresen, F Z; with Mrs. C. K. Dickerman (Mabel Stone, X), and Sophie St. Clair, B Δ), as members of the executive committee.

Last summer we met at Mrs. Hartley's cottage on Lake Pokagama, Wisconsin, for our summer meeting. We had two Kappas from Superior, Wisconsin, as our guests, Mrs. Stockton Loney (Doris Howard, B II), and Mrs. Lyman Powell, Jr. (Alice Creber, H). After luncheon and a business meeting at which we discussed plans for the coming year, we enjoyed swimming and sailing. Assisting Mrs. Hartley as hostesses were Ruby Britts, H, Mrs. Robert Todd (Mildred Eaton, F K), and Mrs. K. R. Fawcett (Helen Briggs, T Ω).

We are looking forward to our meetings this coming winter and we would like to extend a cordial invitation to Kappas in the neighboring cities to meet with us.

ANTOINETTE HART ANDRESEN

Upsilon—Chartered 1882

Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois

Pledging of 26 girls brought a successful rushing period under Eloise Chase, rushing chairman, to an end.

Betty Jennings, Constance White, and Lenore Dunning were initiated, October 11.

Our chapter president and convention delegate, Helen McKarahan, was recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Other officers of the chapter this year are: Pat Dobson, pledge captain; Betty Seymour, treasurer; Joan Milliken, house president; Jeanne Shumway, social and music chairman; Jane McIntosh, head of standards; and Josephine Balhatchet, marshal.

Personals

The Kappas seem to have a monopoly on cheerleading at Northwestern. Janice Hall, '36, was the first girl cheerleader in the history of Northwestern, and now Kay Stewart, a pledge, has recently been chosen the second one. She receives a welcoming hand from football crowds with her clever acrobatics. Besides being adept at this, she is an exceptional dancer, and was admitted to Orchesis, the honorary dancing society. Kay is a freshman in the school of speech.

Virginia Smith, '37, and Eleanor Culver, '36, spent an interesting summer studying at the Sorbonne in Paris. Both girls are French majors. Several other Kappas spent the summer traveling; Lorraine Lansing, '38, in Russia with her family; Barbara Ann Sargent, '37, mainly in the Scandinavian countries; and Jean McIntosh went to Alaska.

The name of Shirley Ann Johnson, a sophomore in speech school, has become quite famous in golf circles. She was one of the youngest golfers to play in many tournaments this summer. Her latest meet was at Summit, New Jersey where she was runner-up for honors.

JEAN KEENE

Chicago—Chartered 1931

Founders' day was celebrated with a banquet, which was well attended, at the Union League club. It was a success socially as well as being informative as to national accomplishments and activities which were brought out in the report given by our delegate to convention, Mrs. John Owen, Θ. Her report served to arouse keen interest in the new project, the Kappa club and the Hearthstone fund. Mrs. John R. Hattstaet, K, who is active in musical circles, presented a group of songs concluding with "Kappa Lady."

The coming season marks our second venture with printed programs. The type program so successful last year was again chosen; that of luncheon and guest speaker, each time presenting new and widely different subjects. Special mention should be given to Mrs. Duane T. McNabb, K, for her part in planning these programs.

The Rose McGill fund will this year share with the Hearthstone fund in the association's philanthropic aim.

VIRGINIA McVEY

North Shore—Chartered 1910

The first meeting of the year, October 21 at the Kappa house, was attended by a large crowd. Reports were given by the various chairmen. The membership committee proposed a plan which met with approval—there is to be a telephone committee in each suburb to call members before each meeting. Also, the dues were raised to three dollars, thereby allowing free luncheons throughout the year.

Our philanthropy projects are to be taken care of by the money raised at our book reviews. We were fortunate in securing Mrs. Katherine Garten who gives "Interpretative Reviews" in a most interesting manner. The first review will be the evening of November 18 at the Orrington hotel. By holding it at night, the husbands may come. The money will go to the Rose McGill fund, and the Cradle at Evanston. To further aid the Cradle, Kappas are hostesses there each Thursday for luncheon.

Mrs. Thomas Singleton (Katherine Hall), gave an interesting, detailed convention report, and the movies of the convention were enjoyed by all.

BETTY WHITE

Beta Lambda—Chartered 1899University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois

Nancy Riley was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Hortense Barthalow and Louise Rainey were initiated into Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman scholastic honorary. Sue Larabee and Mary Stewart passed the rhetoric proficiency.

Officers for this year are: president, Ruth Wade; recording secretary, Jane Wells; corresponding secretary, Llewellyn Baird; treasurer, Mary Ann Kimball; registrar, Mary Beth Schafer; marshal, Virginia Snorf.

Ruth Wade is on the Y.W.C.A. cabinet and is our candidate in the popularity contest. Clarabelle McKinlay made Shortar Board, senior activity honorary, and is co-chairman of Dads' day week-end for the university. Lillian Moss made Torch, junior honorary, and is our candidate for junior prom queen. Kathryn Franks and Mary Moss made Shi-Ai, sophomore honorary.

Our pledge dance, arranged by Jane Wells and given November 7 was a huge success. Our pledges are engaged in many activities. Dorothea Bergin and Drucilla Johansen are in the university glee club and Bernice Bien is in the final flight of the tennis tournament.

CLARABELLE MCKINLEY

Champaign-Urbana—Established 1918

October 13 we were the guests of Beta Lambda chapter at a Founders' day dinner in the chapter house. The 18 pledges presented a skit on the founding of Kappa and the forecasting of its future. The meeting which followed was in charge of our president, Mrs. G. L. Porter (Janice O'Brien, Σ). Other officers for the year are: vice-president, Mrs. Jo C. Williamson (Meryl Sanders, B Δ); secretary, Vera Bassett, B Δ; and treasurer, Mrs. Carl S. Marvel (Alberta Hughes, E).

November 4 we were hostesses to the pledges of Beta Lambda chapter at a buffet supper in the home of Mrs. Porter. The committee in charge was Mrs. L. T. Gregory (Isabel Culver, Π); Mrs. W. A. Ruth (Mary Waddell, B Δ); Mrs. W. P. Garrigus (Helen Robbins, B Δ); and Mrs. Jo C. Williamson (Meryl Sanders, B Δ).

While we are unfortunate in the loss of Mrs. William C. Kneale (Grace Sowter, B M), and Mrs. E. A. Norton (Marguerite Niehaus, E), who have moved to Des Moines, Iowa, we welcome into our group Mrs. Lester Corrie (Miriam Knowlton, B Δ), and Mrs. F. R. Kirkpatrick, Γ Φ.

Personal

Mrs. C. C. Burns (Kathryn Van Aken, K), a member of the University of Illinois faculty, has been honored by her election as president of the American Home Economics association.

MERYL SANDERS WILLIAMSON

Springfield, Illinois—Established 1922

An evening meeting of our Association was at the home of Mrs. C. H. Radeke (Pearl Holz), October 7. It was decided that we would have our four regular meetings in October, December, February, and April. In addition we plan to have a social meeting every month, to become better acquainted. We have some new young Kappas with us now, and we are looking to them to give our association new pep.

Personal

Mrs. W. H. Knox (Mary K. Pierce), has been elected president of the Springfield chapter of the Illinois state division of the American Association of University Women. She attended the biennial conference of the northwest-central section of that organization in May. Mary K. also attended the two weeks school of international relations at Northwestern university this summer, and is sponsoring the Institute of Public Affairs, to be in Springfield early in November.

MARGUERITE JENKINS

Gamma Sigma—Chartered 1928University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Canada

Gamma Sigma is about to settle down after six weeks of strenuous working. Of course, rushing was the first and most important item. Our rushing this year went on for three weeks, but it was well worth the trouble, for we pledged 16 freshmen, October 6. Then we began to think about initiation. We initiated five pledges with our new equipment October 22.

A new, so far successful, enterprise on Manitoba campus this year is the founding of a combined sorority house, with five sororities, each having a meeting room, and a combined living room. The sororities are Gamma Phi Beta, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Phi, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Kappa. The five sororities entertained at a buffet supper, October 17, for the girls of the track teams of Saskatchewan and Alberta, in the Inter-Collegiate track day.

KATHERINE HALL

Winnipeg—Chartered 1928

Fall meetings were resumed September 23, at the home of Jane Bennett. Eleanor Tennant was elected president to replace Mrs. Wells McDonald (Joey Young), who will be away this winter. Business completed, we proceeded to a "modern home," displayed by the T. Eaton company, where we roamed at will, with "Elsa Gordon," decorator, explaining points of interest. Later we had coffee before the fireplace of an attractive downstairs room.

Founders' day was celebrated by an informal dinner at "Moore's," where Nina Cadham, who attended convention, told us with great enthusiasm about that delightful founder, Mrs. Miller.

At our November meeting, we plan to entertain the pledges for a buffet supper in our new "practically Panhellenic" fraternity house.

Personals

Mary Elizabeth McIntyre, $\Gamma \Sigma$, was chosen queen of the Eastbourne charity festival in England.

Helen Jane Nicholls, $\Gamma \Sigma$, is studying to be a medical technician in Baltimore.

JOSEPHINE E. STOUT

Gamma Tau—Chartered 1929North Dakota State College, Fargo, North Dakota

Homecoming is just around the corner so Gamma Tau actives and pledges are busy making preparations for the week-end of October 31. The theme is pioneer, with Bob Erickson day in honor of the football captain. Plans are made for open house in the chapter rooms after the game between the University of North Dakota and North Dakota State.

Gamma Tau is proud of its 13 pledges. The actives introduced them to the other Greek letter groups Sunday, October 11, at a buffet supper. The dance for the pledges will be November 14.

Elizabeth Dewey and Elizabeth Christianson were elected to Pi Gamma Mu; Elizabeth Dewey and Florenz Dinwoodie to Gamma Tau Sigma. Elizabeth Dewey is president of Senior Staff; and Jane Schulz, treasurer of Senior Staff; Georgia Cook, president of Guidon; Genevieve Hawkinson, secretary-treasurer; and 12 girls are in the campus glee club. Elizabeth Dewey has the lead in Maxwell Anderson's "Elizabeth the Queen" and Frances Johnson is Ellen. This play is produced by the Edwin Booth Dramatic club. Marjorie Arnold will lead the Coed prom, annual Y.W.C.A. social function, November 11, as the head ringmaster of the circus.

JEAN MAY

North Dakota—Chartered 1926

Pearl Dinan, ΓT , alumna delegate to convention, gave an enthusiastic report of her experiences at the Seignior club at our August luncheon in the Edgewater Beach hotel at Detroit Lakes, Minnesota, with 65 alumnae and actives present. Mrs. Carl Goehl (Marion Pannebaker, ΓT), Mrs. Claude Miller (Helen Curran, ΓT), and Mrs. L. W. Roen (Gunhild Gilbertson, ΓT), were in charge.

Alumnae activities began in September with a dinner meeting at the home of Mrs. Carl Goehl (Marion Pannebaker, ΓT), at which the members of the executive board were hostesses. After a short business meeting with Matilda Thompson, ΓT , presiding, we joined the active chapter for pledging services. Mrs. Robert Danstrom (Elizabeth Olsen, ΓT), was the alumna rushing adviser this year and we are grateful to her for her splendid services.

Seventy-five alumnae, actives, and pledges of Kappa Kappa Gamma observed Founders' day with a banquet at the Fargo Country club. Elizabeth Lowell, ΓT , was chairman and toastmistress. Echoes of convention permeated the toasts. We were interested to learn more of Kappa's new project, the Hearthstone fund, and we appreciated Beth Oliver's account of her visits with Lou Stevenson Miller, A. Assisting with arrangements were Mrs. Raymond Whiting (Isabel Barrett, Γ T), Mrs. A. Ross Fillebrown (Iva McCracken, Γ T), Mrs. L. J. Stranahan (Mae Howe, Γ T), Metta Cleveland, Γ T, Constance Leeb, Γ T, and Alice Piers, Γ T.

Personals

Katherine Knerr, Γ T, who spent a month abroad this summer, has been appointed training director of the John Wanamaker store, New York city.

Virginia Baker, Γ T, has accepted a position in occupational therapy in the Bellevue hospital, New York city.

