Happiness is . . . sharing responsibility

So often we hear that every Kappa "shares" the responsibility of membership selection, but how often do we stop to think what this really means to each of us. It is the privilege of the alumnae to send information on prospective rushees to the active chapters; it is the right of the actives to make the final choice of members. If our membership selection process is to continue to work as successfully as it has during the past 40 years since the actives requested that the alumnae help by providing information on rushees, every Kappa must assume her share of this responsibility! What does this mean to each alumna . . . to each active?

Alumnae, we are depending on you to assist by providing our chapters with helpful, objective information on girls you know who are attending (or will be attending) colleges where Kappa has a chapter. Send this information early. Don't wait for the chapter to have to spend time, money, and unnecessary energy searching for information and/or for a Kappa who can help them. Today with our mobile society and with girls attending college all over the land, it is especially vital that our alumnae assume their full share of responsibility by assisting our chapter with information. Step forward and volunteer!

Actives, we are depending on you to wisely and carefully choose for members those young women who are in sympathy with our purposes and who have "demonstrated qualities of personal and group responsibility, congeniality, and academic interest." The future of Kappa Kappa Gamma is in your hands to hold in trust for those to come. We know you will keep the Fraternity strong, thus providing this heritage to future generations.

All members of Kappa Kappa Gamma must share the responsibility of interesting capable young women in fraternity living. We need to seek out prospective Fraternity members and encourage them to participate in this worthwhile experience. Students on the large impersonal campuses of today need small friendship groups—fraternity membership fulfills this need!

Happiness is sharing responsibility . . . are YOU doing YOUR SHARE?

Four new provinces added to Kappa structure

For an organization to improve, it must make changes and old structures sometimes give way to the new. Such is the case with Kappa Kappa Gamma Fraternity when the Council recently completed revisions in the structure of provinces which had formerly numbered 12 throughout the United States and Canada.

For some time, the Council had been aware of the necessity to revise the province structure of the Fraternity and considerable thought had been given to this revision for the past several years. After the Council session last summer, it was decided this task should be accomplished within the year, and at the recent Council meeting in January, the final province revision was reviewed and adopted by Council.

Now Kappa Kappa Gamma is divided into 16 provinces with the names of the new provinces being Nu, Xi, Omicron and Pi. The primary intent of the addition of these four new provinces was to lighten the work load in the larger provinces and to equalize the distribution of chapters and alumnae groups within the provinces. In some instances this meant crossing old province lines or removing one or more states from within the geographical boundaries of the former provinces as the new areas were formed.

In deciding on the location of the four new provinces, many factors were seriously considered. The equal number of chapters and alumnae groups within each province, geographical distribution, regional similarities, growth trends for chapters and alumnae groups, and campus situations were only a few. The planning for new provinces had to meet not only immediate needs, but also provide for eventual growth. The Council appreciates the suggestions and help provided by many Kappas everywhere.

The map on the opposite page indicates the new province divisions which became effective immediately after province meetings this spring. (A report of these meetings will be given in the Fall issue of THE KEY.) The map is not totally complete as it does not show the location of alumnae groups in Hawaii, foreign countries, or give a complete map of Canada. Turn to the back of this issue for a complete directory of chapters and alumnae groups as they are now placed in the new province revision.

Officers for the newly created provinces were appointed by the Council and further introduction of them starts on page 4. They are: Nu Province, Barbara Tranter Curley, Δ Γ-Michigan State, PDC, and Elizabeth Foster West, Δ B-Duke, PDA (Betsy has served the past two years as Mu PDA.); Xi Province, Jo Clough Barton, B Θ-Oklahoma, PDC, and Jane Abney Price, Δ Π-Tulsa, PDA; Omicron Province, Pamela Strong Whitmore, Γ Θ-Drake, PDC, and Alene Turner Wall, H-Wisconsin, PDA; Pi Province, Margaret (Peg) Frank Shambarger, B Ω-Oregon, PDC, and Joann (Joey) Hatch Moeser, Γ H-Washington State, PDA.

It is hoped that this new structure will provide province officers with more time to work creatively with their chapters and alumnae groups and to offer more personal assistance to them. It is further hoped that the division will allow for closer inter-chapter communication and exchange of ideas.

Complete Directory in this issue

Because of the changes in province structure, a complete Fraternity Directory is carried in this issue of THE KEY. Starting on page 55, the Directory lists the chapters and alumnae groups as they are now placed in the new province revision.

Nominating Committee Chairman

Susan W. Rockwood, Ph.D., B P^A-Cincinnati, is a Kappa who keeps accepting Fraternity chairmanships. She is being introduced in THE KEY again because she has accepted the chairmanship of the nominating committee which will report its recommendations for Council officers at the 1972 Convention.

Sue was introduced in the Winter 1970 issue of THE KEY as the new Fraternity Research assistant chairman and has worked to compile informative issues of the new Kappa news bulletin, KUP (Koncerned University People). She served as chairman of the Reference Study Committee which concluded and reported their intensive study at the 1970 Convention. She was chairman of the Fraternity's undergraduate scholarships from 1965-1970, and has been chapter council adviser to Delta Lambda Chapter at Miami U. since 1963.

Meet the Centennial Scholars

The stories of two more Kappa Centennial Scholars in this issue of THE KEY presents the wide range of studies and contributions these Scholars will make in the future. In Kappa's centennial year, 94 scholarships have been awarded for study in the field of rehabilitation to women of all ages. Also, 23 Scholars belonged to Kappa Kappa Gamma, including the two introduced in this issue.

Martha Switzer Scharpf, B Ω-Oregon, is one of eight Scholars over 35 who returned for an advanced degree. She is the only Scholar specializing in the rapidly growing field of gerontology, working on her master's at Oregon.

Helen Hays Lodwick, B Z-Iowa, is another of the above-35 Scholars and she is doing graduate work at Southern Methodist University in the area of speech therapy.

Here are their stories.

By Martha Switzer Scharpf, B Ω-Oregon, Centennial Scholar at the University of Oregon

Almost every day I find myself explaining to someone why I am in the field of gerontology, and each time I find myself doing it with even greater enthusiasm. I became interested in the problems of the aging through a friend who, as a mature woman, had recently been graduated from the University of Oregon and had become a director of counseling services in a nursing home. With her encouragement, I put my apprehensions aside and applied for graduate school after 25 years of being a housewife and mother.

