The Editor Reflects . . .

Upon the Privilege

Of being alive in these times when life presents a challenge worthy of our best. Heart-breaking in one sense, in another it is gloriously ridiculous to see how little human beings learn from anything but their own experiences. We have chased witch's fires and have been bogged in the consequences of cupidity and stupidity. We are chastened now; but our courage rises. Keeping a firm clutch on the tail-feathers of that fine bird, Philosophy, we will find the way out.

Fortunately individual life is too short for older men and women to make the old mistakes again. But every man and girl now in college ought to recognize the great opportunity to profit, and make America profit, by the example of these last reckless decades.

If ever a young man named Ellery Walter comes to lecture in the town where any Kappa lives, let her go to hear him. He is only 25 years old; but he knows world affairs and he is an American patriot. He says that in Russia today they tell a person that if he is over 35 years of age he doesn't count. Happily we think otherwise in America; that age brings clearer spiritual understanding, wisdom, steadiness. Yet we may also hope that present events have jarred the younger members of our society into realization of their responsibilities. If we, their elders, made a mess of things, however unintentionally, let them do better than we!

In the months to come we want every Kappa to think seriously of challenge and responsibility. For the first time in the nation's history a woman is a member of the President's cabinet. Uncle Sam has taken Aunt Samantha formally into his councils. Opportunity for the housewives and business women of the future was never greater. Out of your thoughts and your deeds, you younger Kappas, will the future be built. What do you propose to make of it?

Upon That Piano

Which was bought for a certain chapter house where, it was learned later, there was no one capable of evoking sweet harmony from its keys. Just a place for Helen Morgan to sit; and she never came that way!

It is convenient and pleasant to turn on the chapter house radio after dinner and have dance music come rippling out. Who would suffer the amateur gladly when some highly-paid "maestro" has assembled his band at one's convenience for the sole purpose of furnishing excellent jazz? For practical purposes of dancing after dinner in a chapter house, nothing could be better.

But what good is "canned music" for purposes of self-expression unless, alas, all one has to express may be said tacitly by the turning of a radio dial? Has the division already been made between the sheep and the goats: the talented sheep herded in front of the microphone, the inarticulate goats herded in front of loud speakers?

If that has really happened, then it behooves the Kappas to sing as they have never sung before. Every Kappa in every chapter house has the moral obligation to keep the sisters singing. Aside from other considerations, there is the psychological value of group singing, as soldiers sing on the march.

We are all on the march somewhere, even if it now seems to be over a long, long trail. But there are many things to be said by singing. Don't let us have the machine age keep us from getting music out of our own souls and larynxes, even if we aren't Boris and Ponses!

Spring Conventions Postponed

Due to the sudden and widespread bank moratoria, as well as the strict withdrawal limitations set up by a large portion of the states, it seems only wise for the chapters and national organization to hold all available funds for the purpose of meeting actual maintenance expenses. It is with regret that arrangements for the nine province conventions scheduled for this spring have been temporarily cancelled. It was hoped that the fraternity might be fortunate enough to continue its usual program with only a moderate curtailment of expenses. However, under the present bank situation the national treasury should not guarantee the customary $50 to each convention hostess or attempt to pay the railroad fare of province officers or council visitors to these meetings. The first obligation is to pay the student loans contracted for the balance of this year and keep the central organization functioning. If conditions right themselves to the extent of releasing individual accounts in order to permit payment of dues as budgeted to the chapters and national treasuries, these conventions may be scheduled at later dates.

C. O. P. Makes Page One

In the The Columbus (Ohio) Citizen for February 28, several brief items were grouped on the front page under the sub-head: "Life goes on. With banks in Columbus and most of the cities in Ohio limiting withdrawals, business men and individuals were considering Tuesday how they would meet problems arising from the new situation. Here is how!"

One of the "here's hows" carried the head: "Scholarship Fund Menaced by Ruling." The paragraph, with Clara O. as heroine, followed: "The executive secretary of one of the large national sororities was making the rounds of the banks drawing the organization's allotted five per cent from convention

White House Reception

Two Distinguished Kappas Among Guests at Close of Hoover Administration

By MAY C. WHITING WESTERMANN, Sigma

SIX years ago last Thanksgiving-time Mrs. A. Barton Hepburn and I journeyed together to historic Williamsburg in Virginia as delegates to the sesqui-centennial celebration of the founding of Phi Beta Kappa, she as president of the Phi Beta Kappa alumnae in New York and I as the representative of Kappa Kappa Gamma. February 18 we again turned our faces southward, this time toward the nation's capital; for we had been bidden by President and Mrs. Hoover to the reception to the members of the Senate and the House of Representatives, the last but one of the receptions of the administration.

Mrs. Hepburn is so accustomed to attending important functions that she took the invitation quite as a matter of course—though with pleasurable anticipation—but I found myself constantly explaining how I happened to be invited. You may remember from the December KEY that Mrs. Hepburn and I were among the 65 “nationally prominent women” who constituted the board of counselors of the Women's division of the Republican National committee during the recent campaign. It was in this capacity that we were invited to The White House, Mrs. Hepburn again representing the Phi Beta Kappa alumnae in New York and I Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The mechanics of the invitation are interesting. I confess to a combination of thrill and astonishment when I found in my mail, a few days before Christmas, an envelope having in gold in the upper left corner the words, “The White House, Washington.” It contained a typed note from Lieutenant-Colonel Campbell B. Hodges, Military Aide to the President, beginning as follows:

MY DEAR MRS. WESTERMANN:

At the request of the President and Mrs. Hoover, I am posting to you shortly an invitation to the Senate Reception on January 24th.

The dates of two other receptions were also given, the one to the House of Representatives, February 2, and the Departmental reception, February 16, and I was requested to choose one of these dates should that of the Senate reception prove not convenient. Now a trip to Washington was not on my winter calendar but, trusting that it was in my stars, I accepted for the Senate reception.

Three weeks later came a printed card announcing the cancellation of all three receptions because of the period of mourning for ex-President Coolidge, but asking that choice be made between those to be held February 18 and 25. The latter date was tempting, for the Army and Navy reception where full dress uniforms are the rule, not the exception, is said to be exceeded in brilliancy only by the Diplomatic reception. But Mrs. Hepburn was to be in New Orleans for the Mardi Gras by that date, so we accepted for February 18 and eagerly awaited the invitation. It came in due time accompanied by a card to be displayed on the windshield to admit the car to The White House grounds by the east gate and a name card to be presented at the east entrance.

The invitation bears in gold the President's crest, the American eagle with outstretched wings, together with emblems and motto. From this crest was designed, in 1915 for President Wilson, the President's flag. The design was used on an invitation first by President Rutherford B. Hayes. An interesting article on White House invitations is to be found in the Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine, June 1920. Our own history shows on page 196 Mrs. Hayes' acceptance of honorary membership written on stationery stamped "Executive Mansion" instead of "The White House."

Fate smiled upon us, for our two days in Washington were perfect from every point of view, even that of weather. It was almost balmy on that Saturday evening when we alighted at the east entrance. This was not the first time that I had been privileged to set foot in The White House, for I had been one of 3200 members of the Daughters of the American Revolution who, during three hours, filed past President and Mrs. Harding at the time of the annual congress of the society in the spring of 1921. Incidentally, at that time Mrs. Lillian Acomb Hunter, a distinguished member of Lambda chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma was Treasurer General of N.S.D.A.R. Because the scene was not entirely unfamiliar I was able to appreciate many details. An afternoon reception on a warm April day had been simple compared to an evening one in February when wraps, overcoats and hats for 1600 had to be cared for.

Surrendering our precious tickets, we entered the long corridor lined with coat-rooms, shed our wraps and joined the line moving slowly, two by two, into the transverse hall hung with interesting portraits, tapestries and rugs. The familiar portrait of Mrs. Coolidge by Howard Chandler Christy held our attention, as did a very unusual one of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, a gift of the French government. Here was also Mrs. Benjamin Harrison—but we had reached the foot of the stairway and the ascent to the first floor was begun. One loses direction and the relation of one part of the building to the other, but a left turn at the top of the stairs brought us into the large, square entrance hall at the front of The White House, at the main entrance. This was crowded, and more than one line of twos moved across it, half step at a time. This slow progress was not boresome, however, for the bright touch of a uniform was here and there, and gowns could always be looked at—and commented upon. I had the satisfaction of knowing that not a woman at that reception looked more lovely than my Mrs. Hepburn in her Worth gown of white brocade, with silver.

With final glances at the portrait of President Theodore Roosevelt by Sargent and at the one of President Coolidge, we passed into the wide corridor which has at one end the East Room and at the other the State Dining-room. As we turned right in this corridor we noticed that the three smaller rooms between the two large ones were crowded. Nine had been the hour for the reception and we arrived shortly thereafter. It is not wise to be late. We entered the State Dining-room with its paneled walls, silver chandelier and many-branched sconces, dominated by the portrait of President Lincoln. To see that room with a state dinner in progress—what would not one give? The length of the room the lines moved, not silently but with conversation and laughter, for the members of Congress with their wives and friends were not strangers to one another. I was interested in the number of young girls present and, conscious of my own interest and excitement, wondered what their feelings were. Our young people hear so much criticism of law and law-makers from their elders, I found myself wishing that many, many of them could visit the Capitol as we had done a few hours before, The White House and other wonderfully significant buildings in Washington under the guidance of those who appreciate our history and our institutions and our world-responsibilities.

"Single file, please," and the military aide admitted us to the Red Room. Almost at once we were across it and in the next one, the oval Blue Room. And there stood the President and Mrs. Hoover! I had not before seen either of them and countless pictures had failed to make them seem as human as they appeared in that instant. I was lucky to remember my name, not that it would have mattered had I called myself anything, for the line was moving like clock-work and there was time for only the hand-clasp and the words of greeting. What the President said I do not remember, but he was smiling and cordial in his manner. Mrs. Hoover said, "How do you do?" and the words seemed much more than a stereotyped greeting, for her smile and her gracious manner made me feel that, had there been time, she would really have liked to know how I did.

Our great moment had come and passed. We were out of the Blue Room, across the Green Room and into the East Room before we quite drew a long breath. But we carried with us an unforgettable picture of two fellow-Americans, set apart for a time for high public service, and at the end of that exacting period buoyant and gracious. I found myself wishing that I might know them in their California home.

The evening was yet young and though the high point of the occasion had been passed we had at least another hour which we could spend in the beautiful home which the nation provides for its President. We had an idea! We would return to the Blue Room through the door at the diagonal corner from the one which we had entered, press up to the velvet cord which kept back the crowd, and stand and watch President and Mrs. Hoover—have a really good look at them. As rapidly as possible we squirmed our way through the throng in the East Room and back into the room where an apparently endless line passed before the President and the First Lady. As opportunity offered we pressed nearer the barrier and I was able to catch an occasional glimpse of Mrs. Hoover's smiling, animated face and of her becoming pale green gown, but the President was out of my line of vision. Suddenly there was additional pressure of the crowd, and through an aisle cleared by the military aides the President and Mrs. Hoover left the room, followed by the members of the Cabinet and their wives, and ascended to the second floor where the more intimate part of the evening's entertainment was carried out for the official family group. Whether the stroke of 10 marked the withdrawal or whether the last guest had been received we could only guess.

By the time we returned to the East Room, that beautiful white room where hang the portraits of George and Martha Washington who never lived in The White House, dancing had begun. The red-coated Marine Band had taken its station there, adding color as well as music. It is interesting to recall that the President's official residence was in Philadelphia until the latter part of the administration of President John Adams when it was moved to Washington. The first occupants "found a half-finished building set in the midst of a space used for brick yards." . . . What a contrast between the reception of those early days and those of our time. Then The White House had a post and rail fence on the north, and the entrance to the house was by means of a little wooden bridge. It was quite different from the present imposing entrance, with its spacious porte cochere, the large dressing rooms, and the broad corridors and stairway leading to the East Room. But in 1801 Mrs. Adams used the East Room for drying linen!

Mr. H. V. Kaltenborn who "edits the news" over WABC attended the reception to Congress and reported enthusiastically the cordiality of the President and the grace and charm of Mrs. Hoover. He not only paid tribute to the brilliant assembly but to The White House itself, declaring it to be more beautiful than any European palace and furnished in better taste. When such a world traveler was thrilled, can you wonder that I wish to share my experience?

The enjoyment of our two days in Washington was greatly increased by the fact that we were guests in the home of Commander and Mrs. Robert R. M. Emmet, the latter being Mrs. Hepburn's daughter Beulah. The charming old house in the Georgetown section reminded me of New Orleans, and the long drawing-room with its two marble mantels on one side could easily have been that of the Monroe girls in which I installed the Tulane university chapter almost 30 years ago. As guests we followed Miss Lydia Emmet, the Commander's aunt, who had spent three weeks there while she painted the portrait of Mrs. Hoover which is to hang in The White House, the gift of that organization of which Mrs. Hoover has been honorary president and to whose work she is so devoted—the Girl Scouts of America. When the portrait is exhibited in New York Mrs. Hepburn and I certainly hope to see it. Then we shall decide whether Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Hepburn resemble each other, as Commander Emmet thinks.

Four or five years ago, when Commander Emmet was Naval Attaché at The Hague, Mrs. Hepburn visited the family and had the honor of being presented at the Dutch Court. It made an interesting background for our "presentation" to hear of the 60 calls, the series of teas at which the right people were met. But 1600 were not presented.

In Our "Dim Fantastic Dream," Read of China!

True Friend of Chinese Family, Nora Waln Has Told Moving Story of Its Life

By ELIZABETH POLLARD FETTER, Beta Iota

MANY of the readers of THE KEY are familiar with the articles on China by Nora Waln which have appeared in the Atlantic Monthly during the past few years. Nora Waln is a Kappa, a member of Beta Iota chapter at Swarthmore college, of the class of 1919. Her most recent work, The House of Exile, a story of a Chinese family, is soon to be released by Little, Brown and company, and the first chapters have appeared in the February and March issues of the Atlantic.

The charming prelude to The House of Exile gives a glimpse of the author as an imaginative Quaker child in Philadelphia, eagerly poring over early gazettes, hunting in the marine notices for lists of cargoes shipped from China to her merchant ancestor. Years later, when a student at Swarthmore, she first met two Chinese travelers, of the very family whose ancestor had sent goods to merchant Waln in Philadelphia. Shun-ko and her husband, Lin Yang-peng, "were on a tour of the Western world, and desiring to meet one of the Waln family, had looked through the catalogues listing scholars at the Society of Friends schools," and had found Nora Waln's name. Thus began a friendship which a few years later deepened when she was able to make her first journey to China, and to live for a time as an adopted daughter in the ancient homestead of the Lin family.

Throughout her two years at college, she had been constantly engaged in journalistic writing. It is not surprising that her writing took her afield, and finally led her to give up her college work entirely. Since her arrival in China the subject of her literary efforts has been life in the Far East. Married to a British official high in the Chinese postal service, she has lived for more than 10 years successively in Canton, Nanking, and Tientsin.

TYPICAL "CAMEL-BACK" BRIDGE FRAMING A LOVELY SCENE

INNER COURT AND GARDEN OF A WEALTHY CHINESE HOME

She has learned to know China as few foreigners can, principally because her earliest experience was as a member of a Chinese household. She has approached Chinese friendships with a deep understanding, and above all with sympathy and willingness to enter naturally into those friendships, and thus to penetrate beneath the cultural reserve of Chinese characters of the truly old school. She has been treated by her Chinese friends as a Chinese person, perhaps because of the rigid discipline which was part of her training in the early days of her life in the Lin family, which she has so vividly described in the opening chapters of The House of Exile.

Later, in Tientsin, she was one of the few foreign women whom the former Empress in her seclusion wished to count as a friend. In her journeys into Mongolia, she received from princes gifts of priceless value, because she traveled and deported herself as an Oriental, and because she left behind her everywhere friends who revered her serenity and her wisdom.

I have seen in her lovely Tientsin home, the exquisitely embroidered coats of the royal Manchu Empress, given to Nora Waln as tokens of lasting admiration. In the quiet dignity of that Tientsin official mansion, I have listened with awe to her simple tales of the incomparable collection of Mongolian silver treasures which filled the shelves of a tall glass cabinet.

The House of Exile tells simply its glowing story of the multi-colored lives of the six living generations of the Lin family. Once having shared in the life of the complicated household, Nora Waln could not help but know that the world outside would read eagerly of her experiences. Yet she, with worthy dignity, has not exploited her friendship. She first begged permission of the patriarch of the Lin clan to tell the story of his family for a fascinated world to read. He demurely advised her to write of something more worth while; his courtyards sheltered only everyday people. Yet his very family, with its widespread branches, includes not only his old-fashioned timeless generation who remain under the family roof-tree, but men and women of affairs, a student at the Sorbonne, even radical modernists, and merchants in Malay and America.

So from her Chinese journals, Nora Waln gives us this story of a mandarin family, with her remarkable insight into its rigidly formal life under the patriarchal roof, and her appreciation of the causes which have made such a kaleidoscope of the adventures of its modernized generations scattered over China and the outside world. The story is rich in its knowledge of Chinese life, and is all the more valuable because of the reverent attitude of its author toward her task of giving a true picture of life in a strange world that seemed at first, even to her, to make of the Western World "a dim fantastic dream."

The pictures which appear in this article have been chosen because they show something of the type of scenes first glimpsed by Nora Waln. "We slid under frequent high-arched stone bridges . . . some humped so that the name 'camel-back' by which they are called is apt. A few were perfect granite half-circles that cast a shadow, when the sun was just right, so that travelers passed through a 'good luck ring.'" The two pictures of a mandarin garden, though taken in Soochow, south of the Lin homestead city, may serve as examples of the inner courts and gardens of a wealthy Chinese home.

DETAIL OF A MANDARIN GARDEN IN SOOCHOW

Quantico, Virginia, one of the largest posts of the United States Marine Corps, oldest fighting force in the nation. The Marine Corps' motto is "Semper fidelis," but more famous is the terse dispatch: "The Marines have landed and have the situation well in hand."

"Hello, 'Books'!" Say 2,000 Leathernecks to Kappa Librarian at Unique Post

By LOUISE B. WILLIAMSON, Beta Delta

HAVING for the past six years meekly signed my various Christmas cards "still an old-maid librarian," I was quite flattered and overwhelmed to be asked to write this article on my "interesting career." Upon reflection I have decided that the things that possibly might make my career sound interesting are the very things that I feel may keep me from becoming too dreadful an old maid but also, alas, too painstaking a librarian! When one has accustomed oneself to the gay salutation by some 2000 grown men of "Hello, 'Books'!"; when one has shelved all one's taste for real literature and grown eager for the announcement of any new western or thrilling adventure tale; when one's duties have ranged from janitor work to the accompanying of a pathetic parent to some Marine's funeral, then one may feel that she has escaped a bit the usual formula for becoming an old maid. But, unfortunately, one has hardly achieved the status of an ideal librarian.

At the time I left the ordering department of the library of the Department of Agriculture and went to take charge of the Marine Corps library at Parris Island, South Carolina, I knew nothing about Service libraries and very little about Service men. Surely then, my "detail" there was apropos. Parris Island is the "rookie camp" of the Marine Corps. It is there the recruits come for training immediately upon their enlistment and I know that no green, awkward lad strutting about in his new ill-fitting uniform ever felt more forlorn than I when the bi-weekly boat dropped me at this barracks-bounded, khaki-infested spot. Desertion from this post has always been considered most difficult by the average Marine. For a non-swimmer like myself it was a complete impossibility!

A week after my arrival, however, when I had personally (with the help of one nimble Marine) shelved some 7000 books that careless Marine painters had calmly dumped in great masses on the floor of the library, I found that I had gathered a quite comprehensive knowledge of my stock as well as a great interest in the place in which I had already worked so hard. The library building offered many tempting possibilities with its huge fireplace in which later a fire burned brightly each winter evening, various alcoves which allowed for the grouping of books according to subject matter, a balcony workroom from which I could keep an eagle eye on the main desk, and finally, a front yard which I later flower-gardened and where I raised my own bouquets. Besides, the Marines themselves were so nice to me. They were all so young, so scared, and so homesick at various holiday times that one had to be librarian, big-sister and mother all rolled into one and yet keep one's interest strictly impersonal. I found it a fascinating job. I admired girls' pictures, edited love letters, urged monthly allotments to aged parents all during library hours over a desk marked "RETURN BOOKS HERE," and, incidentally, I issued a good many books.

During the daytime I did the routine work of a library, cataloging, carding, shelving the books, arranging papers and periodicals, and issuing books to officers and their wives. Every evening I worked only with the enlisted men. They flocked to the library after an early "chow" and I found them always eager and greedy for the interesting books. Of course, there were some lads on the island who never visited the library, but the ones whom I met and grew to know as daily and insatiable borrowers made a library seem a most important place and a librarian a vital and appreciated person.

The dread that I at first felt for the great naval prison also situated at this isolated station soon vanished as I came to realize that the prisoners were merely weak boys most of whom had deserted from other posts. In fact, I grew to know some of the prisoners very well as I always had a prisoner for an orderly to sweep, build my fires, and help me dig my garden in the spring. I've wished rather often since coming to Quantico that I might have brought the naval prison along. One really can use a good prisoner in any library—though I doubt whether many public librarians would relish the idea of such a helper!