Matilda Thompson, Γ T, a member of the faculty of the North Dakota State college, has been promoted to assistant professor of mathematics, division of arts and sciences.

Alba Bales, Γ T, dean of the school of home economics of the North Dakota State college, presided as chairman of the home economics division of the land grant colleges and universities in Houston, Texas, in November.

ALTA BERG MARKS

Theta—Chartered 1875

University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri

Theta chapter has a pledge class of 23 girls. We gave our annual pledge dance, September 26.

Upholding the beautiful tradition of Founders' day, the sixty-sixth celebration proved even more inspiring than those of former years. Eugene Meier, architect, and father of our president, enabled us to redecorate our chapter room. The indirect lighting and paneled walls provide a pleasing atmosphere.

We are happy to report a new culture program established by the university heads under the supervision of the Women's Student Government association, of which Carolyn Collier is president. Faculty members give talks to the various fraternities, sororities, and dormitories once a month. Our first talk, October 22, was interesting and instructive, so we feel confident that this program will be successful.

Personal

Iva Mae Pilcher, Θ, is teaching advertising at Gulf Park college, from which she was graduated.

Death

Theta chapter wishes to extend its sympathy to Olivia Cole Wilson (Mrs. Sam E.), Θ, in the death of her husband, September 25, 1936.

LENORE COATES

Kansas City, Missouri—Established 1900

Our April meeting was in the home of our president, Mrs. Albert Overesch (Helen Waters, Γ Δ). After luncheon, an interesting speech on "A Woman's Work" was given by Miss Sneed, editor of the woman's page, Kansas City Star.

Dorothy Allen, Ω, entertained the May meeting. Mrs. Lincoln Farris, T, gave a musical selection and Mrs. Raymond Wachter (Jeanette Dale, B Δ) a reading. These officers for the coming year were installed: Mrs. Albert Overesch, president; Martha June Stephenson, Θ, vice-president; Mrs. Carr Eubanks (Helen Wilkins, Θ), treasurer; Mrs. Garvin Hamilton (Susan Robinson, Θ), recording secretary; Dorothy Allen, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Raymond Wachter, Panhellenic delegate.

At the first fall meeting Mrs. Austin Andrews (Eva Mitchell, Ω) entertained. Our president gave a talk on convention.

Founders' day banquet, at the Bellerive hotel, was a great success. Mrs. W. O. Miller talked on the founding of Kappa. An interesting play was given by several of our members.

BETTY PIERSOL KROH

University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa

Mortar Board for 1936-37 includes two Beta Zetas, Margaret Miller and Gretchen Kuever. Gretchen is secretary of the group.

Fall initiation was October 24, followed by an informal dance in the evening.

The scholarship average of Beta Zeta for the last academic year was raised from fifth to second place among the 14 sororities on the campus. The chapter was honored for its scholastic achievement at a Panhellenic banquet.

The pledges of Beta Zeta chapter won the Frivol cup presented to the group selling the most subscriptions to Frivol, a university humor publication. This is the second consecutive year that Beta Zeta has won this distinction.

Union board members from Beta Zeta are Alice Denny and Frances Eby. Alice is vice-president of the board.

Members of Beta Zeta chapter who obtained positions on the Frivol staff are: Eleanor Rogers, Katherine Kraft, Mary Clare Apgar, Barbara Mueller, Maxine Asher, Jean Clark, Jean Moore, Jane O'Meara, Betsy Vogler, Adeline Asher, Peggy Dunn, Betty Stephen and Jeannette Hemingway.

Margaret Miller was elected secretary of U.W.A. and president of Art guild.

Jannes Savery was selected for a position on the university social committee. Alice Denny and Frances Eby served on the Homecoming party committee.

Members of Beta Zeta represented in Y.W.C.A. are Marjorie Beckman, cabinet member; Katherine Kraft, Jeannette Hemingway, Alice Denny, Helen MacEwen and Barbara Avery, council members.

Katherine Kraft and Mary Stuart Bagley were chosen members of Union board sub-committees.

Jane Fifer was cast in the lead and Flornel Huston was given a part in a university production of "Two Hundred Were Chosen," by Ellsworth P. Conkle. The closed presentation of the play, November 6-7, will mark the opening of the new university theater. The closed production here will occur the nights the same play will be presented in the east. The play will be presented for the public November 9-11.

Jane Fifer was elected president of Zeta Phi Eta, national honorary professional dramatic sorority. Jane is also a member of the board of governors for university plays.

JEANNETTE HEMINGWAY

Iowa City—Established 1921

The afternoon of Founders' day the Iowa City Alumnæ association entertained with a formal tea in honor of the 26 pledges of Beta Zeta chapter, at the home of our president, Mrs. Rollin Perkins (Florence Payne, B Z). Before the tea there was a short business meeting to plan the 1936-37 activities and make preparations for welcoming and entertaining Marian S. Handy, November 22-25.

While our organization regrets the loss of several of last year's members we are happy to receive the many new Kappas who will be with us this year. We look forward to Zeta province convention in Iowa City this spring.

Personals

Mrs. Irving Anderson (Josephine Potts, B Ω), has moved to Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Mrs. Earle Greene (Ann Karlson, Γ M), has moved to Webster Groves, Missouri.

CHARLENE MONSON SCHAMMEL

Cedar Rapids—Established 1919

New members present at the first fall meeting of the Cedar Rapids association, October 6 at the home of Mrs. Horace Hedges (Coleen Johnson), were Mrs. L. D. Myrah (Gertrude Arant, Γ Θ), and Helen Larimer, B Z.

Mrs. Hedges, province vice-president, who attended the national convention, gave a vivid and interesting description of convention proceedings and personalities, discussing particularly the inspiration gained from the number of older Kappas at the meeting.

The business session was at four o'clock in the afternoon with a buffet supper following. About 20 members were present. Mrs. W. M. Dennison (Elizabeth Porter), assisted Mrs. Hedges.

Personal

Frances Westerfield, B Z, of Cedar Rapids, spent July and August traveling in England, France, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Belgium, Holland, and Norway.

FRANCES WESTERFIELD

Davenport—Chartered 1935

The Davenport Alumnæ association began its fall activities with a rush luncheon at the Outing club the latter part of August, when we entertained nine rushees, with about 20 members present. Mary Winslow, Beta Zeta chapter president, was there, also several Cedar Rapids alumnæ. Several of us went to Iowa City for the last day of rushing.

Our first meeting of the year was a dinner at the home of Mrs. C. H. Warfield, Moline, with Mrs. Leland Turnbull as co-hostess. We were greatly impressed by the reports from convention.

Mrs. A. L. Syverud, association president, entertained at tea in observance of Founders' day.

Omega—Chartered 1883

University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kansas

Rush week resulted in 23 pledges. Beside this, we placed third in K.U. scholarship.

Seven of our girls made the dean's honor roll: Mary Louise Kanaga, Bernice Burns, Betty Barnes, Kathryn Ainsworth, Francis Nordlund, Katherine Aston, and Isabel Townley.

The week-end of October 30 we had initiation.

Ann Jeffords has been elected into Phi Chi. Margie Spearing, Betty Kester, Marion Morris, Jean Wyatt, and Jean Bailey all made the Quack club. This is a swimming organization. Jane Waring and Betty Jean Sayles made the dancing sorority, Tau Sigma.

Elizabeth LaRue is president of Delta Phi Delta. Georgia Whitford is president of Theta Sigma Phi.

Doris Johnson was selected by popular vote as the freshman beauty queen.

Omega chapter wishes to extend sympathy to Betty Belle Tholen in the loss of her mother. She passed away this fall.

Lors Wood

Sigma—Chartered 1884University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska

Jean Walt, our "all-star" activities girl, was masked president of Mortar Board. She belongs to Phi Lambda Theta, and is on the Student council and the board of Associated Women Students. Jean has been a Tassel, sorority editor of the Cornhusker (Nebraska year-book), R.O.T.C. sponsor, and on the junior-senior prom committee.

Harriet Cummer was newly elected to Tassels, women's pep association. Members of the Cornhusker staff are Ruth Thygeson, Ruth Rapalee, Jane Sawyer, and Barbara Selleck. Jane Walcott is society editor of the Daily Nebraskan.

Sigma chapter is continuing the standards program this year by increasing the library, and by having an interesting series of round table discussions to which members of the faculty are invited to speak.

A tea was given in honor of Miss Louise Munshaw, our new house mother, Sunday, October 18. Invited guests were other house mothers and sorority presidents.

All of us await results from the recent student body election for Nebraska Sweetheart and beauty queen. Margaret Blaufus was our candidate for sweetheart, and Ruth Talhelm and Mildred Lawrence for beauty queen.

MILDRED LAWRENCE

Omaha—Established 1920

Mrs. C. P. Randall (Jenella Loye, X), assisted by a committee, was our first hostess this year at a dinner meeting, September 9. Our ranks were increased by our guests, actives from Colorado and Northwestern universities. All the Nebraska girls had already gone to Lincoln for rushing. Mrs. Werner P. Jensen (Georgene Rasmussen, H), our president and delegate to convention, gave us an interesting account of her Canadian travels and the many events that occurred at convention.

The October meeting, a luncheon, was at the home of Mrs. Robert A. McCague (Helen Beck Thomas, Σ). The new Omaha alumnae directory containing general information about members and dates of meetings, was presented. We now have 98 active members, which is more than twice as many as last year. We are working on tentative plans for a book-review tea in December.

Personals

Mrs. Forest Burbank (Margaret Hurd, Σ), has been made a provisional member of the Junior League.

Mrs. Edwin Fisher (Clarissa Flansburg, Σ), is a new member of the alumnae association, coming from Evanston, Illinois.

Mrs. Robert A. McCague (Helen Beck Thomas, Σ), is beginning her tenth year of active and prominent service for the Community Chest.

Mrs. Robert H. Perry (Gertrude Marsh, Σ), from California, who formerly lived in Omaha, has been visiting here.

HELEN LEROSSIGNOL FROST

Gamma Alpha—Chartered 1916Kansas State College, Manhattan, Kansas

Gamma Alpha feels that it gained especial prominence on Kansas State's campus this year by having Kathryn Black and Mary Le Bow elected to Phi Kappa Phi. Corinne Solt wears the pin of Mortar Board and was also elected to Omicron Nu, honorary home economics organization.

After initiation, October 13, a Founders' day banquet was given at the chapter house that evening.

Several pledges have distinguished themselves already. In "The Fifth Slice," a play given over the National Broadcasting system, Betty Mauck, Lela Brown, and Virginia Ray took part. Jane Kininmonth (as well as two of our actives, Gloria Bingesser and Margaret Louise Bryan), were elected to Frog club, women's swimming club.

With our stunt, "Silk, Satin, Calico, and Rags," entered last spring in Ag Orpheum, campus stage production, the Ag Orpheum cup was awarded Gamma Alpha for first prize.

This fall, Frances Gebhart, Phyllis Shuler, Betty Kay Morgan, and Helen Beth Coats were elected to the women's pep organization, Purple Pepsters.

The Intramural plaque is ours for the second time in succession. Margaret Louise Bryan was recently elected secretary-treasurer of the Major club, organization for physical education majors.

Jane Liesenberg, Jane Kininmonth, Mary B. Hamilton, and Marjorie Curry are attending Junior Orchestis. Charlotte Diver, Caroline Schoettker, and Wilma Lee Matherly were initiated into Enchiladas, honorary dancing sorority.

For Royal Purple Beauty Queen, to be chosen by Dick Powell, Paula McDaniel, Betty Lou Falanders, and Betty Mauck are our candidates. Mary Jane Foulston, Betty Mauck, and Lela Brown were chosen for the Women's Glee Club.

WILMA LEE MATHERLY

Gamma Theta—Chartered 1921Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa

Gamma Theta got off to a grand start by pledging 19 girls.

Three Kappas were appointed to the junior board of Women's League: Jo Stalnaker, Mary Martha Peterman, and Ruth Harmon. Kappa still maintains her prestige in Y.W.C.A. Frances Ely is secretary and Lillian Landsberg is social chairman. Jeanne Riepe was elected secretary of the English club.

Kea Rea, Gamma Theta alumna, has added to her achievements by her fine work in Walter Houston's screen version of "Dodsworth".