Only the year before, the University of Oregon had been granted funds to establish a Center for Gerontology under the direction of Dr. Frances Scott. Her belief in a strong multi-discipline program led her to involve other professors who were outstanding in their fields to teach courses in the economic, biological, psychological, and political aspects of aging. In the three years the Center has existed, the demand for gerontological courses has mushroomed. From my first exposure in Perspectives in Aging a year ago to this term's study of Confrontations of Death, I have become more and more concerned not only for the present aging, but for those of us who are facing retirement and life after 65.

Without doubt the pressing national needs are for a guaranteed minimum income for all ages and a more comprehensive and effective health-care program. On a local level some of the needs are for low-cost housing, standardization of institutional care and providing services for the elderly. For many aging people the later years are very lonely, and we must find ways to offer them more opportunities for community involvement. I have become aware of two significant things: that each person's problems are unique since each has a different background of experience, environment and expectations; and, secondly, we can no longer think in terms of chronological age, for we can be old at 40 and young at 90. Age is largely a matter of attitude, not years.

The work at the university has been stimulating, but it became even more meaningful when I could observe firsthand in the field. All last year I spent one day a week in a nursing home, and seldom found enough time in that day to do all I had hoped. Visits with residents were lengthy and full of reminiscences. Observation of the staff was illuminating, and doing case studies for the counselor provided me with an awareness of one aspect of aging-institutional living.

Last spring and summer I was employed to interview about 40 people over 65 for a study conducted by Dr. Robert Mertz in the School of Communications. Armed with a lengthy questionnaire, I went all over the city and the county interviewing a random group of people from all economic levels and backgrounds and learning how they viewed their life and what things were of real concern to them. It was a priceless experience and worth many hours of course study.

My practicum this term is in a retirement home where I am observing the functioning of all phases of operation. It is the hope of the administrator that this experience will provide the Center with material to develop a training program. Few people in institutional management today have either training or understanding of problems unique to the older resident. With another student, I am also engaged in planning and setting up a pre-retirement program which we will present to a group of university employees next spring term. The opportunities and challenges of this area seem virtually limitless.

Having overcome the anxieties of getting into school, I shall soon be faced with the anxiety of leaving the comfortable, safe world of learning for a new adventure, the working world. To all women over 40 seeking new meaning in life and desiring to serve, let me say, "Come on in, the water's fine!" My sincere thanks for your investment and confidence. May Kappa's concern in the development of women continue to be strong and may the nation feel the worth of such efforts.

Helen Lodwick, Centennial Scholar, working with a child at the Callier Hearing and Speech Center.

By Helen Hays Lodwick, B Z-Iowa, Centennial Scholar at Southern Methodist University

Success in becoming a speech pathologist requires certain basic personal and professional qualifications. There seem to be two fundamentals: interest in people and the ability to employ scientific attitudes in helping them. Emotional stability, personal warmth, a sense of perspective and academic ability are added essentials.

Undergraduate and graduate courses cover a wide range of disciplines. The undergraduate program includes such courses as anatomy, psychology, sociology, anthropology, linguistics and the processes of normal speech and hearing. Graduate students study the following areas in depth: measurement and evaluation of communicative abilities, clinical treatment procedures and research methodology.

Along with regular course work, clinical internship includes observation and therapy in various settings, and encompasses a broad scope of communication problems.

In the past I have trained in the public schools and in the State University of Iowa Speech Clinic. During my graduate study at Southern Methodist University, I have worked as an intern at the Veteran's Hospital, Presbyterian Hospital, and the SMU Speech and Hearing Clinic. Therapy has centered on such problems as articulation, cleft palate, stuttering, aphasia, esophageal speech and the dysarthrias.

I have assisted at the Deaf-Blind Project, a

Kappa parents react to drug letter

With the growing problem of drug usage on some of the college campuses today, the Fraternity took a stand on the issue at the biennial convention last summer and passed the following resolution: "As citizens we are subject to local, state and federal laws. Members who violate such laws are subject to dismissal."

Last September, Fraternity President Louise Barbeck sent a letter to the parents of all Kappas in the 93 chapters to further explain the Fraternity's position on the subject of drugs. She noted that the convention resolution was worded to protect members and does not indicate automatic dismissal, but is a warning that a member could be subject to dismissal if a member acts in violation of these laws.

She further explained that the Council of Kappa Kappa Gamma is concerned about drug usage and it is not their wish to be unduly protective nor restrictive with the fine student who joins Kappa Kappa Gamma. However, they feel a deep obligation to the undergraduate and to her parents.

Since the letter was sent, President Barbeck has received numerous letters of support from Kappa parents. Following are excerpts from these letters.

"As a physician I am keenly aware of the terrorizing rise in drug use among our young people and am heartily in accord with the action taken by the Fraternity. I do not wish to see a sick person punished for his illness, but the addict's illness is entirely of his own making and acquired through a deliberate and conscious flaunting of those ideals which an orderly society must uphold."

"My husband and I are strongly in favor of your course of action. I am an alumna of another sorority and we live in a university town, so we are well aware of the problems on campus today. Strong, effective policies that will uphold the high moral and behavioral standards of our college girls are needed. We are glad to know that Kappa Kappa Gamma has the welfare of its girls in mind."

"We, too, do not want to be 'unduly protective nor restrictive,' yet rules for life there must be. To refuse to accept this fact of social existence is to abdicate not only parental responsibility but that of our wider relationships with the community, nation and the world."

pilot program coordinated by the Callier Hearing and Speech Center. These children have multiple handicaps and the objective is language development through any sensory avenues available. Since each communication disorder carries its own interest, challenge, and techniques of management, the work is both stimulating and rewarding.

Complete preparation for the speech clinician requires a post-graduate degree. My master's program has consisted of 39 credit hours of course work and approximately 215 hours of clinical practicum.

Acquiring the necessary skills and experience has been a prized opportunity. The generosity of Kappa Kappa Gamma in offering this valuable training to so many students is truly remarkable. My pride at having been selected continues. Even greater is my pride in Kappa!

"Permissiveness in the academic environment has been accorded an ample trial with disastrous results. It is now high time to adopt high standards and enforce them. You can count upon my support."

"As a member of an interim legislative committee on alcohol and drug abuse and as a professional working in the field, I am most interested in your letter. What disturbs me the most is that young people in college seem to accept drug use whether they participate or not, as an everyday fact of contemporary life. To my mind there are just two answers for the Fraternity, education and communication. A resource person from the community should be brought into a group setting led by the young women themselves and a frank discussion of the problem existing aired."