Because Quantico is within 40 miles of Washington where my family live, I welcomed a transfer here after a year's duty on the island, but like all changes to a larger organization I became a bit smaller a personage in transit. Quantico is one of the largest of the Marine posts. There are no recruits nor bashful boys here. All of the enlisted personnel are blasé old-timers. Most of them have had duty in China, Nicaragua or Haiti and are merely marking time here in the States for a few months before another tour. They are more bored than lonely. One can't mother or big-sister them; in fact, one must be even a bit nonchalant about the business of being a helpful librarian. One must assume that these boys have seen the latest shows, read the latest books and come from the best families because, after four or eight years in the Service, they are neither scared nor humble. Girls' pictures and letters from home are here infrequently displayed, but scrapbooks with pictures of battles in China, bandits and earthquakes in Nicaragua and French ruins in Haiti are proffered across my counter each night along with mighty tales of heavy heroism.

As a result of the splendid building program now in process at Quantico six magnificent new brick barracks house the men. The recreation hall has yet to be built, however, and so the library is now located in the larger side of the hostess house which offers on the other side of its attractive lobby a cafeteria for the enlisted men. The immense library room with its long windows, great fireplace, polished floors, long reading tables, cheerful lamps, and up-to-date magazines looks most home-like compared to the Spartan bareness of the squad-rooms in the barracks. Naturally the boys gravitate here during their leisure hours. Bridge tables (oh yes, the Marines play contract) are full each evening in the lobby, jigsaw puzzles are also evident, and the daily papers, especially the "funnies" are in constant use. At well-equipped desks in the quieter corners of the room boys struggle with letters to the girlfriend or to the folks at home.

Perhaps my most important, and certainly my most enjoyable, task here at Quantico is selecting and buying the books. Each month my regular routine is enlivened by my book-buying trip to Along this company street at Quantico are the new brick barracks where the Marines are quartered.

Washington. Here, of course, I hunt bargains but mostly I hunt "thrillers," rattling good stories that will hold a man's interest from start to finish. Some months I grow almost desperate at how poorly the average best-seller fills that demand. Western stories, mysteries, adventure, costume novels, travels, psychology, and philosophy I buy gladly with a smattering of the average best-sellers to loan to the officers' wives. Quarterly a shipment is sent here from the Navy Department, but the greater percentage of my stock has been personally selected and bought, which helps me in choosing certain books for certain readers.

My borrowers here are from three groups: the officers and wives, the children, and the enlisted men. The officers and their wives use the library during the mornings; the children, with their lists of required reading and their incurable yen for Tarzan books haunt the place in the afternoons; but from six to eight each evening the library is practically turned over to the men and those are the hours that I always feel matter the most. They are always my "rush hours" except around pay day. Then the cafeteria on the opposite side of the lobby gets all the trade as Marines crowd in there for cups of coffee and pie à la mode. As soon as they are comfortably "broke," however, the bridge tables resume action and my customers drift back into the library. The new books are on display at this time and circulation soon booms again.

Each month it is the same little drama. Each month I handle new books. Each month I endeavor to interest new boys in the gentle art of reading. Each month I watch with the same sinking feeling my customers temporarily lose interest in things literary only to appreciate them the more when they return to me with empty pockets—calmly content to read my books.

And so the months and years have rolled by for me here at Quantico and I am "still an old-maid librarian." Somehow I'm always too busy to worry much about being an old maid but I do occasionally pause and wonder how I, away from bugle calls and barracks, would compare with scientifically trained librarians "on the outside." I'm afraid I should never dare to leave my nice Marines long enough to find out!

and various other funds in order to get together $1,100 to meet scholarship loan obligations all over the country which are now due. Straightening out her books later is going to be another nice job."

Seriously, we want to impress upon every member of Kappa Kappa Gamma the inestimable debt the fraternity owes to Clara O. Pierce for her careful direction of the fraternity's finances in these difficult times, particularly. It is due to her wisdom and good judgment that Kappa's affairs are conducted at central office with the very best management the national situation will permit.

The announcement has been made that, owing to financial conditions, there will be no New York Panhellenic scholarship for next year. C'est la guerre!

Kappa Authority on Oil-Bearing Sands

Fifth Kappa in Her Family, Also Nationally Honored as Geologist

By DOROTHY O. WRIGHT, Gamma Beta

THE Kappas in Tulsa are proud of Fanny Carter Edson. When the very old and very conservative Geological Society of America made her a fellow at its convention in Cambridge, Massachusetts, last December, it bestowed upon her an honor which has come to but six other women.

Mrs. Edson is nationally and internationally famous for her work in geology, petrography, paleontology, and mineralogy. Since 1924 she has been in charge of one of the largest and best-equipped geological laboratories in the mid-continent oil field, that of the Shell Petroleum corporation.

Mrs. Edson is an authority on the oil-bearing sands, and is in constant demand as a writer or speaker by the many scientific societies to which she belongs. Several years ago she startled the world of science with her discovery of an entirely new mineral, called "moissonite," which she found in samples of oil sands taken from great depths. It is the product of intense heat, such as that generated by meteors. The only other known occurrence of this mineral is in the Canyon Diablo meteorite in Arizona.

Geology is Mrs. Edson's vocation; but collecting semi-precious stones is her hobby. It all began with a string of rose-quartz beads, but now her collection includes all sorts of lovely and interesting pieces, from agate beads and a graduated necklace of polished petrified wood to sparkling gems of zircon, aquamarine, topaz, amethyst, opal, and garnet.

Going to Wisconsin university and becoming a Kappa just seems to be "an old Spanish custom" in Mrs. Edson's family. Her aunt, Fannie Walbridge, started it. She was one of the founders of Eta chapter, away back in 1875. Then Cora Walbridge, Mrs. Edson's mother, enrolled at Wisconsin and joined the young chapter. In 1906

Fanny Carter was initiated. Her two sisters, Doris and Persis Carter, are also Eta Kappas.

Mrs. Edson's marriage occurred in the summer of 1910, following her graduation. She had majored in geology, and in 1913 she returned to the university to study for her Master's degree, which she received in 1914. From then until 1921 she worked as a geologist in the Minnesota iron country. The years 1921 to 1923 found her at Oklahoma university, where she combined studying and teaching. More graduate work in geology at Stanford occupied her time during 1923 and 1924. At the completion of these studies, she accepted the position with the Shell company which she has held ever since.

Down at Tulsa high school, Eleanor, Mrs. Edson's 15-year-old daughter, is a sophomore. Her interest lies not in the science which made her mother famous, but in art. If events shape themselves as Mrs. Edson hopes and plans, Eleanor will carry on the family tradition by matriculating at Wisconsin a few years from now.

She Digs Up Her Own Jewelry!

MRS. WRIGHT, secretary of the Tulsa Alumnæ association, modestly thought her article on Mrs. Edson would be too long if she included a little story about the beginning of Mrs. Edson's collection of semi-precious stones. But what woman doesn't like to hear about jewelry! So here is the story, as Mrs. Wright sent it in a letter to the editor.

"One day when Mrs. Edson was working in the Minnesota iron country, she greatly admired a string of rose quartz beads which she saw in the window of a gift shop. She was amazed when told that the price was $40. She then and there made up her mind that she would have some beads just as pretty as those, without paying such an exorbitant price.

"It was not long before she found a suitable piece of rose quartz, which she sent to a gem-cutter in Germany to have made into beads. In the course of time she received a letter from him stating that he was forwarding the beads he had cut, but that as he had used only half of the quartz she had sent, he was awaiting further instructions.

"When she opened the package, she was astonished to behold 20 strings of lovely beads!

"Because they had cost her so little, she was able to sell to her friends at a very low price the strands she did not care to keep for herself. She promptly wrote to the gem-cutter to cut the rest of the quartz. When she realized that she could have lovely and interesting stones and pieces of jewelry at a very reasonable price, she determined to start a collection. Now she has whole sets of jewelry such as the one I saw—necklace, ring and ear-drops of polished agate set in plain dull gold, most effective against the brown of her costume."

The Caduceus of Kappa Sigma for February, 1933, contained an article on the restoration in Williamsburg, Virginia. The Dr. Goodwin mentioned as the originator of the idea is the father-in-law of Mary Nash Goodwin, Gamma Kappa.

Agriculture in Other Countries

Co-operative Organization in Denmark Lesson for Rural Americans

By BESS P. HODGES, Ph.D., Gamma Nu

MOST of us, I am sure, agree with Margaret Farrell White, Delta, as she expressed herself in the February KEY, that "the best possible combination of study and adventure is a year in Europe." I, too, had that experience. I did not go to Greece, as Margaret did; but I visited 16 other countries in Europe during vacations from my work at the Sorbonne in Paris. I had almost three years in Europe since I was taking my doctorate in sociology; and as vacations are numerous and long at the University of Paris, one does find time for many little study trips and pleasure escapades.

Along with my work in sociology, my interest was looking into the agricultural situation of the countries where I traveled and, wherever it was possible, visiting farm homes, talking with the rural people, taking a cup of coffee or a meal with them, admiring their hand work, weaving and embroidery, visiting the poultry house, the garden, the orchard, and in general becoming enough of a friend and confidant to get an understanding of their habits of work and play, their hopes, ambitions, and ideals, in short, their standard of living.

All this was not only very interesting, as you can imagine; it was really exciting to one who was born and reared in the country and whose chief purpose is the betterment of rural life and living in America. It was largely made possible through a letter of introductioin from the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington. In several countries of Europe there is a well-organized system of county farm and home demonstration agents; and since I had been a state specialist in Arkansas working with the demonstration agents of the various counties, it was naturally to the central agricultural extension office that I took my letter and asked permission to visit the counties. That was all it took. A letter from the U. S. Department of Agriculture introducing an American student brought a welcome exceeded only, I think, by an announcement of some royal personage. Often, I was not only a guest at the family table, but ate from the best china, slept in the best room between fine old linen sheets with lace openwork or rich embroidery, and in other ways was made to feel heartily welcome.

From the point of view of languages, I had the advantage of knowing French and German; then with English added to these one can get along in most of the countries of Europe. Sometimes, however, I visited only with the agents who spoke English, and they acted as interpreters in the family we visited. Everywhere I went I was very proud to find that European farm families respect and admire Americans and that they often harbor a secret desire to go to that wonderful "land of the free and home of the brave," America.

The most advanced European nation from the agricultural point of view is, without doubt, that little ragged country up on the North Sea, Denmark. From Denmark we Americans might get some fine lessons to aid our rural population in becoming a happier and more prosperous people.

Forty years of scientific agricultural practice and systematic cooperation have revolutionized the economic and social life of the Danish people. From a depressed state of peasant agriculture, which threatened the welfare and prosperity of the whole nation, Denmark stands today as the world's foremost agricultural country in scientific organization of her production and marketing. Her people, rural as well as urban, appear contented and prosperous. Neither extreme wealth nor extreme poverty exists.

This wonderful system of cooperation in Danish agriculture in the highly developed form in which it now exists, embraces almost every branch of agriculture and agricultural industry, and has its ramifications in practically every parish in Denmark. It has built up an organization so complete that all the threads converge to one point from which the joint action of the whole system is in a certain measure controlled. Farmers own their own dairies, slaughterhouses, egg-collecting societies, banks, and all kinds of breeding and developing agencies. In one home where I visited the farmer was a member of 10 such organizations, and his life centered in the co-operative movement which pervades his country. His farm was just an average farm and he an average farmer.

All this simply means that the Danish farmers face the modern world markets as one collective body of sellers, rather than as 205,000 individual farm holdings; but the Danish farmers meet the demands of the markets through collective effort—group distribution—organized on a cooperative basis. Could not our American farmers do the same in order to maintain the standard of living they have struggled so long and unceasingly to obtain?

One day I met a Danish farmer at a co-operative creamery who told me that the results of all this co-operative organization could be listed under four different headings: economic, moral, political, social.

From the economic point of view, he very carefully explained to me that the small farmer is enabled to sell his produce as economically as the large farmer; he is relieved of marketing costs and trouble; he has the power of monopoly of capital and brains to support him in his operations. The largest percentage of Danish farmers, as among American farmers, is made up of the small holders.

Morally, he said that the co-operative movement has made the farmer proud of his profession; it has developed his mind and character; it has given him a new outlook, reduced jealousy and superstition.

"Politically, it has made us stronger," he said. "It has drawn us into politics and trained us to united action; it has aided citizenship through home ownership; the peasant has become the ruling class of the nation. It has given us a voice in the administration of railroads, levying taxes, control of education. It has given us political confidence.

"Socially," he added, "this great movement of co-operation has broken down castes that you folks in America may not know much about, but which were ruining our country. By so doing it has placed our whole nation on an equal footing; it has trained our farmers to participate in discussions and meetings; it has increased the desire and the opportunity of attaining advanced schooling; it lends a refined dignity to the entire population."

Keeping to the path entered upon a generation ago, and trusting to the future, the little country of Denmark will undoubtedly continue to progress in all the domains of her activity and hold her place as an agricultural leader among nations. Such progress is derived from aiding her rural population, the source, as in our great country, of her civilization.

In The New Yorker's "The Talk of the Town" for March 4 were some paragraphs on "Pin-Pawning." The New Yorkers discovered that one H. W. Hawley, a Sigma Phi, in the research department of the Cunard line, has a hobby—the retrieving of lost fraternity pins. He hunts for the pins in pawn shops and has sent some 50 badges back to their owners or their fraternity offices. Mr. Hawley has found two shops which seem to specialize in the fraternity trade. One of them has a Sigma Chi badge with four diamonds and a Sigma Nu pin with 11 diamonds, "and no market for them." The article says that girls pawn badges (though it seemed understood that these were of men's fraternities); but that most of them redeemed the pledges. One girl from New Haven came in with 12 pins! We hope this will not put ideas into the heads of any Kappas, because we merely wished to point out that the Greeks had crashed The New Yorker. Looks like fraternities have come to stay.

History Sales Notes

By LORA HARVEY GEORGE, Beta Pi

WITHIN the next month Kappas everywhere will know that our history sales campaign is on. Each and every Kappa will receive a letter and folder about this book-of-the-year that will make them want to rush to their check-books and send in their orders immediately before all the copies are sold. So be on the lookout for the envelope with the little blue sticker on it—it holds lots of surprises and interesting news for you!

Hats off to the honor list of chapters which have fulfilled their sales quota (one-third of active membership) by February 25, although all chapters have bought archive copies: Beta Sigma, Chi (exceeded quota by one copy), Delta, Gamma Iota, Gamma, Nu, and Iota.

The committee has decided to extend the time limit to June 1, so let's see all you chapters lined up here by that time! The race is on—will your chapter be the next one on the list?

Alumnæ associations which so far have purchased their archive copy are: Beta Iota, Bloomington, (Illinois), Boise, Boston, Boston Intercollegiate, British Columbia, Chicago, Cleveland, Columbus, Denver, Detroit, El Paso, Everett, Huntington, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Long Beach, Los Angeles, Madison, part of Minneapolis, St. Paul, New York, North Dakota, North Shore, Palo Alto, Pittsburgh, Portland, Rho, Rochester, Salt Lake City.

To top it all we have below the list of those who have purchased personal copies of Kappa's BOOK-OF-THE-YEAR without solicitation:

UPSILON CHAPTER OF 1883

(Cut used in Kappa history, where identification of the members may be found. Read the history!)

Upsilon to Celebrate Fiftieth Year

By MARGARET DICKSON FALLEY, Upsilon

FIFTY years since we graduated? Good Heavens! Can it be?" said Upsilon's first pledge, Lydia Jones Trowbridge last spring.

"Perhaps this is just a costume party, with powdered hair and penciled wrinkles. No, we have lived these 50 years; lived and loved, laughed and wept."

It was 50 years also last spring since Upsilon was founded. We have delayed the celebration of our golden anniversary until this next June because we hope to tempt many a one living far away to come both for our reunion and the World's Fair in Chicago.

We need not remind ourselves of that loyalty which has quietly strengthened through the accumulation of years. For what Upsilon Kappa does not smile over our incurable failing: our too-great admiration for, and satisfaction with each other.

The Upsilon historian notes that the chapter wished in 1882 for a house of its own. Now during our fiftieth reunion our founders and all who followed them may see their wish come true. We are going to have a house party in the Upsilon Kappa house for four days, and if we have an over-flow we will place women with their friends in town.

Can't you who graduated in the '90s imagine Myra Tubbs Ricketts and Isabelle Drew Fowler and Dr. Josephine Young putting their heads together with Edith Baker Dickson and Esther Miller Gilbert and their cronies from New York to California, and rocking with laughter over some such thing as, "Do you remember way back when—Josephine disobeyed study hours in Willard hall, visited in Myra's room and when a knock came at the door, stepped laughingly into the closet saying, 'Maybe it's the Dean'? Then because her guess was right and that woman smelled a mouse and sat for an hour with Myra, poor Josephine stood stiff and nearly smothered behind the tight shut door."

In some other corner of the house, can't you see Sarah Harris Rowe and Ella Bradley Foster and Mary Hotchkiss Westcott chinning with Mable Manley and Margaret Raymond and many another one from away? The good old days are only less sweet than the present hour of renewal of the cherished ties.

I ask myself, what happier event could I imagine than another stroll along the lake with Helen Walrath Sanborn and Elizabeth Hoover Lincoln? What fun to sit on the side lines while Mary Brunner Penniman and Dorcus Sherwood Fifer and Mildred Weston Haggart act the clowns. And what a rare hour it would be to again talk with Sis Guthrie, Hazel James and Millet Davis Raymond, and my own Kappa mother, Hester Walrath Hunter. That's the sort of stuff reunions are made of.

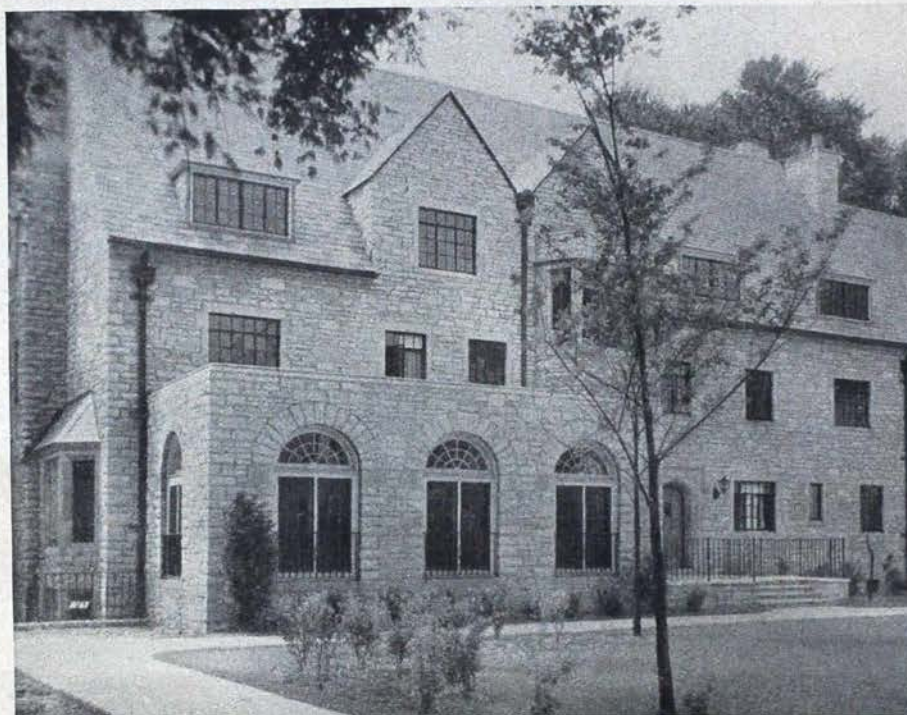

There are beds and room for 27 Kappas in the chapter house. Women will be given space there as long as there are vacancies. No charge will be made for rooms and no meals will be served in the house.

Class exhibitions will be placed in the living room and library at the Kappa house. Every Upsilon Kappa who cannot attend our fiftieth reunion,

One need only to have seen Virginia Bixby in action as assistant marshal of our 1930 convention, to know that our fiftieth reunion is sure to be a great success under her direction.

Every one planning to attend all or please send a letter and pictures of husband, home and children.

The following program is tentative. Added to it may possibly be an initiation Saturday afternoon and a dance after the banquet.

In 1930 at our national convention, Sarah Harris Rowe, our past grand president, was toastmistress for the final banquet. Those of us who watched her and listened to her want every other Upsilon Kappa to have that privilege, and so we have asked and received her promise to be toastmistress of our reunion banquet.

RECENT editorial remarks on publication of chapter and alumnae letters netted comment.

Mrs. Frederick H. Andres, Iota,
KEY correspondent for Boston Intercollegiate, wrote: "If it could be worked out so that alumnae associations would have but two letters a year instead of four, I think it would be a good plan.
That would keep the associations in touch with each other and yet considerably lessen the number of pages in THE KEY."

But Mrs. Rose H. Doepke, Beta Zeta, said: "I sincerely hope THE KEY continues the chapter letters, active and alumnae, for it is the only source of information many of the alumnae have regarding friends in their own and other chapters."