The house has been completely redecorated, both inside and out.

JEANNE RIEPE

Des Moines—Established 1920

The Des Moines association had its first fall function, the annual alumnae tea for rushees, September 13, at the home of Clarice Anderson, at which 75 rushees were entertained. October 7, there was a meeting at the recently redecorated chapter house, in order that alumnae might have an opportunity to see the new furnishings. Eileen O'Malley was committee chairman. A former president of Gamma Theta chapter, Mrs. Doy Neighbors (Ann McKinley), now living in Loveland, Colorado, was a guest.

Edith Root was appointed chairman of the calling committee; other appointments were Irene Holmberg, magazine chairman, and Maurine Tesdell, program chairman. Anne Martin was named Penhellenic representative.

It was decided that during the coming year the association will follow the plan of alternating meetings between Saturday luncheons at a downtown tearoom and buffet suppers at the homes of the members.

MARY LOU MARTIN

Gamma Iota—Chartered 1921

Washington University, St. Louis, Missouri

We started the year off by pledging 19 girls. October 13 we celebrated Founders' day with initiation. The ceremony was followed by an alumnae supper where we heard all about how perfectly wonderful convention was. The following week-end, October 17-18, was Kappa-time at Wildwood lodge, about 90 miles from St. Louis; a perfect place for our house parties. October 19 we were entertained by the Mothers' club at a tea in honor of the pledges.

We are now anticipating the pledge dance, October 30. Then too, the thirty-first is Homecoming and another day of excitement is on the horizon.

MARGARET LEE

St. Louis—Established 1903

The St. Louis Alumnae association had its first meeting at the home of Mrs. Ann Lively (Ann Thuner), October 13. Our president, Mrs. George Sisler (Kathlene Holz-nagel), gave a talk on interesting happenings at convention, making those of us not fortunate enough to attend feel that we had missed a truly great Kappa event. Active members of Gamma Iota chapter joined the meeting to see the moving pictures taken of the convention.

The six bridge groups started for the year should prove successful both socially and financially, judging from the interest shown by old members and new. One or two other evening groups may be formed by members and their husbands.

The Monday sewing circle is again active, meeting regularly at the homes of members. Kappa will make a good showing at the Needlework Guild show with more than her quota of girls' dresses and panties and baby quilts.

Personals

Mrs. Edwin Hughes (Ethel Johnson), formerly a very active member of our association, has returned to our city and has rejoined our organization.

Mrs. James M. Richards (Marion Sanders, X), a recent bride, has moved here from Minneapolis and has joined our association.

VERLENE COLEMAN WALTER

Beta Mu—Chartered 1901

University of Colorado, Boulder, Colorado

Two new rules effected by Panhellenic characterized rush week; one banning decorated parties, the other equalizing sorority membership by limiting pledge classes.

Swimmers Betty Nell Low, Flora Zang, and Frances Kistler are new members of Porpoise. Mary Cole is on the freshman promenade committee, and Clara Lou Casey was successful in dramatic try-outs.

Politics abolished for the first time, Margaret Pollard, senior; Betsy Ross, junior; and Dorothy McLauthlin, sophomore, were elected secretaries of their respective classes.

Socially, we have presided at a pledge tea dance, faculty dinner, fathers' dinner, Homecoming open house, and our formal dance.

KATHLEEN CASEY

Denver—Established 1900

Both Alpha and Beta groups of the Denver Alumnae association, of which Mrs. Julian Maier (Margaret Underwood, B T), is president, met for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Lester Dixon (Genevieve Hough, B Φ), September 12. Mrs. J. M. Cunningham, Jr. (Katherine Knisell, B M), was chairman of the luncheon committee.

We were delighted with the clever and interesting account of the convention by our delegate, Mrs. John Moore (Dorothy Westby, B M). Mildred Peterson brought us the plans for rush week from the actives of Beta Mu, and Mrs. Hubert Stoll (Dixie Leonard, B M), was appointed chairman of the committee in charge of the tea following pledging at Colorado university, thus relieving Mae Potter, B M, of the responsibility she has assumed for a number of years.

The October meeting of the Beta group was at the home of Mrs. Frank Briber (Rachel Cunningham, Δ Z), while Mrs. Robert Packard (Elfrida Van Meter, B M), entertained the Alpha group. Mrs. George Fraker (Mariam Metcalf, B M), was chairman of the luncheon committee.

Mrs. Robert Muth, Jr. (Elizabeth Knox, B M), gave a report of the Panhellenic luncheon at the Cosmopolitan hotel. There was a fine representation of 16 Kappas present who were proud to find that Delta Zeta chapter at Colorado college received the scholarship cup for the fourth consecutive year. Last year, at the end of three successful years, they were given permanent possession of the cup.

Mrs. J. M. Cunningham, Jr. (Katherine Knisell, B M), was elected vice-president of Denver alumnae, replacing Mrs. Walter B. Slagle (Ruth Foster, Ω).

We all hope to do our part to make the dream of a Kappa club house a reality under the guidance of Mae Potter, B M, appointed chairman of that committee.

GENEVIEVE McWHORTER

Gamma Beta—Chartered 1918

University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, New Mexico

Gamma Beta had fall initiation October 13. At the Founders' day banquet, which followed initiation, a horseshoe motif was carried out, similar to that used at the national convention. Mrs. Fred Luthy (Cyrena Feree), Eta province president, read the Kappa horseshoe.

At midnight, October 13, Marian Handy arrived. She was entertained at a Mexican supper, October 14, and next day made a tour of the Indian pueblo at Ysleta.

Plans are being made for our first informal dance, October 31.

Maia, senior women's honorary society, has been awarded a charter by Mortar Board, to be installed November 6-8. Katherine Milner and Frances Watson were elected to membership during the past school year.

Delta Phi Delta, national honorary art fraternity, was installed on the campus last spring. Leona Talbot is president and Bobby Mullins secretary.

Personals

Elizabeth Zimmerman, Γ B, had the lead in the University of New Mexico's senior play, "Love's Labour's Lost."

Peggy Paxton, Γ B, won the Lobo, University of New Mexico campus newspaper, advertising contest.

Lucile Garduno and Lucile Lattanner won the University of New Mexico intramural tennis doubles.

Marilyn Thompson, Γ B, is studying the harp at the music colony at Camden, Maine, under the direction of Carlos Salzedo.

Marion Keleher, Γ B, has the lead both in the University of New Mexico Dramatic club production, "Night over Taos," and in the Theta Alpha Phi presentation, "Winterset."

MARGARET BOLES

Roswell, New Mexico—Chartered 1936

The members of the Roswell Alumnae association are bursting with pride. What with a brand new charter, and a small but enthusiastic and loyal group of Kappas, it's almost too much for us.

We met for the first time this fall for luncheon, at which time the following officers were elected: president, Mrs. J. P. White, Jr. (Mary Beers, B O); vice-president, Alice Shortle, Γ B; corresponding secretary, Nellova Booth, Γ B; treasurer, Frances B. Wolfe, Γ B; KEY Correspondent, Virginia McKnight, Γ B.

Not to be outdone by Kappas everywhere, we celebrated Founders' day with a banquet. Mrs. A. G. Lodgewick, A, Buchtel college, now Akron university, was a welcome guest.

Gamma Betas dominate our roll: Frances Lee Ferree and Mrs. Edward Scaritt (Clara Mason), in addition to the officers mentioned above, are all from the University of New Mexico. However, Mrs. Ross L. Malone, Jr., (Elizabeth Amis, B O), Mrs. C. E. Mason (Conie Bear, Ω); Mrs. H. G. Moberly (Elizabeth Matthews, Ω), are also active members.

We hope to be a worthwhile organization, doing our best to make the Roswell girls aspire to Kappa when they go to college and to membership in the alumnae group when they graduate and return home.

VIRGINIA MCKNIGHT

Gamma Omicron—Chartered 1927

University of Wyoming, Laramie, Wyoming

After a successful rush week, Gamma Omicron began the year with the largest group the chapter has ever known. One affiliation has increased our number, as Ellen Crowley Σ, has come to the University of Wyoming for her last two years.

It was a pleasure to return to our newly-decorated house. The interior of the house was entirely redecorated during the summer under the supervision of our house mother, Mrs. Harriet Westby.

One of our pledges, Nancy Rutledge, is taking the novel "dude ranching" course offered here. She is the only woman enrolled in that course. She plans to own a dude ranch in Wyoming after completing her course.

Mary Elaine Bever, our president, gave an interesting report on convention. The three who attended the convention were: Mary Elaine Bever, Ellen Crowley, and Miriam Crowley. Miriam Crowley had the honor of being initiated by the grand president at convention.

Dorothy Hynds, Peggylee Amberson, Helen Mae Walker, and Miriam Crowley are the new members of Spurs, a national pep organization. Ellen West and Miriam Crowley are the new members of Iron Skull, honorary sophomore organization.

Constance Sloss was appointed a big sister.

We are now working on a float for the Homecoming parade. Prizes are being awarded for the best float on the campus.

After having a delightful visit from Marian Handy last spring, we are looking forward to seeing her October 30.

ELLEN WEST

Laramie—Chartered 1927

The Laramie Alumnae association met for the first time this fall, October 5, at the Kappa house for a buffet supper with the actives and pledges.

This year, in addition to our business meeting once a month, we plan to have a monthly social evening.

Mrs. Fred Rice (Margaret Moudy) and Mavis Wyland were co-hostesses at a party October 19, for all Kappa alumnae in Laramie. Non-members of our alumnae association were told of our organization and urged to join.

Personals

Elizabeth Stratton, T O, who graduated last spring, is now clerk of the University of Wyoming library and has joined the alumnae association in Laramie.

Helen Tyvold Carpenter, T O, attended the summer session at the University of Hawaii and is enthusiastic over the hospitable reception given her by Kappas living in Hawaii.

DOROTHY TERRY

Delta Zeta—Chartered 1932

Colorado College, Colorado Springs,
Colorado

We have among our headline names for this fall those of Virginia Collisson, president of the senior class; Claire Proctor, secretary of the Student council and treasurer of the A.W.S.; Marjorie Combs, lead of the last three college plays and of the first one this fall; and Marguerite McFarland and Jule Hutchinson, vice-president and secretary, respectively, of the A.W.S.

Our social program has been an active one with a radio tea dance October 9, for all the fraternities; a pledge dance October 16; and a tea for the other sororities and members of the campus independent organizations, October 18. This last tea is the first one of its kind on this campus. October 31 we are having a luncheon before the Homecoming game for the visiting Beta Mus and any alumnae who happen to be in town.

We have 15 pledges.

MARTHA LOUISE PHILLIPS

Delta Eta—Chartered 1932

University of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah

The Founders' day banquet was October 13, at the Newhouse hotel. A sketch was given depicting the founding of Kappa Kappa Gamma, with Mary Thomas, Louise Firmage, Betty Ramsey, Ursel Peck, Ester Stevenson, and Virginia Budd Jacobson playing the parts of the founders.

A summer rush tea was given September 17, for freshman women in the home of Louise Firmage.

Miss Myrtle Austin, dean of women, was our guest for dinner October 12, and gave an interesting talk on "Women's Place in the Economic World." This was the beginning of a series of culture programs to be given throughout the school year.

Our girls active on the campus this quarter are: Ruth Davis, junior class secretary, and president of the Pistol club; Louise Firmage, president of the Trotters club; Audre Lovsey, Florence Fogel pledges of Trotters club; Afton Johnson, treasurer of Beta Delta Mu, and member of Homecoming Committee; Francis Wilson, vice-president of Apmin Fine Art; Mary Thomas, and Alberta Ross, in the cast of the varsity play, "Pride and Prejudice"; Adele Parks, elected member of Mortar Board. Ester Stevenson is working on the school program committee, and Barbara Wright is the representative of the A.W.S. Peggy Ingebretsen is the new pledge mistress.

Marian Handy, field secretary, visited us October 26-October 29.

LOUISE FIRMAGE

Utah—Chartered 1930

We were pleased to have the opportunity of becoming acquainted with Marian Handy, field secretary, last spring when she visited Delta Eta chapter. Alumnae and actives entertained with a tea in her honor.

