A black and white photograph of a university campus. In the foreground, a paved walkway leads from the bottom left towards the center. To the right of the walkway is a grassy lawn. Several tall palm trees are scattered across the middle ground, some in front of a building. The building has a modern design with a prominent square tower on the left side that features a grid-like pattern. Other parts of the building are visible to the right. A few small figures of people can be seen walking on the path. The sky is clear and bright.

But what do fraternity women do?

How often have you heard that question from the uninformed? What is your answer?

You have only to glance through the pages of any issue of THE KEY, particularly this one, to find many answers. Read of the scholarships awarded, both on the undergraduate and graduate level, and of the help given to local communities through our Rehabilitation Services. The figures are impressive. Because of what Kappas do, sixty-seven young women will be able to continue their educations this year.

These are but the tangible results of the so-called "little sorority teas," the bridge parties, the fashion shows, the rummage sales, the house tours, the Monte Carlo parties (which include the husband's auxiliary), and the sales of stationery, Christmas wrappings, candles, pecans and numerous other articles. These are only factual answers to the "What" of the unknowing.

Seldom asked and seldom answered satisfactorily is the question "Why?" Why do our alumnae organize, pay dues, give hours of time counseling and assisting our active chapters, raise money to assist our Students' Aid Fund, sell magazines and contribute funds to help needy members and volunteer many hours in community service for the handicapped? Why have organized Kappa alumnae groups increased from a mere handful to some 350 in the continental United States and Canada as well as England and Hawaii?

Basically, the answer is friendship—intangible, but Kappa's first purpose which we all remember and of the pleasures of which most of us are increasingly aware as the years go by and our bond and our band grow stronger and larger. But it has been said that in today's world we feel the need of a purpose in what we do, even in our times of pleasure, and Kappa's purposes, which have never changed since our founding in 1870, seem to supply that need. Do you remember them?

"To cooperate with the administrative officials and faculties of the colleges and universities in which chapters of the Fraternity are established, in advancing scholarly interests, in promoting higher standards of social conduct, and in providing chapter housing facilities.

"To cooperate with other collegiate organizations in solving mutual problems in building higher standards of womanhood.

"To give financial assistance to deserving and needy students in order to enable them to complete their educational work.

"To assist members who are in financial need."

One or more of the services and activities, which are the outgrowth of these purposes, have captured the hearts, talents and time of many of our alumnae. They, in turn, are the core of our strong and growing associations and clubs.

What do fraternity women do? As for Kappas, the tangible results are an answer, indeed, to the uninformed and to the critical.

Why? Most of you know.

Martha W. Dorsey, with a key peeking from under her collar, inspects a portrait of James Maxwell Dorsey, who was treasurer of the Miami Board of Trustees for its first three years of actual operation.

She went to see

When Martha W. Dorsey, initiated into Delta Chapter at Indiana University, October 3, 1890, heard that Dorsey Hall was to be dedicated at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, she journeyed from her home in Indianapolis to attend. Spry and alert, believing her 92 years, she boarded a bus and went to see the new building. Miss Dorsey is a retired teacher and school principal. Dorsey Hall is named for James Maxwell Dorsey, who, as "Oxford's first teacher," was the teacher of the Select School conducted in a log cabin on the college grounds from 1811 to 1818 before Miami actually operated as a university. The two Dorseys are descended from sons of the first Dorsey who came to America in the 1630's.

The menace of mediocrity*

by NATHANIEL LEVERONE

Chairman of the Board, Automatic Canteen Company of America

A demoralizing force has struck at the very roots of the American way of life. It brainwashes the young, it destroys initiative in industry, it frustrates the ambitious, it impedes our nation's progress, and it is a threat to our very existence in years to come. This force is the enthronement of mediocrity as the pattern to which all must conform.

You see it on all sides. In schools, the dull student must not be failed even though he has not made passing grades, because it might give him a complex. By the same token the brilliant pupil is given no incentive to excel because the competition upon which all with initiative thrives has been largely eliminated. Even in such exact studies as mathematics, where right and wrong are definitely determinable matters, grading is often done on the curve, rather than on a basis of 100 per cent accuracy. Many schools are dispensing with grades because giving poor grades might give the recipient an inferiority complex. No wonder many of our college graduates spell atrociously, know little or nothing about grammar, and cannot write a legible hand. The fact that many who are entering college are not able to read well enough to assimilate their teaching has become a national scandal.

In industry, production generally has come to be paced to the speed of the slowest, most inefficient worker, and those who would work faster because of the pride they take in their jobs are even penalized for doing so. Inspectors are often forbidden to reject inferior products on the objective basis of their quality, but must protect the inferior worker by rejecting only a small percentage of the products he turns out. Employers are often prohibited from rewarding good workers with bonuses or raises based on merit and productive capacity. And who can blame a worker for becoming discouraged and adopting a "what's the use" attitude.

What a pity that the greatest single force in the world's progress seems to be in its last dying stages. The desire to excel, to rise above one's surroundings, to create something better, has always been the source of every advance mankind has made. Had embryo man been governed by the same destructive thinking that is so prevalent today, we would still be going around on all fours as we made our way out of our caves.

What has happened to our educators, our civic leaders, our labor leaders, and our business men that they cannot see the perils in the course of today's thinking? Cannot they recognize the danger signs in the young people entering the business world, whose sole goal is security and a good retirement plan? Why, they are making hopeless old people of these youths. In generations past, what young man even thought of retiring when he took his first job? But today, the attitude seems to be, "Well, I will do the minimum I have to, and will work the necessary number of years, but my real interest is in retiring on a pension."

Of course there are some voices crying in the wilderness, of which mine is one. It seems, however, that our listeners are becoming fewer and fewer, and the trend to mediocrity as the norm is snowballing to dismaying proportions.

We would expect this acceptance of mediocrity in a communistic or socialistic nation because that is the end result of oppression and extreme regimentation. But in a nation whose foundations rest on free enterprise and individual initiative, it is an astounding retrogression.

America was founded by men and women who would endure any hardships, make any sacrifice, expend any effort to gain their ends

"What is past, is prologue"

by MARY DUDLEY
Scholarship chairman

The above quotation from Shakespeare is no less true of college scholarship than it is of other phases of life today. From many educators and other authoritative sources, we hear again and again that our scientific and technical achievements have "just scratched the surface"; that the intricacies of world relations and political challenges have just begun; that the future survival in this world will depend upon the "battle of the minds". The spring issue of the Journal of the American Association of University Women states, "Scholarship was never more important than it is today. The Sputnik made it fairly clear that the final weight between the democratic and communistic ways of life will probably be cast by achievements of the mind."

The past decade has seen great searching of values and change of focus and viewpoint regarding college education. Colleges and universities are attempting to meet the challenge and the demands upon them for deeper and more far-reaching training programs. Students see this as an academic "tightening up" on their campuses. The promise of the future is that these students will be called upon to give better proof of their scholastic integrity and their capabilities. Neither these students nor their country can afford to settle for mediocrity.

Aids and opportunities for the development of the potential of college students have never been so great. There has been a wide interest in scholarships to be offered to those who are willing to accept the mental discipline worthy of earning them. Not only do the institutions of higher learning themselves offer scholarships, but almost all the large corporations offer them for use by promising students. Big business thereby recognizes the need and the value of utilizing the best young minds and of encouraging them to give of their best. We are told in the last issue of Business Week in 1959, "... no single kind of business activity shows such a blooming growth as research and development."

Pearl Buck, in a recent issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, states that the American young men have utilized their educations and training, while young women have not. She feels that the young men have changed but the young women have not kept pace with them. Today's world is just as challenging to young women as it is to space scientists, only their place in that world is different. Women's contributions to world culture and progress are perhaps more subtle and less spectacular than the young men's. The women have great responsibilities to uphold the image of a great America both at home and abroad; to encourage and mentally stimulate and help those men who make efforts for the security and peace of the world and for the enormous undertakings of space conquest. Miss Buck says of the young husband and wife, "... he discovers that he likes to talk with her intelligently. He is impatient when her conversation is limited to trivialities and daily humdrum and gossip. . . . The challenge that men give us today is simple and clear. They want women to be intelligent as well as beautiful. All the beauty aids in the world will not serve if the brain inside that carefully coiffed head is an empty one, vacuous and small. . . . Charm must be redefined. It must now include the delight of a mind alive and alert. . . ." What a challenge this is to women, but how rewarding it can be!

College fraternity women have the status and the stature to lead the way in this more meaningful approach to education and to life. It is their responsibility in shaping the future of the world. Let us gear our efforts to the

Graduate Counselor Scholarships chairman

It is an unique program! It gives Kappa leaders an opportunity to pursue graduate work in a chosen field on a different campus, to live, play and work with another Kappa chapter, at very little personal expense. On the other hand chapters which take advantage of the program receive the aid of a mature Kappa from a different part of the country helping them with chapter organization and bringing stimulation and challenging new thoughts and ideas to broaden the chapter horizon. For details contact the chairman, Mrs. Wiles E. Converse, 83 Stoneleigh Court, Rochester 18, New York.

This year, six Kappas are taking graduate work on campuses. They are Jane Anne Briggs, E Z-Florida State, who is helping with the colonization of E H at Auburn; Carolyn Christian, E E-Emory, who is on the Auburn campus also; (Angela) Joan Gambino, Γ Δ-Purdue, who is at Colorado State; Gail Guthrie, H-Wisconsin, who is spending a second year at Cornell completing her graduate work; Linda Hulsey, Δ Ω-Fresno, working with B Z at Iowa; and Margaret Miller, Γ Θ-Drake, who is again aiding with E Z at Florida State.

Nancy Lipman, Δ H-Utah, former counselor and field secretary breaks down the program, from the counselor's point of view, into two parts—the reason for applying and what it means to be a counselor while Janice Bertram, B Δ-Illinois, tells a bit of what it means, not only to a new chapter learning the background of Kappa life, but as in her case, to an old chapter wanting to do better.

According to Nancy, "You have the opportunity to continue your studies at little or no expense. In past years a bachelor's degree was sufficient. Now, to some it is still sufficient; but to many there is an ever-increasing desire to delve deeper into specific areas of study.

"Many cannot afford to do this and find this desire stifled because perhaps they have to take a leave of absence from studies to earn a little money. So the graduate counselor scholarship offers an opportunity to continue; to engage in advanced research and the defense of your own scholarly ideas. It offers an opportunity to exercise and develop abilities as a leader.

"Job opportunities after having secured a master's degree are far greater than with just a bachelor's degree in many areas. Also, the opportunity of counseling your own peers, and working with many age groups is of great benefit in seeking jobs.

"What does it mean to be a graduate counselor? There is a true teaching experience in getting to know other people, and getting to know yourself. It teaches a great deal of humility and you find out that your ideas are not always the best.

"It teaches you what being a Kappa means, and the true meaning of friendship. The work that goes along with the graduate counselor program is important, but it certainly is not all work. There is a great deal of fun and enjoyment. The rewards cannot be put into words. For one thing the counselor feels in some small way that she has been able to repay Kappa for what she has received and that she has helped the fraternity."