Mrs. Doepke also wishes to claim
Mrs. Frances Theresa Russell, author of Touring Utopia, as a Beta Zeta, instead of Sigma, as stated in the Palo Alto letter for February.

Cabinet to Settle As Capital Furniture

By HANNAH HUNT STOKES, Iota
Washington Bureau, K K I KEY

Washington, D.C.—With all traces of inauguration removed, farewells said, and acquaintances renewed, Washington is again settling in its groove and running along as any nice small southern town should.

For months to come there will be flurries of excitement over each new appointment, and as a matter of fact the new Cabinet isn't yet acclimated in minds here. Washington is still a little disappointed to think that Mr. Roosevelt didn't avail himself of the bevy of political beauties at his disposal. Even unhappy Republicans were able to console themselves with the thought that there was Cabinet material in John W. Davis, Owen D.
Young, Newton D. Baker, and Al
Smith. Then 10 Cabinet members were chosen, of which only three were familiar to Washington. Of course Mr.
Woodin may not be well known here, but there is nothing obscure about American Car and Foundry!

As females, though, a certain amount of happiness should be found in the fact that it looks like field day for women. Frances Perkins may not be the choice of the A. F. of L., which wanted one of its own men, but she's an answer to every feminist's prayer. If nothing more, a test case on Comptroller McCarl's rule that married women's name on government payrolls must be carried as such, instead of their maiden names, may be anticipated. Rumor has it that Miss Perkins' husband, Paul C. Wilson, "shrinks" from coming here to be known as Mr. Frances Perkins.

Other women have been mentioned for prominent government posts, among them Ruth Bryan Owen, late of the House but bidding fair for the job of Minister to Denmark. Incidentally Mrs. Owen, daughter of the great commoner and dry, voted affirmatively on repeal as did all the other women members of the House with the exception of Mrs. Eslick, representative from Tennessee.

Mrs. Owen was principal speaker at Washington's second annual Panhellenic luncheon recently. Each group presented its local prima donni, Kappa Kappa Gamma being represented by Marie Mount, Delta, dean of the college of home economics, the University of Maryland, and Edna Curtis Cooper, Pi, president of the Washington American Association of University Women. Mrs. Cooper is the wife of Dr. William John Cooper, former United States Commissioner of Education. Participation of fraternity women who were members of official Washington was largely curtailed because the luncheon fell within the 30-day mourning period for Mr. Coolidge.

Alumnæ Panhellenic co-operation is of comparatively recent origin here. In May of 1931 representatives of other groups which were members of national Panhellenic were guests of the Washington Alumnæ association of Kappa Kappa Gamma at a reception and dance given for Alice Watts Hostetler, Iota, at that time newly-appointed director of provinces. At the suggestion of Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington university, and in connection with the bicentennial, 500 Washington fraternity women gathered for luncheon in February, 1932. Mrs. Vernon Kellogg, Gamma Phi Beta, was principal speaker. Out of that luncheon grew the present organization, and for anyone who almost sprouted here the annual luncheon promises to be something to anticipate.

Kappa Presides At Educational Session

AN EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE was held February 17, at the Panhellenic hotel, in New York. The conference was notable as the first of the sort ever presented by the Panhellenic, and as including lay speakers on education, as well as experts in the field.

At the afternoon session, dedicated to the "Responsibility of Universities and Colleges to the Individual," the speakers were Dr. Harry Kitson, professor of education, Columbia university; Fannie Hurst, author and dramatist; and Dr. Walter H. Eddy, director of Good Housekeeping bureau of foods, sanitation and health, Columbia University. The presiding officer was Mrs. Alice Duer Miller, Beta Epsilon of Kappa Kappa Gamma, writer. Romance and History in Fan Collection

By VERA JORDAN, Beta Rho

TO COMMENCE a collection of fans, accessories of romance and coquetry, one must wander back through the ages, giving credit to each lady who, as a keepsake of her days of triumph, tenderly laid away a fan.

During the World war dwellers in New England will remember that numerous great houses on Boston's famous Beacon Hill were opened and treasures of the past brought from cobwebbed attics to be displayed for sale, in order to make more money for the soldiers.

Having always a love for past treasures, Mrs. William Rand of Boston spent days at these sales, and there learned quite without intention that every family had saved a fan. She also felt the infinite charm of these gay messengers of romance, and so began her collection, which grew as time passed to be a very large private one. Each and every friend, delighted at her hobby, contributed. Antique dealers sent out word that Mrs. Rand was hunting for fans. Each time she travelled it became a definite custom to bring a fan from each country, so that in this way there are fans representing many lands; and through them may be traced the history as well as the loves of the world.

One of the earliest fans is from far-away Japan and shows a brilliant court scene on one side, and a theatre on the other, both with many people. We know only as regards its age that each tiny mother-of-pearl face, which fits so daintily on each figure, is attached, by an art now lost, so firmly that not one has become loosened through the centuries—thus giving us a perfect fan, even to the faint aroma of sandalwood coming from the lace-like sticks and the heavily-carved guards at each end.

DOROTHY FLETCHER RAND, Phi

Somewhat later, 1600, comes the type of fan brought into France by Catherine de Medici—sticks carved and inlaid with gold and silver, with a gay colored print showing ladies and gentlemen of the court with powdered wigs and fans.

Of about the same period is an ivory fan from China with colored Chinese embroidery on satin.

Then there are the very large fans of the Maintenon period, signed by the artists who painted them, one with pansies on mauve-colored tulle, by Flonot Tutin.

And so on to an English eagle feather fan with ivory sticks, and the English street fan, morocco leather-bound, with a monogram, and sticks made from English holly wood.

Mrs. William Rand had a son's wife who treasured Kappa memories, and when the time came to give away her treasures, the fans came all the way to Arizona.

Of course the Kappas have seen them, and all are proud to have them in the possession of one of their members—while not the least proud, is the possessor, Mrs. Monroe Rand, the son's wife (Dorothy Fletcher, Phi), who is sending you these dainty photographs that you may have just a glimpse of the fairyland that is portrayed in the realm of fans. Mrs. Rand is president of the Phoenix alumnae association.

From Winnipeg to Tuscaloosa, Helen Sees All, Knows All!

HELEN SNYDER
Beta Pi, Field Secretary

JANUARY 4. By the time you all read this, it will be around the middle of April, and New Year's will surely seem an obsolete thing—at least for 1933—but I must start where I left off before. Seems queer to have written the last letter at Christmas time in Seattle and to be writing this one two months later 'way down south in the land of cotton. I started out my post-vacation scrutinies at home—going out to Beta Pi at the University of Washington for a pleasant day—they have a fine chapter, and things hum along in an efficient way. The house is lovely—always is a thrill to realize that such an attractive place is really the Kappa house. Anne Goodfellow is the chapter finance adviser this year—you'd think she'd almost have had enough of reforming Kappas on finance by the time she had put the finance system over for the fraternity and worked with Beta Pi for years—but that just shows you what a grand loyal person she is.

January 5 found me northward bound for Vancouver, British Columbia, for a most pleasant visit with Gamma Upsilon. If I am particularly partial to them it is because they have been dear to me for a long time—before they were ever Kappas. They are getting along wonderfully this year—better than ever before, in my opinion. Their alumnæ are splendid, and do more charity work than any other association I have visited. The alumnæ and chapter are very close up there, and it is a treat to see how well they work together.

January 8 I was on my way to Berkeley, California, to visit Pi chapter before going east. I crashed right into the midst of mid-year rushing, but it was a small rush and didn't upset things at all. Eleanor Bennet was such fun to see again. The chapter is most attractive, and I thoroughly enjoyed it. The house is as comfortable as any in the fraternity, and beautifully run. It is the only chapter I know of that furnishes all linen, blankets, and even bath mats to the girls. They also serve as fine a table as I have ever seen. The atmosphere is intellectual, I assure you, with three Phi Beta Kappa keys dazzling the eyes, and I understand there are more in the offing.

January 16. Off again for the east, by a very round-about way, however, Walla Walla, Washington (Gamma Gamma chapter, of course—everyone knows that) was the first stop, and I spent a day there just to see how well the Kappas were getting along—and they are doing beautifully. I was highly amused to learn that the Kappa section of the dormitory had its semester inspection the morning I arrived and the matron had been most favorably impressed with the superlative neatness! They all live in dormitories at Whitman, and each group has its section, with a chapter room included—nice arrangement, I think. I like Whitman—fine, wholesome atmosphere prevails, and it is small enough to have a family touch of intimacy and good fellowship.

January 18. Missoula, Montana was beautiful in a covering of snow when I arrived. You'll remember seeing a picture of their attractive house in the last Key. Montana has a fine Kappa chapter, and their house is one of their pet prides. This, too, was just a drop-in visit, but we had a concentrated time—lots of Kappa talk charged the air. I was amused to hear the pledge class dub a member of my generation as an "old Kappa"—perhaps I just feel young. They have a promising layout at Beta Phi this year—grand pledges, enthusiastic alumnae who do everything in the world for them, high standing on the campus, and harmony and fine spirit among themselves.

January 20. After a day of travel across the snowy and cold prairies, leaving rugged parts of Montana, I got to Fargo. This is a portion of the country where Old Man Winter makes bundling up a pleasure. I was thankful for flannel pajamas, bed socks, and a poor overworked fur coat, which served as a coat by day and a blanket by night. The girls at Gamma Tau chapter at Fargo, had no idea I was in their vicinity, as I had planned to go right up to Grand Forks and thence to Winnipeg. I hate to leave any of these chapters out, but I have to if I'm going to cover the ground. However, since train connections were not dovetailing, I had a night in Fargo, for which I was thankful, because I had a chance to see several of the Kappas and also to see their rejuvenated rooms—what wonders paint and recovering of furniture can perform. They are justly proud of their dressed-up quarters. Off on a pokey little train at the crack of dawn.

January 21. What a grand time I had with Lora Harvey George, Beta Pi, who is the big mogul of the history sales campaign. She and her nice husband are in Grand Forks, North Dakota, this winter, and I wouldn't have missed them for the world. Lora has bright ideas about selling the history—if only we could think of some way of getting $4.50 in each Kappa's purse which could easily be transferred to the history sales chairman in exchange for an elegant and enchantingly interesting volume! Besides solving the problems of the Kappa world, and the Phi Gam universe (Bob George is a loyal member of the Fijis), we had a glorious time checking upon all the old Washingtonians.

January 22. It was far in the night when a most unimposing and jerky train, composed of an engine and one coach, painfully toiled into Winnipeg, bearing one rather weary field secretary who was wondering just how cold it really did get in Winnipeg and just how she would weather such bitter cold, and just how the Gamma Sigmas, whom she had seen installed at Breezy Point, had come along. The reception of Helen Hall, Eta, and her husband, and Eldred Curle, chapter president, banished any thought of cold, and the few days spent with the chapter went by in one happy whirl. The chapter is delightful—all-round girls who lead very full lives in and out of school and who are splendid Kappas. They are much elated over a prize pledge class—and I join them in their enthusiasm. The pledges had a lovely luncheon for me at the Winter club. I enjoyed a musicale in the beautiful new auditorium, had a fine evening with the alumnæ—they are all so young and interested—saw the city, participated in an initiation service, had afternoon tea regularly (I like the custom tremendously) and loved their banquet, after which the girls put on a clever stunt. The chapter has a suite near the campus, the scene of much merry gathering—most imposing furniture being an antique piano, a noble relic. I loved my stay in Winnipeg, partly because of the picturesque winter scenes, partly because of the many jolly occasions, but mostly because of the splendid Kappas I met—more and more sold on Canadian chapters!

January 27. Minneapolis, next stop! And Minneapolis means Chi chapter and Alice Barney and family to me. The city was a picture of ice and snow, but it didn't deter the Kappa reception committee from being at the train at dawn to meet me. The chapter had a most ingenious and inspiring scholarship banquet while I was there—especially complimenting those girls who improved their scholastic averages and those who ranked high—and they had clever designations for each class. I've asked them to write up an account of it for THE KEY, which I hope they do, for I think you'd all like to hear of the details. Alice Barney and I had a fast and furious confab about everything in the Kappa world. Florence Westlake was a welcome sight—she has the most engaging personality and the grandest disposition. We got all steamed up over tentative places for convention next time—we all enjoyed the last one so much we can't wait for the next one to come. High light: the Minneapolis symphony orchestra is superb—Ormandy conducting is a rare treat. The Minneapolis Alumnæ board had a pleasant luncheon for me—they do such generous things for the chapter—latest philanthropy is an offer to help improve initiation equipment. The chapter has plans underway for an elegant new chapter room—panelled walls, indirect lighting, and everything.

January 29. Early in the morning a harassed porter called into the train dressing room that "a whole flock of young ladies is outside waitin' fo' you, Miss"—and that was the beginning of my warm reception to Drake university at Des Moines, Iowa—Gamma Theta chapter. The air was charged with rushing electricity all the time I was there—and you can't blame the Kappas for having it on their minds, since, due to a misunderstanding in Panhellenic policies, they were penalized to the extent of no initiation till March, thus making the chapter like a three-ring circus, with a small active chapter, a large group of uninitiated sophomores, and a still larger group of pledges. They do wonderfully well though. They are a very successful chapter in their rushing and represent Kappa most worthily on the Drake campus. The alumnæ had an enjoyable meeting for me, and I was interested to see the large number of Iowa Kappas there—Beta Zeta and Gamma Theta are well represented in Des Moines. It was great to see Winifred Glass, our attractive music chairman. She has a fine idea of improving the chapters' singing—all power to her, for I feel that the girls are closer together when they sing than almost any other time. We went to hear Coe Glade, young and gifted singer, one evening, and came away much thrilled. The high light of the visit was a beautiful banquet for chapter, alumnae, and a guest from each women's fraternity on the campus. It struck a high note of Panhellenic cooperation and interest, and I think was as lovely a banquet as I have ever attended.

I made a trip up to Ames one afternoon during my Drake visit, and had a good visit with our association there. Ames is the site of Iowa State college, where we have no chapter, although there are many other fine nationals there. The campus is perfectly beautiful—even in the muddy month of January this fact was evident—a real test. Fine fraternity houses, attractive college buildings, and beautifully landscaped grounds helped create this effect. The alumnae association has a very diverse membership, and is right up on Kappa matters, despite the fact that the members haven't a chapter to inspire them. I saw many representatives of the women's fraternities at Ames, among them Maxine Blake of Seattle, now assistant executive secretary of Alpha Delta Pi, which has its central office at Ames—Maxine was a "big shot" on the Washington campus, Mortar Board and all that.

February 2. I had a merry day in Chicago, in spite of Ruth Huffman's disgust that I should have chosen Thursday of all days of the week to meet the alumnae there. (You really couldn't expect such an undomestic job to inspire me to think of Thursday as any different from any other day). I was thrilled to see so many of them at the luncheon at Field's. Out of the 22 people there, 12 chapters were represented, even Delta Epsilon at Rollins. I was most happy to meet Sarah Harris Rowe, ex-grand president of Kappa—fully as attractive as I have always heard her described—I hadn't thought it possible for her to come up to the glowing accounts I had heard for so long—and still be human. Would you like to hear the list of chapters represented?—Beta Kappa, Upsilon, Gamma Psi, Delta Gamma, Sigma, Beta Upsilon, Beta Nu, Delta Epsilon, Iota, Beta Lambda and Gamma Theta—how these Kappas do travel and move about—and doesn't the cataloguer and KEY addresser know that! Dorothy Wilson, who used to be president of the province, and I had a grand visit before I had to tear off to my train bound for Columbus.

February 3. I have yet to arrive in Columbus at any hour of the day or night that I am not greeted by the welcome sight of Clara O. at the station. And every time I'm in Columbus, and talk with her, and work with her and play around with her, I appreciate her more and realize what a grand person she is, and how lucky we are to have her holding down such a big job in the fraternity. And that all comes straight from the heart, too. The office is always an enthralling place to be—so much going on, so much to do. The membership-at-large letters with the good-looking province officer pictures, were being mailed out, and plans to circularize the roll for the directory and history are well under way. What a job when you realize there are now 21,000 living Kappas! I had a good visit with the Beta Nus, enjoyed their formal, and shivered out of Columbus (cold spell hit hard) after several enjoyable and profitable days there.

February 9 I saw Omaha for the first time as it really is, instead of judging it from the ravishing view enjoyed from the station. Frances Whitlock, vice-president of the province, and Jo Farquhar, president of the association there, were out to meet me, and after some sightseeing, shopping for valentines, etc., we went to a large alumnæ meeting and luncheon, where everyone seemed most interested in the goings-on of the fraternity. I had a happy time in Omaha. Next time . . . but I should never get around the country if I stopped everywhere as long as I'd enjoy. I was disappointed not to have seen Harriet Baird, Beta Pi, in Omaha, enroute home from a wonderful European tour—we both happened to be in Omaha at the same time, but didn't get together.

February 10 began a gay whirl of activity in Lincoln, Nebraska, where Sigma chapter holds sway in all her glory, past and present. I have always been anxious to see Sigma, after hearing May Westermann talk of so many of its splendid people, and after judging it from the examples I have met in all parts of the country. They have a most comfortable house and a lovely chapter. Life is very full on the Nebraska campus, and the Kappas are right in the thick of things. I was there for a gay week-end of formals, etc., and saw some very intricate and rapid dancing. The difference in dancing in various parts of the country would fill a volume—and keep a girl guessing as to what her partner was going to do next. I think they cover more floor in a short space of time in Des Moines than almost anywhere else. It's good fun to see it all and to try to keep in step. I had a stimulating and delightful luncheon with Dr. Louise Pound, a celebrity at Nebraska of whom the Kappas are justly proud. She is a professor, writer and adept at everything you can mention—and a charming and lovable Kappa and human being at the same time. Another meal of note was supper at Tommy's Ark (Tommy being a Kappa) where the walls are vividly decorated with all sorts of surprising animals. Two pastel bunnies won me completely, although a walrus of no mean proportions was a close second. The banquet given by the alumnæ, and attended by the whole active chapter as well, went off perfectly—even had a clever printed newspaper, original stunt by the chapter, as well as a pledge song—and Helen Branch was the gracious toastmistress. By the way, she and the alumnæ were very hospitable and made my stay most interesting. Helen and I did the capitol one morning—and in my opinion it is the most wonderful public building I have ever seen—beautiful in design, thrilling in its simplicity and perfect proportion, unified in its artistic design throughout, and unusual in its union of beauty and practicality. The mosaics are exquisite and portray the development of civilization as well as culture and life in Nebraska. It is difficult to describe it, but wonderful to see. The Morrill museum there is also a fascinating place, and astounded me with its collection of dinosaur skeletons unearthed right in Nebraska!

February 15. Off to Manhattan, galloping along on a funny little Toonerville trolley contraption which snorted along jerkily over the plains. Nebraska is really an interesting state, not only in geography, but also in the people it has produced—William Jennings Bryan and Willa Cather both lived in Lincoln. Kansas is more rolling in contour, and the weather was especially balmy while I was there. The Kappas at Manhattan are a most loyal and earnest group—and good fun too—living in an attractive brick house with white pillars in front. They have a well-run chapter there, fine attitude toward scholarship, and interesting girls. They too are mighty proud of their pledges. The school is a conservative one—Kansas State—and keeps in close touch with the students. They have a small but live-wire alumnae association there—I wish I had had more time to be with them. A Swarthmore Kappa was proud of the fact that Nora Waln, whose article about China in the February Atlantic had enchanted me so, was also a Kappa from Swarthmore—wish they could get a story about her for THE KEY. I had to tear off before I had stayed half long enough, but I am eager to go back again. Side lights: Kappa had a clever "Pink Lady" stunt in a school vaudeville. A fluffy little owl perched on my window sill the first night I was at Manhattan—they are so Kappa-spirited there, I believe, that the owls find a natural haven with them. Also can't help but mention an intriguing new recipe I just got from Barbara Lautz, chapter president, for "pepper nuts"—wee cookies which are perfectly delicious.

February 17. To Kansas City, for an enjoyable tea with the alumnae in one of their lovely homes, where Mrs. "Founder" Miller was such a happy sight. She is a darling person, and I think thrilled the girls at convention as much as anyone there with her youthfulness of spirit and her alert mind. Anne Arrowsmith, province president, and a grand person, took me under her wing. We had a fine visit and had dinner with a group of Missouri and Kansas Kappas, where Kappa was discussed with great gusto.

February 18. It seemed like a homecoming to greet all the attractive Omega Kappas at the train and to spend several happy days with them. I had been there earlier in the year for their rushing, and enjoyed seeing so naturally a part of the chapter the freshmen who a few months before had been prize rushees. They have a most comfortable house at Kansas, high up over the city, and just a stone's throw from the campus. We went to a basketball triumph—Kansas over Iowa State—and saw Dr. Neysmith, director of physical education and the originator of basketball, presented with a gift in appreciation of his contribution to athletics. Junior Coen, one of the finest tennis players in the country and a student at Kansas, made a speech at the game—nice chap. Fraternities at Kansas and Kansas State are much excited over the recent decision to make them taxable property—heretofore they have paid no taxes, and since they must now pay for three years in one lump they are pretty hard pressed. I enjoyed meeting the Lincoln alumnae at tea—those who were not ill from some prevalent flu, etc.—and had an interesting chat with Chancellor Lindley. The New England traditions back of Kansas are most interesting.