"Certainly if Kappa Kappa Kappa is to continue to stand for the high moral and ethical standards which it has always espoused, a stand of this kind had to be taken."

"There are a number of papers appearing in the current medical literature which adequately documents the adverse affects of marijuana usage. I think you should be assured you are not being unduly protective nor restrictive. Any additional support which we can furnish will be extended to you."

"I am glad to learn that alumnæ advisers have been asked to investigate the school resources for professional assistance. Perhaps there should be qualified workers available to the students for consultation—many high schools have youth workers and the programs seem to be successful."

"As a parent, I was very pleased to read your bulletin discussing the abuses of the drug law and I admire the stand that Kappa is taking against the usage of drugs. Not only is it a violation of our laws, but also I feel that the human loss it causes has not at this point been fully realized."

"We are most appreciative of your having taken the time to write to us about this matter of great urgency and importance to every parent."

"Your letter in regard to the problems facing your chapters on drug usage is very commendable and appreciated by parents, particularly in times as trying as they are today."

"It is indeed refreshing to see you show concern with the problem and attempt to take steps to cope with it rather than just take the easy route of acceptance."

"While there are apparently many ways this subject can be viewed these days, we still feel that the Fraternity has an important role to play in helping mold the lives of its members and our children. We have two daughters and feel they have received a great deal from Kappa. We feel their contribution in turn has been of value to the organization."

"We want you to know that we support your letter and appreciate your deep feelings of obligation to the undergraduate and their parents."

"As a teacher working with young people, I believe that many of them are reaching out for just such a definition of boundaries as you draw."

"We truly feel the Kappas will only continue to be a great organization by standing firm on this policy and not watering down their position."

"Since we live so far away (Brussels, Belgium), we have taken comfort in the high standards of our daughter's 'home away from home.' We are interested parents and deeply appreciate your efforts to keep the standards high."

Rehabilitation needs studied in San Diego

San Diego and La Jolla (California) Kappa alumnae are playing an active role in their city's rehabilitative needs. In 1969, Governor Ronald Reagan ordered a vocational rehabilitation study to be made and San Diego was chosen as one of the California cities to participate in this study. From this study emerged the San Diego Commission on Rehabilitative Services, which became a part of the Community Welfare Council.

Kappa Kappa Gamma was fortunate enough to be one of two non-professional groups asked to become members of the Commission. A. Mitchell Hiatt Pflugh, B M-Colorado, and Judy Reamer Cox, Ψ-Cornell, are the San Diego representatives to the Commission. The La Jolla alumnae are represented on the Commission by Mary Dick Mitchell, B Ω-Oregon.

The purpose of the Commission is to make the public aware of San Diego's rehabilitative needs and to promote action in areas which drastically need improvement. The first program to be begun was the Senior Aide Program. This program was underwritten by the federal government for the purpose of placing 60 senior citizens in non-profit agencies on a part-time basis. Kappa volunteers interviewed applicants for the program, checked with both the Senior Aide recipients and the host agencies as to the usefulness of the program, and are presently helping with the evaluation of the project for the renewal of the federal grant.

In addition to the work in the Senior Aide Program, Kappa volunteers have manned the physical medicine booth at the Health Fair and acted as hostesses and registrars for the joint seminar held by the San Diego Chapter of the National Rehabilitation Association and the Community Welfare Council of San Diego. Kappas registered nearly 2,000 people from all over the nation during the four-day meeting.

Under the able leadership of the president, Betty Schellschmidt Hill, M-Butler, and the philanthropy chairman, Judy Norland Jordan, B Λ-Illinois, San Diego Kappa Kappa Gamma alumnae have contributed volunteer hours to the Fraternity's philanthropy as well as to San Diego's rehabilitative needs.

How to Put Your Husband Through College
by Barbara Ream Debrodt, Harper & Row, 1970, 200 pages, $5.95, non-fiction.

As Barbara Debrodt is quick to point out, this is not totally a personal accounting of the challenges of putting a husband through college. The idea of writing this book occurred to her when her husband was a graduate student from 1956 to 1960. Also, she says, "To be helpful, a book like this should reflect not one point of view, not one set of experiences, but many."

At the beginning of each chapter, Mrs. Debrodt gives the opinions of wives actively engaged in helping their husbands along. These opinions are both negative and positive. Perhaps that can be said to be the tone of this book. While it does, of course, underline the positive it does not gloss over conditions which make the goal seem at times to be almost too distant.

While the husband's degree may seem far off, Barbara goes into all aspects of daily survival such as: the desire to continue education by one must be shared by two; the criteria to be applied in the choosing of a college academically, financially and environmentally; the give and the take involved in a situation which is a detached adventure from the usual marriage framework; the basics of a roof over one's head and food on the table; the personal needs of husband and wife; and the existence of or impending arrival of offspring.

Barbara Ream Debrodt was a member of Beta Delta at Michigan. She received her M.A. degree at Boston University's School of Public Relations and Communications and has been active in the field of public relations ever since. Barbara has worked for Modern Bride magazine in Chicago, for the Pittsburgh Red Cross, for public relations consultants in Detroit and for the National Educational Television Network. She and her husband, Robert, and their two children live in Ann Arbor, Michigan where she is free-lance advertising and public relations consultant.

Atlanta: A Guide for Teens and Tots by Wicke Oliver Chambers and Spring Asher, Atlanta: The Wisp, 1970, 86 pages, $1.50.

With a paperbound book such as this, the young of Atlanta need never be at a loss for something to do, and what a boon it must be to mothers too. It covers in detail the historical, educational, gastronomical, amusing, shopping and seasonal happenings throughout the city. Visitors to Atlanta will reap the benefits of it also.

American Crewelwork by Susan Burrows Swan and Mary Taylor Landon, Macmillan, 1970, 192 pages, $9.95, non-fiction.

If you like doing needlework and if you have a yen to be creative in your basic designs, you will find American Crewelwork a fine example of a lasting art form. Original crewelwork holds the interest and the imagination while it is being executed and in its completed state it is a beautiful link in the chain of our cultural American heritage. The authors see it as painting a masterpiece, using a needle instead of a brush.

In writing the text for this book, Susan Swan gives the historical background of American crewel and shows its development from the English. The influence that the Chinese and others have had upon it is explained also. Susan tells not only of the work itself, but also of: the materials that were used; the colors that were predominant (colonial women showed a definite preference for indigo blue when working their monochromatic color schemes); the sewing tools and the preciousness of needles and pins (pin money really meant something in those days); the frames and hoops that held the work; and the uses the crewel could be used for in dress and furnishings.