Beta Lambda at Illinois had the experience last year of having a graduate counselor, Mary Dailey, B T-Syracuse, with their chapter.

"Without occasional self-analysis and evaluation, progress and improvement would certainly be slow," says Jan Bertram. "Beta Lambda at the University of Illinois took a good look at itself last year. We felt that we were a successful chapter in the sense of campus reputation, general house attitude, pledge classes, and generally speaking, we were doing well in scholarship, activities, and leadership. But our discontentment was that we knew we could improve a great deal, more in some areas than others.

"It was with these facts before us that we first considered and then asked for a graduate counselor. In all honesty, our chapter had mixed emotions about this idea. We were looking for a means of improvement, but we just didn't know what this graduate counselor would be like.

"Mary Dailey turned out to be organizer, adviser, socializer, counselor, personal friend, and an excellent bridge player. Somehow she managed to attend nearly every meeting. Sometimes you wouldn't even realize that she was there until long after the meeting was in progress. The greater majority of Mary's contributions to meetings came outside of the meeting itself in the form of suggestions to the chairman. Because of this, it is quite possible that many people cannot fully appreciate the extent of Mary's work. A lot of her help was 'behind the scenes' so to speak.

"You could say that Mary was a walking constitution, by-laws and standing rules book, also. One of the largest and most noticeable improvements she made to our chapter was in the area of officer training. We were sorely lacking in this department. Mary's new program involved working with the alumnae advisers for a better understanding of advisory duties, improved interest in the chapter, and study and evaluation of the advisory organization. Here again Mary attended nearly all of the meetings, and offered numerous suggestions for improvement. I strongly believe that her work here has shown definite strengthening of our alumnae organization. On the lighter side Mary, in a sense, became 'one of the girls' She was always welcome, and willing, to attend our social functions and within the house I would say that she was included in almost every activity, especially at the bridge table.

"We are all very fortunate to have this graduate counselor program because it is an unique one in that we are one of the very few national sororities to sponsor such a program.

"The value that we have gained from having Mary will not be measured by our improvements now, but rather the improvements that we make in the years to come. What Mary started in our chapter it is our responsibility to further. Otherwise, all of her help will be lost and have no value."

Introducing this year's graduate counselors

Jane Ann Briggs attended Graceland College, a junior college, in Iowa her first two years before transferring to Florida State. During her years at Graceland she was active in a local club, a local scholastic honorary and a member of the Drill team. At Florida State she served as president of the Kappa chapter and was selected for membership in Σ T Δ and Angel Flight. She received her B.A. in Liberal Arts last June.

Carolyn Christian, charter member of E E, after attending Emory for four years, graduated last June with a B.A. with an English major. She is working toward her master's in English and hopes to teach. Carolyn is a member of Φ B K, the Emory women's honor organization, K Δ E (education), A E T (lower division honorary). She was a Stipe Scholar, and Miss Emory semi-finalist. She served as sophomore class secretary and senior class vice-president and on the University Conduct committee. In the chapter she was pledge training chairman, rushing chairman; worked on the personnel committee; and was named for the Mary Blair Turner Kappa of the Year award.

Joan Gambino, from Lockport, New York majored in Speech and Hearing Therapy at Purdue. While active in the chapter she served as house chairman and was Senior Justice of the Student Court.

Gail Guthrie majored in speech and drama in the School of Education with an English minor at Wisconsin. She is continuing her work at Cornell in dramatic production. She graduated cum laude and was chosen Outstanding Senior Woman by the Wisconsin Alumni Association. She was social chairman and chapter president of Eta, served on the central planning committee of Wisconsin Previews, Panel of Americans, was co-chairman of guides for New Student Week, and later acted as the general chairman, Legislative Contacts committee and publicity chairman for the Wisconsin mock political convention. Last year she started her work toward her master's at Cornell.

Linda Hulsey from Fresno is a member of Φ K Φ, Tokalon the Mortar Board equivalent, Π Γ M (social science), Triple S (sophomore honorary), and served on the election and public relations committees of the Student Body. She graduated last June with highest honors. She worked on the yearbook staff and was chosen for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. In the chapter Linda was president of Delta Omega, efficiency chairman, marshal for the Kappa province convention and received a Claire Drew Walker Scholarship from the Santa Barbara Alumnae Association. She is doing graduate work in history at the University of Iowa.

Margaret Miller is continuing her work at Florida State toward a master's in guidance and counseling. She graduated from Drake with a B.A. in history and after a year of working decided to follow the guidance field. "Maggie" was pledge chairman and recording secretary of Gamma Theta and on campus was secretary and vice-president of Women's Recreation Association, vice-president of the Student-Faculty Council, Dormitory treasurer and Women's Interdormitory Council. She served as editor of Quax (yearbook), was a member of Α Α Δ, Χ Ψ (psychology), the Student-Alumni committee, Mortar Board and Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. She was chosen Miss Drake of 1958 and given the Circle K award presented to the senior woman who had given the most service to her university.

Training to aid the handicapped

by MARGARET EASTON SENEY

Rehabilitation Services chairman

The year 1962 marks the tenth anniversary for Kappa's Rehabilitation Services. Under this philanthropy program, projects to aid the handicapped and disabled are carried on by the alumnae associations and active chapters in their local communities. In addition, the Fraternity sponsors a scholarship program to train young women for careers in rehabilitation fields.

To commemorate our decade of service in these areas, it seemed fitting to establish a special scholarship award this year. The announcement of this new, annual, $1000 award was presented at Convention in June. This grant has been made possible by a generous gift from the Kansas City, Missouri alumnae association and a supplementary amount from our own Kappa fund. This fellowship will thus be known as the KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI AWARD and will be for special summer session study in Speech Therapy at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in New York City. It will be available for the first time during the summer of 1963. The eight week course will earn six points of graduate credit through New York University's School of Education. The arrangements for this new graduate fellowship have been made possible by Dr. Howard Rusk, Director of the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, and will be supervised by him. Applications for this fellowship should be made through the Rehabilitation Services Chairman Mrs. George Seney, 3325 West Bancroft Street, Toledo 6, Ohio, before March 1.

Our scholarship judging committee, Gladys Houx Rusk, @-Missouri; Catherine Budd Gates, Δ H-Utah; Hazel Round Wagner, Δ Z-Colorado College, and the chairman are equally pleased to present the current rehabilitation scholarship winners for this year. The continuing support of the alumnae groups and the gifts for full awards from several associations have enabled us to assist seven young women.

CLEVELAND, OHIO AWARD—This $500 fellowship is being used by Jane Eliot Nickolisen, Kappa Alpha Theta, for graduate study in Physical Therapy at the State University of Iowa. Jane graduated from South Dakota University with scholastic honors. She was president of her Theta chapter and a member of Mortar Board and is currently listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. After her certification, Jane plans to work and teach in a rehabilitation center.

INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA AWARD—Mary Ann Lauer, Independent, will complete her senior year at Purdue on the fourth annual $450 Indianapolis award for outstanding speech therapy majors at that university. Mary Ann is an exceptional student, active in theatre groups, a broadcaster for the college radio station, and an enthusiastic participant in the International Affairs organization on campus. Mary Ann, one of six children in her family, has worked hard to help with her education.

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA AWARD—A $500 gift from this association has been awarded to Caroline Freed, Φ-Boston, a senior in Physical Therapy at Boston University. Caroline has been described as "a bubbling red-head with a great deal of energy." She exerts this energy in her efforts for Phi chapter and other campus activities.

SOUTHERN AREA COUNCIL AWARD—Another Kappa recipient is Jay Wynn Eidemiller, Γ E-

Pittsburgh, who will do her studying in Physical Therapy at the University of Pittsburgh on the $500 gift from the groups in this California area. Jay has served her Kappa chapter in varying capacities. During her sophomore year, she spent several months in Poland as a part of the Experiment in International Living. That same year she was designated as one of ten outstanding women on campus. This spring she was tapped for Mortar Board.

TOLEDO, OHIO AWARD—This $500 Fellowship will be used at the University of Michigan this year for graduate study by Susan Bell. Susan finished her undergraduate work at Wooster College, in Ohio, with sociology as her major. She has spent several summers as a counsellor at a camp for retarded children. This experience has persuaded her to do advanced work in preparation for working with retarded children.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY, NEW YORK AND DETROIT, MICHIGAN AWARD—For the first time two $500 gifts, from the above groups, have been combined to make a special grant possible. Last spring, an unusual request was received from Dr. Howard Rusk, to try to help a young woman from India who was studying speech therapy at the University of Wichita and the Institute of Logopedics. It is a pleasure to be able to help Saraswathy Menon, a graduate of the University of Madras, with this award. Mrs. Menon came to the States in 1959 and worked with the Indian delegation to the United Nations. Her interest in rehabilitation and speech correction sent her to Kansas. When her training is over she will return to India as one of the very few trained therapists in her land.

KKG AWARD—Many small gifts to this fund are also used to create scholarships. This year from these small gifts Lorena M. Fowles, Independent, has been awarded $400 for her work in Physical Therapy at the University of Connecticut. Lorena has demonstrated fine leadership qualities in her 4-H Club work. She was a delegate to the National 4-H Congress in 1962. She anticipates using her skills in a children's hospital when she graduates.

It's an adoption for Cleveland

Cleveland, Ohio alumnae are vitally interested in their new philanthropic project—providing the money for the education of Dr. Chung Hi Oh's two children. Dr. Oh is remembered by Kappas throughout the country as the courageous young Korean doctor whose medical training in the field of rehabilitation was made possible through Kappa help. She is doing a magnificent job at the National Rehabilitation Center in Tongnae, Korea. However, Chung Hi is having a very difficult time and needs help.

A doctor with the best United States training—she earns a salary of about $44.00 a month at the Center. This does not cover her rent, food and clothes for herself and her two sons, for whom she is the sole support. The children's education is her biggest worry. This year her oldest boy will be ready to enter middle school and somehow the entrance fee of almost $50 must be met together with monthly tuition fees of about $6.00. Education in Korea must be paid for.

Dr. Oh is playing a key role in rehabilitation service for the veterans program and for the many children who suffer from polio and crippling diseases. She stands for what Kappa is doing in rehabilitation and in international understanding. It is hoped that with Cleveland's aid that her cares may be somewhat assuaged.

future. The hardest work in the world is responsibility. Let us frequently evaluate the extent to which we are utilizing our educational opportunities. We must ask ourselves "How am I measuring up to my responsibilities? Will I be one who will keep pace with the men? Will I share and help them with the world's problems?"

The starting point is NOW—right in the classrooms where you are. Give your very best thought and effort EACH DAY. There is no hesitating nor turning back. "What is past, is prologue."

Around the world with foreign scholarships

by KATHERYN BOURNE PEARSE

Foreign Scholarships chairman

For the purpose of promoting international good will and a better understanding and comradeship between students of foreign countries and those of the United States and Canada, Kappa Kappa Gamma established the International Scholarships in honor of Virginia Gildersleeve, outstanding Kappa educator.

This idea originated on the DePauw campus in 1936 and was, at that time, an exchange program. The war stopped all of this but following the war, it was decided to have a Foreign Study Scholarship Program for Kappas to study abroad and to bring foreign women students to study in the United States or Canada.