February 21.—Back to Austin, Texas, for another grand reunion. On the way down, I saw Anne Arrow-smith and her husband who were nice enough to bid me bon voyage at Kansas City—had a warm feeling when I went through Dallas—I had such a fine time there last year and regret my lack of time prevented my stopping there, and at Fort Worth and Wichita Falls this year. They are a most charming and spontaneous chapter at Texas, informal and wonderfully gracious hostesses. They have fixed up their house greatly this year. Rushing has just concluded and the new pledges are the pride of the chapter's heart. The Texas campus is growing more and more beautiful—10 new buildings under construction, including a Union building and a new memorial marks the entrance. I saw one of their "Germans"—informal dances given every Saturday at the gym. It is always a pleasure to see the Austin alumnae, who work marvelously with the chapter. The chapter is coming right along in grand shape—I'm very fond of this chapter.

February 24. Houston, Texas, and its interesting alumnae association had me agog all day. Lyndell Wortham was my hostess, and she had a most enjoyable program outlined for me when I arrived. I lunched with a large group of alumnae, saw the city with its many beautiful residences, and loved meeting and chatting with so many good Kappas. I was glad to meet Jessie Lee Rembert Willis, Beta Pi, but for years a Texas resident. I went away from Texas with a very warm spot in my heart for the Kappas there. I think in Houston they are exceptional in their rushing help and cooperation with the chapters to which Houston girls go.

February 25. All roads lead to New Orleans in Mardi Gras season, it seems. The whole city was swarming with people for the balls and the carnival. Kappas were prominent in the social whirl of the balls, and one of the pledges was queen of Apollo—I think that was the name of the ball—the night before I arrived. I loved seeing the Beta Omicron girls again, being on the Newcomb campus, and seeing the alumnae. We had a lovely tea at the Logans', and got much into one short day. It was a real treat to see Florence Pierson again—she accomplishes more with greater ease than any person I know.

February 26 came very early—at 5:15 A.M. to be exact, before the stars had left a dark sky, and it found a sleepy and blinking field secretary climbing off the train at Tuscaloosa, Alabama. Gamma Pi chapter was not to be outdone, however—if their guest insisted on arriving that early in the morning, they must show their grand southern hospitality and be at hand to issue a greeting—and to Isabel Kimbrough and Juliette Morgan I bow for such a performance. The south is indeed an enchanting part of the country, and I find myself listening as a person charmed to their southern drawl, and admiring their easy manner of living. The Kappa house is white Colonial with pillars and green shutters, and the chapter is lovely. They have been first in scholarship here for the last eight or nine years—and how they do it with such good fun socially and doing so much on campus is beyond me—just plain smart, I think. They surely have come right up to the top here—five years ago, when they made their debut on the campus, they started working toward this goal and they have surely done wonders in attaining it. It was great fun to visit them. The university is over 100 years old, has a most imposing campus, and draws students from all over the country.

March 1 will find me in Birmingham. From there I go to Atlanta, Winter Park, and Miami in Florida, up to Durham, North Carolina, Williamsburg and Richmond, Virginia, and Washington—then back to the mid-west for a while before going to the east coast again.

Queen's Progress to Northwestern

By BETTY MALLOY, Beta Nu

ACCOMPANYING Jane Berry, Ohio State's and Beta Nu's beauty queen, to the Northwestern charity ball, I found three Kappas among the beauty queens from the "Big Ten" universities: Loretta White from Upsilon chapter at Northwestern; Marlys Hanson, a pledge of Chi chapter at the University of Minnesota; and Jane Berry of Beta Nu chapter at Ohio State university.

We spent a busy afternoon, Friday.

Jane had numerous things to do, the most important, and probably the most tiring, being posing for enthusiastic photographers and speaking over the radio. That evening we arrived at the Aragon ballroom at 11:45 o'clock, thinking that we were a whole half-hour early—for Jane had understood that she didn't have to make her appearance until 12:15 o'clock. Imagine our embarrassment when we were literally mobbed at the entrance by the boys who were in charge of the affair! It seems that everyone was waiting for Jane, as we were only two hours late!

They snatched Jane from us and took her to a little room where they were taking more pictures of the girls.

Prize beauties of the Big Ten Conference held in Chicago recently at the annual Northwestern Charity Ball. Here are the entries with the winner, Blanche Waddell, of Illinois. Seated, left to right: Geraldine Mitchell, Chicago; Jette Le Luellen, Wisconsin, and Loretta White, Chicago. Left to right, standing: Marlys Hanson, Minnesota; Josephine Dorsett, Indiana; Jane Berry, Ohio; Lillian Peterson, Purdue; Ruth Katter, Iowa; Mary Phillips, Michigan, and Miss Waddell.

While we were waiting for her, I had a chance to look around and discover where I was. The hall was simply huge and very lovely, indeed. The music of Bernie Cummins and Wayne King was, to quote Queen Jane, "Simply divine!" Soon we were escorted to a long table reserved for the "queens" and their parties. The judges' table was next to ours, so that they could watch the girls in every move they made. Ben Bernie, who was to be master of ceremonies, was late and the judges, rather bored with the affair, were threatening to leave without giving him their decision. He arrived, however, as the hero in a romance, just in time; and the real event of the evening began.

Each of the 10 girls was introduced individually and then he announced the queen: Blanche Waddell, "Miss Illinois," a Theta.

We were all royally entertained by Ben Bernie at the famous College inn, Saturday night. About midnight, "the Maestro" introduced all the queens to the rest of the guests at the inn. Soon after that the whole party left and went upstairs to "The Bal Tabarin" to spend the remainder of the night—and morning, if they so desired. This was indeed an attractive place and we all were having such a marvelous time that we hated to leave. But the clock was ticking steadily away and we were rather exhausted after such an exciting week-end. Therefore, as soon as Jane had been introduced to the admiring public, we made a reluctant departure.

The whole week-end was simply a dream. The Northwestern boys and girls made charming hosts and hostesses. Loretta White, who must certainly be the pride and joy of the Northwestern Kappas, acted as hostess to the queens and their parties and she was indeed lovely—a perfect example of feminine charm.

The Cat's Whiskers

BECAUSE the Rose McGill fund exists to help Kappas in temporary distress, a certain 11-year-old lad has been able to go on with his school work. Recently he had the mark of A plus for this little story on "How the Cat Got His Whiskers."

"Many many years ago the cat had no whiskers, but was a very strong animal and thought he was the king of the beasts. The cat had not been out to see the world and so one day he started on a trip. The cat had not gone far when he came to a very small path. he stoped, for just ahead of him stood a small porcupine. The cat thinking it such a small animal called to it to get out of his road, but the porcupine said nothing. Finely the cat grew very bold and came forward untill he was just a foot away from the porkpine and there he stoped. The porcupine being mad briseld up his long spines and ran right into the cat and stuck him on the nose. The cat jerked back and ran home howling with pain. When he got home he discoverd that some long spines were still sticking in his nose he tried in vain to pull them out but he could not. He worked and worked with them for a long time so that they finely became long soft whiskers. So finley the cat grew to like them, and that is how the cat got his whiskers."

There's imagination and dramatic sense for you! Kappa is glad for the chance to make life a bit more serene for the mother of such a boy.

Seventh Conference of Urban Panhellenics Favors Early Rushing

By MARY SPOONER, Chi

CONGENIAL old Syracuse was the scene of the seventh annual conference of Urban Panhellenics the week-end of February 10-12. While the convention itself proved worth-while, it was the friendly hospitality of Beta Tau that made it unforgettably pleasant. It is when one has the opportunity to visit a chapter of our fraternity other than her own that she begins to realize that fraternity has a wider and deeper meaning than the Kappa spirit which she enjoys in her group of 25 or 50 sisters.

Virginia Wartman of Zeta Tau Alpha, president of this year's convention, had planned a broad and interesting program which covered, in discussions, such problems as: "The Adjustment of Dues During This Time of Depression"; "Criticisms of Fraternities—Clannishness, Scholarship, Politics, Extravagance—and How to Meet Them"; "The Best Kind of Rushing for an Urban University"; "Philanthropic Projects for Panhellenic Groups"; and "The Problem of Establishing an Average-size Chapter on the Campus."

It was clearly the consensus of opinion that there must be some drastic reductions in the demands made upon fraternity members, and some measures for financial help established, both by active and alumnae groups and by Panhellenic bodies. The Minnesota Panhellenic has been able, this year, to give seven $100 scholarships from an amount of money which was an accumulation of a few years' profits from the yearly spring ball. Cuts in board and social tax were generally recommended. Likewise it was urged that fraternity groups should not be under heavy obligation to Panhellenic. Most groups have cut chapter dues as much as five or ten dollars.

By a showing of hands at the close of the discussion on rushing it was seen that the preference for "early rushing" is two to one among the members of the conference. At this point, Miss Amy Onken, national president of Pi Beta Phi, chairman of collegiate Panhellenics, reiterated the stand taken by the last national congress for an early, open rush period.

Reports showed that fraternities have been utilizing their power to help meet the needs of the hour. Their activities range from story-telling to children to organized sewing for the Red Cross to caring for families with the food saved from the day's meals.

The University of Pittsburgh, which held the first conference seven years ago, boasts the most highly and efficiently organized Panhellenic group. Pittsburgh has never had to run counter to a disapproving administration or an unfriendly city press, as had been the hindering experience of the Panhellenic at Toronto. She has been fortunate enough to have the encouragement of the faculty at Pitt, and to be accepted without reservation as a vital aspect of university life. In such an atmosphere, Panhellenic at Pitt has assumed the proportions of W.S.G.A. or the Y.W.C.A. as it exists on most of the urban campuses. It is the purpose of the organization to help young women find friendship and happiness in a large student body. Pittsburgh seldom steps out of this rôle to participate in other activities.

Our hostess, Syracuse, planned a good time as well as a profitable one, and took us to afternoon tea with her alumnae members, then to dinner and theater as a group on the first evening. At the dinner in an address by the dean of the home economics department of the university an interesting challenge to college women was made. She stated without qualification that on the whole the women who have had the advantages of college education have done little or nothing toward the betterment of the home. Our mothers and our grandmothers, without these advantages, made more of the home than we have so far proved ourselves capable of doing.

The convention closed Saturday evening with a delightful banquet and a dance, and I reluctantly packed my things to catch a west-bound train at two o'clock.

The Greek=Letter Joneses

NATIONAL PANHELLENIC PUBLICITY
COMMITTEE 1931-33—FIFTH RELEASE

By HELEN C. BOWER, K K Γ, Editor

BEFORE the "crash" of 1929 there was an expression current in American slang, "keeping up with the Joneses."

It meant that in every neighborhood, in every class, there was a hypothetical Jones family which bought a new car, or took a long trip, or wore fine clothes. Their behavior made their neighbors assume the obligation to prove their own affluence by purchasing better automobiles, traveling some hundreds of miles further, or buying more elegant clothes. When the Joneses began to speculate in the stock market, the neighbors had to try it, too.

Aside from its financial phases, the practice of keeping up with the Joneses worked great harm to the ideals of all those involved. Life had a purely material basis. The dollar was indeed almighty, and a man's worth was measured solely by the number of his dollars and the spectacular use he could make of them.

But since 1929 the American people have been forced to readjust their sense of values. The Joneses and all their imitators have been brought face to face with reality. Paper fortunes have vanished; the economic world is upside-down.

And what has this to do with the fraternity world?

In varying degrees present conditions have affected fraternities financially. Some groups have found it necessary to postpone their conventions. Some are having difficulty in maintaining their chapter houses.

With that phase, however, we are not here so much concerned.

We are wondering whether the fraternities in general have not suffered otherwise from the common desire to keep up with the Joneses.

Those who have intimate knowledge of great national fraternities know that each one has taken on the proportions of a large-scale enterprise. Every group has its central office, its countless business details, and its magazine to interpret that fraternity to the Greek letter world. This is as it must be.

Yet out of the growth of individual fraternities has developed a natural competition. This has been expressed in the building of handsome, expensive chapter houses. It has resulted in a not-infrequent tendency to rush "material" because a girl has a background of wealth and influence. It has made rushing difficult for fraternities which are not as magnificently housed as others on a given campus. It has meant that often groups must rush against a house until it is a question whether or not they are choosing members with an eye to advantages in the material sense, as distinct from the spiritual or idealistic, rather than selecting them as material from which a group of splendid personalities may be built.

Armed with a good-looking house and an important membership, a chapter may next set out either to be, or to keep up with, the campus Joneses by going out for activities: Intrinsically there should be no harm in this. But the danger is insidious. Over a period of years the material ideal tends to dominate, until the contest becomes solely one of getting the greatest number of Big Women on Campus within one fraternity group.

If the fraternity system is to be a valuable educational adjunct, if it is to "prove itself worthy or cease to exist," its individual members must think back to their beginnings, and think seriously.

Why were fraternities organized?

Their histories show that they were the outgrowth of a natural instinct for kindred spirits to join in company. They were inspired by ideals of true brotherhood. The pioneers were founded in an age when every college student had a classical education which turned his thoughts toward the Greek philosophies and directed the choice of Greek letters for a name. Greek divinities became the patron gods and goddesses. The members met in their homes or in college class rooms. They were concerned with the cultural improvement of one another and with social intercourse intensified by their common bond.

The growth and advancement of the fraternity system, the increased number of Greek letter societies among college men and women, is proof that the ideals of the early founders were sound. As fraternities exist today they are truly "the outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace."

But it should be their business now to dwell more upon the inward and spiritual grace than upon its outward and visible signs. In the face of all that is happening in the world beyond the colleges, it behooves fraternities to take stock of their own values.

Are they following the wise guidance of their patron gods and goddesses? or, are they following after the false gods of a material world? Are they building upon the firm rocks of scholarship, genuine comradeship, courage, intelligence, and loyalty? or, are they slipping and sliding across the sands in an effort to "keep up with the Joneses"?

"Fraternities Should Not Be Abolished" New York "Times" Writer Learns

ALTHOUGH the college fraternity has for many years been a topic for discussion, the arguments for and against have usually been confined to educational circles. Consequently, it was interesting to note a feature story in The New York Times Magazine for February 19 with the heading: "Reappraising the College Fraternity—Greek-Letter Societies, Again Under Attack, Are Weighed and They Are Found Not Wanting."

The "attack" had come from an undergraduate publication at Columbia university which, of course, provided the local angle for the feature. But H. I. Brock, author of the article, sent inquiries to representative colleges in all parts of the United States.

"The answer was this: Fraternities should not be abolished, if for no other reason than that they could not be abolished at present without substitute groupings of undergraduates promptly taking their places," wrote Mr. Brock.

"These substitute groupings would lack the traditions of the existing organizations, their alumni backing and the control over them thus indirectly exercised. They would lack also the powerful incentive which consciousness of historic continuity (even in terms of college generations) gives toward a line of conduct decently respectful of public opinion and regardful of accepted standards — including, of course, local academic standards. The new groups, more accidental and less responsible, would be less in tune with the college spirit, if not with purely academic aims."

Mr. Brock makes the point in regard to campus politics that the "same sort of thing happens in colleges without fraternities and with only the local organizations which local conditions have produced."

He repeats the familiar truth that for many years fraternities have contributed to a solution of campus housing problems. But while he notes a growth of the dormitory system, in one instance "so great is the hold of the fraternity system on this particular university that the building of fraternity houses is being coordinated with the general scheme of dormitory buildings—the chapters becoming lessees of university property within the university-ruled area and thus coming under more direct university control."

Another one of the universities questioned replied that in addition to the housing factor the fraternities were credited with "Conserving the best traditions of the institution, vitalizing the honor system, producing leaders in the undergraduate body (though this is not being done so effectively of late) and forming an important link between alumni and desirable matriculates."

In smaller colleges, Mr. Brock reported that the fraternities were even more highly regarded, "and the fraternities are credited with raising the level of scholarship and of serious college endeavor generally."

Reviewing the situation at Columbia more particularly, he concludes that the number of fraternities is tending to decrease, "chiefly because of financial pressure." The strongest and fittest will survive. But aside from this present and, one hopes, temporary consideration, the fraternity system, "a peculiar American institution," stands forth fully justified, a system "so generally diffused that it is an integral part of college life in all but a few of the institutions of so-called higher learning in the country. The exceptions are mainly institutions peculiar in themselves, like Harvard, Yale, and Princeton . . . or the Naval and Military Academies."

Wyoming, Where Kappas Are Winners

OUT in Wyoming, dude ranches to the contrary, the college students do not ride to school on "cayuses" or College life there is like college life everywhere else, and the Gamma Omicron Kappas have a share in the honors on the Laramie campus.

Lois Buck was attendant to the junior prom queen; and Jean Balensiefer was elected to Iron Skull, sophomore honorary, and to the presidency of Spurs.

William DeWitt Hyde, in Delta Kappa Epsilon Quarterly, defines a college education:

To be at home in all lands and ages; to count nature a familiar acquaintance and art an intimate friend; to gain a standard for the appreciation of other men's work and the criticism of your own; to carry the keys of the world's library in your pocket, and feel its resources behind you in whatever you undertake; to make hosts of friends among the men of your age who are to be leaders in all walks of life; to lose yourself in generous enthusiasms and co-operate with others for common ends—this is the offer of the college for the best four years of your life.

JEAN BALENSIEFER

Scholarship Importance Stressed by Chapter

By BETTY GAY BAXTER, Chi

CHI CHAPTER has recently introduced a new idea, in which we feel that other chapters may be interested. For several years past we have tried mildly punitive measures to impress upon our chapter the importance of scholarship. But we have felt that these were not a success, because they were lacking in results, and also because they seemed to lay a false emphasis on things which had really not much connection with scholarship.

Isobel Gregory, scholarship chairman, introduced the new idea, and we used the occasion of Helen Snyder's recent visit to put it into effect for the first time. The principle upon which we are working is to give recognition and reward for achievement, rather than punishment for failure. We plan to have each quarter a scholarship banquet, at which we will honor the classes and individuals who have achieved the highest standing during the previous quarter. Considerable emphasis will be placed on class standings, and competition between classes is an important feature. Improvement will also be recognized, so that girls who cannot attain very high grades will still have something definite to work for.

The first scholarship banquet was a formal dinner. We were seated by classes, and each class was arranged according to the relative standings of its members. During the dinner, the highest ranking member of each class was called up to pin the emblem of her class in its place in the "row of honor" on the mantel—first the tam o' shanter which represents the junior women on our campus; next the mortar board of the seniors; thirdly the sophomore pin-afore; and finally the freshman bib-and-tucker. The members of each class also received badges to show the standing of their class.

The girls who had stood highest in the entire chapter, and who had made the greatest improvement, were given special recognition. Our effort is to throw attention upon those who have done well, rather than those who have done poorly, so as to substitute a desire to secure approbation, for any feeling of shame which might be aroused by pointing out those who had not done well.

states, was the leader of the discussion.

Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, engineer and writer; Dr. William Jay Schieffelin, chairman of the Citizens union, New York; and Dr. James T. Shotwell, professor of history, Columbia university, and director of the division of economics and history of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, were the speakers of the evening session, devoted to the "Responsibility of the Colleges and the Universities in Training for Public Service." Miss Marguerite Winant, vice-president of the Panhellenic House association, and grand president of Delta Gamma, presided and Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, noted suffragist, led the discussion. Mrs. A. Barton Hepburn spoke greetings at both sessions.

It was voted that an educational conference be held each year, sponsored by the Panhellenic.

The "Grand Tour," Modern Version

By MARY HATFIELD, Gamma Theta

BON VOYAGE—the gangplank's up! My first trip abroad—Europe! The pier was crowded, friends and relatives waving and cheering and we were slipping away, the pier was receding, we were gliding by the mystic skyline of New York.

The Statue of Liberty faded in the distance, then the islands in the harbor and the shore lines of Jersey and Long Island were dotted with lights. I decided I had better go see who my roommate was—for I was on my own, all alone; it was great—everything new and different—a complete change, surprises—it came to me just like that. And lady luck was with me, for the roommate filled all specifications as well as if she had been hand-picked.

The next six days were a whirl.

We docked at Southampton and our first glimpse of England as we rode through Devon was all I had conjured up for it. The rolling green, the lovely trees, the estates—the cows for Devonshire cream! And so to London, historic, varied London, from its misty Limehouse to its smart Pall Mall. We saw it, all we could, from the "changing guards at Buckingham Palace," to Noel Coward's Cavalcade.

The trip to the Shakespeare country was an eye-opener—how could it be more exactly as one pictures it—hawthorne hedges, thatched cottages, neat villages, ivy-clad Kenilworth in ruins, enchanting Warwick which Scott calls "the fairest monument of ancient and chivalrous splendor which yet remains uninjured by time." Then Shutterly, Anne Hathaway's cottage, a picture house, and a mile away by the footpath which Shakespeare did a wooing take, is his birthplace at Stratford-on-Avon.

Then one night we took the boat to funny quaint Holland. As we drove into The Hague from the Hook of Holland, we saw the wooden shoes outside the doors, and at Volendam the costumes, curious and old.