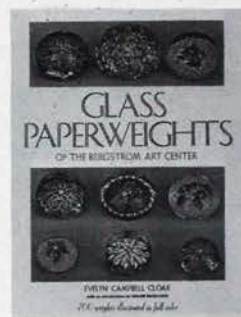

There are many illustrations of original pieces, many of them which are in the Henry Francis DuPont Winterthur Museum in Wilmington, Delaware. Winterthur is renowned for its collection devoted entirely to American culture. Susan, who was a member of Beta Nu at Ohio State, lives with her husband and sons in Wilmington. She is on the guiding staff of Winterthur and is assistant registrar. Many of the crewel illustrations are of her own designs which she has adapted, mostly from eighteenth century pieces, but some are representative of the early nineteenth century.

Co-author Mary Landon has concentrated on motifs and stitches and the explicit how-to-do-it procedures. There are pictures of articles worked by Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Swan and other local artists.

The authors believe that women who are interested in crewelwork should be encouraged to be their own innovators without relying on kits. They have included a list of suppliers of yarns, background materials and designs.

Susan Swan and Mary Landon are also the authors of American Crewelwork: Stitches of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries (1962).

Glass Paperweights of the Bergstrom Art Center by Evelyn Campbell Cloak, Crown Publishers, 1970, 196 pages, $19.95, 700 color illustrations.

This new book, which promises to become a standard reference source for glass paperweights will delight professional and amateur collectors. For years, an authoritative work published in the United States on French, British and American weights has been Old Glass Paperweights by Evangeline

H. Bergstrom. Mrs. Cloak's book is an updating of this collection of glass paperweights and related items (mantel ornaments, wig stands, hand coolers, door knobs, button vases, wine glasses, ink pots and bottles) represented in the John Nelson Bergstrom Art Center and Museum in Neenah, Wisconsin. This volume consists of the acquisitions brought together by Evangeline Bergstrom and approximately 100 additional items, mostly gifts, acquired since.

In this definitive work, Evelyn Campbell Cloak has enlarged the records of Mrs. Bergstrom and has included many fine modern paperweights including those made in the 1960's.

An example of a later addition is: "#702. Steuben, Corning, N.Y. 1963. Colorless crystal, designated as 'Star Crystal' is cut in brilliant star-reflecting facets. 3 1/2" (8.9 cm.) height. Acquired 1963." This illustration is breathtaking and representative of the 700 fine color reproductions in the book.

The price of the acquisitions has ranged from below $50 to $2200.

For the interested, but uninitiated, there is a glossary of terms included. The introduction is by Helen McKearin, well known authority and writer on American glass. She says: "Mrs. Cloak disclaims being a scholar and researcher, but she has employed the attitude and approach of each and given us an important book."

Evelyn wrote to this reviewer, "My maiden name was Evelyn Kimmel and I was initiated in Beta Pi Chapter at the University of Washington. I was married to Rowland Campbell in 1930 who died in 1943. I was a widow for 21 years and brought up my three daughters, one of whom is a Kappa. In 1965 I married Professor F. Theodore Cloak, chairman of the drama and theater department at Lawrence University in Appleton, Wisconsin. I have been on the staff of the Bergstrom Art Center and Museum since 1959. My position is assistant director and curator of paperweights. I belong to the Fox River Valley Alumnae Club and manage through it to keep up with Kappa doings."

Star Stories by Bernice Williams Foley, McCall Publishing Company, 1970, $4.95, children's fiction.

"At night the sky glows with millions of stars; large stars, small stars; bright ones, dim ones. Some are alone; others form such shapes as dippers, a harp, an eagle, a throne, and a ship, in the darkness of the night.

"People in ancient times believed these shining stars formed real persons and animals, who belonged to a starry kingdom of their own. They believed that all night these star people and animals stayed quietly in their place, so that the Earth People could find them. But in the daytime, when we couldn't see them, they were free to move and live their own lives."

This is the lead-in to six very delightful children's tales that will send the tiny tots out on a starry night to hunt for Little Bear, Flying Horse, Dragon, White Bull, Hunter and his Dog and the Twins. The excellent illustrations done by Abe Gurnin will help them in their sightings.

Bernice Foley's main character who zooms thru all the stories is the Little Bear, Ursa Minor, who carries the North Star on his tail. But sometimes Little Bear is so busy hopping the heavens during the day he very nearly misses getting his tail in place by the time the sun is setting.

Mrs. Foley must be a rather kindred friend of Little Bear since, while he is a space traveler, she is certainly a world traveler. She lived in the Orient for three years and has journeyed extensively in Europe and Latin America. While state-side she has been a television commentator, a food page columnist, a lecturer and a teacher of creative writing as well as a book reviewer for the Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch.

Bernice was a member of Beta Rho Deuteron, Cincinnati. She also studied at Columbia University and the Nanking Language College in Nanking, China. Her present home is Columbus, Ohio where she is Director of the Martha Kinney Cooper Ohioinna Library.

A Shield of Clover by Peggy Simson Curry, McKay, 1970, 120 pages, $3.95, young people's fiction.

In this story for young readers, Chris McCormick is 17 years old and packing a suitcase to leave forever his aunt and uncle's house. Living with them has become unbearable since the recent death of his mother. As he is leaving, Chris is confronted by his Uncle Bob who lunges at him with a poker to bar the way.

Chris heaves a brick and hits his uncle on the head and knocks him down. Then the frightened boy rushes to the highway and hitches a ride that takes him, by chance, to Wyoming.

All through the summer Chris works at a job on a ranch raking hay. He enjoys a kinship with the drifters who make their way back to the ranch each summer. But beneath the Wyoming sky and despite the blowing grass which becomes his "shield of clover," there is the fear that he may have killed his uncle. When the season is finished, Chris knows that before anything else is started, he must go back to Illinois and face the consequences of whatever is waiting there.

A well-told tale, this is Peggy Curry's fourth novel. Although it is written for young readers, it also holds the interest of adults. Peggy has written short stories which have appeared in Good Housekeeping and other national magazines.

Peggy has spent most of her life in Wyoming and was a member of Gamma Omicron at Wyoming. For the past 17 years she has taught creative writing at Casper College. She has conducted extension courses in Literature of the American West and creative writing for the University of Wyoming. She lives in Casper where her husband, William S. Curry, is chairman of the Department of English at Casper College. Peggy received Kappa's Alumnae Achievement Award in 1964.