Experience has taught the merit of giving the awards for graduate work in fields of study helpful to the greatest number. For the most part, the award winners have returned to their native countries and made great contributions. Many are teachers, social workers and administrative officers. Occasionally, one may marry an American—but the Kappa investment is not lost—they teach or help handicapped children in this country.

This program has been growing steadily—this year 59 inquiries from 21 Foreign countries were received. Of this number, 26 applications were processed, and four awards were given to women from India, Japan, Formosa and Korea. Eighteen Kappas from 15 colleges wrote for information. Six applications were received and three Foreign Study Scholarships will send Kappas to Austria, London and Paris. The first honorary scholarship was given Mary Kinyon, who received a Fulbright grant and did not need Kappa help.

Yes—this program is a success, and places the name of Kappa Kappa Gamma in good standing around the world.

Any members of Kappa Kappa Gamma wishing to continue their studies abroad next year should contact the Foreign Scholarships chairman, Mrs. George M. Pearse, Jr., Bayberry Hill, Avon, Connecticut.

For the current year the following Foreign Study scholarships have been awarded.

The first honorary award was made to Mary Kinyon, Δ A-Miami U., of Richmond, Indiana, to study French literature at the University of Bordeaux, France. The judges considered her application so outstanding they agreed upon this award if a Fulbright grant was not received. However, the award did materialize so Mary did accept the Kappa award. Mary was very active in her chapter at Miami and also at Purdue where she spent her Junior year. She was elected to Φ B K last spring.

A special scholarship given by the Los Angeles, California Alumnae Association goes to Vivienne Andres, Δ X-San Jose, from Campbell, California. She is studying Art History, watercolorists of the 19th century in England, at the University of London, England. "Vivi" was chapter president, a member of Black Masque the Mortar Board equivalent, and an all around activity girl at San Jose. When notified of the award she said, "I am most grateful to Kappa for providing the means whereby one may obtain such valuable assistance. I am indeed honored to have been selected by the committee. I have sold several paintings very recently and I hope to do a great deal of concentrated painting this summer. Your letter has given me new inspiration."

Nancyann Orth, B B<sup>A</sup>-St. Lawrence, of Port Jefferson, New York, is studying at the Sorbonne in Paris, France, with the Middlebury program. Nancyann was president of her chapter and held many other positions in the chapter and on campus. She received an Undergraduate Scholarship while an undergraduate at Middlebury. This past year she has been teaching school to earn money for this year in Paris. She writes: "I just can't tell you how happy and thankful I am to receive the Foreign Study Scholarship. I've been looking forward to this year in Paris for a long time, and it will be a pleasure to share it with you through letters. Again, thank you so very much for your consideration."

(Martha) Ann Bowers, Δ E-Rollins, of Orlando, Florida, is continuing the study of Music at the Akademie für Musik und Darstellende, Kunst, Wien, Austria. A recent letter says, "Kappa's scholarship aid program has grown considerably since I first became a Kappa—just one more thing to be proud of. . . . At present, I am a Fulbright student of music, and am desperately seeking aid so that I can finish my work here. The Academy rarely permits a singer to enroll in all three major schools (Voice, Lied, and Oratorio School and Opera School) at once, but I am doing it, and will be eligible for final examinations next year." With her background of jobs which included church choirs, group singing, Radio City Music Hall, a Carnegie Hall joint recital and many Juilliard activities, the committee made the award to Martha. After notification, Martha wrote, "I have always been very proud of Kappa for its scholarship and fellowship programs and now I am, in addition, very grateful that I am to profit directly from it."

The Foreign Student Scholarships for the current year were presented to:

Young Hee Ko, from Choong-Moo, Korea, to continue graduate study in social work at Boston University School of Social Work. Miss Ko received her B.A. degree in sociology from Washington State University, Pullman, Washington last February. At that time a letter to the committee said, "Unfortunately, the recent Korean war monetarily or momentarily disrupted my ardent hopes and aspirations. Even during the crisis, I never ceased studying and reading with hopes that some day I would go to college and abroad to study. At that time, I had no greater hope than this. With this hope, I secured a job at the Headquarters of the United States Armed Forces in Pusan and worked in different positions for a number of years until I came here in 1957. Perhaps, this period of my employment played the most significant role in my life. I enjoyed working with Americans, and among

Editor's note:

Last year Rebecca White, Δ-Indiana, studied in Stockholm on a Foreign Study grant. She is back studying at Indiana this fall, with her new Swedish husband, Bjorn Sievert, whom she had first met when he was an exchange student at IU. Just before returning home she wrote of what this Kappa scholarship had meant to her. In part she says: "Never could a year include more varied, interesting, and truly educational experiences. Of course, foremost in importance when living in a foreign country, is for the foreigner to overcome the language barrier. This has been my greatest challenge, and most rewarding victory. It is wonderful to speak, read, write and even think in Swedish now!"

"It remains for me to try my best to assure you of my warmest feelings of gratitude for the marvelous time I've had. My thanks go to my Kappa sisters who have helped me finance my studies, as well as to give me an extra-critical interest and outlook for this chance to learn and to represent others. The Swedish people I have come to know have been so very gracious and helpful, that enough credit and honor cannot be said for them. It will be good to see our American Flag flying over her own (and our) country again after a year abroad. It will be an equally great pleasure to serve America as a tiny link in relations abroad in the future. On this opportunity I set my interest and shall direct my efforts."

them I made many enduring friendships. Seeing the pathetic scenes of the wartime, I felt deeply that I would like to be a social worker, with the hope of promoting the happiness of these helpless children, the victims of war. I continue to think that this would be one of the most gratifying ways for me to serve my country."

Sheela Mookherjee, Delhi, India, will continue her work and study at the New York School of Social Work of Columbia University. This is the second Kappa award for this most deserving student. The recommendations from her professors were so outstanding that it was felt it should be continued. Her faculty adviser wrote: "Miss Mookherjee is a person of inquiring mind, enormously motivated to learn, serious of performance, and with a great capacity for sustained hard work. The papers that she prepared for my course were thoughtful, logically developed, rooted in rich experience, and evidencing effective use of relevant literature. Her mind is attuned to subtleties, searching out ways of relating theory to practice, of organizing patterns of thought, and of discovering new insights. . . . Miss Mookherjee is a bright, attractive and altogether engaging student with a capacity for original and creative thought. Her curiosity is seemingly insatiable and her attitudes as a learner superb. I recommend her most enthusiastically as a grantee."

Roshan K. Patell, Bombay, India, is continuing graduate study in the field of Applications and Implications of Atomic Energy for Peace at the University of Pittsburgh, Pa. This also is a second award for this deserving student. In a letter from Miss Patell, she stated: "I am, at present working for my master's degree, and hope to complete my thesis before next summer, in which case, I shall graduate in June, 1963. . . . I appreciate this generous gift from the Fraternity, and wish to tell you that I have received a scholarship of $800 from the PEO International Peace Scholarships Committee. I am enjoying my work here very much, especially this trimestre, as we are doing research in the nuclear physics laboratory. . . . I have moved to a new dormitory, and it is very comfortable and pretty. I share a suite with five girls. We have a large lounge, kitchen, three bedrooms, studies, bathrooms, in fact, it is just like home, and not at all like a dormitory. . . . Thank you very much.—I really am very grateful to Kappa Kappa Gamma."

In the middle of October, a rush call came from Julian D. Mason Jr., Director of Student Aid, University of North Carolina, telling of the financial need of a young lady from Taiwan (Formosa), who had arrived on that campus only to find that her plan for a certain award had not materialized. Fortunately the Foreign Scholarship fund had money to help her. In thanks for the assistance Mr. Mason wrote in part: "Judy and I both are very grateful for the fact that Kappa Kappa Gamma is going to be able to help her in the amount of $500. I was also very much interested in the extensive student aid program carried out by Kappa Kappa Gamma. I had no idea that your fraternity had such a program, and I congratulate you on such a worthy and extensive undertaking."

Judy Ming-Churn Shih, Taipei, Taiwan, was graduated from Soochow University in June, 1959. She has come to the University of North Carolina to work for her Master's of Science degree in Library Science. Her recommendations are most outstanding and the transcript of her marks shows her to be better than a B student. In a letter from Judy telling of her plans, she says: "Before my graduation from Soochow University I always eagerly to have a chance to continue my studies in the States. And I have to thank God for He has listened to my prayers. The reason for coming to the States is to study, to learn, and to see. I am glad to study in the University of North Carolina . . . a good environment for studying. I can not only absorb new knowledge but also get to know the real American Life. That is to increase the mutual understanding and to strengthen the friendship between both countries."

"As we all know that America is far more advanced in science than that of the Eastern countries. We, Chinese, are proud of our history and civilization in the past, yet we are sorry to suffer the constant calamities which made us hardly breathe. If we intend to be an up-to-date country we have to keep pace with others. At least, to learn and imitate. Library science is one kind of technique which deals with books. It is due to the development of education, printing, and industry, thousands of books are published monthly. It needs those well-trained librarians to take care and to classify them. I love books and I am interested in serving people. I hope that I will try my utmost best to take up this responsibility as a good librarian. After I finish my studies, I will return to my own home and serve in the library in Taiwan."

New colony underway

Epsilon Eta Colony which will become Epsilon Eta Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma the week-end of March 22-24, 1963, came into existence in September. The group of 15 pledged to the Colony will become the charter members of the group. Graduate Counselors, Jane Ann Briggs and Carolyn Christian, are busy working with Connie Clulow, who is on the campus on a Kappa Fellowship grant, in getting the group off to an auspicious start. An alumna advisory board has been formed with the five local alumnae augmented by others from Columbus, Georgia. The Auburn Alumnae include: Sanye "Petie" Hardiman Williams,  $\Gamma$   $\Psi$ -Maryland; Doris Welles Curtis,  $\Delta$  B-Duke; Abbie Wendel Woodson,  $\Gamma$   $\Pi$ -Alabama;; Miriam Patrick Morris,  $\Delta$  I-Louisiana State, and Ann Castles Lee, B  $\Theta$ -Oklahoma.

Carolyn Christian, Dean of Women Katharine Cater, Connie Clulow, Jane Ann Briggs, and Doris Welles Curtis admire the new golden key knocker on the Kappa chapter room door at Auburn.

A positive contribution

Excerpted from the Convention speech of

DEAN JACQUELINE STERNER, A X  $\Omega$ ,

Dean of Women, University of Arkansas and former fellowship holder

In a time when our fraternity system is under close scrutiny from those who question our right to be, when we need to be positive in our response rather than belligerently defensive, I can think of nothing more positive than the contribution your fraternity makes to the education of women. . . .

College education is expensive; graduate education done at the expense of current earnings is equally or more expensive, and the minimum time beyond the bachelor's to arrive at a completed Ph.D. is three years. Yet, we need women who can be educated to the limit of their abilities, or we have women unfulfilled and a loss to society because their lack of education limits their advancement to the top in their fields. I am not talking about advancement in the narrow, competitive sense, but in the realistic one of degrees being needed for entry in so many areas. In my own field, a Master's is essential for entry; and many institutions will not consider applicants for a dean of women without a completed Ph.D. This is true of college teaching or research in both education and industry today.