Every day was different. Every day new thrills. It is just a few hours from Amsterdam to Brussels, and there we were in the royal city of Belgium, with its castle, its famous Hotel de Ville (court house to us, Miss America—not a hotel!) and its guild houses.

Our introduction to Germany was Cologne with its cathedral of cathedrals. From there we went on to Coblenz, where we took the boat up the castled Rhine—with its lure of legend and the Lorelei. We visited Wiesbaden, the ex-Kaiser's favorite spa, and romantic Heidelberg, home of the Student Prince. We motored through the "Black Forest" via the Rhine Falls and Zurich to Lucerne in the heart of Switzerland on beautiful Lake Lucerne. Switzerland is a fairyland of clear blue lakes and snow-crowned peaks, with tiny chalets nestled in the mountainsides. And what chocolate; and what honey from the Alps!

We stopped over at Milan to see the cathedral and Leonardo da Vinci's "Last Supper." Then to Venice. I wonder whether other people didn't really believe the Venice streets are canals, that you stepped into your gondola to get to your hotel from the station? There isn't any way to describe Venice. Sorry, but you will just have to go there yourself. You'll have to see St.

Mark's square and go lazing along the grand canal with the music floating from every corner, and go swimming at the Lido to know what it is all about. Florence is easier to describe, for the art is tangible and the shopping is devastating. And Rome—well, I got more ancient history in the 15 minutes summary our lecturer gave us when we were standing on the Pincian hill with all Rome on its seven hills (we were standing on one of them!) spread out before us than I had been able to absorb before from my books. Maybe it is because I am lacking that way—but my history and art and appreciation of both are so much more vivid and real now that I have seen with my own eyes and heard with my own ears.

At Genoa we saw Christopher Columbus' house and the cemetery that looks more like a museum of sculpture than a cemetery. Then we skirted the coasts of the Mediterranean, along the Italian and French Rivas to Nice. It made me wish I could be rich and jaded—could luxuriate for a season or two, right here on the French Riviera at Nice, with Monte Carlo a mere hour away via the Corniche drive and the bluest of the blue Mediterranean at my front door. If Paris had not been in the offing, they would have lost me here. But I had to go on to Paris—and I was right, for to me Paris is the most fascinating and charming.

Whether you have been there or not, you know about Paris. That is, you know about the book stalls, and the Eiffel tower and the Champs Elysees and the Tuilleries and the Louvre. You know about the shops and the side walk cafes and the restaurants. But only those who have been, know that charm and fascination; only they know how those hors d'oeuvres and those French pastries taste. You just must go to Paris to know.

And knowing, am I glad I went? Not only to Paris, but to all the other places I have told about? Yes, and a thousand times, yes. What material possession could mean half as much as that experience and those memories? I don't know what I got the most out of—whether it was education or fun—but why match one against the other for on the trip they were blended beautifully. We used our swimming suits and dancing frocks as much as we did our sightseeing shoes.

I wish I could do it all over again this summer. Exactly as I did it last year. The same people, the same places, the same things. I wouldn't want to change any of it. I call it the perfect trip, so it was rightly named the Kappa tour.

Alumnae Letters

Edited by MRS. DAVID ROBESON, 3925 Leybourne Avenue, Toledo, Ohio

Alpha Province

Boston—Established 1918

Our Christmas reunion came December 30, a supper party with Mrs. Clarence C. Smith (Dorothy Wellington), as hostess. Business and an entertainment of music and readings followed the supper. The party, otherwise a happy one, was shadowed by the sad news of the death of Mrs. David A. Palmer (Mary L. Lowden).

January 20 at the College club in Boston we had the pleasure of hearing Mrs. Lucy Franklin, dean of women at Boston university, speak on "The Lost Art of Conversation." She believes the art is reviving in colleges, and finds an encouraging interest among students in discussion and exchange of opinion. We were glad to assure her that Kappa is in line. Phi has enjoyed such discussion as a feature of chapter meetings this year.

We meet next for Phi's initiation, February 25, at the home of Emily Bright Burnham. As this is the day when THE KEY letter goes into the mail, the secretary regretfully gives up the pleasure of describing the occasion for the April number.

Personals

Marion Selee gave a concert January 4 at Jordan hall, Boston. Her singing was well received by the critics and especially enjoyed by many Kappa hearers.

Mrs. Mark A. Lawton (Elizabeth Morse) won the prize given in January by the Village players for the best play (The Kind Robber), written by a resident of Newton, Massachusetts. Mrs. Lawton took one of the parts in this comedy of Spanish life.

ELLA A. TITUS

Boston Intercollegiate—Chartered 1924

Boston Intercollegiates held their January meeting and evening party at the home of Mrs. F. H. Andres (Laura Beazell, Iota), and daughter, Martha (Iota). Assisting hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Frederick Fish (Harriet Myers, Gamma Lambda), Mrs. John Wamsley (Mary Singleton, Iota), and Mrs.

Philip French (Helen Stokes, Iota). Anita Andres told of her experiences on a European tour from which she had just returned.

The evening's entertainment consisted of a lively description, illustrated by moving and colored pictures, of their trip to the Pacific coast, given by Dr. and Mrs. Granville Crabtree (Edith Reese, Beta Gamma). Charades and games filled the rest of the evening. Mrs. Leonard Marcussen (Barbara Crosby, Psi), had charge of the charades and Mrs. Frederick Fish, with many able assistants, of the refreshments.

Since our number has grown so large we divide hospitality privileges by allowing the receiving hostess no responsibility, except for her house, her assistants preparing and serving the refreshments.

A dainty luncheon given by our president, Mrs. Granville Crabtree, to the executive board was another January Kappa get-together.

The February meeting was at the home of Mrs. Frank E. Duddy (Neva Warfel, Iota); Mrs. Robert Kelly (Lucy Barrow, Gamma Kappa), Mrs. John W. Beal, (Irene Boyer, Beta Lambda), Mrs. H. M. Weddle (Esther Bales, Gamma Alpha), and Mrs. Leonard Marcussen assisting. Songs by Mrs. Frank Duddy, and piano solos by Evelyn Poston (Mu) made an enjoyable program.

We miss Mrs. C. F. Kitchell (Alice Webster, Beta Tau), who, with her husband, is in Florida for the winter.

Mrs. Donald C. McKay (Ruth Capess, Beta Alpha), writes of her enjoyment of life at the Sorbonne, and of her opportunity to enlarge her international understanding through social contacts.

We are glad to welcome Georgia McCollister (Beta Zeta), and Katheryn (Beta Iota) who are now students at Simmons college in Boston.

LAURA E. BEAZELL ANDRES

Middlebury—Established 1923

For about the second time this winter Vermont has provided a glorious snow-storm to serve as a background for the many brilliantly colored ski-suits every girl has been longing to display. Their approval of the weather is quite evident.

We are proud of the athletic prowess of Middlebury just now since our victory in the recent state ski-meet and because we are the runner-up for the State basketball championship.

Many of you will be interested to hear the final news regarding the fraternity situation on campus. It is clearly set forth in the following official statement: "A moratorium upon sororities was declared last year by the Panhellenic council at the request of the sorority members in college. It was the understanding that if at the end of this period a sufficient number of sorority members wished this to become final through whatever steps were necessary, this would be done. The number of sorority members desiring the abolition of sororities being insufficient and the administration concurring in this judgment, the restrictions placed upon the sororities by their own wish are hereby removed, and the regulation of sororities handed back to the Panhellenic council subject to such regulations as have hitherto existed." So rushing will probably start in the near future.

Mrs. James F. McNaboe and Mrs. Ernest Railsbach spent a week-end here recently and were informally entertained by some of the town Kappas.

Ruth E. Quigley has a new position as recreation leader at St. Anthony's guild, Paterson, New Jersey. Her address is 391 Main street, Paterson, New Jersey.

Mrs. Carlos Cook (Helen Clark, '10) died suddenly February 9, at her home in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. She is survived by her husband and two children, Carlos, Jr., and Elizabeth.

Helen Ethel Bradley was married September 5, 1932, to Edward De Noyon. Their address now is University school, Station East, Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Kenneth Clough (Harriet Fillmore) has a daughter, Patricia Fillmore, born December 18, 1932.

Mrs. Reginald Savage (Dorothy Taylor) has another son, Robert E., born December 8, 1932.

GERALDINE W. BURNS

Syracuse—Established 1903

Each meeting finds our attendance increasing and enthusiasm running higher. January 23 we met at the home of Mrs. Edwin Yarwood (Irene Johnson), approximately 35 were present at this time. After a short business meeting we were entertained by a program of instrumental music; later refreshments were served.

Our only money-making scheme this month was a bake sale at one of the local stores. This was directed by Mrs. Dana Kingsbury (Marylou Wakefield), assisted by Frances Sander-son.

Our last meeting was February 20 at the chapter house. Everyone enjoyed meeting with the active girls and hearing directly, college and fraternity news. They were most generous in their entertainment of piano and vocal solos and readings.

Marriage

December 13, Marylou Wakefield to Dana C. Kingsbury. Mr. Kingsbury is assistant manager of the Kresge store in Syracuse. They are living at 816 James street.

Births

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Olsen (Dorothea Bohmanson, '26).

A daughter, Marilyn Irene, to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Withers (Irene Whitford, '29).

A son, Howard Bruce to Mr. and Mrs. Drew Flagle (Dorothy Polmenberg, '29).

Beta Iota alumnae have been having a busy and happy time with numerous activities. Our informal sewing circle is still functioning industriously, but we have become so interested that we now meet twice a month. This work is being done for the American Friends' service committee.

In January a benefit card party was given by a committee headed by Hallie Douglas. It was held in the Kappa lodge on the Swarthmore campus Friday evening, January 27, and included all of the husbands and beaux.

Saturday afternoon, February 11, the alumnae met for luncheon and a business meeting at the home of Harriet Widing in Willow Grove. We had a delightful time in Harriet's charming home and were especially honored to have as our guests at this time Rheva Ott Shryock, Lambda province president, and Mrs. McNaboe, national director of provinces.

Our movie benefit and rummage sale are now in the offing—in fact, committees for this are already chosen, and hard at work—lots more to tell you about this in our next letter.

Marriage

Dorothy Varian, '22, to Royal McGeorge.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McCurdy (Charlotte Goette), a daughter, Nancy Boyd.

To Mr. and Mrs. William Bowler (Dorothy Anderson, '22), a daughter, Elizabeth Ann.

GRACE M. DUNN

New York—Established 1896

Very appropriately the "youngsters" took charge of our first 1933 meeting. With youthful enthusiasm they planned a bridge, Tuesday evening, January 10, for the benefit of an emergency fund to help Kappas in New York. The fund got a good start and everyone had a good time. The N.Y.C. Panhellenic kindly gave us the use of a club room.

Saturday, February 18, we met again at the Panhellenic; this time for a luncheon in the ball-room which was made cheerfully informal by a fire crackling in the grate. Katherine Jewell Everts, Chi, spoke on "Human Relations," asking us to join her in a helpful consideration of present day problems. Turning from this serious discussion, Miss Everts ended the afternoon with a delightful reading.

The meetings at the Panhellenic have been made especially pleasant through the thoughtfulness of the new manager, Mrs. E. J. Durand (Sue Stone, Theta).

Our program committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Guy H. Tolman (Bertha Hirshburg, Phi) has endeavored to plan a spring program that is both interesting and worthwhile.

Death

Chester B. Masslich, husband of Lucy Shuman, Upsilon, January 17.

BEATRICE STONE BUCK

Philadelphia—Established 1900

Martha Tinker and Celeste Bailey were the hostesses at our tea for the pledges January 15 at Martha's home, a delightfully informal way to become acquainted with our pledges.

Catherine Bohlen has received her M.A. at George Washington university.

Georgina Yeatman took part in the January air races in Miami.

Mrs. Hunter Boardman (Alice Rump) started on a Mediterranean cruise February 9 with Hunter and her father.

Jane Harshburger is taking a graduate course in physical education at Wellesley.

The initiation banquet February 25 at the Penn A.C. lived up to all expectations. Margah Togood Flood was the toastmistress and Mrs. Richard Shryock (Rheva Ott) was the guest of honor. A dance followed the banquet.

Our next meeting will be "Kappa talent evening" at the Kappa house March 15.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pharo (Margaret Sharpless), a son, Donald, January 1933.

To Mr. and Mrs. John Woll (Ruth Crothers), a son, Peter, January 6, 1933.

Engagements

Frances Decker to Robert Addison Nicolls, Kappa Sigma, Johns Hopkins university.

Mildred Gregg to Frank Loescher, University of Pennsylvania.

Eleanor Stevens to Charles Bohmer, Theta Chi, University of Pennsylvania.

Edna Lockhart to Royden Astley, Delta Chi, University of Pennsylvania.

EDNA ROBINSON

Pittsburgh—Established 1919

Virginia Niemann gave a tea for Mrs. Sewell W. Hodge, Beta Province president, Saturday, January 14. We all enjoyed meeting Mrs. Hodge and hope she returns to Pittsburgh soon again.

Gamma Rho members were our hostesses at the January luncheon. That day we all enjoyed the play review of Design For Living given by Mrs. Harold Latham (Phyllis Newlands) and the one-act play given by the Senior Play Production class of the Wilkinsburg high school under the direction of Charlotte McMurray.

Ann Bloomgren was chairman of the Panhellenic benefit bridge February 4 in Webster hall.

Mrs. Norman Hartman (Gertrude Clark) was in charge of the Valentine reunion bridge Saturday, February 18, in the Pittsburgh Athletic club.

We are all sorry that Mrs. Howard Krick (Willa Dorning) is moving away from Pittsburgh. She expects to make her home in New Haven, Connecticut.

Mildred Wakefield and Nancy Bullions are living at 20 Charles Street, New York city.

Engagement

Charlotte McMurray, Gamma Epsilon, '28, to Elmer J. Kidney, Phi Gamma Delta, University of Pittsburgh.

Marriage

Mary Ray, Gamma Epsilon, '29, to William T. McKee, Phi Delta Theta, University of Pittsburgh.

The greatest news of the month is the splendid record Beta Rho has made in the number of its initiates. Seventeen girls became our future sisters on our traditional date, February 22. It is the largest group ever to have been initiated since the founding of Beta Rho. The theme of the banquet was appropriately called a "Kappa Symphony." Mrs. Elsie Wilson was toastmistress. Each speaker took as the inspiration for her message, a well known Kappa song. Lucille Gassman, Elinor Gebhardt, Dorothy Lewis, Mildred Koop, and Helen Hanselmann sang each song as it preceded the speaker. The banquet was held in the main dining room of the Maketewah Country club. It was a delightful way of familiarizing ourselves with local Kappa history and personalities.

Engagements

Corrine Schieffle to Herbert Winans, Beta Theta Pi.

Enolia Chambers to E. B. Heile, Phi Delta Theta.

Birth

To Mr. and Mrs. Ned Hayes (Elsie Shewman, a daughter).

CHARLOTTE B. GARVIN

Cleveland—Established 1901

November 11, the Cleveland alumnae were entertained at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. M. A. Blankenhorn (Martha Taggart, Beta Gamma). Hostesses were alumnae of Wooster and Allegheny colleges. Miss Isabella Thoburn, granddaughter of the well-known Methodist Episcopal bishop, gave a talk on "Experiences in India."

The December supper party was held at the home of Eleanor Ferguson, (Rho). Ohio Wesleyan alumnae were hostesses. Each guest brought a contribution of food or clothing which was later used to give Christmas cheer to three families known to the associated charities. A musical program was presented by Mrs. A. L. Scaife (Elizabeth Robertson, Rho), violinist; Marie Stowe (Rho), soprano, and Mrs. Francis Kitchen (Hazeltime Clark, Omega) accompanist.

Between Christmas and New Year we entertained the actives and pledges of several chapters who were home for the holidays. This was a musical tea at the home of Mrs. E. C. Thompson (Mary Nelson, Delta Gamma).

January brought us a luncheon at the home of Mrs. O. F. Douglas (Frances Bowdle, Upsilon). While a representative of Brentano's book shop discussed the new spring books, we all hemmed towels for charity hospital. Alumnae of Ohio State, Cincinnati and Akron were hostesses.

A Valentine bridge gave us an opportunity to entertain husbands and sweethearts in the home of Dr. Ruth Hansen (Ruth Morrison, Gamma Epsilon).

Our March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. R. J. Harris, (Adelaide Evans, Eta). In April Mrs. J. Lloyd Bate (Bess Canada, Mu), will entertain. The year's program closes with the annual Panhellenic tea in the new home of Mrs. George B. Gascoigne (Myra Sherman, Beta Nu).

HELEN HARDING

Columbus—Established 1901

The November meeting of the Columbus alumnae association was held in honor of the June graduates and other new members and we are glad to welcome them into our association. They are: Ruth Bullock, Mrs. William Hinchman (Jane Hewitt), Marian Jaeger, Eleanor and Lee Tracy, Sarah Stanley, Florence Poston, and Emily Sullivan all of Beta Nu; Bettina Beach and Marcella Raredin of Rho; Juliet Connors, Beta Lambda; Virginia Connors, Gamma Delta; and Mrs. Kenneth Dameron (Florence Felhaber), Gamma Epsilon.

December 9, as a means of making money, our association helped with the sales of one of the leading men's shops and received a percentage of each sale made that day. Our receipts were not as much as we had hoped for, but that is just one little thing more to blame on "old man depression."

The December spread was held at the Beta Nu chapter house with the actives as our guests. Our convention delegate, Mrs. George Sellers (Eliza Washburn) gave a most interesting report at this meeting which she illustrated with copies of The Hoot, programs, and even snap-shots. All of the other members who were there also, of which there were about 10, followed this by giving what they considered to be the most outstanding point they had gleaned from convention.

MARY P. CAMPBELL

Dayton—Chartered 1929

Our first meeting was a dinner at the home of Mrs. Walter M. Simpson (June Knisley, Beta Delta). Our president, Maurine Smith (Theta), who was our delegate to convention gave us her report. We all received the new directories soon after the second meeting, a dinner at Mills tavern. To the December meeting, a tea at the home of Mrs. Scott Pierce (Mabel Marvin, Lambda), we took clothes, food, toys, and money for the annual Christmas contribution to a poor family. In addition to the regular December meeting we had a luncheon, December 28, for the new pledges to which the actives were also invited to help us greet them.

We were glad to welcome two new members to our association. They are Mrs. L. Willis Bugbee (Justine Pritchard, Beta Lambda) who came here from Rochester, New York, and Mrs. Leonard W. Moore (Vivian Bowditch, Kappa) who came here from Hillsdale, Michigan.

The January meeting was a dinner at the home of Mrs. Ellis P. Legler (Mary Ferguson, Gamma Omega). We discovered, much to our delight, a pianist, Mrs. Bugbee, one of our new members. Our February meeting a tea at the home of Mrs. Frank G. Colby (Agnes Walsh, Gamma Omega) was informal.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Beardsley (Ethel Piggot, Gamma Omega), a daughter, Betty Jean, September 13, 1932.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Becher (Margaret Halteman, Gamma Omega) a son, Richard, November 27, 1932.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Schantz (Miriam Steffey, Theta), a son, Adam Charles, September 25, 1932.

LOIS KEISER WHITMORE

Newark-Granville—Chartered 1930

Following a lapse of meetings due to the serious illness of Mrs. Gulick's son, the monthly gatherings of the association were resumed in February.

At a supper meeting held at the chapter house we elected a new treasurer, Linda Davis, to fill the place of Helen Frankenburg, who has moved to Columbus. The hours after the dinner were spent in sewing for the Red Cross, and discussing ways and means of doing our "bit," handicapped as we are by being a small association.

Marian and Emily Spencer spent the month of January on a motor trip to Florida.

Mrs. Lambert Meidinger (Virginia Wilson), of Grand Rapids, was our guest at the February meeting.

Changes of Address

Mrs. Robert Cutler (Dorothea Hiehle), 1275 Virginia avenue, Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. Harold Frankenburg (Helen Headlee), 1455 Northwest boulevard, Columbus, Ohio.

EMILY SPENCER

Rho—Chartered 1925

The January meeting was held at the home of the secretary Mrs. Lorin A. Thompson, Jr.

For our February meeting we met at the home of Mrs. W. H. Bodurtha. At this time we discussed the possibility of establishing a student loan fund for which there is immediate need. We are now working hard to start such a fund.

February 20, we had a dinner for the actives, a great pleasure for us to have them with us.

DOROTHY WRIGHT THOMPSON

Toledo—Established 1920

Two parties have helped to brighten the otherwise dull months of January and February in Toledo.

Mrs. Edgar W. Norris (Jeannette Striker, Beta Rho) assisted by Pauline Evans (Rho) entertained at bridge, the evening of January 19. Saturday noon, February 25, another attractive luncheon was held at the Mayfair.

With a few judicious questions we learn that several of our members are actively interested in worthwhile projects in the city. Mrs. William Betts (Lenita Reddish, Rho) is teaching oral English in the opportunity college at Toledo university. This work is entirely donated. She has also been helping with the Y.W.C.A. drive and the Parent-Teachers association of DeVilbiss high school, as well as occupying her post as national president of the Monnett club.

Pauline Evans (Rho) is also teaching public speaking at the opportunity college and at the leisure hour school conducted at the Y.W.C.A. Recently she was appointed publicity chairman for the coming year for the American Association of University Women in Toledo. Polly took a major part in a play put on at the last meeting of the association.