At the annual spring initiation May 2, five alumnae of Lambda Phi Lambda were initiated into Kappa. They are: Mrs. Ralph Backman, Mrs. Claudius Y. Gates, Mrs. Vernon P. Bridge, Mrs. Lewis G. Neer and Dr. Maude Hester Tillotson. In the evening a banquet was given at the Alta club in honor of the new members.

Officers of the Alumnae association were hostesses at the first luncheon-meeting of the year, October 17. Our president, Mrs. Harry H. Shaffer, gave an enlightening report of convention following the luncheon.

A banquet was given Founders' day at the Newhouse hotel for active and alumnae members. Old fashioned corsages were favors.

The founding of Kappa was depicted by members attractively dressed in styles of 1870.

Personal

Mrs. Andrew Jacobsen (Virginia Budd,

Δ H), was reelected vice-president of the University of Utah Alumni association at the annual meeting of the association June 3, 1936.

Beta Xi—Chartered 1902

University of Texas, Austin, Texas

Rush week September 14-17, was one of the most successful Beta Xi has ever had. We decided to have a tea dance December 4 at the Student union. October 20 Sue Wright was elected to the judiciary council.

During the summer Jane Weinert, Mary Frances and Ellen Steck were in Europe. Elizabeth Bellows toured the Scandinavian countries. Jane Weinert will be a duchess at the annual Turkey Trot in Cuero, November 10-11.

Fall initiation was October 21. A buffet supper followed at the chapter house.

Ruth Eleanor Swift was elected to Mortar Board last spring. Our four transfers are Mary Ferris Garth and Marion Norton from Gamma Phi; Doris Christian from Oklahoma university; Ellen Witwer from Duke.

JEAN MERRIAM

Austin—Chartered 1929

The Austin association has started the year with keen interest and enthusiasm, heightened by Beta Xi's purchase of a lot for the new Kappa house. The lot, one block from the main entrance to the campus, is ideally located. The board for the house is working on plans and expects to start building in February. The architects are Margaret Read, B M, of Boulder, Colorado, and A. W. Harris of Austin, husband of Loula Ujffly Harris, B Ξ.

Our first regular meeting of the year was October 5, when we enjoyed the informal report of convention given by Arabella Jester, Beta Xi's delegate. Plans were made for the alumnae tea honoring the new pledges. This will be in November at the home of Elizabeth Thomas.

We are delighted to welcome back to our group Mrs. Hal Bybee (Ruth Woolery, Δ), who has been away from Austin for several years.

LUCY RATHBONE

Tulsa—Established 1922

The fall season began for Tulsa alumnae with a registration tea at the home of Mrs. Frank Weimer (Marian Harrison, B Θ). The officers were hostesses for the tea which was attended by several newcomers as well as 35 alumnae members.

Mrs. Kirk White (Adelyn Rutherford, B Θ), was chairman of the Founders' day banquet. The hostesses prepared the dinner, the guests paid a dollar and the association made $10 for our sadly depleted rushing fund. Mrs. Gerald Westby (Elaine Carlson, B M), Mrs. Jenkin Lloyd Jones (Juanita Carlson, B M), and Mrs. Joseph Seger (Mary Lou Niles, B Θ), were in charge of the program. They presented a skit, then organized the group for stunts, known as "Spontaneous Combustions," hilariously enjoyed by those attending.

Personals

Mrs. Gerald Westby (Elaine Carlson, B M), was elected president of the Tulsa chapter of the League of Women Voters.

Provisional members of the Tulsa Junior League include six members of the Kappa alumnae association: Mrs. Richard Lloyd Jones, Jr., Mrs. Gerald Westby (Elaine Carlson, B M), Mrs. Joseph Seger (Mary Lou Niles, B Θ), Mrs. Jenkin Lloyd Jones (Juanita Carlson, B M), Mrs. Kirk White (Adelyn Rutherford, B Θ), and Mrs. Dale Carter (Dorothy Le Master, B A).

Oklahoma City—Established 1915

Marian Handy, field secretary, was our guest of honor at the annual registration tea October 6, when 49 Kappas registered, 10 of whom were new in this association. Five new babies have come to Kappa homes in Oklahoma City and there have been three weddings since our last letter to THE KEY.

Our chief objective this year is to help the active chapter with its new house at Norman, although we expect to carry on the philanthropic work started by the association two years ago.

Congratulations to those whose dream was the Hearthstone club. We feel that it is another milestone in evidencing the true Kappa spirit. As long as Kappas endorse worthy projects such as this, membership in our organization will always be a privilege sought by the forward-looking young women of America and other lands.

MARY VIRGINIA MALOY WILLIAMS

Gamma Nu—Chartered 1925

University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Arkansas

Gamma Nu opened rush week with a blue-and-blue tea featuring convention movies. The following day a puppet show depicting the founding of Kappa created a sensation among the rushees. Then, by way of contrast, we wound up formal rush with the solemnity of a Kappa wedding.

Marian Handy visited Gamma Nu for the first time, arriving September 30 and spending three days with us.

The Arkansas campus is quite "queen conscious." Our candidate for campus queen is Mary Jim Lane. Eugenia Stacy and Lena Mills Newton, were candidates for Homecoming queen.

LENA MILLS NEWTON

Fayetteville—Chartered 1930

The Fayetteville Alumnae association is most enthusiastic over its plans for the current school year. To contribute shrubbery for the grounds of the new chapter house is our objective. Already we have had two business meetings, and have sponsored a rummage sale which proved so successful that we hope to have another shortly before Christmas. Invitations have been issued to a benefit bridge November 12, at which the active chapter and alumnae will be joint hostesses.

Founders' day we were guests of Gamma Nu at an informal dinner. Short talks on Kappa's past, present and future composed the program. Introduction of the pledges to the alumnae was the closing feature.

It was indeed a pleasure to have several members of the Little Rock alumnae visit us during rush week.

Personal

Margaret Joyce, F N, of Springdale, Arkansas, has accepted a position with the nationally known Children's Theater, operated under the direction of Clare Tree Major.

The group is just starting its sixteenth season's tour. The itinerary will include all the larger cities from New York to Chicago, going as far south as Richmond, Virginia, and north to Toronto, Canada.

Margaret will play the part of Jo in "Little Women," and has the distinction of being the only actress to be given the lead in the first year with Mrs. Major's company. She will also do "Mauesca" in the "Sleeping Beauty."

REBECCA GEORGE

Gamma Phi—Chartered 1929

Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas

We were much inspired by the visit of our Field Secretary, Marian Handy, several weeks ago. She was entertained informally in the homes of the members and at the Texas centennial.

The pledges are rapidly asserting themselves on the campus. Lanier Rogers was elected queen of the Blueshirts, freshman boys' pep organization, and Rose Marie Riddle and Eloise Evans have been assigned prominent roles in the Junior Arden club's first presentation of the year, "Bury the Dead." Mary Virginia Bowles and Emma V. Dunlap, who are members, also have important parts. Garland MacChapman is news editor of the school paper.

Mary Grace Gillespie, who received a plaque for being one of the two outstanding girls in the freshman class last year, was elected alternate delegate by the Student council to the annual A & M college roundup.

Davilla St. Clair and Emily Anne Black are our Mortar Boards this year. Emily Anne is guiding the destinies of the Y.W.C.A. as its president this year.

Two of our Kappa Mothers, Mrs. W. W. Peevey and Mrs. Jack M. Little, plan to entertain us each month at the sorority room with a buffet supper. They will "take us around the world" with these buffet suppers, serving food typical of various nations.

O'RENE TOMLIN

Dallas—Established 1919

Mrs. Paul P. Scott was hostess to members of the Dallas Alumnae association at a tea September 24, at her new home on Meadowbrook road. This meeting, the first of the year, was a subscription tea. We rejoiced that so many had already signed up for active membership for the coming year.

Our October meeting was Founders' day, when we entertained with a luncheon in honor of the active chapter, Gamma Phi, at Southern Methodist university at the home of Betsy Bentley. Mrs. Donald Dickson, chairman of the yearbook committee, distributed the new books.

ERLINE SCHUESSLER

Forth Worth—Chartered 1924

The Fort Worth Alumnae association spent a busy summer helping the actives with rushing. A luncheon at the Forth Worth Boat club was the first party. Small parties followed, and our annual dinner at the Fort Worth club was just before the girls left for the university.

Our first fall meeting was at the home of our president, Mrs. John Rice Halsell, Jr. (Josephine Hodgson, B E). We were delighted with the visit of Marian Handy, field secretary. She had tea with us en route to the Frontier Centennial. We enjoyed hearing from her what other alumnae chapters are doing.

Beta Pi—Chartered 1905

University of Washington, Seattle, Washington

Founders' day was celebrated with a dinner at the chapter house October 13. Entertainment by our pledges and talks by prominent alumnae were on the program.

The alumnae sponsored a theater party at the University of Washington's Penthouse theater recently, for a performance of "Candlelight."

The sophomores of Beta Pi entertained the freshmen at a breakfast October 24. That evening the whole chapter and their escorts had an old-fashioned roller-skating party, after which they returned to the chapter house for a Halloween party with refreshments. The sophomores are also making plans for the fall informal, November 7.

Many of our girls have already attained campus fame this fall. Mary Scammell and Valerie Ellis are members of Mortar Board. Valerie also has the lead in the forthcoming Penthouse Theater production, "Petticoat Fever." Jane Patten was pledged to "W" Key, a sophomore women's activity and scholarship honorary, and she has one of the most important roles in "Girls in Uniform." Barbara Welts, a pledge, has been chosen for the lead in "Columbine." Kay O'Shea has been elected vice-president of the University of Washington's junior class. Margaret Campbell, for the second time, has been awarded the president's medal for outstanding scholarship. No doubt her straight "A" helped us win the Panhellenic scholarship cup again this year, which means that the Kappas have the highest scholarship among the sororities on this campus for the second consecutive year.

JANET CAMPBELL

Seattle—Established 1919

Two rushing luncheons, given for the Washington State and Whitman chapters, were the first fall activities of the Seattle Alumnae association. These chapters are in the eastern part of the state and the assistance of the Seattle association is a new gesture in inter-chapter cooperation which has proved helpful.

Our first meeting was at the home of Marion Blethen Mesdag, with 96 present. We heard of the splendid work being done at the Ryther Child Center and voted to adopt it as our local project.

Founders' day was observed by a spread at the chapter house attended by 150 actives and alumnae at which time we had reports from our convention delegates. Gifts of canned fruit, books, and clothing were brought for the Child Center.

October 19 we took over a performance of the Penthouse Players.

GRACE YOUNG HARNDEN

Beta Phi—Chartered 1909

Montana State University, Missoula,
Montana

Formal pledging, September 28, followed by breakfast at the Cafe Mont Martre, started fall quarter for Beta Phi chapter.

"Tell us more about convention!" has been the constant cry at our chapter. The convention suggestions were welcomed at Beta Phi and fall quarter finds us putting new methods into practice. Our president has given several reports on convention business, interesting personalities and the trip. Standards committee has formulated the chapter policy for 1936-37 and the scholarship committee has introduced study table four nights a week.

This year's Founders' day dinner was better than ever. The alumnae, actives and pledges had dinner at the chapter house, after which Mrs. C. W. Leaphart (Mary Rodes) read from the Kappa history and told of banquets in previous years. Grace Parker read convention's horoscope.

Our fall party is to be a formal dance, November 13.

Personals

Last spring Teresa Soltero was bid Kappa Tau.

Tanan-of-Spur has chosen for its vice-president, Peggy Donahoe, who has the lead in the Masquer production for fall quarter.

BARBARA KAIRIS

Missoula—Established 1919

The Montana Alumnae association met September 22 at the home of Mrs. Norman Streit (Grace Mathewson). At this time it was decided to meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. The first October meeting falling most appropriately on Founders' day, the alumnae joined actives and pledges at the chapter house for dinner and a meeting at which 85 were present. The Kappa horoscope was read and Mrs. C. W. Leaphart (Mary Rodes) spoke informally.

Personals

Newcomers to Missoula who have joined the association are: Mrs. John Sherman Wertz (Flora Horsky), Mrs. Rodney McCall (Dorothy Bell), Mrs. Ralph Fields (Hulda Miller); Elizabeth Anne Irwin, and Gertrude Pease, who are taking advanced work at the university; Eleanor McArthur, newly appointed dietitian at South hall, men's dormitory, all of Beta Phi, and Mrs. Warren McDaniel (Eleanor Berglund, B K).