Our push for education and the need for it are almost incomprehensible. A contribution to this program cannot but make your fraternity a part of the mainstream, for the standards it has that make it promote such a program are more than words and articles on defending the fraternity system; they are a positive manifestation and contribution to our culture.

In talking of graduate school and the importance of planning to attend, and bringing this to you, realize I am talking to but a small percentage of Kappas throughout the land. Yet, it is that small group, even of your own members, which will help push back the frontiers of knowledge, that will take up the long-term high skill occupations. In fact, this group is only about five percent of the women who work. Most of you will fall into two categories of short-term low-skill work in summer jobs of brief periods before or just after marriage, and into the long-term low-to-medium skill work which includes the much publicized second occupational life that will occur when your children are off to college, or when you prematurely become widows. I realize that to mention a subject that directly affects only five percent is not the basis for the most exciting remarks in the world.

This push for graduate school is a fairly new phenomenon; one that was not nearly so prevalent during my undergraduate days as it is today. For this reason, our awareness of academic achievement as a means to a good graduate school, or a fellowship or assistantship was less than that which you have. Granted the majority of your members in your chapters across the country enter college in pursuit of a MRS. rather than a Ph.D., but if the program could make one or two in each chapter desire to go on to graduate school, this would be quite an impact since only less than 1000 Ph.D.'s are awarded to women in any year. This is obviously only a fraction of a percentage of the population.

Perhaps I have used too much the Ph.D. and certainly I don't want to discourage you. This program also helps Master's candidates.

As Mary Bunting, president of Radcliffe, recently said before an AAUW convention, the current B.A. might indicate more knowledge than her Ph.D., obtained some years ago. Indeed, on second thought, the knowledge we now teach this B.A. candidate in her field of zoology was in large part unknown when she took her Ph.D. and she is not so ancient either. In pushing back the frontiers of knowledge, we have an expensive process. I happen to believe that young women should be as willing to go into debt for education as for an automobile, but I cannot begin to convey to you the warmth that those of us who have been Kappa fellowship winners and hereby reduced this debt by $500, feel for what you are doing. You should have great pride in those whom you have helped; I only hope that those of us whom you help will justify your faith and money; we certainly are trying—and I hope that my contribution in the education of young women for responsible citizenship, in encouraging the talented to go on to graduate school and apply for Kappa fellowships may be a worthy use.

Never in the history of America has it been more vital that the best minds be trained to their utmost power. Never before has there been such great evidence of interest in advanced studies among women students. And never before have the opportunities been so great for these young women to use their intellectual abilities and their training in so many and diverse areas. In consequence, as the cost of higher education rises, and the ever-increasing numbers of eager young minds reach out for intellectual fulfillment, the value of and demand for expanded scholarship aid programs becomes more obvious.

So it is that the Kappa Kappa Gamma's graduate fellowship program takes on richer and more rewarding significance and the processing of applications becomes more challenging.

Before March first each year young women of Canada and the United States may submit applications for the Graduate Fellowship awards. These are limited to those who will have bachelor's degrees by June of the current year from an institution where there is a Kappa chapter, or to those who will do graduate study at such an institution. In keeping with Kappa's policy of good public relations, the awards are open not only to Kappas but also to non-members, on a competitive basis. Application forms are available from the Chairman, Dr. Miriam C. Locke, Box 1484, University, Alabama.

This year we are especially fortunate to be able to grant awards for graduate study to 15 recipients:

Joan Abendroth,  $\Delta$  E-Rollins, received the Charlotte Barrell Ware award to study at Arizona State University in the field of mathematics education. Joan was an outstanding student at Rollins where she graduated with an A average. She served her chapter as pledge trainer, vice-president, and president, and since her graduation, as finance adviser. As an undergraduate she was president of several honorary organizations and won numerous awards such as that from Zeta Alpha Epsilon for the most outstanding science student, and the General Charles McCormic Reeve Award for scholarship. She was on the student-faculty committee, in Panhellenic, and in the Rollins Choir. At her graduation she received the coveted Algernon Sidney Sullivan Medallion as the outstanding woman student. For the past three years she has taught science and mathematics.

Barbara Kay Altpeter,  $\Gamma$  M-Oregon State, is studying at Cornell University in the field of textiles and clothing. Barbara was a member of  $\Delta \Delta \Delta$ , Mortar Board, and  $\Phi \chi \Phi$ . She was also second vice-president of the Oregon State University student body. She spent a summer in Europe as a member of the Experiment in International Living. She received the AAUW award in 1962 in the area of International Understanding. Barbara plans a career of college teaching.

Carolyn Jane Bergen,  $\Gamma$  M-Oregon State, also is at Cornell, for study in personnel and guidance. Carolyn was a member of Mortar Board,  $K \Pi$ ,  $O N$ , and other honoraries. She was chapter pledge trainer and served as AWS president and as a member of the student senate, as well as of many campus councils. She plans to continue eventually for a doctorate in student personnel.

Cornelia Jean Clulow,  $\Gamma$  N-Arkansas, is studying for a master's degree in English at Auburn University, where she is also serving as an assistant in the Department of English and in the establishment of the new chapter, Epsilon Eta. Connie holds the Eleanore Goodridge Campbell Award given by the Denver Alumnae Association. The impressive list of Connie's honors and activities includes memberships in  $\Delta \Delta \Delta$ , Mortar Board,  $K \Delta \Pi$ , and  $\Phi \chi \Phi$ . Student-Faculty Forum, and president of AWS. In her chapter she served as parliamentarian and as assistant rush chairman. She has won scholarships throughout her career, from Elks, Mortar Board, Junior Panhellenic, Kappa Kappa Gamma and the University of Arkansas. Her ambition is to become a college teacher.

Rachel Ann Davis, Δ O-Iowa State, is studying Business Administration at Harvard-Radcliffe. At Iowa she was efficiency chairman and president of her chapter. She served on the Student Senate, was Panhellenic president, and a member of Mortar Board, Ψ T O and Φ K Φ.

Frances Millington Flenge, Θ-Missouri, is in the Harvard-Radcliffe program in Business Administration. She was a member of Φ B K, was AWS president, Outstanding Senior Woman for 1961-62, national vice-president of AWS and on the student-faculty committee. In 1961 she won the Chi Omega Social Science Award. Millie plans a career in college personnel work.

Donna Louise Hartman, ΠΔ-California (Berkeley), is one of the two recipients of awards made possible by the Pasadena Alumnae Association. Donna is preparing for a teaching career in social studies and music. She was chosen for Φ B K and for Mortar Board, among other honoraries. She served as a member of an advisory council to the university president and the chancellor. She also was on the AWS Board and in Panhellenic.

Janet Lyn Kippen, Γ T-North Dakota, is studying for an M.A. in Communications at Stanford University, especially in the areas of communications research and television production. Upon graduation she hopes to do program planning, writing and production in educational television. As an undergraduate she was activities chairman, membership chairman and vice-president of the chapter, a member of Senior Staff, the Student Senate, Kappa Delta Pi, Angel Flight, managing editor of the newspaper, a cheerleader and Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. Since graduation Jan has been promotion assistant at WDAY Radio and Television and an English instructor in junior high school. A script she wrote as the outcome of a television

Joan McCrimmon,  $\Gamma$  T-British Columbia, is studying Interior Design at Parsons School of Design in New York City. Joan has been membership chairman of her chapter, secretary of Panhellenic, on the art staff of the annual and art director of the annual Greek letter ball. She plans to become an interior design consultant working in association with architects.

Sandra Marni, B P $\Delta$ -Cincinnati, is completing her doctorate in political science at the University of California in Berkeley. She holds a master's degree in economics from Indiana University. As an undergraduate she was a member of Mortar Board and  $\Phi$  B K and worked on the student newspaper. Her particular interest is political theory and international relations. She plans an academic career preceded by some experience with a governmental or international agency in a developing country.

Sharon Lynn Moses, Independent, Florida State University, is studying for a master's degree in mathematics at her alma mater. Sharon was a member of A A  $\Delta$ , student legislative committee, summer judiciary,  $\Pi$  M E (mathematics), was president of the mathematics club and was active in the work of the Wesley Foundation. She is serving as a student assistant in mathematics, and plans to make college teaching of higher mathematics her career.

Karen Stedfeld, B K-Idaho, holds a Pasadena Alumnae Award for study of modern European history at Stanford University. Karen relinquished the Kappa fellowship and a Woodrow Wilson award granted her last year in favor of a Fulbright year in France. She has held a Mortar Board special grant. At Idaho she was a member of  $\Pi$  K M,  $\Phi$  K  $\Phi$ ,  $\Phi$  B K, and Mortar Board. She was active in school publications, oratory, debate team, student recruitment, campus chest committees, Student Union Board, and Panhellenic.

Debra Sippel, A $\Delta$ -Monmouth, holds a half-grant for one semester to complete her master's in English at Indiana University. At Monmouth she was active in dramatics and held the office of membership chairman in her chapter.

Patricia Grace Watson,  $\Gamma$   $\Sigma$ -Manitoba, is in her third year at the University of Manitoba Law School. She has held the highest chapter scholar-

Former Kappa Fellowship holder, Nancy Louise Babel,  $\Gamma$  Z-Arizona, has just been elected Secretary of the American Law Student Association. She writes: "My election as secretary by the delegates of 131 accredited law schools representing 40,000 law students took place in San Francisco in August. I have recently returned from an Executive Committee meeting for the American Law Student Association held in Chicago at the American Bar Center. This year, as a national officer, I will be representing the Executive Committee at several ALSA Circuit Conferences throughout the nation.

"I can certainly attribute a great deal of my recent success to the experience that I gained at the Kappa Biennial Convention in 1960 and to the leadership training which I received as chapter president. My indebtedness to Kappa goes even further for without the financial assistance of my Kappa Graduate Fellowship, the encouragement of Miss Miriam Locke and the confidence of the Fellowship Committee, I would never have been able to enter law school last fall.

"So you see, it is not unusual that I share my recent honor with Kappa; it is natural that I recognize those who have made this possible by their unselfish time spent encouraging young women to meet the ever challenging future, to help prepare them to take their places as future leaders by stimulating their intellectual curiosity by providing opportunities for advanced study."

At Arizona Nancy was Governor of Arizona Girls' State, Kiwanis "Outstanding Senior Girl"; 1957 Elks national award: Outstanding Girl Leader in the Nation; Angel Flight; Student Bar Association secretary at the University of Arizona; and president of Gamma Zeta chapter. Nancy took her first two years at Occidental College on an academic scholarship and transferred for her two final years at the University of Arizona on a general resident scholarship. She is currently in her second year at the University of Arizona College of Law.

Gretchen Wothe,  $\Delta$   $\Gamma$ -Michigan State, is completing her master's in art at the University of Michigan. As an undergraduate she was a member of Mortar Board, a director of the Michigan State University Union, and chairman of many university committees. She served on the Dean's orientation committee as a co-student adviser, was a member of the "61" Club of 61 outstanding seniors, and won an award as "senior of the week."