For the February meeting, an enthusiastic group of alumnae met in the spacious home of Mrs. W. E. Stewart (Geraldine Miller, '22) with Etha Smith Jeffrey and Gladys Westgate joint hostesses. Florence Reynolds was appointed history chairman. The new history was passed around the group. All were delighted with the highly attractive binding and the compilation reflects much credit upon those who labored to bring the work to completion. The history of Xi was read aloud, also the report of the grand vice-president (Eleanor Bennet), and other excerpts of stimulating interest from the grand president's report and THE KEY.

We had a letter of appreciation from Florine Rosenstreter Stow, '28, for a shower of cards and letters we sent to her while in the hospital. She is convalescing in her home, 189 Hubbard street, Battle Creek, Michigan.

Doris Alverson Frazier has given enjoyable readings for the women's clubs in Adrian. She plans to give a program for the Twentieth Century club in Hudson, aided by Kappas: Florence Reynolds, Adelaide Shephard Brydon, and Josephine Lambie.

An alumnae letter from Long Beach tells us of Emma England Cooley, Xi '90, (Mrs. George E. Wing). We are glad to hear about Mrs. Wing.

Tentative plans have been made to emphasize the college spirit among our townspeople.

Marriages

Katherine Kinner, '26, to Jean Miller of Muncie, Indiana.

Miriam Croft, '22, to Fred Moeller, June 1932. They are living in Lincoln, Nebraska at 1630 G street no. 4.

Ruth Van Schoick to Harold J. McVey, December 24, 1932. Both were graduates of Adrian college in 1931. Mrs. McVey was awarded a fellowship to the University of Michigan while attending Adrian college. She received her Master of Science degree at the university in '32. They now reside at 13 South Broad street, Middleton, Ohio.

Birth

To Mr. and Mrs. Norman Horton (Klea Smith), a son, Norman Junior, February, 1933.

M. LOUISE HOOD

Bloomington, Indiana—Established 1900

Many local and state alumnae attended the dinner at the chapter house after initiation services February 25.

Birth

Patricia Ann, to Lt. and Mrs. Hal Engerud (Eleanor Louden) February 16, 1933.

FRANCES MATTHEWS

Detroit—Established 1901

The annual benefit bridge at the colony club in January was a successful affair. Mrs. Edward Vardon (Lois Pereue, Kappa) was the hostess of the party. A supper and business meeting was held in February at the home of Mrs. Arthur J. Jones (Corwine Sutherland, Beta Delta).

There will be several other meetings of interest this spring. We are looking forward in particular to the state luncheon at which we hope to have as a guest Helen Snyder, field secretary.

The Detroit association wishes to express its sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodgman (Elizabeth Ranck, Beta Delta) who lost their four-year-old daughter, Anne, early in February.

RUTH JENNINGS

Indianapolis, Indiana—Established 1898

The Indianapolis alumnae association held a supper meeting January 24 at the Marrot hotel. Mrs. E. N. Hill (Catherine Bosley, Mu) was the chairman. There was a business meeting followed by the ritual. There were 43 members present.

February 13 we entertained with a guest day tea at the home of Mrs. Mansur B. Oaks (Georgia Galvin, Mu). Mrs. Oaks was in charge of the musical program. The Mu seniors were guests. There were 75 members and guests present.

We are looking forward to our annual state luncheon and dance, March 18 at the Columbia club. Mrs. William H. Remy (Isabel Hughes, Iota) is chairman of the luncheon and Mrs. Stanley McComb (Jean Peterson, Mu) chairman of the dance. Prizes will be given the girl from each chapter in the state having the highest scholarship.

Nila Kirkpatrick (Rho) was appointed an interne at the Methodist hospital in January.

Marriage

Katherine Sue Kinnard, (Mu), to J. Wilard Bolte, February 25.

Birth

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor Bugbee, Fishkill, New York (Jane Pritchard, Rho), a son, James Taylor, Jr.

RUTH IRVIN PATTEN

Lafayette—Established 1919

Mrs. Alice Leaming was hostess for the Christmas party. Each member brought a donation of food to fill the three Christmas baskets which we gave to the Salvation Army for distribution to poor families in Lafayette.

Our plum pudding sale before Christmas brought in about $23 in spite of the fact that we lowered the price per pound.

Mrs. Beth Schofield was a guest at the January meeting. She talked on general alumnæ conditions.

Lansing—Chartered 1930

As far as the group of alumnæ can discover, "the best laid schemes o' mice an' men gang aft a-gley." Everyone had anticipated with pleasure the second annual dinner at the chapter house during the Christmas holidays, to which husbands and guests were invited. The flu germ that postponed so many parties of a year ago swooped down again and prevented the affair. Then the active chapter hospitality let the alumnæ Panhellenic give a benefit bridge tea at the house February 14 for the scholarship fund. With the Valentine announcement of Michigan's bank holiday, a silver offering had to be substituted so that those caught with little ready cash could come. The white-elephant prizes helped the guests enjoy themselves much in spite of everything.

At Marian Seeley's (Delta Gamma) the seniors were entertained at the February 21 bohemian. Mrs. Daugherty, the house chaperon, came, too.

HENRIETTE SCOVELL

Northern Indiana, Fort Wayne—Chartered 1924

Are we proud and have we reason to be! Shortly after Christmas Bernice Sinclair, head of the art department at North Side high school, decided to paint in oils a couple scenes from her schoolroom window, and her beginner's luck landed her two landscapes in the Hoosier Salon exhibit in the Marshall Field galleries in Chicago. She thinks it's easy and that just anyone with muscle enough to hold up a brush can do it, but when the exhibits come to your town you'll know her work was not beginner's luck. One scene was titled "December Fog" and shows the West Main street bridge in a fog. A close-up river bank is covered with snow and a lone sycamore tree stands in the foreground—the entrance of the bridge is lighted and fades gradually into fog. The other painting it titled "First Gleam Across The River" and is an early morning view of the sun striking the eastern face of a house across the river from Miss Sinclair's window. The roof is in shadow and a blue mist hangs over the trees.

Don't think we haven't been doing things. It seems that being secretary for two organizations doesn't work. We sent former letters in which we boasted of Mrs. Ella B. Clark's presidency of Panhellenic, of Mrs. Ernest R. Carlo's presidency of Harrison Hill school Parent-Teacher association and of Mrs. M. F. Steele's presidency of Rest-A-While Literary club and numerous other things to the Tri Kappa Cross Keys, where they weren't printed.

The second semester at Indiana university found the Kappas taking a fifth pledge from our fair city this year—which makes us pretty proud. Betty Van Arnam is the sweet and lucky young thing. Furthermore the four home-town girls pledged in the fall have blossomed forth with golden keys.

We hear that David E. and Pauline Shumak Keffler, formerly of Fort Wayne and now of Cincinnati, O., announce the birth of a son, John David, January 24.

PHYLLIS TOOTHILL

Epsilon Province

Bloomington, Illinois—Established 1895

An afternoon meeting was held with Mrs. Janvier Wetzel (Eleanor Read) December 1. Gertrude Marquis gave a travelogue on her trip of last summer when she was a member of a party which toured the west.

Our president, Mrs. Hart (Louie Howell) was hostess for the annual Christmas Auction, December 15. Charlotte Probasco, Lucy Williams and Margaret Jones were the auctioneers for the food, bits of clothing, hankies, china and all other gifts from the members of the association. The proceeds were for the Christmas philanthropy.

Mrs. George Curtiss (Jane Curtis) entertained with a lovely tea January 5. Mrs. Kirkpatrick (Bernadine Brand) presented a paper on "The Century of Progress," illustrated by many charts and pictures.

January 19 the meeting was held at the chapter house with the active chapter's Mothers' club serving supper. Lorraine Kraft gave a review from our new history. The copy belonging to the association was a very much thumbed edition that evening.

Mrs. Len E. Jones (Margaret Hunter) was hostess at an afternoon meeting February 3. The program was by Mrs. Edwin A. Turner, who presented in a review of the Japanese work "A Daughter of the Samurai."

Marriages

Dorothy Dunnaway (Epsilon), Illinois Wesleyan '29, to Clarence P. Best, Sigma Chi, Illinois Wesleyan, December 27. Mr. Best is a member of the high school faculty in Clinton, where they are making their home.

Mary Helen McCarty (Epsilon), Illinois Wesleyan '29, to Myron Richard Cothorn, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Illinois Wesleyan, February 12. Mr. Cothorn is employed as an architectural engineer for the Indian Refining company, Indianapolis, Indiana. They are at home 1040 North Delaware, Apartment 55, Indianapolis.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Haines (Louise Krum), Saybrook, a daughter, born November 23.

Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Gunn (Frances Mitchell), a daughter, born January 19.

Chicago—Chartered 1931

"Kappa, All Hail to Thee." . . . In these words we of the Chicago alumnæ association bid all Kappas welcome to our city for the Century of Progress this summer, June through October. Any Kappa coming to Chicago for the world's fair can refer to the permanent files of Chicago and suburban Kappas at the Allerton House, 701 North Michigan boulevard, at the Panhellenic bureau where records are kept giving the married name, the maiden name, chapter, and address.

Recently, we purchased a Kappa history, and already 15 enthusiastic girls want to rent it for a few cents a day. At this rate, the treasury will soon be reimbursed.

A group of the alumnæ representing many different chapters got together quite hurriedly for a luncheon at Marshall Field's in honor of Helen Snyder Thursday, February 2. She answered our various questions and told of her visits to many chapters throughout the country.

Births

December 24, to Mr. and Mrs. L. Q. Needler (Doris Glidden, Beta Lambda), a daughter, Doris Carol.

February 21, to Mr. and Mrs. Chester W. Cleveland (Ruth Glass '24, Beta Lambda), a son, David Balfour.

Madison—Established 1917

In accordance with the suggestion made by the grand vice-president in one of her letters we have asked the alumnæ advisor to the registrar to be the assistant secretary. Her duties, in addition to those of supervision of the records of Eta alumnæ, will be to inform the nearest association when members from Madison move to other cities and to try to find new members who come to Madison. We welcome suggestions from anyone who knows of a Kappa recently moved to Madison or nearby who may not be affiliated with our group.

Since this is the last KEY before summer we want to remind all of you who will come to the world's fair in Chicago that Madison is only a short distance from there. Come and see your old friends and your university if you are an Eta Kappa, and if you aren't come anyway and see for yourselves this ideal spot of which we are always boasting.

Birth

To Mr. and Mrs. Phillip H. Porter (Ruth Thomas), a daughter, Martha Jane, January 8.

MARY F. BYARD

Minnesota—Established 1892

The Minnesota alumnæ association met January 23 at the Kappa house. After our meeting we were served a turkey dinner, followed by a joint meeting with the active chapter.

Saturday January 28, the house board and the executive board of the association entertained Helen Snyder at a luncheon at the Woman's club. Jeannette Latta of the active chapter presented the plans for the new chapter room being built at the Kappa house.

A small group of the alumnæ met at the home of Mrs. Roy Witt (Dorothy Zeuch) February 17. We spent the day there sewing on new initiation robes for the active chapter.

The chairmen of the various groups have been invited over to the Kappa house for their meeting February 27. They will receive suggestions from the active chapter for using the money they each have earned for refurnishing the bedrooms.

Engagement

Josephine Vennum (Upsilon) to Robert Neal Tuller, New York City.

Births

To Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Boos (Evelyn Boustell), a daughter, in February.

To Mr. and Mrs. R. F. B. Cote (Julia Thorpe), a son, in February.

KATHERINE CUDWORTH

North Dakota—Chartered 1926

Dean Alba Bales and Myrtle Adams were initiated into Gamma Tau chapter in January and we are now happy to have them members of our alumnæ association.

Our next meeting will be March 7 at the home of Agnes Halland Oftedal with Iva McCracken Fillebrown as chairman. The assisting hostesses are Betty Farnham, Mary Ricker, Marlo Watson Wooledge, Elizabeth Elliott Powers, and Camille Alfred. The actives and pledges of Gamma Tau chapter will be our guests at this meeting, after which the alumnæ will elect officers for next year.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Chesley (Louise MacFadden, Eta) returned February 22 from a six weeks' western trip.

Susan Freeman is spending the winter in San Antonio, Texas.

Mabel Stewart Whalen, of St. Thomas North Dakota, is spending the winter months in Fargo while her husband is attending the legislature at Bismarck.

Dorothy Smith, '32, left January 24 for Boston to enroll at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital for advanced work in dietetics.

Frances Anderson, who is attending Iowa State college, has been elected to membership in Phi Kappa Phi fraternity.

Engagements

Eleanor Burnett, '32, to Dr. Robert B. Bray, Alpha Kappa Kappa, University of Minnesota.

Audrey Miller to Harold Christianson of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Marriage

Katherine Keye Lorshbough to Walter Doust, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, University of Washington, December 31, 1932. At home in Mountain View, California.

Birth

January 30 to Mr. and Mrs. Cloyce Huston (Elene Weeks) of Tirana, Albania, a daughter, Elizabeth Warburton.

CAMILLE ALFRED

North Shore—Established 1910

The January luncheon of the North Shore alumnæ was held at the Kappa house. Elinor Lippincott was hostess, assisted by a group of our younger alumnæ who have joined us from the active chapter only this year.

After the business meeting Captain Gorby spoke on the 1933 Century of Progress.

The February luncheon was held at the home of Helen Dyche and here more plans were made for the fiftieth anniversary celebration of Upsilon June 9-11. Julianna Holmes, Upsilon, '30, who is one of the many talented members of the Chicago Friends of Music, has been chosen to play music of the Civil War days at the Temple of Music at the exposition.

We are pleased to announce that Mrs. Ruth Bower Surpliss has moved from Racine, Wisconsin to Wilmette, Illinois and so will be a member of the North Shore group again.

Our corresponding secretary, Mrs. Waldo Fisher, and Mr. Fisher announce the birth of a son, Delmar, December 20.

MARY MEREDITH WALKER

Springfield—Established 1922

Two meetings of the members of this alumnæ association have been held since the holidays. One in January, a Dutch Treat luncheon at a local tea shop, attended by nine, and one in February as the tea-hour guests of our beloved and gracious Rolla Dunlap Hagler (Beta Alpha) in her beautiful home. Our meeting in March is to be a supper at the home of Martha Eden Odiorne (Iota), who lives just outside of town. Our association will be 10 years old March 10. Not in all these years have we had as sizable a balance as our treasurer reported in January. Unfortunately, however, for any plans financial, our account is with a bank that closed its doors recently. For the time being, we are indeed low as to funds.

Very soon we shall begin to make plans for the spring joint luncheon meeting of the members of the three central Illinois alumnæ associations—Bloomington, Urbana and Springfield,—to be held sometime during the spring in Decatur, Illinois. Every Kappa, living within motoring distance of Decatur, whether she belongs to an alumnæ association or not, is cordially invited to attend this luncheon. Last May we had 36 representing 15 chapters. Anyone interested in this year's meeting may secure information as to time and place of the Decatur meeting by writing to the secretary of the Champaign-Urbana association, Eleanor Chaffee, 308 North Prairie street, Champaign, Illinois.

Birth

To Mr. and Mrs. Deneen Watson (Louise Brookings, Beta Lambda), a son, James Ronald, February 22, 1933.

VIRGINIA SINCLAIR CATRON

Winnipeg—Chartered 1928

Since our last KEY letter we have been fairly busy. At our January meeting we were honored by having Helen Snyder with us.

At the initiation banquet, held while Helen was here, we had an exceptionally large turnout of alumnæ. Pauline Forbes told of the first beginnings of our chapter here, and along with many other good speeches, we were thrilled with our visitor's talk on the international fraternity. We presented our rushing stunt and afterwards finished off a successful evening with bridge.

February 4 the alumnæ sponsored a sale of home-cooking and silver tea under the convenorship of Mrs. Frank Wright (Muriel McLean) and Jean McGillivray, thus adding to our finances.

Our next monthly meeting was held at Mrs. Harold Plant's (Gwen McLean). The formal dance to be held March 2, was discussed, and a large number signified their intention of being present. Arrangements were made for the fourth annual after-exam dance which the alumnæ put on each spring. This year it is to take the form of a Ballyhoo party. Nina Cadham is the convenor, Jane Bennett is working out some novel ideas in the way of decoration, and Louise Dingle has charge of the ticket sales. A chorus number, directed by Jean Stewart, will be the entertainment feature.

The new history is certainly a wonderful addition to our archives, and everyone is anxious to read it.

Our next meeting should prove interesting as we are planning to follow out some of Helen Snyder's suggestions.

Marriage

Muriel Thompson to Ian Main, January 19.

Engagement

Jean Stewart to Cyril Bell.

NINA CADHAM

Zeta ProvinceAmes—Chartered 1926

The Ames alumnæ association has had two meetings this year. Mrs. F. Conaway (Minnie Cole, Iota) and Mrs. H. W. Woodall (Cleota Hedde) were hostesses at the first meeting at Clara Barton hall on the campus of Iowa State college, where Mrs. Conaway is hall director.

The association entertained with a tea at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bakke (Josephine Arnquist, Gamma Iota) for Helen Snyder, national field secretary, February 1. Representative members of other fraternity alumnæ groups in Ames were invited. We enjoyed the few hours Miss Snyder could be with us.

The two undergraduate students, Daisy Belle Richardson (Gamma Nu) and Frances Anderson (Gamma Tau), who are attending Iowa State college this year have brought honor to Kappa. Daisy Belle was elected secretary and treasurer of the Applied art division of the Home Economics club and Frances was elected to Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic society.

Frances Forbes (Delta Alpha) will be married March 18 to Mr. Edmund B. Towne. Miss Forbes is instructor in the public speaking department of Iowa State college and Mr. Towne received his Ph.D. in chemistry last December. They will be at home in Ames until June.

CLEOTA HEDDE WOODALL

Cedar Rapids—Established 1919

Since our last KEY letter, the Cedar Rapids alumnæ have had the pleasure of commuting to Iowa City to attend a tea given by the alumnæ association there for Beta Zeta's new pledges in the home of Mrs. Willis Mercer.

We were exceedingly patriotic in November and held our regular luncheon meeting on Armistice day at the home of Mrs. G. C. Wheeler (Mildred Rover, Beta Omega). Everyone was so busy in December making preparations for the holidays, however, that we omitted our regular meeting and did not get together until January 6, when we met with Mrs. Roy C. Alt (Jessie Dobson). Mrs. Will Price (Jeanette Witwer, Beta Zeta) of Evanston, a former member of our association, was a guest.

February 10, Mrs. J. L. Cooper (Catherine Reid, Beta Zeta) entertained us for luncheon, and we had as a guest that day Mrs. William B. Miller (Jane Bolton, Beta Zeta) of Ottumwa, who, incidentally is the proud parent of a son, David Bolton, born on New Year's day.

Friends in Cedar Rapids were shocked to receive word of the death of Mrs. Gerald Yetter (Valissa Cook, Beta Zeta), who died very suddenly, December 11, at Gardiner, Montana, where she had been living with her husband and small son, Gerald Jr.

Des Moines—Established 1920

Our regular February meeting was held a week early that every member of the association might have the opportunity of meeting Helen Snyder, who was here visiting both Gamma Theta chapter and the association. After a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. W. F. Riley (Katherine Green), Helen Snyder was a guest at the Civic Music concert. Wednesday noon the association entertained at a luncheon honoring Miss Snyder and that evening were co-hostesses with the active chapter at a banquet to which the president and a representative of each national women's fraternity on the Drake campus were invited.

Three of our members have been most fortunate in escaping our cold winter. Mrs. Burton Bristow (Marjorie Green) and Mrs. Reece Stuart, Jr. (Ruth Bewsher) are in Florida and Mrs. Richard Pfaff (Mary Cownie) has just returned from California.

We are glad to welcome back several old members who have returned to Des Moines to live; Mrs. H. M. Lyddon (Alice Seeley) from Cedar Rapids; Mrs. Heinrich Weitz (Betty Carter) from Helena, Montana; Mrs. Ray Helser (Lois Lingenfelter) from Fort Madison, Iowa; and Mrs. E. W. Hughes (Ethel Johnston) from East Orange, New Jersey.

Marriage

Alice Seeley (Gamma Theta) to H. M. Lyddon of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Engagement

Jane Rudd (Beta Zeta) to E. Rowland Evans (Phi Delta Theta) of Davenport, Iowa.

RUTH BEWSHER STUART

Iowa City—Established 1921

The Iowa City alumnæ met for the first time this fall at the home of our new president, Mrs. Mercer (Nita Hopkins), where we gave a tea for the Cedar Rapids alumnæ and our 23 new Kappa pledges.

In October the active chapter entertained the alumnæ at a reception given for the new chaperon, Mrs. Rhodes, when we again had an opportunity to get better acquainted with our attractive pledges.

Our second meeting was a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Perkins (Florence Paine).

Our January meeting was a dinner at the chapter house. Mrs. Rhodes decorated the tables with flowers and candles in honor of the alumnæ. In the evening the pledges entertained us with a stunt, a parody of the Big Broadcast.

Our February meeting was a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Albright (Anna Close).