Of A Shield of Clover, Peggy says: "In a time when many people are troubled, I wanted to point out a feeling for the land, a closeness to the earth as a sustaining factor in strengthening character."

Heat Lightning by Hildegard Dolson, Lippincott, 1969, 246 pages, $4.95, fiction.

For all of us who have ever been involved in planning any event, great or small, reading Heat Lightning will be a delightfully shared experience. The Connecticut town of Bevington has decided to jump the gun a bit on the mid-seventy bicentennial celebrations recalling the first Fourth of July.

The festival grows to a large production with a huge tent, booths and amusements of almost midway proportions. The celebration is underwritten by Chester Humboldt, millionaire industrialist and recent settler who hopes to use the "Liberty Pole Festival" as a jumping stick to the United States Senate. Another character, Cassie Murdoch, girl reporter, loves Oliver Yates, producer of the musical revue which will climax the glorious celebration. Oliver falls under the spell of Alicia, an aging but still seductively beautiful actress.

While romances crest and fall, the town ladies are setting up booths for selling Paul Revere reproductions, Bevington Bosom Bottles and Homely Herbal Remedy booklets and the youths are in the cemetery smoking pot. The town animal obedience teacher adds an ecumenical touch with the Interfaith Blessing of the Animals which takes place on the Plaza at three.

This is great comic writing with characters whose counterparts we all know, involved in a plot which ends while we are still applauding and hoping for an encore.

Hildegard Dolson's wonderful sense of humor is evident in her personal life as well. She writes song lyrics for her own amusement, and she admits "a secret Dream of Glory—in which Frank Sinatra would phone me to say, 'Are there any songs of yours you'd like me to sing, baby?'"

Hildegard's Kappa chapter was Gamma Rho at Allegheny. She is married to author Richard Lockridge and they live in South Salem, New York.

Hark Back With Love by Frances Richardson, Dorrance, 1970, 205 pages, $4.95, non-fiction.

Five little orphans and how they grew might be a good subtitle for this touching recollection of childhood in the 1890's by Frances Richardson.

Frances' father was a gifted young surgeon when he died of typhoid in 1887 when Frances was but an infant. Her mother died shortly afterwards of consumption. The children were absorbed into the household of four Quaker aunts at their home, Chestnut Glen, outside of Philadelphia. "The Aunts were not young when we came to them. Their ages ranged from 53 to 66; but they were active in mind and body, interested in everything, alert to learn new things, yet full of the wisdom of the past."

Although the homestead was roomy and the surrounding land ample, there were very few of those conveniences we consider necessities today—such as indoor plumbing and electricity. But the household managed nicely without them according to Frances' mouth watering reports of the jelly-making, cake-baking and pudding-stirring that went on. And in spite of all the housekeeping activities that involved grown-ups and children alike, there was time for reading the classics and playing games.

Still it was a very adult world with none of their own friends made welcome. Frances was often alone, but never lonely, sustained by a deep love of nature and her books. She made friends with the animals. Even after a passage of 63 years, when she returned to visit Chestnut Glen in 1960, she and a land turtle renewed an acquaintance, proving it by her brother's initials which were on the shell and the date 1897. Books and learning meant enough to her to spend six hours a day traveling, in her early high school years, to attend Friends Central School at 15th and Race Streets in Philadelphia.

It was at Swarthmore that Frances became a Kappa in Beta Iota Chapter. For many years she taught at Byberry Friends School, the school of her childhood. She has been very active in the cultural world and is a member of many historical and art associations. Miss Richardson is a direct descendant of Francis Richardson, famed silversmith of colonial Philadelphia.

Poems by Clara Weaver Robinson (1854-1905) Sonnets and Other Verses by Ethel Robinson Murphy (1883-1957), Edited by Ernest Lefert Robinson, Private Printing, 1970, 231 pages.

At St. Lawrence University, before there was a Kappa chapter, there was the Browning Society. Clara Weaver was a leader among the Browning girls who founded Beta Beta Deuteron Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma at St. Lawrence. She was awarded an M.A. at St. Lawrence in 1789 when such degrees for women were a rarity. In addition to her poetry, Clara was a devoted Greek scholar. She combined both these talents in her English translation from the Greek of The Antigone of Sophocles. This translation was privately published in 1959. Forty of her poems are included in the present book as is a short memoir by her daughter, Marjory, recalling her mother's joyousness in living.

Ethel Robinson Murphy, the daughter of Clara, shared much in common with her mother. Her undergraduate days were also spent at St. Lawrence where she was a member of Beta Beta Deuteron. She, too, was a Greek scholar with a love for poetry and a deep devotion to her family. Over a period of 56 years from 1902 to 1958 more than 40 of her poems were published in books and magazines.

Her brother, Ernest, recalls: "Ethel was as meticulous about her rhymes and rhythm as her mother. They had to reflect inspiration."

Just as her Kappa sisters of the first half of the twentieth century would have valued the following poem written in 1939, it speaks as certainly for her sisters of the present:

A Choice

Could I have been alive in any age,
Eras ago, or as the years increase
If I could live, the golden age of Greece
Would not have been my choice, although the page
of Sophocles is loved, nor would the stage
Of Shakespeare have been chosen; but if peace
On earth should ever come, if war should cease
To crush the world with greed and error's wage
Of darkness into which our sons are drawn—
I should desire that time of conquered fears,
When peace would silence war's relentless threat
And bright with radiance like the coming dawn
Banish the shadow that a score of years
Has failed to make our shadowed hearts forget.

The Quiet Heart by Frances Forbes Towne,
Private Printing

The Quiet Heart is an Anthology of Verse which includes 51 poems by Frances Forbes Towne, Δ A-Penn State. While at Penn State, she served as women's editor of the Penn State Collegian until her graduation in 1927. She received her master's degree from Cornell in drama and public speaking, and has had an active life teaching and writing. Mrs. Towne and her husband, Edmund, live in Kingsport, Tennessee.

The following poem is from The Quiet Heart:

Love that leaves man

two-edged Truth,
and Memory,

Happiness is . . .

rushing today - - for tomorrow

The selection of members is one of the most important aspects of any organization. Kappa Kappa Gamma is constantly working to develop the most effective methods of rushing and adding new members to the organization. Often, an exchange of ideas among the various chapters can improve the system. Director of Membership Kay Larson has received informative answers to a questionnaire she sent to 24 membership chairmen and 12 advisers from among Kappa's 93 chapters. Here are the questions she asked and the responses.