Still pioneering in the West

by MORGAN MONROE

Director, Press Bureau
University of Arizona

From humble frontier beginnings in 1885, the University of Arizona in little more than 75 years has become one of the nation's great state universities. It is the Land-Grant institution of the State of Arizona.

On March 10, 1885, when the 13th Arizona Territorial Legislature approved expenditures of $25,000 for a university at Tucson, there was not a high school in the territory where Indian raids and stagecoach robberies were integral parts of the frontier scene. Few of the territory's rugged residents wanted a university. An even smaller number cared to give it the required 40 acres for a campus.

The record indicates that two gamblers and a saloonkeeper provided the required land!

Ground was broken October 17, 1887 for a simple brick building. But four years elapsed before sufficient funds were available to finish the roof and install doors and windows in this first building.

Today the University of Arizona is a great modern institution located on a beautiful 125-acre campus in Tucson. The University is composed of ten colleges, four schools, 88 departments, and 24 divisions of research and extension. It offers the bachelor's degree in 175 fields of study, the master's degree in 70, and the doctor's degree in 37.

Resident enrollment in the first semester of the 1961-62 academic year was 13,950, with extension and off-campus enrollment bringing the total number of students to 16,573. Faculty members number more than 1,000.

Thus the story of the University of Arizona parallels the story of Arizona and the West—meager pioneer beginnings, growth and maturity through determination and hard work, and modern emergence as an internationally-recognized institution located in one of the nation's most attractive and progressive states.

Lights in the University of Arizona's College of Business and Public Administration indicate that the U of A has become an "around-the-clock" institution in recent years. Rapid growth requires daytime, late afternoon, and evening classes.

The President says:

On behalf of the University of Arizona, I extend cordial greetings to all members of Kappa Kappa Gamma. The association which your fraternity has had with our University has been a long and worthy one, and we have appreciated the tradition of strong support for the aims of high scholarship and good citizenship which has been exemplified in your local chapter, and through it, your national organization.

A good many chapters of Kappa Kappa Gamma are located on the campuses of land-grant institutions, of which the University of Arizona is one. Public awareness has been focused during the past year upon the 100th anniversary of signing of the Morrill Land-Grant Act which brought into being a unique system of higher education. Those of you affiliated with such institutions have been particularly aware of the tremendous significance which the land-grant system represents in American higher education.

Prior to this act, which became law with the signature of Abraham Lincoln, higher education had been the prerogative mostly of the favored classes. Colleges and universities centered around a traditional curriculum of the classics designed to produce lawyers, doctors, ministers and occasionally teachers. Justin Morrill and a few other great leaders saw the impelling need for higher education suited to the needs of artisans, farmers, mechanics and tradesmen, a system to provide the benefits of applied knowledge as well as the liberal studies to that vast segment of American citizenry which lay outside the "ranks of privilege."

The institutions were to be inaugurated by providing each state with a certain amount of federal land or its equivalent, with the proceeds to support operational costs. The results of the system have been epochal. Scientific agriculture and scientific technology, given their dynamism by land-grant institutions, revolutionized the economy of America, and the social results have been equally great.

The sons and daughters of merchants and craftsmen were freed to achieve the levels of development of which they were capable, unbound by "class" or lack of wealth. Social mobility became practical and attainable. And the doors of higher education were first opened to women by land-grant institutions, allowing that disenfranchised half of America to begin furthering its intellectual development, making possible thereby a stronger and more enlightened nation.

The fact that women's fraternities exist at all is thus linked in history with the visionary act which gave birth to land-grant higher education and resulted eventually in the massive system of public higher education which has made our nation the strongest and most prosperous on earth. Whether or not you are a student or alumnus of a land-grant institution, your debt to the land-grant system is a real one.

In the years ahead our success as a nation and a culture will probably rest with the extent of our dedication to the cause of higher education, disseminated as wisely and widely as it shall be within our means and ability to do.

RICHARD A. HARVILL

This transformation was not accomplished without constant struggle. Those who read Douglas D. Martin's Lamp in the Desert, a history of the U of A by one of its most distinguished professors of journalism, often remark that perhaps no university in the land has a more interesting and remarkable background.

The Dean of Women says:

The University of Arizona is proudly self-conscious in this year 1962 when land-grant colleges and universities are observing the 100th anniversary of the Morrill or Land-Grant Act of its status as a land-grant institution. The university's position in the educational vanguard in the development of academic programs which prepare its students to live and serve in a dynamic world community is well known to residents of Arizona, in the other states, and internationally.

Perhaps not so widely known are the contributions made by groups and organizations within the University to the total development of the individual student. Such a group is Panhellenic, comprising the 14 national sororities on the campus and committed to the ideals of the National Panhellenic Conference as well as to those of the individual nationals.

Kappa Kappa Gamma can justifiably take great pride in its Gamma Zeta Chapter. For example, during both semesters of the 1961-62 academic year Kappa ranked first in scholarship on campus. Care in membership selection is reflected in these statistics. Recognition is given to the fact that the interested student will probably contribute most to the group while she is in the University, and to society at large after graduation.

Gamma Zeta is one of the many sororities on campus aware of the importance of developing world understanding, made possible in part at the campus level by board and room scholarships in the sororities for outstanding students from other countries. Gamma Zeta's guest in the house last year was a delightful young woman from Denmark.

Gamma Zeta is furnishing leadership on the campus in various ways. One of its members was elected to serve as president of Associated Women Students during the 1962-63 year. This is the most responsible office to which a woman student can be elected on our campus.

Representation in the three class honoraries for women, whose members are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and activities, is very good. Two seniors are members of Mortar Board, three juniors were tapped for Chimes, and seven sophomores were chosen for Spurs.

Gamma Zeta Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma on our campus exemplifies the ideals for which national sororities stand, and blends in balance the scholastic and the extracurricular. We are proud of the Chapter!

DR. KAREN L. CARLSON

The tremendous expansion which has made the U of A an outstanding Land-Grant institution has been particularly marked during the past decade. Those ten years brought great advances in every academic and service area. Broadened curricula, new buildings and facilities, far-seeing programs of teaching, research and extension, greater service to state and nation—these are among the results.

In this chronicle of growth, no chapter is more inspiring than the U of A's modern pioneering in scientific teaching and research. Within the span of seven years it has become a widely recognized center of research, a significant development in times when the need for intensified teaching and research in the sciences continues to receive increasing national emphasis.

It is doubtful that any institution of higher education has ever attained international scientific stature in less time. How did this happen? It did not come about by concentrating on research at the expense of other aspects of higher education. Quite the reverse is true.

While research has developed at a rapid rate in recent years, so have the U of A's curricula and programs in the humanities, the arts, law, business, public administration, and other non-scientific fields of study. The result is a well balanced atmosphere of learning in which science and technology, important as they are in these times, are well integrated components of education in the classical sense—greater knowledge of all things.

The U of A's growth in scientific stature stemmed from a "research philosophy" which is simple and effective. The university's principal research efforts have been concentrated over the years along lines in which it possesses certain natural advantages. Success in those fields has led in recent years to many broad new programs. Today the U of A is known throughout the world for its outstanding teaching-research activities ranging in scope from arid-land agriculture to lunar and planetary studies.

This philosophy has proved successful because it serves the best interests of the people of Arizona as well as those of science. Equally important, it encourages balance between teaching and research and between science and the humanities.

In the vast sweep of modern research effort, the U of A stands on the perimeter of space age scientific investigation while continuing to enhance its long established stature in such traditional fields as agriculture, anthropology, and engineering. Its faculty members, including some of the most distinguished men and women of science, are engaged in extensive teaching-research programs in astronomy, atmospheric physics, microbiology, physics, chemistry, hydrology, pharmacy, geology, geochronology, biochemistry, palynology, dendrochronology, zoology, and other areas of study.

Despite these significant activities, the "hardware" of scientific research does not dominate the academic scene at the U of A. Emphasis remains on basic expansion of the frontiers of knowledge, on science as an intellectual pursuit. Greatly expanded research programs and facilities have not been permitted to downgrade the inquiring mind which must guide and control man's continuing quest for knowledge of the unknown.

Perhaps more than any other, this fact explains why the U of A in a comparatively short time has become an outstanding center of scientific teaching and research without losing its academic balance. The resulting strength is apparent in every field of learning at the university.

"In contemplating the elements of this strength," said President Richard A. Harvill in a recent annual report, "we find one of greatest significance—opportunity for the pursuit of truth in an atmosphere of free inquiry. This is the most priceless and basic source of strength an institution of higher education can possess. In the absence of this fundamental element, education becomes mockery which, though it may display some surface evidence of short-term progress, remains stagnant in the depths from whence its greatest strength should arise."

Founded as a pioneering institution on a frontier, the University of Arizona continues to pioneer on virtually every frontier of knowledge. The body has grown, the face has changed, but the sturdy ideals that have made it a great institution remain unaltered.

A look into the history of Gamma Zeta Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma provides much more than a panoramic view of the development of a particular segment of a women's fraternal organization. To present Gamma Zeta in this manner is also to present the growth of an educational institution from a small, land-grant school of the '20's to a fine University of 15,000 students. Gamma Zeta has stepped from the days of pledge classes of three or four young women to those of 40. In a similar length of time, the University of Arizona has gone from a limited number of buildings and a simple-structured student government, to the massive, complex machine which operates today. Each has enjoyed the experience of progress. Record of this progress, and its influences, can be found in the carefully written history of Gamma Zeta Chapter.

What was to become the local home of Kappa Kappa Gamma at the University of Arizona first got its start in 1916. Several Tucson women joined together under the Greek letters, Alpha Sigma. One year later, in order to compete successfully with the two other women's fraternities then on campus, tiny Alpha Sigma pledged eight coeds during formal rush. In 1918-1919, Alpha Sigma petitioned Kappa Kappa Gamma for membership, and, on January 3, 1920, Grand President Lydia Voris Kolbe and members of Gamma Beta Chapter at the University of New Mexico installed Gamma Zeta Chapter. The 24 charter members of the new group included: Bess Alexander (Finnegan), Dorothy Galpin, Ruth Bird (Burrows), Grace Chatham (Beall), Katherine Vinson Haga, Edith Harrison (Darling), Clara Hildebrandt (Hopkins), Hazel Hodges (Mang), Isabelle Irvine (Thompson), Dorothy Knox (Harris), Frances Leeson (Clark), Margaret Loffin (Irvine), Zella Jay Mathews, Anne Pace (Bush), Eva Prina (Wadlington), Ruth Prina (Stanley), Florence Shelby (Abbott), Lucy Stanton (Huff), Mildred Stark (Stafford), LaVerna Stevens, Lois Wendel, Helen Equen Westover, Helen Willits (Harris), Lillian Wood (Earley).

The next ten years went by very fast for this new addition to Kappa Kappa Gamma. Each year, from September to June, was marked by the rewarding experiences of fraternity life. There are records of successful rushing periods, initiations, celebrations of Founders' Day, athletic events, campus activities, and pinnings and engagements.

In 1921, a pledge-sponsored formal dance was held. Today, in the occasion of a Christmas dinner dance, the tradition of a pledge-planned social function for the entire chapter is carried on.