Alumnæ who visited relatives and friends in Missoula this summer included: Mrs. Ralph Gorman Hills (Mary Joe Dixon), of Baltimore, Maryland; Mrs. William Allen (Dorothy Dixon), of Seattle; Mrs. George Brobeck (Caroline Barnes), of Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Frederick Mason (Dorothy Polleys), of Seattle; Mrs. Lester Graham (Marion Shroeder), of Spokane, Washington; and Mrs. Harry Tanner (Ann Stephenson), of Pasadena, California.

Olive E. Barnett is on an extended trip with her family and will not return to Missoula until spring.

Our president, Eleanor Stephenson Anderson, and her husband, Ernest R., are departing October 22 for a month's vacation trip in California and Washington.

Jessie Marie Partridge, B Φ, is teaching at Annie Wright seminary, Washington, following two years advanced work in sociology at Mills college.

HULDA MILLER FIELDS

Beta Omega—Chartered 1913

University of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon

Beta Omega and Gamma Mu celebrated Founders' day with their annual banquet. This year Beta Omega entertained Gamma Mu at the Eugene hotel, October 13.

Jane Lagasse and Patricia Neal were initiated into Gamma Alpha Chi, national women's advertising honorary. The national convention of this organization met on the Oregon campus and at that time grand officers and delegates conducted the initiation. Patricia Neal has been appointed national advertising manager of the Emerald, campus daily paper.

October 10 all the women's organizations on the campus had open house. Members of each men's group danced 10 minutes at every house.

Mary Jane Mahoney and June Brown were elected to Kwama, sophomore women's honorary. June Brown was appointed a member of the women's rally committee, to participate at football games.

The annual pledge dance is to be December 5, with Betty Howell as chairman.

Last May day was the day of days for Jane Baker, who was maid of honor to the May queen, and was tapped for Mortar Board. The same day Julie Davis was chosen for Cardinal Key, upperclasswomen's honorary, and Helen Sullivan and Katherine Cady were selected to be our new Spurs.

Rushing started with the all-college tea for women September 20. Our first party was in Hobo Land for a box lunch. We flew to a fireside in Kappa's Night Club in Heaven. After a funny paper breakfast and a dinner,

Julie Davis was elected secretary of the executive board of A.S.U.I.

Homecoming was October 10. The local alumnæ were at home immediately after the game to all the graduates, rushees and their friends.

Both actives and alumnæ wore powdered hair for our Founders' day banquet. Tess Kane Hickman, a charter member of our chapter, told us of our local founding, and Jane Baker read a paper on national founding and gave a report on convention.

There were seven girls initiated into Hell Divers, swimming honorary, October 21, and three of them are Beta Kappas: Mary Sullivan, Beth Bothwell, and Virginia Dole.

Our annual indigestion spree, the boarding house dinner, was Tuesday evening, October 27, with everyone appropriately costumed.

FRANCES STOLLE

Lewiston, Idaho—Chartered 1934

We gave our annual dinner dance October 13, Founders' day. More than 50 couples attended, and beside providing an entertaining evening for our friends we made a small profit for the treasury. The party, which was formal, was given at the Lewis Clark hotel. The ballroom was decorated with large bouquets of fall flowers and an illuminated Kappa key over the doorway.

Our present charity project is to provide a needy family with a box of groceries for the Thanksgiving holidays.

We are sorry to lose Mrs. Joe Shaughnessy (Evelyn Emaheiser, B K), who has moved to Spokane, Washington.

MRS. WILLIAM A. NEWMAN

Gamma Gamma—Chartered 1918

Whitman College, Walla Walla, Washington

After an exciting week of rush, Gamma Gamma welcomed 15 pledges. Their first official act was to greet at tea Kappa patronesses, alumnæ members and parents, guests at the annual parents' visitation week-end. The following Tuesday evening they gave a surprise hamburger feed for the actives.

Honors in debate go to four of our pledges, Faith Appleby, Elizabeth DuBois, Helen Hoska and Jeannette Moses, initiated into Ye Talke Shoppe, freshman speech society.

Adding to further laurels of Kappa were the leading parts won in the annual sophomore play by June King, Florence Martin, Jean Morgan and Amy Reichart.

October 17 Kappas and their escorts spent an evening dancing in Bonnie Scotland. Highland lads and lassies gaily bedecked the walls, with here and there Scotch pups showing off in kilts and bright tam o' shanters. The evening ended when the orchestra, likewise in Scotch tams, played their closing tune, "Auld Lang Syne."

MARGIE BUKELEY

Walla Walla—Established 1918

Alumnae activities have been meagre since the last KEY letter. October 6 Charlotte and Margaret Reynolds invited us to their country home for the first meeting of the fall. Thirty enthusiastic members enjoyed a sumptuous "farm dinner." Following the dinner, there was a business meeting. We welcome the addition to our group of Ethel Brown and Mrs. Wayne Swegle (Betty Jacobs), both Gamma Gamma. Announcement was made of the appointment of Nettie Galbraith, our delegate to convention, as province vice-president.

Miss Galbraith entertained the members of the Alumnae association October 13, with a dinner. The tables were appropriately decorated with blue flowers and tall blue tapers. During the dinner Miss Galbraith brought to us the "High Lights of Convention." So enthusiastic was our delegate, and so vividly pictured were the descriptions of the convention, that each of us felt as if we had been present.

SIBYL MALCOLM

Olympia—Chartered 1934

Our June picnic was at the new summer cottage of Mrs. J. N. Stanford (Anna Reinhart), four miles from Olympia on the Sound. Swimming, boating, and sunning occupied the afternoon.

Our spring meetings had been given over to preparing for our big event of the year, our annual spring style show. It was a marked success this year, not only socially, but financially. The show netted us $50, which we turned over to a local children's home. As far as possible, Kappa talent is used for this event—Kappa models, Kappa musicians and Kappa entertainers. As we give a luncheon, style show, entertainment and bridge party (with prizes donated by merchants) for 75 cents, our show is eagerly attended by the townspeople.

We enjoyed our October meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralf Neal (Audry Allen), where games and contests formed the evening's entertainment.

ALLIE BROWN CLARK RITCHIE

Tacoma—Established 1923

The Tacoma Alumnae association met for luncheon at the home of President Mrs. Edwin Griffin, September 30. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Hereford Fitch, Mrs. William Mahncke and Mrs. John Bolinger.

During the business discussion Marjorie Golwas was put in charge of the programs for the year. It was decided to have four regular meetings during the year.

RUTH MAHAFFAY

Gamma Eta—Chartered 1920

State College of Washington, Pullman, Washington

Gamma Eta has three new members and 15 pledges all in the last month. Initiation was October 17, followed by a formal banquet.

Gertrude Ivey has been elected president of Fish Fans, swimming honorary, and Jean True is treasurer. Members are Eleanor Peterson, Jean Kienitz, Leslie Frazier, and Wilhelmina Thompson.

The first all-college play of the year, "Double Doors," presents a pledge thespian, Clemance Dahl, in an important role. Marjory Jane Smith works on the production staff.

Marguerite Newport and Jean True were initiated into Spurs, sophomore honorary for women, October 12. Marguerite is treasurer.

Jean True was elected secretary of W.A.A. for the coming year.

Y.W.C.A. has for its social chairman Nancy Sampson. Marguerite Newport is chairman for the YW freshman commission. Marguerite and Emlyn Griggs are also on a committee of hostesses for AWS teas honoring freshman women.

This year the sophomore class is putting on its first annual all-college dance. The decoration committee for this affair is headed by Jean Ward. Working for her are Marguerite Newport, Joan Peters, and Helen Privett. Helen was also responsible for the publicity of the dance.

Helen Privett's column of gossip, "We Only Heard," appears weekly in the Washington State Evergreen. Genevieve Hamilton is one of the day editors for this publication, and Marty Mady works as reporter.

Margaret Clay is student director of the glee club, and Ethel Wood keeps track of the money for Mu Phi, musical honorary.

Appointments made this fall placed Marguerite Newport on the open house committee, Helen Privett on the student activities committee, Genevieve Hamilton on the committee for Dads' day, and Jean True on the winter sports committee.

As the 1937 Chinook gets under way, Helen Privett will edit publications, Jean Ward and Nancy Sampson have a part on the society staff, and Eleanor Charles will be one of the typists.

New R.O.T.C. sponsors are: Ethel Wood, Betty Maloney, Genevieve Hamilton, and Nancy Sampson.

October 22 was the date of our annual scholarship banquet. Kay Hunner was presented with the scholarship ring for raising her grades more points than any girl in the house.

As a result of freshman elections, two of our pledges, Marilou Lehr and Leslie Frazier, will work on the social committee for this year.

A Kappa trio, Kay Hunner, Peggy Gibbons, and Bessie Kennedy, has sung at rallies, the Homecoming dance, and for the annual all-college revue.

We were happy to affiliate Helen Breen, who transferred from Gamma Gamma chapter.

GENEVIEVE HAMILTON

Pullman—Chartered 1930

The Pullman Alumnae association membership roll has changed a bit this year. Elsie Fletcher, instructor in art, has left to spend a year in New York to do advanced work. Three new members have been added: Dorothy Meyers, a senior last year, has a position in Pullman; Mrs. Everett Webb (Louise Ott, F H), and Lulu Holmes, F T. Lulu Holmes is the new dean of women at the State College of Washington. A tea was given in her honor, October 5, by the alumnae at the chapter house.

During the summer Mrs. Howard Mathany (Ella Olson) entertained all the Kappas in Pullman. Many returned to college for summer school.

The alumnae group plans to assist the active chapter this year in many ways. One plan is to replace some initiation material.

Personals

Belle Wenz is president of the Pullman branch of the American Association of University Women. She also was raised in rank at the State college from assistant professor to associate professor of pharmacy.

BELLE WENZ

Gamma Mu—Chartered 1924

Oregon State College, Corvallis, Oregon

Our first social event of the year was a tea in honor of our new housemother, Mrs. Mabel Brigham. Guests included the housemothers of all other sororities on the campus.

Rushing was formally opened September 25, with an open house for all new girls in school. After nearly a week of luncheons, dinners and firesides, rushing was brought to a close September 30, with formal preference. The following night, we pledged 23. Since that time, another new pledge has been added to our number.

Founders' day, October 13, was observed in the usual manner—the two blues under our keys, and a banquet with Beta Omega chapter in Eugene. We came home, feeling more than ever before the privilege of being Kappas.

The Associated Women Students sponsored a nickel dance October 23. Each sorority had open house and charged the men 5¢ a dance. We received first prize for making the most money of the evening.

A tea dance honoring the pledges was given October 25. Each fraternity was asked to send a limited number of men.

One of our pledges, Hope Chatfield, has been made chairman of the freshman commission. Madge Marshall, Helen Morris and Marge Nish are members of the rally committee.

MARY LOUISE OLLIVER

Gamma Upsilon—Chartered 1929

University of British Columbia, Vancouver, B.C.

Gamma Upsilon's rushing began September 23, the opening day of the university. October 3, at the home of Yvonne Ladner, an original party was given with the "jail" motive carried out. Invitations took the form of court summons.

Another successful rushing feature was the final tea at the home of Alice Morrow by Gamma Upsilon's alumnae.

An intensive rushing season was climaxed October 15, when we pledged the largest class on the campus.

This year we are pleased to welcome a Kappa sister, Helen McLaughlin from Gamma Sigma at the University of Manitoba. Helen was formally affiliated with our chapter October 21.

DOROTHY NEWCOMB

British Columbia—Chartered 1929

We hear that in London big Canadian news consists of the Dionne quintuplets and Vancouver's Golden Jubilee. The jubilee means that Vancouver has been a city for 50 years; and to celebrate this event, we have had a three-months birthday party. Now that summer is gone and jubilee celebrations are all over, we once more have returned to normal activities.

Accordingly October 16, our sixth annual cabaret took place, funds from which further replenish our work for under-privileged children. It was a most successful affair socially and financially. Convenorship was in the hands of the president of the alumnae, Isabelle Dowler.