1. How has rush on your campus changed since you've been in school?

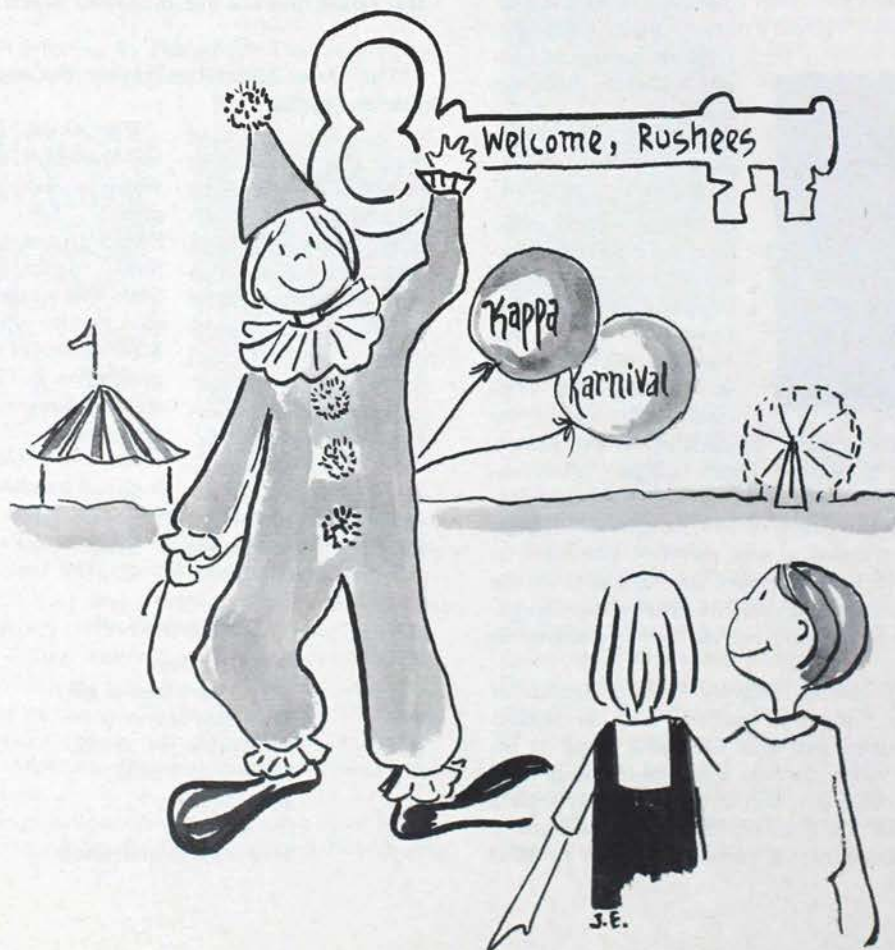

In the three years I have seen rush, it has changed from a highly organized set of parties with the rushees meeting a third of the actives to a small, unstructured gathering where rushees meet every active and vice versa. Christina Moore, B A-Pennsylvania

The rushees have changed. They are no longer looking for the social organization; they want more. They tend to dislike formalized skits and parties. We had a panel discussion of relevant issues and sorority matters which went over well. Sally Neel, E E-Emory

The Greek system was dying on our campus. With the new unstructured rush, more people have started to come through rush. Gail Brigham, Δ N-Massachusetts

In the last three years rush has become shorter, less structured and less formalized.

There is more freedom for both the groups and the rushees. Marsha Goedecke, Γ I-Washington U.

2. What is your concept of less structured rush?

I believe one of the most important aspects of less structured rush is the idea of getting to know the rushee on a more personal basis. Pam Maphis, B Y-West Virginia

It is a more sensible approach to getting to know a girl, and that's what the purpose of rush is. Karen Elder Pribilsky, Γ Γ-Whitman, adviser to Γ Γ-Whitman

It presents a more informal atmosphere and both the Kappas and rushees seem to relax more. Ann Treadway Henry, Δ P-Mississippi, adviser to E K-South Carolina

Less concentration on "let me entertain you" to more concentration on "getting to know you." This system forces both the rushers and rushees to talk and get to know one another, encouraged by an informal dress and mood. Mary Hendershott, Γ Z-Arizona, adviser to Δ Σ-Oklahoma State

Easier contact with freshmen during the fall semester. Actives would not be forced to make membership decisions in a very short time based on superficial acquaintance. Cecilia Hendricks Wahl, Δ-Indiana, adviser to Δ-Indiana

It means a rush system in which we all work as a Greek system rather than as individual Greeks competing against each other. Gail Brigham, Δ N-Massachusetts

3. Have you tried a less structured rush and did you like it?

Yes. We felt that it gave us a chance to get to know the rushees a lot better, and it showed the "house for what it really is. Benette McEwan, H-Wisconsin

Yes. Since it was the first time we had tried it, there were problems, which we feel we can improve in the future. We liked the freedom very much, though, since we were able to be more creative. Marsha Goedecke, Γ I-Washington U.

Yes. We were not accustomed to this informality. However, the more we rush this way, the better it gets. Becky Frank, B M-Colo-rado

Yes. At first the girls were nervous about being able to talk for such long periods of time. But when it was over, every girl admitted that the system had improved everything. Mary Hendershott, Γ Z-Arizona, adviser to Δ Σ-Oklahoma State

4. Did you have any problems which you hadn't anticipated?

Only in the tendency to think that not as much organizing and planning is necessary. This is a complete fallacy! Peggy Heinze, K-Hillsdale

Perhaps a few of the rushees thought we were a bit too forward in our discussions, and some are still looking for the social organization. Sally Neel, E E-Emory

Our biggest problem concerned Panhellenic which was in the learning process about this type of rush as we ourselves were. The great increase in numbers—196 to 600—also had to be dealt with. Pam Maphis, B Y-West Virginia

"Now she is a Kappa girl"—Olivia Stansell, left, and Trisha Chambers on preferential night at Γ N-Arkansas.