We are feeling the loss of one of our most active alumnæ this year, Mrs. Ingwerson (Edith Kohl) who has gone to Louisiana where her husband is football coach at Baton Rouge.

We have two new alumnæ who are most acceptable additions to our group: Mrs. Scheldrup (Dorothy Ellis) of Beta province, and Mrs. Kromer (Frances Romer) of Gamma province.

Kansas City—Established 1900

The Kansas City alumnæ association has performed one of those unheard of miracles. We successfully put across one of those benefit bridge parties and made more than $200 for the DeLano school for crippled children. There was such a goodly crowd that they almost had to be poured into the auditorium of the Kansas City Power and Light company, and plus bridge, table and draw prizes, the guests were entertained with a demonstration of television.

We are continuing our work with the crippled children at St. Luke's hospital by spending considerable time in the afternoons amusing the children.

Mrs. Miles Gates (Twila Stowers) opened her home to us to entertain Helen Snyder, field secretary, who paid us one of her sprightly and inspiring visits.

Marriage

Elizabeth Pipkin (Omega) to Robert Mathieu Chamberlin, January 14.

Births

Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Jennett (Alberta Kirk), a son.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Rowland Thompson, Jr. (Archie May Schutz), a daughter.

REBEKAH THOMPSON

Lawrence—Established 1902

The Lawrence alumnæ association spent the evening, November 9, at the home of Madeline McKone (Omega) with Amida Stanton (Omega) as assisting hostess. Fifteen active and seven inactive members attended. The announcement that we had completed our $100 loan scholarship to be given to a Kansas university student was the topic of special interest.

Our food sale December 3 proved to be successful. Mrs. Sam Adams (Dorothy Clarke, Omega), who was in charge, reported $32.02 turned into the scholarship fund from the sale.

The January meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Smith (Grace Woodward, Beta Mu) with Mrs. Clifton Ramsey (Helen Feller, Omega) assisting. Plans were discussed for a series of luncheons to be given during the remainder of this year to raise money for the scholarship fund, the idea being that each member who attends, except the hostess and her assistants, pays $.50 for her lunch.

Mrs. Irving Hill (Hortense Bowersock, Omega) gave the first one of these luncheons January 27 at her home for the alumnae and their mothers. Mrs. O. W. Maloney (Blanche Simons), Mrs. Dolph Simons (Marie Nelson), and Lorena Mack, all of Omega, assisted. Luncheon was followed by bridge.

We were glad to welcome as new members: Mrs. Sam Adams (Dorothy Clarke), Lorena Mack, and Dorothea Simons, all of Omega; Mrs. John Carter (Mary De Vol, Delta); and Mrs. William Boone (Carey Butler, Sigma). Helen Thorpe (Omega) of Morganville, Kansas, and Mrs. Edward Dahlene (Flaude Johnson, Omega) of Chicago, have attended several of our meetings this year.

The actives entertained with a tea Sunday, February 19, at the chapter house in honor of Helen Snyder, field secretary. The alumnae felt honored to be invited guests.

We regret to report the death of Louise Lawrence (Omega) of Emporia, Kansas, who was killed in an automobile accident October 10, 1932.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Smith (Katherine Jackman, Omega) a daughter, Shirley, June 28, 1932.

To Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Simons (Marie Nelson, Omega) a son, John Nelson, September 19, 1932.

Marriage

Dorothy Dinsmoor (Omega) to Earle W. Patton, December 22, 1932, at Lawrence, Kansas. They live at 3025 Broadway, Kansas City, Missouri.

HELEN FELLER RAMSEY

Lincoln—Established 1903

The most brilliant affair we have to report this month is Helen Snyder's visit to Lincoln. We had arranged our annual banquet in her honor the evening of February 11. We were assembled in the lounge of the University club rooms when our president, Mrs. Henry Branch, Jr. (Helen Ryons), came in with Miss Snyder. Immediately we felt we were in the presence of one who understands each one of us—one who permeates our Kappa unity with a presence so sweet, sympathetic and dignified that there was little for us to do but just to be there with her. One hundred active girls and alumnae members climbed the circular stairway to the dining room. It was a lovely place to hear Helen Snyder's enthusiastic message—her call to womanhood and to scholarship.

The week preceding Miss Snyder's visit we had an alumnae meeting at the home of our president, Mrs. Branch. The month before that, our meeting was at the home of our treasurer, Mrs. Sam Waugh (Ruby Barnes). We have in Lincoln a lovely new Kappa of whom we are already fond, Mrs. Daniel Stubbs (Margaret Davis), whose mother, Mrs. Nellie J. Davis, is president of the Washington, D.C., alumnae association. Mrs. Fred Williams (Adeloid Whiting) tells us that her distinguished sister and our Kappa historian, Mrs. Theodore Westernmann (May Whiting) is attending a series of affairs in Washington this week.

We hear with delight that Laura Shipman is coming to us this summer to teach the first session of summer school. She is now teaching at Mt. Holyoke.

DEATHS

Frances Stein, Sigma, November 26, 1932.

Margaret Whedon Rain, Sigma, November 2, 1932.

MARY R. PARSONS

St. Louis—Established 1903

Every month or two brings us news of one or more new Kappas in our vicinity. We are glad to welcome into our midst: Ellen Hazeltine from the Denver alumnae association, Mrs. Morton Francis from the Cincinnati association, and Mrs. Charles W. Card (Beta Zeta).

Our October meeting at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Manning (Susan Stephenson, Iota) the day after Founders' day was a supper-bridge. As usual the business session was brief.

We called our November meeting "National day." This was a well attended luncheon held at the home of Mrs. H. R. Davis (Anne Ruggles, Beta Xi). To our great distress our grand registrar, Mrs. Macnaughtan, was unable to attend because of illness. We are glad to report that although she has not yet entirely recovered her physical strength, we can tell by her usual vivacious manner, and that old twinkle in her eye, that she is practically well again.

In spite of Mrs. Macnaughtan's absence we carried out our program for the day, by having one of our members speak on "Why an Alumnae Association," and "What National Expects of Us." Mrs. Charles Houts (Eleanor Wright, Iota), our delegate, gave us her report of the national convention.

In January we met for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Frank Ives (Grace Wells, Epsilon). We felt poor when our treasurer informed us that the bank in which our association holds its account had become involvent. We have not even been able to purchase a Kappa history.

Another supper meeting was held on a cold February evening at the home of Dorothy Gundelach (Gamma Iota). Plans were made for the alumnae participation in the Gamma Iota initiation banquet, March 4.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Edward Parsons (Elizabeth Bare, Beta Mu) a son, Edward James, December 29, 1932.

To Mr. and Mrs. Clark Fiske (Kate Atwood, Gamma Iota), a daughter, Mary Katherine, January 14, 1933.

To Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lacey (Edith Radford, Gamma Iota), twins. Mr. and Mrs. Lacey now live in New York city.

Marriage

Dorothy Pershall (Beta Nu) to Kenneth Wade Dillman, of Caruthersville, Missouri, February 23, 1933. They will make their home in St. Louis.

JANE P. GOULD

Wichita—Chartered 1926

Our active girls and their mothers were our guests at the December meeting at the home of Mrs. Lorentz Schmidt, and we have since met at the homes of Mrs. Wayne Marshall and Martha Slayton in January and February. At our February meeting we had as our guest Mrs. Victor Kirk (Ballie Maupin, Gamma Alpha).

We have decided that each of us bring some article of clothing to every meeting which will be distributed to the needy. We also raffle off two boxes of food, the winners of which have to supply the food for the next month's raffle. This not only affords us a great deal of fun but swells our treasury quite a bit.

We are all so happy over the pledging of Barbara Griffith at Stanford. Barbara is the daughter of Mrs. Tom Griffith (Edith Coombe, Beta Eta), our rush captain.

Birth

To Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fraley (Marita Hipple, Omega), a son, Richard Carlton, January 4.

The alumnae have been working on the ever-important matter of making money. One of our best opportunities has been the selling of magazines. The plans for a benefit bridge have been dropped for the present but there will be other means of working for this end.

REBECCA JUDY

Denver—Established 1900

December 13 we gave our final benefit bridge party, the proceeds of which were sent to the Rose McGill fund. It was at the home of Dorothy and Janet Knox and we cleared $50. There was about 15 drawings for special prizes during the afternoon besides the regular bridge prizes.

About 85 or 90 members attend our alumnae luncheons each month. The January meeting was at the home of Mrs. Charles Lavington (Marguerite Deidesheimer), and the February meeting was at the home of Mrs. Helen Strachan (Helen Craig).

Engagements

Jean Knight (Beta Mu), to Francis M. Bain.

Elizabeth Martin (Beta Mu), to Harold Cox.

Madge West (Beta Mu), to William Houston.

Laramie—Chartered 1927

January proved to be a busy month for the Laramie association. At this meeting plans were begun for the benefit movie which was given at one of the local theaters February 15. Each member of the association took a stack of tickets and solemnly promised to dispose of them. The proceeds of the show will be used to contribute to the building fund of Gamma Omicron chapter, and to cover the national obligations of the group.

During January a letter was sent to all the alumnae members of the chapter, with the hope that the replies will furnish ample material for a newsy alumnae letter to be written soon.

The initiation of three new members into Gamma Omicron chapter was attended by the customary thrills. Some of the alumnae members assisted with the service, and the entire group were entertained at a dinner in the evening, given in honor of the new girls. Dr. Clara

F. McIntyre was the alumnae speaker on this occasion. The Laramie association feels fortunate to be privileged to share occasions such as this with an active chapter.

ELIZABETH WENTWORTH

Phoenix—Chartered 1927

In January we met with Mrs. George C. Sampson (Belle Barton, Gamma Beta). After the business meeting we spent the evening sewing for the Red Cross. The Phoenix members have devoted every meeting this winter sewing for the Red Cross. We have also done a great deal of welfare work.

The February meeting was held at the home of Mrs. L. D. Damron (Hattie Lou Stone, Gamma Zeta). We played bridge and enjoyed it thoroughly after having sewed so faithfully at the previous monthly meetings. We had two interesting visitors, Mrs. Clay Lockett (Florence Dunn, Gamma Zeta), a former member who now resides in Tucson. The other was Eleanor Higgs (Gamma Zeta) of Tucson.

We are eagerly awaiting the Panhellenic luncheon February 25, to be held at the San Marcos hotel in Candler. This hotel is one of the show places of Arizona and as the meeting is open to guests it will be one of the largest affairs of the year.

Marriage

Retha Barnard (Beta Phi) to Dr. David E. Brinkerhoff (Leland Stanford).

VERA DUNCAN JORDAN

Theta Province

Arkansas—Established 1922

Activity of our association for the past few weeks has been centered in Panhellenic affairs, with a benefit bridge February 11 and the prospect of an open luncheon early in March.

We are glad to report the recovery from a long illness of our president, Mrs. E. E. Moss (Cynthia Mills). Mrs. Moss has as her guest this spring her sister, Mrs. Kittie Mills Coldren, of Detroit, Michigan. Both were Kappas at Hillsdale college.

Our association joins our former president, Mrs. Perry Beem, in mourning the loss of her youngest daughter, Patricia.

Marriages

Mary Schilling (Gamma Nu) to Ernest T. Owen, February 2, 1933. At home, 5021 W street, Little Rock, Arkansas.

Virginia McMillen (Iota) to James I. Teague (Kappa Sigma), March 2, 1933. At home, Bon Air apartments, Little Rock, Arkansas.

MARY SCHILLING OWEN

Dallas—Established 1919

The January meeting of the alumnae association was held at the home of Mrs. John Carpenter (Flossie Gardner). Mrs. N. R. Crozier, mother of Isabel Crozier (deceased), Beta Xi, read Dinner at Eight, which was enjoyed by those present.

The February meeting was a luncheon at the Junior league lunch room. We have these down-town luncheons several times during the year in order that the business girls may have the opportunity of attending. A number of the Gamma Phi alumnae are now in the business world.

New officers were elected, Mrs. Lynn Lawther (Ellen Van Zandt) being the new president.

Mrs. Taliaferro Irwin (Margaret Kelly) of San Francisco, California, is here on a short visit.

MARGARET CLARKSON JOHNSON

Fort Worth—Chartered 1924

Our February meeting was unusual in that it was held Sunday. A surprisingly large crowd managed to elude husbands and be on hand. Mrs. Charles Morgan's (Frances Van Zandt, Beta Xi) home was the setting; the business meeting and discussion of rushing results at Austin provided the action.

Our association is still caring for its adopted family. Future meetings are to be devoted to renovating discarded clothing for this worthy family.

Marriage

Merle Griffith, Beta Xi (pledge), to F. A. Douglas, Sigma Chi, February 19. At home in Overton, Texas.

Birth

A son, Milton Stanley, to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bransford (Gertrude Sims, Gamma Phi), January 24.

FRANCES FRY

Mildred Maxey is directing the play, Ding Dong Bell, which the Junior league is putting on for children. She also has one of the principal rôles. Last year, in Santa Fe, New Mexico, Mildred had a part in Lynn Riggs' Green Grow the Lilacs. She is the author of a charming play for children called Tim, the Chimney Sweep.

Dan David is the name given by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crouch (Betty Fraker, Beta Lambda) to the baby boy who has joined their family circle.

We have enjoyed having as a visitor at two of our meetings this year, Mrs. Norman Brunkow (Wanda Ross, Omega) of Evanston, Illinois, who is the guest of her sisters, Mrs.

Walter Ditzler and Mrs. C. G. Carlson. Mrs. Brunkow is president of the North Shore alumnæ association.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Neale Ireland (Nina Kanaga, Omega), a son, January 13, 1933.

To Mr. and Mrs. William Self (Sally Hays, Beta Theta), a daughter, January 15, 1933.

To Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Francis (Ruth Day, Beta Theta), a son, January 17, 1933.

To Mr. and Mrs. Olaf la Cour Olsen (Dorothea Bohmanson, Beta Tau), a daughter, January 25, 1933.

ANN PLANK ENSIGN

British Columbia—Chartered 1929

The New Year started for the British Columbia alumnæ with a visit from Helen Snyder. We not only profited greatly from her visit, but were pleased to see Helen again as she was our co-organizer in our first year after installation.

In January the active chapter gave a rushing party in the form of a progressive dinner party, on which occasion we supplied the meat course. February 26 we are giving a rushing tea for the active chapter at the home of Betsy Spohn.

Ruth Fraser, one of our most active members, left early in February for Mexico City, where her marriage to Leslie Brown, Alpha Delta Phi, will take place. Mr. Brown is assistant Canadian trade commissioner in that city. Margaret Thomson is now residing in Victoria, where she has accepted a position doing social service work, and her sister Betty is leaving shortly for a three months' visit to California.

KATHLEEN ROSS

Everett—Chartered 1926

In December, the Everett association had a no-host luncheon at the hotel with Helen Snyder as our honor guest.

At our regular meetings once a month, we have continued our Red Cross work and beginning next month, one member is going to read to us from the history while the rest of us are sewing. At our February meeting we were happy to welcome a new member. Mary McIlravy, Beta Pi, who has just graduated from the University of Washington.

EVALINE THOMPSON

Montana—Established 1919

Our first meeting this year was held at the home of Mrs. James Brown (Dorothy Donohue) at which time Mrs. C. Leaphart (Mary Rodes), province president, gave an official report on the national convention. Mrs. R. H. Jesse (Lucille Leyda, Sigma) and Mrs. Ferguson (Mary Elrod) entertained us at the Jesse home the second meeting in January and Mrs. Clarence Forbis (Josephine Hunt) was hostess at our last meeting.

The annual party for the pledges, a buffet supper, was given at the home of Lenita Spottswood in November. We have decided to make this our Founders' day party in the future.

We are grateful to the Mothers' club for its gift to the chapter this Christmas. Several built-in dressing tables and some enlarged closets have added a great deal to the comfort and convenience of the house.

A large number of alumnæ enjoyed a delightful dance, the Golden Key cabaret, given for the actives by the pledges, February 17.

Mrs. Glenn Connolly (Janet Vivian, '37) has moved to Portland, Oregon, where Mr. Connolly is taking charge of a new branch of the Connolly Implement company.

Of the class of 1930, Dorothea Garvin is a radio shopper in New Orleans and Faith Shaw is with Good Housekeeping in New York city in the advertising department.

Mrs. George Wilson (Lillian Shaw, '28) and Mrs. L. Graham (Marian Schroeder, '30) have been visiting their homes in Missoula recently.

The members of our group are knee-deep in costumes at present as we are making all the costumes for the chapter act in Varsity Vodvil, which is to be put on March 3. Kappa, with Alpha Phi and Theta, placed in the preliminaries and we are doing as much as we can to help the girls carry off the cup.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. William Wraith (Gladys Ayers, '27), a son.

To Mr. and Mrs. Tom Murray (Claire Linforth, ex-'31), a daughter, Linforth Murray.

To Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hills (Mary Jo Dixon, '27), a son.

To Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Atherton (Margaret Shoup, '28), a daughter.

Seattle—Established 1919

These banquets do something for us, don't they? To see those lovely initiates and to know that we are having a part in enriching their lives is an inspiration to every member of the alumnae. Our toastmistress, Edith Page Bennett (Beta Lambda) shared her lively program with 166 members.

Portland favored us with a group of peppy "alums." They were: Doris Taubman Smith, Beatrice Lee Gerlinger, Betty Chamberlain Weibeson, and Zella Thompson Boyden.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hawkins (Madeline Burgess) and family have returned to Seattle to live.

The Alfred Harsh (Belle Hillman) family is moving to Olympia.

Mrs. Kline R. Hillman (Margretta Macfarlane) is visiting her sister, Mrs. Kilgore Macfarlane (Elizabeth Kerr, Beta Pi) in New York.

Mrs. Edgar Piper (Catherine Burnside) is head of house at Scripps college.

Mrs. Anna Reinhard Stanford was initiated this year. She was a member of the local Alpha Kappa Gamma which petitioned Kappa. Her daughter at Pullman was also initiated.

Birth

To Mr. and Mrs. W. Stevens Tucker (Louise Parrington), a son.

Death

Richard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hadley (Edna Trueblood, Mu).

Tacoma—Established 1923

The evening of February 4 we enjoyed a buffet supper party for our husbands and escorts at the hospitable and attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Buckmaster (Dorothy Griggs). We were so happy to have two members of Seattle's alumnae association and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Lee Johnson (Emily Caskey), president of Seattle's alumnae association, and Mr. and Mrs. William Neeb Boyd (Margaret Sayre), join us for the occasion. Both Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Boyd were former members of our association.

After listening to a varied program, a Kappa auction took place at which no articles but the choicest white elephants were sold. Mrs. William Mahncke (Katherine Jurgensen) created a sensation as an auctioneer, who kept us busy holding our sides and loosening our purse strings; as a result our treasury has had an increase of $13.28.

Marriage

Frances Alley (Gamma Gamma) to Richard Warner McDuffie, Delta Tau Delta, March 4.

Birth

Long Beach—Chartered 1926

'Tis time to close our fiscal year
Ah me! But what have we to fear?

Things seem to be quite well with us
Although the world may fuss and fuss.
But wait—can you lend us an ear?
I'll tell you how we've spent this year.

First let us talk in business terms,
 Twenty-three plus our Benefit earned—
 Members brought in 45 more
 That's our treasury, there ain't no more.
 (Now please don't ask us for a loan We've just been stripped down to the bone.)

Our best you haven't heard as yet,
 The fraternity we didn't forget.
 We sent in to the student aid—
 Then after all our bills were paid
 A bit went on to Rose McGill
 And some gave Gamma Xi a thrill.

We've spent some time on letters, too,
 And keeping books has made us blue.
 As for reports—they were on time,
 Four KEY letters, to make this rhyme.
 Committees met, directors passed—
 We've by-laws up to date at last.

Our officers have served us well
 And Kappa, more than I can tell.
 Meetings filled to over-flowing,
 Enjoyed by all with friendships growing.
 So this is our best wish for you,
 The kind of year we've just been through.*

EDITOR'S NOTE:—Prior to the events of March 10-11, which we hope all Long Beach and neighboring Kappas survived!*

Los Angeles—Established 1904

In an earlier letter I told you that the Los Angeles Kappas had agreed to continue working in groups in order to raise money to meet their obligations and philanthropic requirements. We have eight well-organized groups with efficient chairmen to lead and inspire them. Each group has pledged a certain sum for its quota and has arranged to arrive at its goal by some activity or other. One group was quite successful in sponsoring a puppeteer entertainment at a nearby theater while other groups have confined their efforts to bridge teas or luncheons.

In January the association met at the home of Mrs. Richard Nevins (Lucy Sanner). Luncheon was served by Mrs. Harry Cupit (Edith Parker) and her committee. The meeting which followed was important in that as soon as the regular business was dispensed with, a spirited and interesting discussion ensued concerning the needs of certain worthy Kappas. The discussion resulted in the establishment of a scholarship fund to help local Kappa upperclassmen.

A beautifully-appointed tea at the home of Myrtle Waters marked our calendar for February. The tea was in charge of Mrs. A. G. Quirk (Mary Rankin) and her gracious committee.