The first chapter house was planned in 1922. A furniture fund was established with the help of the alumnae and the Tucson Kappa Club. The next fall the chapter moved into their first home that was built for them. Within a few years the need for a larger home was evident. That dream was realized when with the help of a loan from the Fraternity a lot was purchased and the present chapter house built. Ground was broken on Founders' Day 1934 and the chapter moved into their new home February 10, 1935. Several Tucson alumnae who worked long and hard to make this dream a reality and who have continued to guide the work of the Gamma Zeta House Board through the years are Ruth Bird Burrows, Marion Duncan Belton, Catharine Favour Merchant, Ruth Prina Stanley, Ethel Brown Tolley, all Gamma Zeta, and Maude Voss Seaney, Δ-Indiana.

Gamma Zeta's home

Two of these women, Ruth Burrows and Marion Belton served as Province Vice-Presidents of the Fraternity. To their names have been added those of Ethel Fisher Sullivan and Betty Udell Marshall as Province Directors of Alumnae and Marjorie Miller Hoar and Helen Swordling Kasl who have served as Province Directors of Chapters. Then, too, the Chapter has furnished two Graduate Counselors, Sue Forster who helped Beta Alpha Chapter at Pennsylvania and Molly Roller Springler who aided Epsilon Delta at Arizona State at the time of the colonization on that campus.

The Chapter was now growing at a substantial rate. Each autumn of the 1930's found 20 or more members busy with rushing, initiations, the building of a strong organization. In September, 1932, it should be noted that "In spite of the Depression, we Gamma Zetas have been able to have many parties." And so it was. There were scavenger hunts, tea dance, formals, and roller skating parties to fill the week-end dates.

Also, in looking at the Chapter in the '30's, there is the appearance of more campus honoraries, such as Spurs, for sophomore women. Too, there exists a national women's self-governing organization, known as the Associated Women Students, of which, in 1933, a local Kappa was elected president.

During this second ten years, a Christmas party, with a house boy or an active member portraying Santa Claus, first got its start. Through this, presents, games, refreshments, and good times are provided for many underprivileged children in the Tucson area. Kappa spirit and Christmas spirit are blended perfectly together.

The Diamond Key Award was also a part of this decade. Each semester it was, and still is, presented to the active member standing first in scholarship within the house.

The years from 1940 to 1950 mark a period of still further growth. There are more campus offices to hold, more queen titles to capture, more floats to build, and more rush parties to give. One change during the early 1940's, however, comes in the announcements of engagements and marriages. With the War, Kappas' names become linked with those of young men bearing military titles rather than the previous standard of using Greek letters to identify pinmates of fiancés with the various campus fraternities.

In 1943, it was recorded, among other Gamma Zeta honors, that the Chapter had won the local Panhellenic Supremacy Cup for the second year in a row. It was also in this year that the University scholarship trophy was retired by the local Kappas. Top honors had been taken scholastically by them for three consecutive semesters.

With the building of shiny whales, pink elephants, and "Arks of Triumph" as prize-winning entries in the Homcoming parades, Gamma Zeta Kappa launched the successful decade of the '50's. In 1954, the first pledge class of 40 coeds was taken. Today this magic number is the quota for rushing set by the University's Panhellenic.

In 1956, the Chapter began its foreign student program by inviting a young woman from Denmark to live in the house. Labeling this as "money well spent," the Chapter has since enjoyed the company of girls from many parts of the world. This fall, for example, a freshman from Lima, Peru, Gaby Urmeneta, has brought her bright personality and lively guitar to add more international flavor to Kappa.

Ever growing and ever changing, Gamma Zeta's home has taken on many new appearances in the last few years. The "Kappa Kottage," a little bungalow next door to the Chapter, was converted into additional living quarters and joined to the main house. The dining room has moved and a recreation room has been introduced. Each fall there are evidences of summer re-decorating. As of late, varying shades of blue have introduced deep, blue-green carpets for the halls; pale blue wrought iron and glass tables and chairs for the dining room; baby blue carpeting and a blending of the shades of blue, green, and lavender in the living room; and the most delightful little ice cream parlor-type porch looking out into the main patio.

Today there are lists of activities and honors to be named by Gamma Zeta. For two consecutive semesters now, the Chapter had led the University in scholarship. And, for particularly diligent work since 1959, Gamma Zeta received second place in the award for greatest Chapter Improvement at the 1962 biennial Convention.

University of Arizona Kappas are found busy in all parts of campus life. At Women's Day last spring, Jo Ann Branham, vice-president of the Student Union Activities Board and chairman of its Administration Committee, was selected, along with Carolyn Peirce Ewing, new Associated Women Students' President, for membership in Mortar Board. The junior women's honorary, Chimes, chose Cynthia Monroe, chapter president this fall; Beth Earley, secretary-treasurer of SUAB; and Barbara Booth, secretary of the group. Spurs, for sophomore women, elected Kathy Robinson president for this year. Other Kappas with Kathy included Toby Hyman, Donna Lambert, Christie Leu, Kathy Allen, Mary Dean Whitehurst, Sue Coppess, and Nona Piziali. Added to  $\Lambda \Gamma \Delta$ , freshman women's scholastic honorary, were Kathy Allen, Diane Fernley, Christie Leu, Kathy Robinson, Sharon Utke, and Lovell Yaeger.

Along with these, Gamma Zeta Kappas such as Mary Lou Doolen, Margaret Burton, Susan Currie, Jo Ann Branham, Irene Carrillo, Barbara Booth, Cynthia Monroe, Barbara Beadles, Donna Lambert, Kathy Robinson, and Jo Ann Fenwick are a part of the Air Force ROTC Honorary, Angel Flight. Mary Lou served as president of this organization last year.

Martha Klaiber and Penny Parke Daugherty were selected for  $\Phi B K$ , and Martha and Barbara Drinkwater Inderlied received membership into  $\Phi K \Phi$ . Margie Witz is in  $\Pi \Lambda \Theta$ , and Neale Burggraaf Lytle has been named to  $O N$ . Judy Loper Kramer was Visitors Anne Harter, Toni Breithaupt, Kay Schultz with Marjorie and Richard Fletcher, executive secretary, Sigma Nu Fraternity, in the Gardens of Sigma Nu Headquarters.

While touring historic Southern shrines en route home from Asheville last July, three Kappa conventioners found themselves in Lexington, Virginia, a charming town noted for two fine institutions, Washington and Lee University and Virginia Military Institute. Quite by chance we discovered the birthplace and national headquarters of Sigma Nu Fraternity, with which all three of us had family affiliations.

Prompted by interest and curiosity, we stopped at a handsome pink brick colonial house set in estate-like grounds on a hill over-looking the campus of V.M.I. We were warmly welcomed, though not expected, by Richard Fletcher, the Executive Secretary and his wife, Marjorie.

We found Mr. Fletcher to be a man so imbued with the ideals and spiritual values of Sigma Nu and so sensitive to the traditions and symbols of his fraternity that our own spirits, a bit weary after eight days of "wall to wall women," were quickly refreshed.

Sigma Nu was founded at Virginia Military Institute in Lexington, where the honor system was first developed and practiced in an institute of higher learning. On an outcropping of rock on the parade ground in January, 1869, three cadets pledged themselves to the proposition that the proven creeds of the past—love, truth and honor—could become more meaningful and helpful in their lives and the lives of other men if they formed a fraternity based on these selfless values.

The first thing one notes when walking up the brick path is the circular garden enclosure in which is centered a large rock, a piece of that very same upon which Sigma Nu was founded on that wintry night nearly one hundred years ago. Behind and above is a beautiful white rose bush propagated from the same bush which inspired the founders to adopt the white rose as their symbol.

The house itself was built of native stone about the time of the fraternity's founding. A gracious entrance hall, with the seal of Sigma Nu on the ceiling, features a cabinet of old badges, founders' pictures, mementoes and other Fraternity memorabilia. On one side is a handsome drawing room furnished in antiques and reproductions of the mid-19th century. The other parts of the ground floor are devoted to the efficient and pleasant offices. The second floor consists of a handsome apartment which Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher rent as their home.

To commemorate their centennial in 1969, Sigma Nu plans to build a wing on their present structure which will house a library of all available material pertaining to the Honor System in education. The contents of this library will be loaned on request to colleges and other institutions so vitally concerned.

What started as a five minute drop-in visit had become one of the most refreshing and delightful hours we had ever spent.

Undergraduate Scholarships chairman

Proudly we hail the 24 undergraduate and 18 Emergency Scholarship winners for 1962-63.

Every member should feel a sense of real pride in Kappa Kappa Gamma as a recognized leader in the Greek world in our scholarship program. The steady rise of college costs has been reflected in the increased number of applications for financial help from the Fraternity. And, at the same time, the alumnae—both individually and as groups—have shown a marked increased interest in our scholarship program by making many more gifts to the funds.

Any initiated Kappa active who is in financial need is eligible to apply for one of the scholarships. Careful consideration is given by the committee to several things: the applicant's need; her scholastic rating (which should be a B or better); her contribution to her chapter; and her role on the campus. Our scholarships have a dual aim: to help the individual complete her education without interruption and to help the chapter by keeping valuable girls on the campus to continue their contributions. It is committee policy to give preference to upperclassmen—Seniors and Juniors—in awarding these scholarships. These girls are closer to the completion of their training and underclassmen have time ahead yet to ask for help. Married students are not eligible for a scholarship. Marriage, while holding a scholarship, terminates the contract. Scholarships are not transferable to another campus—whether there is a Kappa chapter on that campus or not.

All applications for Undergraduate Scholarships must be filed by March 1 for the following school year. Applications for Emergency Scholarships may be submitted at any time during the school year to the committee chairman, Mrs. William S. Lane, 1238 Knox Road, Wynnewood, Pennsylvania.

Your chairman is very proud of this year's group of recipients—all of them girls who have proved their value to their chapters, who have maintained excellent scholastic records, have been helping themselves financially as much as possible—in other words these are Kappas we are all happy to hail as our award winners.

Delta Rho Chapter at the University of Mississippi and Kappas are proud of Sidna Brower of Memphis, Tennessee, editor of the campus daily paper, The Mississippian. Sidna, who is a senior in the School of Journalism, has been awarded the coveted Henry N. Taylor Internship Award for journalistic excellence and dedication to the precepts of objective newspaper writing and publishing. Besides her work on The Mississippian, she has been active in many campus activities including  $\Theta \Sigma \Phi$  and  $\Lambda \Sigma$  (journalism honoraries), Campus Senate, Welcoming committee, Private and Local Legislation committee, High School Day committee, Orientation committee, Baptist Student Union, and Cwens secretary. Sidna has served as campus correspondent for The Commercial Appeal and last summer worked as a staff member of the paper's bureaus at Jackson, Tennessee and Blytheville, Arkansas. In 1961 she was chosen Kappa Model Pledge. Sidna gained national reputation when her picture and story were carried over wire services during the integration problems last fall. Her firm editorial policy brought credit to her. The editorial which she wrote stated in part, "Violence will not help." . . . "Not only do the students chance forfeiting their education by participating in riots but they are bringing dishonor and shame to the university and to the state of Mississippi."