5. What type of parties did you include in your less structured rush?

A garden party on the lawn with an old fashioned theme. Rotation, a definite system, was not used, but each Kappa talked with every rushee. Ann Treadway Henry, Δ P-Mississippi, adviser to E K-South Carolina

Fondue party went over great, player piano party with singing and relaxed atmosphere, and a cozy, around-a-fire at night party with skits and folk songs. Melinda McMahan, Γ Z-Arizona

Sunday afternoon "get-togethers" with football games on television, food, etc., where rushees could bring friends and dates. Christina Moore, B A-Pennsylvania

6. What suggestions would you make to a chapter planning to move into this type of rush?

Be sure that unstructured doesn't mean that the rushee feels unexpected, unwanted and insecure. Pauline Boswell Fosdick, B Ξ-Texas, adviser to H-Wisconsin

Have a complete organized program which would include all rushees and instill the rush spirit in all the chapter members. The enthusiastic spirit on the sorority side makes for a successful rush program. Lolly Herlocker, Γ N-Arkansas

Rush should be highly organized behind the scenes. Don't be lax about involving the entire house in the planning and keep everyone up-to-date on parties and developments. Sarah Hedgpeth, B Ω-Oregon

Don't be afraid of changing. Write other chapters for ideas and try to create a positive and understanding attitude within your chapter. Pam Maphis, B Y-West Virginia

I think it is essential that not only the guidelines of rush are changed, but that the entire attitude of the house must change also. We were rushing informally and less structured, but still thinking formally and more structured. We hadn't gotten rid of past attitudes. Becky Frank, B M-Colorado

7. What do you look for in the references you receive?

I'm interested in how soon we receive a reference. I think the earlier, the better as this indicates a real interest in the girl. I like to know how well acquainted the alumna is with the rushee or her family. Karen Elder Pribilsky, Γ Γ-Whitman, adviser to Γ Γ-Whitman

We especially take note of activities, grades, special talents and the personal comments of the alumnae. Nancy Mazurek, B Y-West Virginia

We look for the qualities of one who is friendly, personable, giving, a leader, and an asset to any organization she is involved in. Christine Moore, B A-Pennsylvania

8. How do you use references during rush?

References are very helpful to the chapter, especially when we are interested in a girl after meeting her once or twice. An honest reference enables us to, in a sense, investigate the rushee and her attributes. Lolly Herlocker, Γ N-Arkansas

We concentrate most thoroughly on learning information on the girls. We read references out loud so that we are familiar with the girls before they come to our house. Nancy Mazurek, B Y-West Virginia

If the reference is received before rush, we watch particularly for the girl during rush because she has already been seen to have potential. Marsha Goedecke, Γ I-Washington U.

9. Of what value do you find the voluntary reference?

It brings attention to those girls who have no connection at all in the house, or those who are extremely shy or difficult to bring out. Sue Strange, Δ-Indiana

The references we receive first are always on the best girls as the alumnae seek out these outstanding girls. Barbara Stark Jordan, ΠΔ-California, adviser to ΠΔ-California

Voluntary references show us that our alumnae are concerned with the welfare of our chapter. They lessen the work during rush week because we have them to refer to. Lolly Herlocker, Γ N-Arkansas

The girls give them much more weight than the requested reference. Pauline Boswell Fossdick, B Ξ-Texas, adviser to H-Wisconsin

It helps us remember that someone is vouching for the girl's too often forgotten character and background. Mary Hendershott, Γ Z-Arizona, adviser to Δ Σ-Oklahoma State

10. What suggestions would you make to the alumnae who are writing references?

Get them in as soon as possible. Try to make pertinent and specific comments about the girls. Give something different that the rushers can look for during rush. If you don't know that much about the girl, don't make out a reference on her. Martha Strannigan, Γ O-Wyoming

Try to use the new blue reference forms. Also a picture attached to the reference can increase its value to us. We receive few with pictures attached. Nancy Virtue, Δ Z-Colorado College

We would benefit from more voluntary references. Many of the girls we pre-rush, we pledge and many of these girls' names we have secured from our references. Marcia Ellen Stout, Δ A-Penn State

Tell us what you know about the girl's personality. Let us know something if we request a reference—whether it's coming, is refused, or if you can't find the information. Dale Brubeck, Γ K-William and Mary, graduate counselor at E M-Clemson

Talk to someone who actually knows the girl if the alumna writing the reference doesn't. Never talk about the background of the family if it is negative. Get unusual facts

"If you want to be a Kappa, here's all you have to do, don't ever be a stranger say a friendly 'how do you do' " Kappas sing to rushees at Γ Φ-Southern Methodist.

about the girl that will make her stand out in our minds and help us remember her better when she comes through rush. Lynda Holup, B P^A-Cincinnati

11. What type references do you find the most helpful in your chapter?

Those where an alumna knows a girl well and can give a strong indication of her activities and behavior before coming to college. Peggy Heinze, K-Hillsdale

I like to know something about the inner traits and beauty of a girl. Is she kind, thoughtful, intelligent, or whatever? I find the references with alumnae comments most helpful in rush. Dale Brubeck, Γ K-William and Mary, graduate counselor at E M-Clemson

Ones written by friends of the family who know the girl well enough to give an objective evaluation. Christina Moore, B A-Pennsylvania

The references sent voluntarily, before rush opens—when the alumna has written the reference on her own. Most often they are accompanied by a personal letter. Ann Treadway Henry, Δ P-Mississippi, adviser to E K-South Carolina

12. What kind of girl are you looking for during rush?

A strong individual, good personality, good scholarship, compatibility, leadership traits. Cecilia Hendricks Wahl, Δ-Indiana, adviser to Δ-Indiana

Girls who enjoy membership in an organization, but are different enough that the group isn't stereotyped. Karen Elder Pribilsky, Γ Γ-Whitman, adviser to Γ Γ-Whitman

A strong individual who has the capabilities and desires of contributing to the chapter's purpose. Scholarship, attitude, personality are especially considered. Sue Strange, Δ-Indiana

She must be a girl who will be willing to give of herself to Kappa in every way and profit by it. She should complement the other members of the chapter by getting along well with them, having the initiative, creativity, self-respect and intellectual drive to make her a truly good Kappa. Christina Moore, B A-Pennsylvania

We want women who uphold the standards of Kappa, who will be womanly and true. We need women who will give of themselves to help Kappa grow and prosper, and to whom Kappa, in return can help to fulfill and attain their hopes and dreams. Lolly Herlocker, Γ N-Arkansas

FOR TOMORROW

Happiness is . . .

being an early bird

If you are an ALUMNA . . .

Send those voluntary references. Use the coupon on the next page as a reference. Do it today! Reference forms may also be obtained from local reference chairmen, state reference chairmen or Fraternity Headquarters.