More weddings, engagements, babies and things are in the offing, and though I'm dying to tell you of the engagements, it evidently isn't done in a news letter.

Hawaiian—Chartered 1924

At the height of the summer tourist season the Honolulu Kappas entertained with a tea for all visiting Kappas in the tropical setting of the Waioli tea room. Esther Eiffert, F H, in studying at the summer session of the University of Hawaii, had found visiting Kappas among the summer students, and one Honolulu girl, Marjorie Bukeley, $\Gamma\Gamma$, was at home for the summer. This tea also served as the "aloha" meeting for our president, Mrs. E. K. Wakefield (Carol Neuzil, K), whose husband was unexpectedly transferred from Pearl Harbor. She is now living in Long Beach. We have also lost Mrs. J. K. Herbert (Mary Lou Carey, BZ), now at Fort Belvoir, Virginia; and Mary Wallace, BB , who left the Kamehameha girls' school for work in New Rochelle, New York.

Mrs. Joseph Callaghan (Alice Reddie, BI), is now filling the chair of the president, and acted as joint hostess with Mrs. Charles D. Williams, (Catherine Beck, I), at the September meeting at Mrs. Williams' home. This began the 1936-37 year when we hope, particularly, to be of assistance to the active chapters by canvassing graduating classes for prospective rushees. May the Hawaiian association of the future be of a less transient nature!

CATHERINE B. WILLIAMS

Pi Deuteron—Chartered 1898

University of California, Berkeley, California

This semester we pledged 12 girls.

The faculty dinner was given October 7. October 18 there was a Founders' day luncheon at Mrs. Stanwood's school. Members of Pi and Beta Eta were there, as well as alumnae from the bay region. Alison Thomson and Elizabeth Currier spoke on different aspects of the convention, and after lunch we were shown movies taken there. It all made the convention very real to us.

Alison Thomson was asked to join Prytanean, women's honor society.

U.C.L.A. Kappas stayed with us over the week-end of the U.C.L.A.-California football game. We enjoyed having them with us, and although we lost the game, we made new friendships.

Augusta Dabney had a leading part in "Bury the Dead," Little Theatre play, September 24. She was also in the Mask and Dagger revue.

KARIN LUND

San Francisco Bay—Established 1919

The Founders' day luncheon was October 10, at Miss Hamlin's school in San Francisco. Mrs. Frederick Janney, vice-president, presided. During luncheon we enjoyed informal talks about the convention, given by Elizabeth Currier, delegate from Pi chapter; Alison Thomson, alternate from Pi; Joan Brandel, delegate from Beta Eta; Isabel Stewart, a visitor to the convention from Gamma Xi; Mrs. Charles Wade Snook, delegate from San Francisco Bay Alumnae association; and Mrs. John Flick, province president. After luncheon, movies of the convention were shown. Mrs. Snook has since also given a private showing of these pictures to Eleanor Bennet.

We have already had two meetings of the board of directors, and we are planning a tea for early in December, in Piedmont. Plans for our spring fashion show are also developing.

MARJORIE QUAYLE HERB

Beta Eta—Chartered 1892

Stanford University, Palo Alto, California

Registration at Stanford university took place September 29.

October 13 we gave our Founders' day banquet, to which we invited seven alumnae. October 15 we gave a tea in honor of Mrs. Craycroft, our house-mother. October 24, the date of the Stanford-University of Southern California football game, we gave an open house, inviting our alumnae and friends before the game. October 29 we gave an informal dance, known as a "Jolly-Up." Panhellenic gave three teas in October to present the freshmen to the other girls of the campus.

Betty Leigh Wright, '38, and Martha Haven, '39, exchange students, are happy in their interesting work at the Lingnan university, Canton, China.

FRANCES PALMER

Palo Alto—Chartered 1924

Bringing to a close a successful year as president of the Palo Alto Alumnae association Mrs. Charles H. Wells (Nana Stevick, BH) installed at the June meeting the following new officers: Mrs. Allen L. Emery (Marie deForest, BH), president; Mrs. Jackson Kendall (Marjorie McCutcheon, BM), vice-president; Mrs. J. C. Breckinridge (Dorothy Thomson, BO), treasurer; Mrs. Joseph A. Miller (Ida Henzel, BH), secretary. Mrs. Kendall and Mrs. Breckinridge are recent additions to our group, having recently moved to Palo Alto. Mrs. Kendall came from Pasadena and Mrs. Breckinridge from Quantico, Virginia.

About 50 members attended the October meeting at the home of Mrs. Emery. A talk on current fashions, by Mary Hampton, H , who writes a syndicated fashion column, was enthusiastically received. Mrs. Emery outlined plans for the year, and closed the meeting by graciously responding to requests that she sing a few songs.

BETTY ROTH

Sacramento Valley—Chartered 1935

Founders' day, Mrs. Herbert McDuffee (Mildred Mekeel, X), opened her home to the Sacramento Valley Alumnae group for its first meeting since summer. After the social hour, routine business was disposed of, briefly, in order that ample time remained for a report of the national convention. Mrs.

Winifred Fisher (Winifred Kaseburg, II), the association president, attended as delegate, and brought back a detailed and interesting account of the week's proceedings at Quebec. Moving pictures, which she had taken, showed the high spots of her trip and added greatly to the effectiveness of her report.

The next regular meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Arnold R. Waybur (Marjorie Stanton, II) December 8.

Personals

Mrs. Newton C. Templeton (Lora Pratt, II) is a member of the board of the Sacramento orphanage. She also acted as team captain in the recent Sacramento Community Chest drive.

Mrs. Arnold R. Waybur (Marjorie Stanton, II) has been elected president of the Saturday club.

BLANCHE BICKNELL LEWIS

San Diego—Chartered 1927

Twice during the month of October Kappa colours have been shown.

The first occasion was at Panhellenic meeting where Kappa alumnae were hostesses. Mrs. Robert Stockland (Isabel Mushet, Γ Ξ) and Mrs. W. A. Swanson (Mary Jo Robinson, A) were in charge of the luncheon-bridge. Clever place-cards, crepe paper, and candles all in dark and light blue with a large shiny gold key completed the table decorations.

Once again Kappa's two blues were seen—at the Founders' day luncheon at the El Cortez hotel, in charge of Nancy Peoples, Γ K. Our new president, Mrs. Charles Tupper (Grace Alexander, Γ Z), presided. At this meeting we welcomed back Mrs. Horace Butterfield (Sue Alexander, X), who has been absent for two years. Charity cases and this year's schedule of meetings were discussed.

NANCY JOY PEOPLES

Gamma Zeta—Chartered 1920

University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona

Although the first month of school centered around rushing, Gamma Zeta did manage a few other activities. September 31 the chapter entertained the Tucson alumnae association with an informal buffet supper at the house. October 23 the chapter house was the scene of the annual tea dance to introduce the pledges to the campus. Planned for the near future is a tea in honor of Mrs. Randall, our new house mother.

October 13 actives, alumnae, and pledges attended the Founders' day banquet at the Pioneer hotel, with Mrs. Tolley, president of the alumnae association, as guest speaker.

Rattlers, honorary organization for sophomore women, chose among its 20 members three Kappas, June Little, Janet Flanigan, and Nan Correll.

NAN CORRELL

Tucson—Established 1923

Our first meeting this fall was at the Kappa house September 24, when the active members entertained for us with a buffet supper.

The Founders' day banquet was at the Pioneer hotel October 13. About 50 Kappas—pledges, actives, and alumnae—attended the banquet. Everyone enjoyed a well-planned program pertaining to Kappa's history. It was a special thrill to see the key that belonged to Anna Willits, worn by Frances Pattee, her granddaughter.

Monday, October 19, we met at the home of Mrs. S. W. Seany (Maude Vos, Δ), for a supper meeting. We were happy to have Marian Handy, field secretary, as our guest. She told us many interesting things about other chapters and explained the Kappa club house plan.

We welcome to our association Jo Anne Barnes, Anne Tenney, Gene Curley, Patsy Perkins, Mrs. George Barkley (Kathryn Kinney), Mrs. Howard F. Gordon (Jane Perkins), all of Gamma Zeta chapter.

VIRGINIA WILSON

Phoenix—Chartered 1928

At the April meeting last year the following officers were elected: Inez Wood; vice-president, Mrs. D. E. Brinkerhoff (Reta Barnard); corresponding secretary, Mrs. John L. Sullivan (Ethel Fisher); recording secretary, Mrs. John G. Boyd (Phoebe Watson); treasurer, Betty-Ann Beck; member-at-large, Mrs. J. L. McAtee (Robbie McCall); Panhellenic representative, Mrs. Julius R. Bush (Ann Pace).

The first meeting of the Phoenix Alumnae association was Sunday morning, October 18. The meeting was scheduled for October 19, but when we found we would be so fortunate as to have Marian Handy as our guest, if the meeting were Sunday, it was changed. The meeting, in the country home of Inez Wood, was followed by a luncheon. Inez was assisted by Mrs. J. A. Beaman (Kathryn Walker) and Mrs. Margaret Null (Margaret O'Harrow).

Mrs. George Sampson (Bell Barton), is the president of the Phoenix Panhellenic association this year.

Mrs. E. E. Kolberg (Virginia McCall) has just returned from Santa Monica, California, where she has lived for the past few years. We are also happy to have with us Martha Weir, T, who is teaching in Phoenix this winter.

MRS. JOHN L. SULLIVAN

Gamma Xi—Chartered 1925

University of California at Los Angeles,
Los Angeles, California

Came September—

A new semester, new clothes, new friends, and a newly decorated chapter house. The Mothers' club had outdone itself in the re-decorating. We gasped in amazement and admiration as we stepped inside the door, and immediately set about making plans for entertaining in our new surroundings.

September 20 the future leaders of Gamma Xi were pledged.

October 13 we celebrated Founders' day with an alumnae tea. There were Kappas everywhere, and from everywhere.

The fathers are anxiously awaiting November 12 and the annual Fathers' and Daughters' dinner. This dinner is one of the high points of the year. Fathers are such attractive people.

The U.C.L.A. campus was lone and deserted over the week-end of October 16. Everyone had moved in favor of the California campus at Berkeley for the U.C.L.A.-Cal. game. Pi chapter was so hospitable and friendly that we were almost ashamed to win the game.

Eight shining, new golden keys were topped by eight shining faces at the supper dance given at the Victor Hugo in honor of the initiates, October 24. We were happy to have Marian Handy, field secretary, gracing the sponsors' table.

Lucille Fairbanks has been chosen Homecoming queen. Her two attendants will be Louise Yoder and Barbara Hoel.

ALBERTA HABERFELDE

Los Angeles—Established 1904

Our first meeting was at the home of Mrs. Fred Albertson (Hazel Hanna, Σ). Over 100 attended the luncheon. Mrs. Stanwood Williams (Elizabeth Morton, Γ Ξ) gave a comprehensive report of the convention, as did Mrs. Dean Godwin (Myrtle White, Β Δ), president of the Long Beach Alumnae association, who was a guest at our meeting.

We think first prize for a testimonial should go to those two "gadabouts," Mrs.

Chauncey Lufkin (Kathleen Coffin, Ι) and Mrs. Ida Reichenbach (Ida Bowman, Β Γ), who so Kappa-ly slipped off to convention—if they would only testify!

Virginia Russell, Γ Ξ, was chosen by her chapter as the June graduate to receive the one-year complimentary membership in our association which we annually give to Gamma Xi chapter.

As an inducement to June graduates to join our alumnae association we charge them only $1.25 for dues the first year. But judging by our membership (well over 95) there must be other attractions in belonging to our association as we can't all be this June's graduates!

MARGARET WRIGHT

Long Beach—Chartered 1926

Our October meeting was a tea at the home of Mrs. Dean Godwin, Β Δ, president of the association and delegate to convention. Mrs. Godwin acted as parliamentarian at convention and therefore was able to give us many interesting phases of business as well as social events of convention. This report supplemented an informal résumé which Mrs. Godwin had given at a special meeting this summer immediately after her return from Canada.

Planned activities for this year include work on the Kappa club house project and Kappa Kampships; and a drive for magazine subscriptions through the fraternity.