They're proud at Δ N. . . . New class officers on the U. of Massachusetts campus include Sandra Russell, senior class treasurer, Betty Mercer, junior class secretary and Carol Esonis, junior class treasurer. Betsey Robisheau is Student Senate vice-president and Betty Nurmi holds the same office on Panhellenic Council. Susan O'Neil is head majorette and Dottie Donovan and Jay Stevens are cheerleaders. Patricia Gilgut and Judith Rajecki are keeping right in step with the women's drill team. Linda Fisher has taken on new responsibilities as a member of the Women's Judiciary Board.

Many honors for Δ Z. . . . At Colorado College Karen McIlvaine is a member of Rastall Center Board which coordinates activities of Student Union. Glennie Eisele and Sue Flint Smith are class representatives to AWS; Military Ball Queen Sharon Shackleford and Mary Ann Hubble are editors for the Freshman Handbook; dormitory counselors include Linda Pierce, Suki Arentz, Judith Stampfli, and Karen McIlvaine while Chris Archangeli is a dormitory president. The traditional College Songfest held during Parents' Weekend won a first and a second place for the chapter. New Pep club members are Karen McIlvaine, Crissay Moon, Judith Stampfli and Sharon Shackleford.

Actively speaking . . .

Phi members entertain faculty. . . . Faculty members of Boston University were enthusiastic about the Kappa chapter's first annual faculty-student tea last spring. These members are proud of the first place trophy they won in the Greek World Sing contest and of a tie with Pi Phi in the Powder Puff touch-football game. The busy girls also went Christmas caroling at a nursing home last Christmas and helped collect for the Heart Fund at a performance of the Ice Follies in Boston.

Busy, busy are the girls of Σ. . . . Four of the five board positions in WAA at Nebraska are held

Julie Scheerer, M-Butler, with the University Merit Trophy awarded to the chapter for being the most outstanding organization on campus last year. This award is based on scholarship, chapter and individual activities and honors, plus general service to the campus by KKGs while four Builders Board members and two Union Advisory Board members also come from this chapter. Nancy Seacrest was junior IFC Queen. On Ivy Day and Spring Day there were four Kappas in the Court of May Queen Suzanne Tinan, the first time in the history of Spring Day Sigma had two sophomores from the same house in the court. They also had two daisy chain leaders. Each girl chosen for the chain or court is an outstanding person not only in her own house but also at the University. The chapter also sang their way to a second place in the Ivy Day Sing.

More activity at Illinois. . . . B A members of the cheering squad are Toni Tift, Ann Reynolds and Jean Even. Toni who is WAS representative, House Illiolympics cast member, a James scholar and on the Union committee is a PomPom girl as is Ann. Jean Terrapin is a member of Angel Flight, on the Union committee and took part in the spring musical. Joyce Gustafson is a Star course manager, worked for Model United Nations and was Dad's Day week-end chairman.

Kappa on TV. . . . Kappa crashed onto TV last year on the Ozzie and Harriet Show. The Nelson boys are both Kappa Sigs and the theme of one show was the Kappas boycotting the Kappa Sigs

Nan Taylor, Δ Ψ-Texas Tech, La Ventana Beauty

Bonnie Cassidy, M-Butler, ROTC Air Angel sponsor, cheerleader, WRA, SNEA

because the boys dressed so sloppily. They went about it in the best union tradition with all the other sororities respecting the Kappa picket line. Diane Miller, then president of B N-Ohio State, wrote and asked for the film to show the chapter. Special guests, of course, were the Kappa Sigs, who appeared appropriately attired for the occasion.

A corner on crowns. . . . Pat Moon, ΓΨ-Maryland, was chosen Miss Maryland of 1961, after her "big sister" Elaine Downs, had won the 1960 Miss Silver Spring title and was runner-up for Miss Maryland that year.

round-up of campus news

Sue Fertig, Δ Z-Colorado College, in native costume of the Philippine Islands, her home, doing a native dance of the Islands. Sue appeared in the Talent Show, the AWS Christmas party and other similar parties of the Delta Zeta group.

Vivian VonHagen, Δ T, co-chairman of Southern Cal's Songfest guided the principal spring activity of the campus, which involved 500 singers and an audience of 9200, to a conclusion which saw the Delta Tau members win a first place in their division. Vivian was elected vice-president of the Alumni Council for her class for five years, is a member of Trojan Amazons, (Mortar Board equivalent), Miss Trojanality, II Δ Φ (French honorary), one of 12 Senior women to receive the AWS Scroll of Honor for four years leadership at USC, Panhellenic delegate, and was a member of Troeds her freshman year and of Spurs her sophomore year.

Sandra Lotz, social chairman pins a corsage on Mrs. Rice

A new house director is welcomed. . . . Ann Deutsch, B A-Pennsylvania, addressed a letter to the new house director of B A from the chapter. In this she gave a little run-down on what the new pledges and actives had been doing the past summer as "some indication of our interests and experiences." With other house directors and members of the Dean of Women's staff in attendance, the Chapter welcomed Mrs. George Rice as their new house director.

Sing-along with Delta. . . . Indiana Kappas under the guidance of Constance Scott and Jane Harker condensed a normal two-hour show into a complete seven minute minstrel which won them a second place in Production, the largest division at the all-campus music competition, the I.U. Sing.

book queen, Leslie Bell also became a member of  $\Sigma A I$  and held the female lead in the University production of South Pacific. Another coed in Fine Arts, Mary Patterson, received campus recognition not only for several dramatic works, but as the 1961 Homecoming Queen, new president of the University Players, and this year's membership chairman for Gamma Zeta Chapter.

Leading campus spirit were Mary Conroy and Martha Klaiber on the pom-pom squad, and Gaile Kenyon, cheerleader.

Gaile also served as secretary of AWS Standards Board, while Llew Howard, after having been last year's vice-president of SUAB, has stepped capably into the shoes of AWS campus activities chairman.

Gamma Zeta Kappas in the Student Senate include Barbara Booth, Sue McKenzie, and Carolyn Ewing. And having held student body chairmanships last year were Patsy Ackley and Barbara Inderlied.

Queens reign also at the University of Arizona. In the royal spotlight from Gamma Zeta, were Buttons Harris, Inter-Fraternity Pledge Council Queen and Greek Week Queen attendant; Irene Carrillo, Military Ball Queen candidate and All American Bowl Queen; Jo Ann Branham,  $\Pi K A$  Dream Girl; Sharon Wilson, Rodeo Queen attendant and  $\Phi \Delta \Theta$  Dream Girl; and Nancy Hobbs, an A-Day Princess.

With the southwestern charm of sunshine and friendliness, this is Gamma Zeta Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma today. The young women who wear the golden key continue to work, build, improve.

They had a ball

In fact they had a Mystic Ball in New Orleans last Mardi Gras time to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Mystic Club with Agnes Guthrie Favrot, B O-Newcomb, as the Queen. The celebration, entitled "Gaiete Francaise", depicted pre-World War I on the French Riviera where the annual Flower Festival was presented at the height of the Riviera season. Mrs. Favrot writes: "What distinguishes Mystic from the other Mardi Gras balls is that all the men do not wear masks, but some disguise themselves with whiskers, goatees, mustaches, etc. And their court consists of married women, wives of the members. The debutante daughters of members are only presented to the court. It is considered a great honor to be chosen in this court. I was a maid about 15 years ago and to be chosen Queen was the last thing I ever expected. There have been prettier Queens, and much younger Queens (lately they have been between 45 and 55 years old) but never has there been a happier or more excited one." Among the debutantes presented at the Ball were three B O-Newcomb Kappas, Mathilde Leonard Janvier, Susan Olga Buck Mayer, and Marion Allison Miller.

In the limelight

She books hotels

If you want a hotel instead of a room see Marie Macdonald

At la Monopoly playing days, Marie Sunseri Macdonald, Δ E-Carnegie Tech, books hotels rather than building them. In her new position as manager of the Eastern division of Jim Mills & Associates, Inc., hotel representatives, convention planners and sales counselors, she'll be working out of the New York Office of the firm which also has offices in Miami, Chicago, and Toronto.

"I do solemnly swear"

With the above words, Byron Raymond White, husband of Marion Stearns White, B M-Colorado, earlier this year became among the youngest associate justices ever named to the United States Supreme Court.

The woman of achievement

Helen Conger Held, Δ-Akron, was named Woman of Achievement by the Akron Inter-Club Council of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. Her latest honor was the result of her work as executive director for not one but five health agencies in the Akron area. Also a former president of the State of Ohio Social Health Council, she was honored in 1951 by being named one of the five Outstanding Women of Akron.

Capitol Kappas

At last count—and there are probably more—15 Kappas were employed by the United States Senate in full-time, part-time and summer capacities. Shown are 13 of the 15 (left to right): Winifrede Beall DeWeese, Γ X-George Washington (Republican Policy Committee); Marie Mathew, Γ O-Wyoming (Senator Mansfield of Montana); Marion Webb Stephens, Γ Δ-Middlebury (Senator Aiken of Vermont); Virginia Leech Howard, Γ X-George Washington (Senator Butler of Maryland); Maio Owen Winkler, Γ X-George Washington (Senator Javits of New York); Katherine Covington, Γ X-George Washington active (Senator Jackson of Washington); Carol Woolman, Δ Φ-Bucknell active (Republican Policy Committee); Sara Eddy, Γ A-Kansas State active (Senator Pearson of Kansas); Katherine Swoboda, Σ-Nebraska (Senator McGee of Wyoming); Penny Kuykendall, PΔ-Ohio Wesleyan active (Senator Dirksen of Illinois); Elizabeth Heim, B A-Pennsylvania active (Senator Jackson of Washington); Margaret Vater, Δ Σ-Oklahoma State (Senator Kerr of Oklahoma); Sandra Shoemaker Sonner, Γ X-George Washington (Senator Magnuson of Washington). Not pictured Joella "Lolly" Howell, Δ A-Penn State active (Senator Dirksen of Illinois); and Louise O'Leary Love, B M-Colorado (Senator Hickey of Wyoming).

New England meets England

Carrying a silver tear bell, a goodwill gift from Governor Wesley Powell of New Hampshire, as a gift for the Queen of England, Jean Staples Tufts, of Boston, recently delivered it to the Palace at Holyrood house, in Edinburgh, Scotland. Jean, attending the international meeting of the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society as one of two United States delegates, had the honor of being presented to Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. She writes: "Not only did I have the great honor of being presented to Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh but I was entertained by many wonderful Scottish people. My husband and I try very hard to entertain visitors from overseas whenever possible. I realized how very important this type of entertaining can be to a traveler when I was on the receiving end. I was most fortunate to be entertained in private homes everywhere I went. The Scottish people are extremely hospitable and friendly."

Jean Tufts and her husband Arthur Tufts of the New Hampshire Legislature have for the past ten years taught square dancing classes at resort hotels throughout the state, such as Crawford House, New England Inn, Severance Lodge and Wentworth-by-the-Sea. They teach the guests the basic square dances, then while they are resting, the Tufts perform folk dances for them.