Membership selection is a responsibility and obligation shared by Kappas, both active and alumnae. All Kappas interested in the future of the Fraternity must work toward pledging qualified, congenial young women.

And who helps the Director of Membership?

Assistant to the Director of Membership for Alumnae Reference Chairmen

The Alumnae Reference Chairmen share the responsibility of membership selection in the Fraternity with the active chapters.

Therefore, the job of the assistant to the Director of Membership for Alumnae Reference Chairmen, Molly Moody Isaacson, FI-Washington U., is to provide general assistance and guidance in securing references. Molly accumulates information and offers suggestions to help the chairmen in pursuit of their procedures concerning references.

Also, Molly assists with the formation of revisions of the directory for membership references which lists the states, area and sources to call upon for possible reference information, and the areas for which the Alumnae Reference Chairmen are responsible.

Any changes in Alumnae Reference Chairmen after THE KEY is published are to be sent to Molly. (See the Fraternity Directory for address.) These will be forwarded to the Province Director of Chapters and Director of Membership.

Assistant to the Director of Membership for State Reference Chairmen

The State Reference Chairmen form a network of resource people across the United States. The assistant to the Director of Membership for State Reference Chairmen, Jean Davies Hogsensen, FM-Oregon State, has the pleasure and privilege of working with these dedicated Kappas. She is their link with the Director of Membership and Fraternity Headquarters.

By keeping the state chairmen informed of new reference procedures and other current events in the Fraternity, gathering statistics for annual reports, and keeping the chairmen positions filled, she tries to assist Kay Larson.

The State Reference Chairmen, in turn, are the liaison between the active chapters and the alumnae in their state. Active chapters look to State Chairmen as their source of information in areas where there are no organized alumnae groups. Between 1968-1970, these Chairmen processed 3,869 references. In 1969-1970, out of 2,500 Kappa pledges, 250 were pledged from State Chairmen's references.

Where to send the Membership Data Sheet:

- 1. If rushee lives where there is an alumnae association, send the data sheet to the association's Reference Chairman. (Check listing starting on page 32)
- 2. If rushee and Kappa live in the same area with no association, send data sheet directly to the chapter.
- 3. If rushee and Kappa do not live in the same area and there is an association in the rushee's area, send data sheet to the Reference Chairman in the area where the rushee resides.
- 4. If rushee and Kappa do not live in the same area and there is no association in the rushee's area, send data sheet to the State Chairman of rushee's state. (Check listing starting on page 32)
- 5. If rushee has lived in a particular town for less than one year, data sheet must come from her previous home area.

Happiness is being a rush helper

Sixteen Kappas have been appointed, one in each Province, to aid with rush problems. They are not to be confused in any way with the reference system. The person in charge of these helpers is the assistant to the Director of Membership for Rush Helpers, Ann Adams Riggs, Δ H-Utah.

What is a rush helper?

Just that! A helper!—in an informative, not directive manner. She is a wealth of information on everything a chapter should know pertaining to their rush. She has the answer for problems, parties, procedures. She has no authority, but can quickly refer you to those who do. She is a supplement to the Graduate Counselor, Field Secretary and Province Director of Chapters. She is an experienced Kappa alumna with a special love for rush; a vital friend to all the chapters in her province. She has an enthusiastic interest in Kappa and a sincere desire to help with this most important job of membership selection. Make her an ex-officio member of your rush committee. She is only as useful as you make her. Call her, write her, wire her! That's why she's there—to HELP!

ALUMNAE NEWS

Harnessing the drive for the Hinsdale (Illinois) Alumnae Association's Kappa Winter Sports Karnival was Sally Ferguson Heidler, I-DePauw, (front) aided by Diane Nicholson Dean, ΓΦ-Southern Methodist. The Karnival, held every January at the Sports Core of Oakbrook, Illinois is the association's annual benefit, which this year netted $605 for their scholarship fund. Throughout the afternoon, bowls of hot chili were served to ice skaters and snow mobilers, followed by hors d'oeuvres, a buffet supper and entertainment.

TRAVEL IS THEIR BAG!

Colorado Pickers Take to Touring

Over a year ago, five Colorado State Kappas got together to form the Colorado Kappa Pickers. Since then they have been on a five-week summer tour of Pacific military installations and hospitals in Japan, Korea, Guam and the Philippines, singing to over 10,000 GI's in 52 performances. Their spirit and determination to do something for our boys overseas helped them win the USO Hollywood Overseas Committee contract.

Last fall they were chosen as the Hollywood Special Christmas Show that was to tour Viet Nam for 25 days over the 1970 holidays.

All Epsilon Beta Kappas, Linda Massey, Chris Mulkin, Pam Rowe, Nancy Stratton and Judi Wineland call themselves a jug band, saying they sing folk, comedy, or "anything that seems fit for the occasion."

Studies Abroad Attract Several

Continuously, Kappas seek to broaden their education through studies in European countries. During this past year Sally Arnold, Pam Coggins, Cathy Byrne, Karen Yoder and Debbie Schmall, all Epsilon Zetas from Florida State, studied abroad in the Florence Program.

Christine Clougherty, Δ N-Massachusetts, voted Outstanding Pledge last year, spent part of her junior year studying Spanish at the University of Madrid.

Kappas away from Delta Beta Chapter, Duke University, last semester were Ann Stone, who was working in France, Susan McWilliams and Martha Maiden attending London College on the Beaver College study abroad plan. Alexandra Kaldis at a branch of Syracuse University in Florence, Italy, and Jacqueline Ann Tyor at Wroxton College in Bamberg, England.

Before leaving for England, Jacqueline Ann Tyor, a psychology major and part-time technician at the Duke Medical Center, brought Delta Beta Chapter significant recognition. She has written a paper entitled Hepatic Encephalopathy and How It Manifests in the Electroencephalogram, which was chosen to be presented at the Southern Society of Electroencephalography, an international convention in Dallas last November.

An education in international and cross-cultural affairs was offered Rebecca Jacobsen, B Z-Iowa, in her three months as a member of World Campus Afloat, sponsored by Chapman College of Orange, California. The students travel around the world while living on an ocean liner.

Back home again after making Paris her home for a year is Jan Sinclair, B K-Idaho. Jan lived with a French family and studied at the Institute of European Studies in Paris. A French major, she felt it necessary to study in that country to be competent in her field—teaching or perhaps the foreign service. While she was there, she was able to travel throughout Europe.