A welcome innovation on our programs this year will be a series of short craft talks by members of the association. Mrs. Paul Fouke, Ω, and Mrs. George P. Taubman, Jr., Β Χ, gave interesting and amusing accounts of themselves at this meeting. Concluding the program, Mrs. Annie P. Ader, Ι, recounted some of her summer's experiences in Europe and Asia.

Beta Upsilon—Chartered 1906

West Virginia University, Morgantown,
West Virginia

After much discussion and worrying over the new "quota" system assigned to West Virginia university's sororities, we finally cut our pledge list down to 14 girls.

The chapter came through for the third consecutive time in winning the scholarship cup offered to the sorority with the highest average. Phi Sigma Delta won it for the men. We are doing our best to win it for the present semester.

Our president, Mary Frances Gibbs, returned from convention and told us what a lovely time she had. It made the rest of us a bit envious—but, perhaps we may get our chance.

MARY V. THOMPSON

Charleston—Chartered 1935

The Charleston association has started the year with renewed energy and high ambitions. We are trying to make our association something more than just a pleasant social gathering, and toward that end we intend to start a philanthropic project, which as yet, is undetermined.

Our August meeting was a rush tea at the home of Bess Laing, Δ Β. Charleston girls and those living in towns near Charleston were the guests. Our September meeting was a luncheon at the Tally-Ho. Plans were discussed for the year and our delegate to convention gave an interesting report. The October meeting was a luncheon at the Charleston Woman's club October 10. Kappas who came for the West Virginia-Washington and Lee football game were guests of honor. These included Harriet French, Beta Upsilon, Lambda province vice-president and member of the board of governors of West Virginia university. We also had guests from Beckley, Huntington, Bluefield and Parkersburg.

JEAN E. MILLER

Wheeling—Chartered

The Wheeling association began its fall activities with a garden party September 2 at the home of Mrs. Wade Kepner (Martha Nay, P), honoring some of the local girls who were entering various colleges. The weather-man failed to co-operate and the party had to be moved indoors, but everyone seemed to have an enjoyable time. There was much conversation; Kappa songs were sung; and a refreshment course was served by Mrs. Carl Bachmann (Susan Smith, B T) and Mrs. Kepner.

A special meeting, October 8 at the home of Virginia Nay, P, was in honor of Harriet French, B T, of Bluefield, West Virginia, vice-president of Lambda province. She was in Wheeling to attend the Bar association convention. She gave us an excellent account of the national convention this past summer and urged us all to attend the next one. We were pleased when she commended us upon the progress our association had made, as it is the youngest in the state.

In observance of Founders' day we had a formal dinner in the McLure hotel October 13. Louisa Powell, B T, president, was toast-mistress. Several speakers gave accounts of the founding of their chapters: Mrs. Carl Bachmann, B T; Virginia Nay, P; Mrs. Ernest Polack (Ruth Phillips, Δ B); Marie Talbott, Γ Ω; and Anna Caroll, B T. Effie Anderson read the fraternity horoscope. The committee in charge of the banquet was Effie Anderson, B T, Margaret Moore, B T, and Virginia Nay, P.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Bishop (Virginia Bottome, B T) and family have moved to Greensburg, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Joseph Stratton (May Sullivan, B T) of Huntington, West Virginia, was the guest of Mrs. Carl Bachmann (Susan Smith, B T) for the Founders' day banquet.

College of William and Mary,
Williamsburg, Virginia

The addition to our chapter of 20 pledges ended a successful rushing season. Two pledges, Willette Chambers and Barbara Clawson, have been elected to Student Government positions, and a third, Dorothy Herbst, has been elected secretary-treasurer of the freshman class.

In the history of the college a woman had never been business manager of the newspaper until Minnie Franck was elected to that position. Jane Lewis, member of Mortar Board and president of the Women's Student Government is treasurer of the Southern association of Women Students' Governments. Jean Gordon, vice-president of the junior class, and Nancy Adams, were elected junior members to the Honor council. Shirley Daiger, Nancy Adams, and Margie Hoskins hold Y.W.C.A. cabinet positions. Kappa also had the second highest scholastic average among the sororities last semester.

MARTHA DAVIS

Gamma Chi—Chartered 1929

George Washington University,
Washington, D.C.

Gamma Chi is jubilant over its new housing conditions. We have moved from our ancient ramshackle attic into a renovated apartment house on the campus recently purchased by the university. Six other sororities occupy the new building with us, and joy and Panhellenic spirit flourish. We were barely established when rushing began.

Rushing was as successful as ever. With new rooms, new furniture, and many new pledges, this promises to be one of our banner years. Promising was October 27, and pledging October 29.

NANCY GORDON

Delta Beta—Chartered 1930

Duke University, Durham, North Carolina

A sailor party, a skit in old melodrama style and a "blue and blue" party, at which the chapter turned out in blue organdy formals—and you have rushing season. Twenty girls were pledged October 6. Three pledges already hold campus offices. Edna Campbell was elected freshman representative on student government; Barbara Henry, freshman class president; Eleanor Davis, freshman class treasurer.

The chapter entertained October 24 with a formal tea, honoring Mrs. Richard H. Shryock. Those invited were the administration, the faculty, the staff, the Kappa alumnae association, members of student government, president club, and officers of the other 10 sororities on campus.

A Founders' day breakfast was given at the Washington Duke Hotel. Mrs. Shryock spoke on the significance of the occasion.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Moore (Annie Kate Rebman), Mr. and Mrs. Pollack (Ruth Phillips), Marie Polgram, Christine Harris, Marion McClenaghan, Dorothy Gray, and Martha Kindle came back Home-coming, September 26, for the Duke-Colgate game.

Mrs. Pollack, who was president of the Senior Class last year, gave a talk before the freshman assembly.

JEAN KERN

Washington, D.C.—Chartered 1924

Our first meeting of the season was a supper party in the home of Carleen Loeffler, Γ K. Fifty-four were present and enjoyed the vivid report of convention given by our delegate, Mrs. R. A. Hunter (Ruth Dickinson, B Z), who is also the new president of the association. At the Founders' day banquet she presided as toastmistress and presented Ruth Hocker, Lambda province president; Alice Watts Hostetler, former director of provinces; Katherine Ahalt, Gamma Chi active; and Geraldine Schuh, Gamma Psi active. The first two spoke on phases of convention and the last two on features of rushing in their respective colleges. The occasion was further enlivened by stunts given by members of the chapters.

During the summer, afternoon card parties were given in the homes of Mrs. A. C. Foster (Dorothy Hart, H); Mrs. Hugh Jones (Helen Hoskinson, B I); and Mrs. B. L. Grove (Catherine Brand, B Δ). This fall meetings have been with Mrs. M. M. Milford (Florence Moffett, M), and Mrs. Banks Collings (Maud Loveless, Γ Δ), the new chairman, who urges all newcomers to get in touch with her and attend these small groups in order to become acquainted more quickly.

The migratory character of the residents of Washington is well exemplified by the activities of our own Kappa members who seem to spend their time going places, but who fortunately return home often enough for us to collect their dues! Just now Mrs. Raleigh Gilchrist (Betty Reigart, Ψ) is touring the Great Smokies; Mrs. C. V. Maudlin (Eva Wright, Γ Δ) is finishing a cruise around the world; and Mrs. James Brown Scott (Adele Cooper, B Δ), as well as Edith Macauley, B Δ, have recently returned from Europe. During the summer Mrs. Banks Collings visited Indiana and Ohio; Mrs. Parry Borgstrom (Ruth Dice, Γ Γ) sojourned in Washington state; and Mrs. E. C. Stone (Letta Brock, E) rounded the Gaspé peninsula. Earlier Mrs. Floyd Rothballer (Helen Burns, B T) visited the west coast via the Panama canal. Mrs. Donald Beelar (Helen Webster, B Ω) is in Oregon until after the election; and Mrs. T. L. Stokes (Hannah Hunt, I) is off to Bermuda as soon as newspaper correspondent husband winds up the campaign. We must not fail to mention that President Ruth Hunter attended the Republican national convention just by way of getting in trim for the Kappa Kappa Gamma conclave.

We are glad to welcome, after a year's absence, Mrs. W. N. Denton (Frances Riley, Γ K); and to greet a former member, Mrs. Adolphus Graupner (Elise Wenzelburger, II) here for a short visit; and to extend hospitality to Mrs. E. M. Einstein (Gertrude Swift, B Δ) of Fresno, California, who is at the Lee House for a few months.

We regret to lose Rosalie Reed, Γ Ψ, now Mrs. James A. Kime, of San Francisco; and Etta Field Jones, B Θ, who was married and is living in Oklahoma.

Delta Theta—Chartered 1933

Goucher College, Baltimore, Maryland

Summer rushing was closed with a wiener roast, September 26. During regular rush week Delta Theta celebrated Founders' day with an 1870-1936 fashion show. Pledge banquet was given at the Longfellow, October 17. Elizabeth Hunt was toastmistress. Mrs. Adolphus Graupner, II, president of the San Francisco Alumnae association, was a welcome guest.

Delta Theta is extremely proud of her rooms, which were redecorated this summer.

We are fortunate in having as transfers Ruth Stephens, B Z, and Dorothy Stewart, Gamma Psi pledge.

October 27 a supper was given followed by the first pledge-active meeting. Betty Bennett gave an inspiring talk on convention.

The enthusiastic reports we have heard from Betty, Mary Pettis, and Rachael Elberfeld have made us all eager to attend the next convention.

Personals

Adelaide Blydenburgh is business manager of Masks and Faces; Alice Doughton, member of Goucher dance committee; Elizabeth Bennett, president of choir, president of Panhellenic; Elizabeth Hunt, secretary of sophomore class, executive board of Goucher College Christian association; Elizabeth Miller, secretary of junior class; Mary Pettis, dean's honor list; Jane Rudd, Glee club librarian; Ruth Hart, business manager of Riding club; Rachael Elberfeld, junior class manager of riding; Dorothea Siems, vice-president of sophomore class, manager of baseball, sophomore member, executive board, Students' organization; Spencer Schultz, freshman member of Athletic association.

BARBARA KELLEY

Baltimore—Chartered 1926

The Baltimore association began its year's activities September 30 with a buffet dinner at the home of Emily Schilpp, Δ Θ. The assistant hostesses were: Mrs. William A. Thorington (Elizabeth Jane Trundle, B Z), Mrs. Robert Nicolls (Katherine Sherman, B I), Margaret King, Δ Θ; Lois B. Stephens, Z; and Mrs. Laurence G. Hopkins (Gladys Twele, Γ X). There were about 35 Kappas present.

Under the leadership of our new president, Mrs. William Thorington (Elizabeth Trundle, B Z), we discussed several projects, among them a benefit theatre party.

As our convention delegate was unable to be present, Ruth Hocker, B P, gave us an impromptu and most fascinating account of convention.

We dispensed with our October meeting to enable the alumnae to attend the Delta Theta pledge dinner, October 24.

Personals

Margaret Kaestner, Δ Θ, and Mary Settle, Δ Θ, spent July and August in Europe. Katherine Dodge, Φ, a member of the faculty of the Roland Park country school, has returned from England, where she spent the past year as an exchange teacher at the grammar school for girls at Barrow-In-Furness.

Mrs. Wilfred Sheridan (Katherine Lattier, Δ Θ) was the medalist in the Hillendale Golf club tournament.

Ruth Hocker, B P, Margaret Kaestner, Δ Θ, and Mrs. Willard D. Miller (Julia McKinsey, Δ) attended the Founders' day banquet at the Carlton hotel, Washington, D.C.

Beta Omicron—Chartered 1904

Newcomb College, New Orleans,
Louisiana

The last of September found Newcomb opening for her 50th session and Kappas here busily engaged in a two weeks' rushing season. The allotted two parties included a show-boat party and a hay-ride-picnic. October 5 we pledged 22 girls and, following pledging, gave a banquet at the New Orleans Country club. We were proud to pledge daughters of two of our founders: Shelby Flowers, daughter of Hester Craig Flowers, and Blanche Hammond, daughter of Hilda Phelps Hammond; and we welcome Ethelyn Biedenhorn, B Ξ, and LaNette Forrest, Γ Φ, to our active chapter. At the end of September, Marian Handy paid us a helpful visit. We are continuing bi-monthly suppers for pledges and actives, and teas, following football games, to introduce our pledges, are being held.