Jean is currently teaching part-time at the University of New Hampshire in the Women's Physical Education department, teaching folk dance to kindergarten and nursery children and also teaching folk dancing on a volunteer basis to the special class of mentally retarded in Exeter, New Hampshire public school. She is also completing work for her master's degree in Education at Boston University and working on her thesis, "The Value of Folk Dance to the Special Class in the Public School." The Tufts also conduct ballroom classes for fifth and sixth grade children in the area.

And as if this wasn't enough to keep this mother of four busy she helps her husband with their Granite State Nurseries and its roadside stand.

Journalistic saga ends

After 27 years as co-editors of the Ladies' Home Journal, Beatrice and Bruce Gould have written "30" to their husband and wife partnership of editing the Journal. The official resignation date was March 31, 1962. Both Goulds are graduates of the University of Iowa where Beatrice Blackmar Gould was a member of B Z Chapter. Currently they are writing a play and a book.

Report to the principal's office

She has two sons at home and 2,000 daughters at school and her name is Dorothy Buckley Crawford, B A-Pennsylvania. Her school is Philadelphia High School for Girls where she began teaching in 1921 and became principal in 1951. Her philosophy of teaching is summed up in a direct quote from the pages of the Philadelphia Bulletin: "I want a certain vitality in the learning experience. I'm not for cloistered halls, at least at this age. I like the students to be civic-minded, to care about their community, their city and their world—the whole world. I like them to worry about what's right and wrong. To consider the needs and aims of others besides themselves. Not to be complacent. To have goals, a sense of service—and to work eagerly." Not a bad creed for adults we would say.

Planner extraordinaire Frances Sutton checks the Club 21 schedule with Mrs. Larence Karrer, wife of the vice-president of the Club board.

Club 21

This Club 21 was in Seattle, not New York, and at the helm of this private club within the grounds of the Seattle World's Fair was Frances Plagemer Sutton, of T-North Dakota. She describes a typical Sutton day at the Fair as follows: "I was standing in the lobby sort of funneling the different groups to their private luncheon rooms. In one was the preview luncheon of Canada week—with their top military personnel, Royal Mounted Police in colorful uniforms—in another room was General Schriever and Dr. Wernher von Braun, the top scientist with a group of men. In another a luncheon for the European Community Exhibitors, still another, a luncheon for visiting dignitaries from Brazil. Then in the front door came General William Potter, who is the executive vice-president of the New York Fair. Where but a World's Fair or United Nations would you find such interesting and varied groups of people?"

Well backgrounded for planning and entertaining of this accelerated tempo, Frances was assistant to the director of women's activities at the Washington Athletic Club before becoming executive assistant to the outstanding restaurateur of the Northwest, Victor Rosellini.

B II-Seattle Kappas working on the grounds of the Fair, reported by Frances, were Marilyn Gandy, the daughter of the Fair's president, Linda Hart, Anis Hawthorne, Marilla Waesche, Faye Bush, Jane Rosellini, Margaret Tanner, Judith Dennison, Katherine Kirby, Kathleen Whiteman, Ann Phillips, Donnie Dingwall, daughter of the Fair's vice-president and general manager, Karen Juel, Virginia Postnikoff, Margaret Bovington, Sue LeCocq and Pamela Smith.

Mme. B. K. Nehru, wife of the Indian Ambassador to the United States takes time out at India week at the Seattle World's Fair to chat with Laurene Tallow Gandy, B M-Colorado, wife of the Seattle Fair president.

A writer's writer

All-Around writer Catherine Wight, who writes anything from newspaper stories to ad copy.

At the helm of the annual conference of the California Writers' Club held in Claremont last May was president, Catherine Ware Wight, of Missouri. Once a year this group of 300 in Northern California flings open the door to any and all interested in writing and this year's invitation list numbered 2000. This group was started in 1909 by Jack London and several of his friends, and to it goes much credit of there being more recognized writers of all kinds in the Bay Area than in New York.

Author-author

Cena Draper writes of the last of the oil boom towns in her new novel.

Cena Christopher Draper, of Missouri, is giving her typewriter little rest these days with the publication of an Irish play, The Bells of Melodoon, which was produced this past fall by the Kansas City Children's Community Theatre. Also scheduled for this winter is the publication of her novel, Mother, the Overseer.

Alumnactivity

First officers of new club

In Sarasota County, Florida alumnæ have formed a new Alumnæ Club last April 30. First officers are: Marjorie Taylor Nufer,  $\Xi$ -Adrian, treasurer; Lucille Jones Gray,  $\Delta$  K-U. of Miami, president; Constance Jamieson Gamble,  $\Gamma$  K-William and Mary, reference chairman; Ruth Leary Hess, B  $\Delta$ -Illinois, vice-president; Mary Bettages Kosky, E-Illinois Wesleyan pictured at the right.

Sarasota News, George Blakely

Happy Kappa members and friends of last summer's European Tour which followed Convention pose in the view of St. Peters in Rome. Front Row: Trudie, a Roman guide, Beth Sutherland,  $\Gamma$  P-Allegheny, Nancy Lipman,  $\Delta$  H-Utah, Mary Schammel, (non-Kappa), Elizabeth Ann Gilbert,  $\Gamma$  K-William and Mary, Dorothy Gosnell (non-Kappa), and Bob Stoddard, Marsh Tours courier. Back Row: Lillian Wilmott Fishback,  $\Delta$  E-Rollins, Miller Donovan (non-Kappa), Frances Graham (non-Kappa), Blanche Fishback Galey,  $\Delta$  E-Rollins, Charlene "Susie" Monson Schammel, B Z-Iowa, Helen Hunt (non-Kappa), Elizabeth Nunlist Black, H-Wisconsin, Carrie Ott Rendle,  $\Gamma$  H-Washington State, Barbara Cheney (non-Kappa), Jane Pollard Gould, B M-Colorado, in charge of the Tour, Mary C. Daehler, H-Wisconsin.

Halekulani Hotel

Sadie Craig Killman, Θ-Missouri, presented 50 year pin to May Edgecomb, in the shadow of Diamond Head.

K K Γ in Hawaii. . . . The Honolulu alumnae entertained visiting Kappa coeds attending summer school at the University of Hawaii and touring the fiftieth state at their annual Aloha coffee hour last July. Gathered at the Halekulani Hotel were actives Bonnie Gordon and Sue vonGrossmann, Δ-Indiana; Janet Ellis, Patricia Conn and Priscilla Minn, I-DePauw; Janet Thompson and Karen Pederson, Γ M-Oregon State; Virginia Cope, B K-Idaho; Judith Brouwer Braverman, B Δ-Michigan; Karen Smith, Γ X-George Washington; and Eva Lee, BP<sup>A</sup>-Cincinnati. Of special interest to the alumnae and visiting actives was the presentation ceremony of the 50 year fleur-de-lis pin to May Southerland Edgecomb, X-Minnesota.

Has many children

She has so many children. . . . And she knew what to do was the story of Mrs. Laura Jennings, retiring house director of Γ N-Arkansas. Actives, alumnae and Fraternity officers chose Mother's Day to pay tribute to 15 years of service. The alumnae in Fayetteville and Springdale entertained with a dinner for Mrs. Jennings at the Fayetteville Country Club before a surprise evening party at the chapter house where the actives, the Dean of Women, Miss Jacqueline Sterner, and her assistant, Miss Grace Vineyard, and other fraternity and sorority house directors joined to honor her. A "This Is Your Life" skit preceded the presentation of gifts from active, alumnae and the Fraternity.

It was surprise party time when Mrs. Jennings returned from dinner to be greeted by actives Ann Everette, social chairman, Suellen Wood, chapter president, and other guests.

Hi Ho Silver

To mark the 25th anniversary of the Crossroads Rehabilitation center in Indianapolis, the Kappas of Indianapolis sponsored a silver anniversary tea for the Center where they do volunteer work. Capturing the attention of all was a special collection of antique silver assembled for the day with the assist of private dealers and local collectors.

Vital Visalians

With only 16 members the Visalia Area, California Alumnæ Club has boasted three 50 year members—one of whom is pressing the 75 year mark. Seventy-three years of Kappa membership is the record of Ettamae Erb Kauffman, O-Simpson, who is a charter member of the Visalia group. Ethel Wallace Bryant, B H-Stanford, was a vice-principal of Visalia Union High School and first dean of women of the College of the Sequoias before her retirement in 1951. She also was a charter member of the group. Since her retirement she has circled the globe and spent a year in England so presentation of her pin was held up for several years until she was home long enough to receive it. Unfortunately the third of the triumvirate Lillian Farnsworth Burke, B H-Stanford, who received her pin September, 1961, passed away in the Spring.

Greek Letter Conference honors Dr. Wells

Last March college fraternity and sorority leaders attended a Greek Letter Conference on the Indiana University campus which paid tribute to Dr. Herman B Wells, Indiana's retiring president for his 25 years of contributions to the fraternity-sorority movement. Seminars and workshops on the general subject of the future of the fraternity system were conducted by leaders versed in their fields. Fraternity President, Mary Turner Whitney, was one of the participants in the workshop series on "The College Fraternity-Blueprint for the Future."

Mrs. Kauffman

Mrs. Burke with her daughter Ann Burke Reimers, II<sup>a</sup>-California.

Sixty-fifty

A 60 year Kappa, Ida Ainsworth Hegler, Ω-Kansas, and 50 year members Margaret Swartz Holl, B M-Colorado, and Katharine Morley Shelton, B M-Colorado, were honored at the Wichita, Kansas Founders' Day in October. The great-granddaughter of Ida just pledged at Γ Z-Arizona, Ann Ainsworth, represents the 18th Ainsworth member in the Kappa fold over three generations.

Loop the loop

Chicago Loop Kappas are now having monthly meetings and will be interested in hearing from any Kappas interested in this group (without a project other than getting together). Call either Betty Rikkers, H-Wisconsin, CE 63175 or Ellen Fowler, Γ Θ-Drake, HO 5-4400.

Long Island on the North Shore

of freedom of action and unlimited opportunity. It was settled by the more ambitious and energetic of all nations, for only the ones with the drive and urge for advancement had the courage to take the big step away from mediocrity and slavish security to the new world with its hazards.

Yet no real opportunity is ever entirely free of hazard, for opportunity's knock is answered only by those with the courage and self-assurance to risk the unknown. All that opportunity ever offers is the chance to show what one can do to earn rewards—never an easy, sure road to mediocre security.

Perhaps this is the beginning of the decadence of which this nation has been accused by its envious rivals. Certainly, the spread of the worship of mediocrity and evading of responsibility and opportunity can lead to decadence.

Let us recognize this danger and take steps to combat it. Let our teachers strive to inspire the youth of our nation to excel for the sake of excelling. Let them reinstate the spirit of competition. We must eliminate the too broad interpretation of "all men are created equal" as it is presently defined to restrict everyone to a pattern. Certainly all men are equal in the sight of God and man as far as their inalienable rights are concerned. But some are stronger than others, some taller, some more intelligent, some more energetic, some more imaginative, some more honest. In fairness to such, and to allow them the equality to which all men are entitled, they must be inspired, permitted, and urged to give their talents full play.

Mediocrity is contrary to nature's laws and, far from ever being a goal to attain, must be considered a dire fate to be avoided at all costs.