Peggy Martin is vice-president of the student body; Eloise Colcock, president of the senior class; and Marjorie Klinesmith, president of the junior class.

WOODS WILSON

Newcomb—Established 1922

Since our last letter we have elected new officers. They are Mrs. William B. Dreux (Nancy Reeves), president; Mrs. Moreland Hogan (Elizabeth Pierson), treasurer; Mrs. Foster Fournier (Nina Denis), secretary; and Marie Louise Legier, treasurer. On the executive committee are Mrs. Walter Carroll (Dorothy Graner), and Mrs. Conrad Collins (Louise Carroll).

In September our Association presented the actives with three blue and white chairs and a blue woven grass rug for their porch.

We intend to continue informal luncheon meetings this year with five or six members acting as hostesses each time.

At our last meeting October 20 Mrs. Walter Carroll gave her report on the national convention, which she attended as delegate.

The year's financial budget was also discussed. It was urged that we provide for sending a delegate to province convention.

The association will miss greatly Mrs.

Fredrick Matthews (Mary Rhodes), who has moved to Brownsville, Texas; Mrs. John Wilson (Jean Martin), who has gone to Little Rock; Mrs. Wilbur Heard (Agnes Marshall), who has moved to Lake Charles, Louisiana; and Mrs. Adrien Maught (Elizabeth Pearce), who now is living in Shreveport.

Personals

Let Freedom Ring, by Hilda Phelps Hammond, has recently been published. Mrs. Hammond is a charter member of B O.

Mrs. John Pratt (Eleanor Luzenburg, B O) has been appointed a member of the National Welfare committee by President Roosevelt.

Mrs. Frank Rainold (Althea Wuerpel) is president of the New Orleans Junior League and Mrs. Moreland Hogan (Elizabeth Pierson) is treasurer.

Beta Chi—Chartered 1910

University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky

At the beginning of this school year we were chiefly occupied with rushing, which was most successful. After our opening tea we entertained with a Mexican picnic and a collegiate party. The alumnae were our hostesses at a delightful tea dance at the Lexington Country club. October 20 we gave a tea for our new housemother, Mrs. Newman.

Lucile Thornton has the role of "Viola" in "Twelfth Night." Last spring Lucile Thornton and Mildred Wheeler were elected R.O.T.C. company sponsors. Lucile Thornton and Katherine Park were among the six pledged to Phi Beta, October 19. We are taking a prominent part in Y.W.C.A., with Dorothy Clements president of the sophomore commission and Mildred Webb, Ann Bishop, Emily Settle, and Katherine Park on the senior cabinet. Rosemary Taylor was elected secretary of the Cosmopolitan club.

Personal

Mary Eleanor Clay was the vocal soloist with the orchestra at the fall meeting of the famous Lexington Trots.

CLARA COTE BUSH

Lexington—Established 1921

The Lexington Alumnae association has not yet definitely organized its program for the year. The first regular meeting is called for October 30. At this meeting, which is to be a dinner, the plans of various committees will be announced and discussed.

A special luncheon was given early in September to arrange a party for Beta Chi chapter and its rushees. A tea at the Lexington Country club was decided upon and the affair proved a success. Kappa songs were sung, dancing was enjoyed, and supper was served.

Marion Ackley Chenoweth, chairman of the Rose McGill fund, has been visiting in Lexington this fall. She was honored by many parties.

BETTIE BOYD

Gamma Pi—Chartered 1927

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Alabama

With rush, football season, and six-weeks exams, Gamma PIs have been quite busy. October 3 we entertained at a tea dance in honor of our pledges. Chapter members and alumnae were entertained at a Founders' day banquet, October 13. Mrs. McMahan, an Iota Kappa from DePauw, was welcomed as a new member of our Tuscaloosa alumnae group.

The university has been in a state of excitement since the announcement that Dr. George Denny, president for 25 years, has resigned and will be succeeded by Dr. Richard Foster of Tuscaloosa.

Gamma Pi was again awarded the scholarship cup for 1935-36. In an effort to improve our chapter library, each member donated a book when she returned to school.

Mary Gray Hicky is president of Omega, inter-sorority. Edwina Wyatt presides over the Art Club. Marie Drolet was tapped to Mortar Board and is serving as secretary of the newly organized council of clubs.

Mary Bidgood, vice-president of Blackfriars Dramatic club, had a leading role in "The Wind and the Rain," recent production of that organization. New members of Blackfriars include June Lofgren, Beth Barbour, Marshall Loughan, and Emilee Jones.

In Alpha Lambda Delta Julia Prentice is president and Beverly Bradley is treasurer. Lois Drolet is secretary of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet. In the freshman cabinet elections Emily McCorvey was made vice-president and Carrington Lancaster secretary. Margherita Swift was awarded the Chi Omega prize of $25 for the highest average in economics. In the girls' class elections Phebe Bibb was elected vice-president of the juniors, while Elizabeth George is secretary of the sophomores.

LOIS DROLET

Atlanta—Chartered 1931

Atlanta alumnae have taken an active part in this year's rushing by furnishing recommendations of several Atlanta and Georgia girls who are attending schools in many sections of the country.

We have also been enthusiastic about our philanthropic work sewing for the Needlework Guild, for which purpose we meet once a week. October 20 we had a sewing day at the home of Mrs. S. B. Mitchell (Sally Barkley, B A). There were 15 present. A pot luck luncheon was served. October 14 we spent an enjoyable afternoon in the new home of Mrs. R. S. Hammond (Ruth Chaney).

Delta Epsilon—Chartered 1932

Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida

Returning to school this year holds exceptional pleasure for members of Delta Epsilon, as we returned to find our attractive new Kappa lodge completed and ready for use. Through the substantial gift of one of our alumnae, Mrs. von Frühlaler, we were able to build our own club house during the construction of the new college dormitories.

The first organization lodge to be built, it adjoins the loggia of Pugsley, the Kappa dormitory, and is of the Mediterranean architecture so popular in Florida. Its interior decoration promises to provide an interesting occupation for us this year, and plans are already taking effect to accomplish this.

Due to revised rushing rules, there will be no formal rushing or pledging until after Christmas. We do hope, however, to have several informal parties, including a Halloween outing for the chapter and a guest group.

JANE AXLINE

Winter Park—Chartered 1932

Our October meeting was in the home of Mrs. Willard Wattles, alumnae president, and we enjoyed having Helen Dickinson Kelly with us.

Our association was well-represented at the convention, with five members present.

We regret that Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vincent (Beatrice Larsen) have moved to Quincy, Massachusetts; and Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Sutliff (Kay Beale) to Davenport, Florida.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wattles and son, of Winter Park, Florida, toured New England, for three months and were in Amherst, Massachusetts, where Mr. Wattles taught at Massachusetts State college summer school for six weeks.

Mrs. Ray Greene (Wilhelmina Freeman), of Winter Park, Florida, went to Nassau and Bermuda to go deep-sea diving. She is making a collection of corals.

PAULINE B. RAFER

Miami—Chartered 1925

The Miami Kappas, individually and as a group, are preparing for a busy and gay winter season! Soon thousands of winter visitors will be pouring into Miami, all in holiday mood, and we hope there will be many Kappas among them.

The past summer has also been a busy Kappa season. We entertained Miami Panhellenic association July 11 with a bridge party at the Robert Clay hotel. It was a large party, planned by Mrs. John G. DuPuis, Jr. (Elizabeth Ballard, P), as chairman.

In August "Bring your bathing suit" appeared on Kappa notices of meeting, for we met near the blue Atlantic, at the home of Mrs. Alexander D. Robertson, Bay road, Miami Beach, August 5. We welcomed home from a trip north our president, Mrs. Thomas C. Mayes (Bernice Read, Γ I).

September means campus doors flung wide again, and so we hurried to have a farewell party, September 2, for a group of girls who were preparing to enter college. It was a buffet luncheon at the home of Mrs. J. V. Carpenter (Hazel Pickens, Δ), North Bay road, Miami Beach. Katherine Christie presented an original program of verses and music composed for the occasion, which met with a storm of applause. We also had as our guests the members of Lambda Phi sorority, a local group at the University of Miami whom Miami Kappas have sponsored over many years. Mrs. Steven K. Kite-Powell (Elaine Marie Gillham, B P) was chairman of the luncheon.

Kappa meetings in Miami are always rich in joy, but we aren't great money-makers. However, we did make $20.00 all in one morning, May 14, with a rummage sale in Miami Colored Town.

Founders' day was celebrated at the home of Mrs. Donald Butler (Laura Price, Γ Ω), in Coral Gables, with a luncheon. Mrs. J. J. Helm (Pansy Bell, I), presented an interesting program.

At present we are anticipating a visit from our province vice-president, Mrs. Harry K. Kelly (Betty Dickinson, Δ E), from Tampa. We hope she will be here for our November meeting and are eager to ply her with questions about convention, and also to discuss with her our ardent hope of seeing a Kappa chapter established at Tallahassee, Florida State College for Women.

The time and place of Kappa meetings are always published in each of the Miami newspapers. So welcome, visiting Kappas!

DOROTHY ALLEN WISEHEART

Tampa Bay—Chartered 1935

A small group does have its advantages, for we have enjoyed the little informal hastily planned luncheons which we had during the summer.

Our rush parties were a luncheon, September 5, and a formal dinner, September 8, both at the Tampa Terrace hotel. We were especially pleased when, following the dinner, the hotel orchestra dedicated its broadcast to our fraternity. During the program, Kappa songs were played along with several popular numbers.

We observed Founders' day with a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Harry K. Kelly. We discussed plans for another rummage sale, since the one in May under the supervision of Mrs. Paul G. Singleton (Louise Clark, M) was an outstanding success.

Personal

Sarah Dickinson, Δ E, has gone from Tampa, Florida, to Philadelphia, where she is working in commercial art.

VIOLET BOHMAN WHITTAKER

Delta Iota—Chartered 1935

Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, Louisiana

We are pleased this fall to have added to the newest chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma 17 pledges. Fortunately, Marian Handy was on our campus at the time of active rushing and was invaluable to us in every way.

Founders' day and initiation were celebrated with a formal banquet October 17.

The tradition that Kappa be represented in R.O.T.C. affairs was maintained this year by Louise Robinson, chosen as sponsor for Company K.

Dorothy Calvert was chosen a member of Purple Jackets, women's pep organization of the university, and Virginia Coyle was elected to membership in Lambda, intersorority-honorary.

The group petitioning Pi Beta Phi was formally installed on this campus October 16-17, and was heartily welcomed by Kappa.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS TWICE!

Of course your friends have told you about the brilliant Kappa Post-Convention Tour to Europe last summer, and you regretted that you weren't a member. Now comes the news that the tour will be repeated for Kappas and their relatives next summer—in an even bigger, gayer, and grander fashion! Again you have the opportunity to see Europe with fun, economy, and comfort! Write at once, Kappa Central Office, Columbus, Ohio, for information and literature.

KAPPA TOUR sails July 9th from New York on the impeccably smart French liner "Ile De France." Twenty-eight glorious days visiting England, Holland, Belgium, France; only $408.50 all-expenses! Twenty-one additional days to Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Greece, Sicily, Algiers, Gibraltar, Portugal, The Azores; only $257.50 more! Opportunity indeed knocks twice!

The diamonds in these pins are of the finest quality and full cut and represent the finest jewelry in Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Note the shapeliness of our pin and the large stones, both of which make it a beautiful piece of jewelry.

Thou Kappa Kappa Gamma live each day in all our hearts. And in our lives play many noble sympathetic parts. The parts of sister, second mother, counsellor, true friend. Of Love's ideal to which we raise our eyes until the end

Until the end? I think when passed beyond this little sphere. We still shall see thy joyous shining light forever clear. And hear in all the skies thy call of perfect Womanhood. So God may say "On earth and here thou art a lasting Good"

Ella Wallace Wells

This Symphony (suitable for framing, 9 x 14 inches), illuminated by hand in watercolors, may be procured for 75 cents; in black and white, ready for illumination, for 25 cents. All proceeds will go to Students' Aid Fund. Place order with—Mrs. Norman J. Pfaff, 555 Harvard St., Rochester, N.Y.