Palo Alto—Chartered 1924

The deferred rushing system in use at Stanford university has made it necessary for our association to wait a long time for the rushing outcome at Beta Eta. But evidently waiting pays, for the Stanford chapter took "the class" and the alumnæ are almost as proud as the actives. We gave a tea in honor of the pledges, inviting all the housemothers as well, and Kappas living in the vicinity. It's the first time we have done anything so extra-special for a pledge class and it was so successful that we want to do it again in future years. Mrs. T. T. C. Gregory opened her home for the occasion.

February 28 we are planning to join forces with Beta Eta in what we call our Valentine's day bridge tea at the chapter house. It is for the benefit of local scholarship funds. We have been doing Red Cross sewing at our association meetings.

PAULINE WILSON

San Diego—Chartered 1927

San Diego alumnæ are flourishing this year. Since our last letter to THE KEY we have been having such successful meetings. Our December meeting was at the home of Mrs. Charles D. Austin (Laura A. Jackson) in Coronado, just across the bay from San Diego. Mrs. H. B. Butterfield (Sue Alexander) was co-hostess for the day. We played the "Three Wise Men" instead of Santa and each brought three gifts for our poor families. A delightful surprise that day was the announcement by Virginia Anne Love of her engagement to Edwin Green Kelley, U.S.N.

In January we all drove 20 miles up the coast to the home of Mrs. Everett Ellis (Joyce Minor), with Mrs. Alva Morrison (Dorothy Salmon) co-hostessing.

It may have rained in January, but not so in February, and so to the tune of spring landscapes we journeyed north to Rancho Santa Fe where our two newest members, Mrs. Clifton Williams (Jessie Conger) and Mrs. Elwood E. Trask (Bess Hoffman), entertained us at the home of Mrs. Williams. You may not believe it by this letter, but some of us do live in San Diego. However we adore going to the homes of our out-of-town members.

Marriage

Virginia Anne Love, Gamma Xi, to Edwin Green Kelley, U.S.N., January 2, 1933.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Aylett D. Clark (Francis Louise Leeson), a daughter, Anne Leeson Clark, April 15, 1932.

To Mr. and Mrs. William P. Elser (Edith Noon), a daughter, Natalie Catherine Elser, June 18, 1932.

To Mr. and Mrs. Burnett Wohlford (Mildred Finley), a daughter, Sheana Wohlford, April 29, 1932.

Death

Ruth Bagley, Beta Delta, November 19, 1932.

MABEL V. HARDING

San Francisco Bay—Established 1898

The annual winter luncheon was held February 4 at the Pi chapter house in Berkeley. Mrs. A. E. Graupner gave a report on the association's charity project, the San Francisco Babies' aid. Mrs. Elizabeth Gray Potter (Pi), former historian and editor of THE KEY, gave us a talk on early printers and printing, illustrated by leaves from her own valuable collection of old books, as well as by some examples from early volumes from Mills college, where she is librarian.

Engagements

Mary Adams (Pi) to Gray Pendleton Minor (Phi Delta Theta).

Eleanor Ophuls (Beta Eta) to Dr. William Deamer.

Jeryma Carthew (Pi) to Clark Anthony Potter.

Elizabeth Crassie (Pi) to Don Hahn.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Bowing (Barbara Penfield, Pi), a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton Meyer (Rachel Crowell, Pi), a son, Jonathan.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart Tantau (Mary Morse, Pi), a daughter, Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. William Oliver (Marian Quayle, Pi), a daughter.

Baltimore—Chartered 1926

We were delighted to have Mrs. Richard Shyrook, of Swarthmore, Pennsylvania; Marie Mount, of the University of Maryland; Mrs. Hannah Hunt Stokes and Mrs. Alice Watts Hostetler, of Washington, D.C., as guests of our association at a supper meeting in the home of Mrs. E. Kennerly Marshall (Berry Carroll, Beta Nu), Monday, January 9.

Our next supper meeting was given in the home of Mrs. Carlton E. Douglass. We enjoyed chatting informally with our guests who were three actives and two alumnae members of Tau Kappa Pi fraternity of Goucher college. The actives had just received their grades from the first semester and we were exceedingly proud of their scholastic standing.

Plans were made regarding the petition which will soon be sent to all the active chapters and alumnae associations of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

We are interested to know of Elizabeth Bell, Beta Pi, who is studying at the Johns Hopkins Medical school and expect to have her with us at our next meeting.

Elizabeth Rutherford has just acquired the title of consulting psychologist of Goucher College, in addition to her duties as acting head of the psychology department.

Katherine Ball is playing an active rôle in Baltimore's new door to knowledge—the Enoch Pratt Free library.

We shall soon be glad to hear of the experiences of Dr. Marjorie Jarvis who has been studying abroad for several months.

Birth

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sharpe (Lillian Fisher, Sigma) announce the birth of a son.

RUTH HOCKER

Huntington—Chartered 1932

At our meeting December 12 we met for tea at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Loemker (Ruth Mullen, Gamma Omega). It was decided at this meeting that we would buy the new history for a Christmas present to our chapter and that at each meeting one member would review a chapter in the book. We also planned at this meeting to have a covered dish luncheon this spring for the Kappas in this vicinity. We are hoping that Clara O. Pierce, executive secretary, will be able to meet with us as our honored guest.

January 4 we met with Edith Badger (Edith Ross, Phi) and at this meeting Mrs. Wendell Reynolds (Mary Burnside, Beta Upsilon) gave a review of Obscure Destinies by Willa Cather. Following this the whole chapter enjoyed singing Kappa songs.

February 1 the regular meeting was held at the home of Ann Fowler (Upsilon). Our history had not arrived, but Ann Scott (Beta Nu) gave a review of The Story of San Michele by Axel Munthe.

Mrs. Arthur Emmons (Margarita Champion, Beta Alpha) has been spending the past few weeks in Florida.

RUTH M. LOEMKER

Morgantown—Established 1919

The Morgantown association has had two enjoyable meetings since the meetings reported in the October letter to THE KEY. One was a bridge meeting at the home of Margaret Reay, and the other was a business and news session at the home of Margaret Buchanan Cole. When the reader glances at the list of "Births" given below, it will be easily seen that the news session was a profitable one.

Morgantown was delighted to receive a visit from a good Beta Upsilon alumna, Cilda Smith, who is a teacher in the Lakeside high school in Cleveland. She was the guest of Mrs. Anne Cox for a long week-end in January.

We are also looking forward to a visit from Mrs. Grace Gardner Neil, an alumna who is now dean of women at Wesleyan college at Buckhannon, West Virginia. Mrs. Neil is to speak to the Women's club here, March 1.

Mary Jo Matthews Coleman, Beta Upsilon's dramatic representative, is one of the principals in the new musical comedy Gay Divorce, now on Broadway.

Death

Professor James S. Stewart, husband of Sarah Meredith Stewart, Xi, February 11, at Morgantown. Mrs. Stewart has the most sincere sympathy of the association.

Marriages

Mary George to Charles Kefover. They are living at London Terrace apartments, Twenty-third street, New York city.

Dorothy Matics to Ashton T. Scott of Radnor, Pennsylvania, in November. They are enjoying a six months' vacation in Honolulu.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hull (Dorothy Kay), a son, in August, at Ridgewood, New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Webb (Iris McCue), a daughter, in November, at Providence, Rhode Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Rogers (Katherine Alger), a son, in December, at Morgantown, West Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Roby (Anagrace Cochran), a daughter, in January, at Morgantown, West Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flowers (Helen Botome), a daughter, in Clarksburg, West Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Watkins (Margaret Lehmann), a daughter, in January, at Fairmont, West Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest W. Springer (Lucille Hamilton), a daughter, at Fairmont, West Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Klostermeyer (Katherine Smith), a son, in February, at Charleston, West Virginia.

If I just had one more day before the deadline for April issue letters, I'd have lots of news, for field representative Helen Snyder comes to see us tomorrow. We have planned a tea in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Monro Lanier (Katherine Leach, Beta Omicron) and a get-together dinner tomorrow night at a popular meeting place. We understand our guest spent the week-end with Gamma Pi at Tuscaloosa and will be here just the one day.

We are in the depths over losing two members of our little group: Mrs. W. M. Reno (Omega) who has returned to her home state of Kansas and Mrs. L. Gale Huggins (Geneva Anderson, Gamma Nu) whose husband has been transferred to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Huggins has been our capable and enthusiastic president this year and so our loss is doubly serious.

The Kappas are in charge of the ticket sale for the annual Birmingham Panhellenic luncheon, Saturday, April 15. We have distributed tickets with all representatives of fraternities in Panhellenic.

ELIZABETH VAN DER VEER

Lexington—Established 1921

The Lexington alumnae association has held many delightful meetings in the homes of several of its members. At each meeting we have had about four volunteer hostesses. This was the plan of our financial committee and it has helped the "receipt" side of the budget immensely. In fact, it looks as if we won't have to worry about the usual "benefits."

Our chief concern now is to incite interest to the degree of a dollar contribution from each Beta Chi alumna. May you Beta Chis read this and respond! The cause is worthy. On the University of Kentucky campus we are to have a Women's building—the old Patterson home. This is to be furnished by different organizations and, of course, Kappa wishes to make an appropriate gift.

An honor came to a Beta Chi alumna recently. Virginia Boyd, with Percy Kraatz, is author of a prize play—Alas Poor Yorick. This play was awarded first place by the Guignol, little theater of the campus, and it will be presented this spring.

HARRIET MCCAULEY

Winter Park—Chartered 1932

We are delighted to have our Delta Epsilon co-organizer, Margaret Barker, with us again. She is making the chapter a welcome visit.

February 11 the alumnae sponsored a benefit fashion show at the Virginia inn. Mrs. H. K. Kelly (Helen Dickinson), general chairman of arrangements, had the following able helpers on other committees: Margaret Barker, Mrs. Davis Fishback (Lillian Wilmott), Mrs. Grafton Charles, Mrs. D. C. Vincent (Beatrice Larsen), Helen Beim, and Mrs. H. E. Oesterling (Mary Patton). Ten actives and alumnae displayed the latest spring styles. The alumnae taking part as models were: Mrs. Joseph Swift (Mary Jane Ekis), Mrs. J. Irvin Chaffee (Petsey Marvel), and Helen Steinmetz. There was music during the program and tea was served to the guests after the display. The show was quite successful and a very good sum was realized.

With all the "old grads" returning for Founders' week and the animated magazine, February 18 proved to be a busy day for Kappa alumnae at Rollins. After the alumnae luncheon all Kappas assembled at the home of Mrs. Kelly for a short informal meeting. Then after the memorial services at the Knowles chapel Mrs. Oesterling entertained at her home with a Kappa homecoming tea. More than 100 guests were invited including Kappas, members of Kappa Epsilon, and animated magazine speakers.

Marriages

Mary Jane Ekis to Joseph Swift, October 15, 1932.

Louise Bowen Howes to Manly Campbell Duckworth, February 4, 1933. Mr. Duckworth, a graduate of the Rollins Conservatory of Music and a student under Percy Grainger and Ralph Leopold, is now teaching music in Orlando, where the couple will make their home.

GEORGIANNA HILL

Miriam Cole (Beta Pi) gave an interesting toast at the recent banquet of the Seattle Alumnae association, on the "Kappa dance of life," which must have pattern, grace, beauty, gayety, harmony, and rhythm.

* * *

We've been meaning to have a look at Phi Gamma Delta Stuart Chase's A New Deal, which Paul C. Brines reviewed in Phi Gamma Delta. Leading paragraph of the review: "It's one thing to kiss a Kappa at a Fiji dance; it's quite another thing to take her to breakfast the next morning at six!"

Fraternities are to remain at Middlebury college in Vermont. A recent vote failed to obtain the three-quarters necessary to abolish fraternities. All quiet on the Green mountain front!

* * *

The Brass Cannon, advertised as "an amusing, ironic love story of Manhattan and points east," is among the new novels for spring. Its author is Charles Allen Smart, son of Mrs. Lucy Allen Smart, Beta Nu, editor of THE KEY, 1900-04. Mrs. Smart is herself assistant to the headmaster of the Kew-Forest school at Forest Hills, Long Island. Recently the class of 1932 at Kew-Forest dedicated to her the 1932 issue of The Blotter, school annual.

Beta Beta—Chartered 1881

St. Lawrence University—Canton, New York

Initiates: Rosalie Austen, Gouverneur; Doris Berry, Ridgewood, New Jersey; Katherine Hoffman, Akron, Ohio; Mary Elsie Holmes, Upper Montclair, New Jersey; Emily Long, Old Forge; Marjorie Murphy, Hibbing, Minnesota; Allene Seymour, El Cajon, California.

With Christmas vacation over and finals to look forward to, a pleasant diversion came in the form of our winter formal dance at the lodge, January 7. As the first event on our social calendar for 1933, it was claimed by all a successful beginning.

February 10 and 11 the sixth Panhellenic intercollegiate conference of urban universities was held at Syracuse. Hilda Schwartz, '34, the official delegate, Dorcas Wright, and Marjorie Gibbs, both '33, were the Kappa representatives.

After two weeks of hard work and discouragement as preliminaries to initiation, seven pledges became Kappas, February 25. According to tradition, after the banquet, the initiates were serenaded by the fraternities on the hill.

Pauline Long, our former German exchange student, though an undergraduate, is employed as instructor in the German department of the university, and Lois Folsom is the junior representative in the new project for freshman instruction and orientation.

MARGARET SANFORD

Phi—Chartered 1882

Boston University—Boston, Massachusetts

Initiates: Sabina Burns, Betty Hutchinson, Mary McKay, Ruth Monroe, Eleanor Richardson, Ernestine Ross, Priscilla Speare, Rhoda Work.

Formal initiation was held Saturday, February 25, at the home of Mrs. Emily Bright Burnham. Our thanks are tendered to the intercollegiates and the alumnae who aided us in making it a success. Mrs. Burnham with her unflinching generosity made possible an attractive ceremony.

January 5, Phi chapter held its Christmas dance. A larger dance was given later with Alpha Phi and Tri Delt. It proved both a social and a financial success.

A dinner party was given the pledges shortly before their examinations started. With this to strengthen them their work could not help being excellent.

MARGARET CONROY

Beta Tau—Chartered 1883

Syracuse University—Syracuse, New York

Initiates: Dorothy Baker, Niagara Falls; Barbara Bower, Syracuse; Janet Despard, Syracuse; Alice Ann Dooley, Syracuse; Rita Garfield, Syracuse; Jane Gilbert, Tyrone,

"Judy" Morton, Beta Tau's president, will travel in Europe this summer and spend next winter studying design in Paris. Convention delegate, R.O.T.C. sponsor, chairman of senior guidance at Syracuse, fine arts justice on the student court and member of Alpha Xi Alpha, honorary design fraternity, are a few of her distinctions.

The girls of Psi, who live "far above Cayuga's waters."

Pennsylvania; Barbara Greeley, Syracuse; Dorothy Gruen, Dawson, Pennsylvania; Rita Hitchings, Nedrow; Vera Keefe, Syracuse; Alice Lamb, Syracuse; Ruth Lincoln, Gowanda; Vivian Packard, White Plains; Ida Robinson, Laurel, Delaware; Margaret Rodger, Ogdensburg; Melrose Schoenleber, Montclair; Ruth Suhrie, New York city; Marceline Utley, Pulaski.

The Panhellenic national convention met in Syracuse February 10 and 11. Beta Tau was pleased to welcome Kappa delegates: Mary Spooner, Chi; Hilda Swartz, Dorcas Wright, and Marjorie Gibbs, Beta Beta; and Louise Linchen, Gamma Chi. Mabel Wagner, our chapter president, was on the formal dinner and dance committee, and also led one of the discussion groups.

The scholastic record of our pledges is above the average, and an unusually large number is to be initiated March 11.

The high-light of the coming season will be the spring formal April 21.

Honors this time belong to Irene Hummer who has been initiated into Alpha Epsilon Epsilon, honorary home economics fraternity; to Jean Munnerly, pledged Lambda Tau Rho, honorary French fraternity; and to Elizabeth Dooley and Dorothy Gruen, pledged Sigma Alpha Iota, national and professional music fraternity. Josephine Lamb is on the sophomore executive committee.

We also forgot to mention Beta Tau's newest acquisition, a young and frisky police puppy, whose name is "Kap."

ELIZABETH DOOLEY

Cornell University—Ithaca, New York

Initiates: Mary Jane Brownback, Decatur Illinois; Catherine Calvin, Brooklyn, New York; Ruth Fielden, Ithaca, New York; Edith Gardener, Richmond Hill; Ruth Hale, Atlanta, Georgia; Grace Law, Collins; Katharine Mantell, Port Washington; Marie Cantell, Port Washington; Mary McCaffrey, Utica; Lucille McHugh, East Orange, New Jersey; Eleanor Reynolds, Ithaca; Caroline Sterrett, New Haven, Connecticut; Eleanor Sternbergh, Mohnton, Pennsylvania.

We are fortunate this year in that 13 out of 15 of our pledges were able to be initiated. Our initiation banquet was held at Forest Home inn.

Farm and home week was recently celebrated, and we all had the opportunity of hearing many famous speakers, among them Mrs. Roosevelt, Governor Lehman, and Pearl S. Buck. Charlotte Pappeus, '32, returned for this occasion and brought several of her pupils with her.

Junior week, the social event of the year, has come and gone. Most of the girls were guests at fraternity house parties. We were happy to meet several Kappas from other chapters who had come to Ithaca for the parties.

Ruth Shellhorn recently won another gold seal on a major problem in architecture. This is the highest award in the college.

CATHERINE L. ALT

Beta Psi—Chartered 1911

University of Toronto—Toronto, Ontario

Pledges: Betty Baker, Margaret Black, Kathleen Denn, Dorothea Jowsey, Norah Lane, Henrietta MacIntosh, Jean Macwhirter, Madge Shaw.

Rushing is over at last, and we are thrilled at the results. Pledge day was Friday, January 13. Initiation is to be March 9, and we are now making plans for a dance to follow the initiation banquet.

Our formal, February 16, was a huge success. Twenty-one grads, as well as the whole active chapter, were present. February 2 we held our mothers' tea at the fraternity apartment. This is the only time when we are all together in just this way, and we always enjoy it. February 11 we had a successful subscription bridge.

Since Christmas we have been serving lunch at the apartment two days a week. By saving the money thus made, we are planning this summer to send one or more girls to a Y.W.C.A. camp for a vacation.

Things are beginning to quiet down on the campus, and our activities as a fraternity are nearly over.

THEODORA BRENNAN

Gamma Lambda—Chartered 1923

Middlebury College—Middlebury, Vermont

We have some good news for THE KEY, at least we think so. The administration today lifted the ban that has been on sororities for the past year, and they are to resume their normal activities. That means rushing and everything we have had to forfeit this past year.

Last month Mrs. McNaboe, director of provinces, and Mrs. Railsbach, our province president, visited us. They were here to help us solve the problems that might confront us if sororities were maintained. We were glad to have their advice in the present situation.

Although our letters for this semester have been short because of the restrictions placed on us, we can promise THE KEY longer letters in the future.

JANET E. STANTON

Delta Delta—Chartered 1930

McGill University—Montreal, Canada

This term the Kappas at McGill were indeed fortunate. Miss Winifred Kydd, a graduate of McGill, president of the National Council of Women and delegate to the 1931-32 disarmament conference, gave us an informal talk on vocations for women, a subject in which, needless to say, we were all much interested.

Naomi MacGachen's vocation would seem to be the stage, for she is taking the part of the queen in this year's Red and White revue, which is to be a musical comedy entitled Off Key I Sing. Janet Cameron is a member of the Royal cabinet.

Marjorie Lynch is captaining a fine inter-collegiate basketball team, which again has five Kappas on it. Besides Marj there are Sally Hay, manager, Cynthia Bazin, Janet Dobson, and Janet Clouston.

Our brand-new apartment is well on its way to being furnished, and promises to be a most attractive place by the time rushing starts in the fall.

Our formal dance is being held March 3, and we are hoping that several of our alumnæ will be able to attend our last social function before the final examinations.

Allegheny College—Meadvile, Pennsylvania

Initiates: Laura Jane Beebe, Newtonville, Massachusetts; Annabelle Broomall, Wilkesburg; Louise Murray, Punxsutawney; Gwendoline Patterson, Regent Square, Pittsburgh; Nancy Pepper, White Plains, New York; Dorothy Phillips, Meadvile; Helen Smith, Erie; Katherine Starr, Meadvile; Ruth Tanner, Jeannette; Martha Louise Youngman, Erie.

Pledges: Jane Beyer, Punxsutawney; Christine Black, Meadvile; Ianthe Boyd, Meadvile; Betty Pepper, White Plains; Lillian Tamplin, Sharon, Pennsylvania.

Our mid-winter formal was January 14 at the Oakland hotel on Conneaut lake. The presence of a great many alumnæ made this a happy reunion as well as a pleasant dinner-dance.

January 26 the actives ate dinner at the Ellen Jane tea room in town. This was our last "get-together" before initiation.

February 11 we initiated 10 girls, and celebrated, the next day, by eating breakfast with them at the Allegheny inn, and attending church en masse.

February 27 the initiates gave a dinner for the actives in the fraternity rooms.

We're always looking forward to something, though with this uncertain weather we're never sure whether it should be a sleigh ride or a picnic. However, we can always dance, and already we're considering orchestras for the spring party.

CLARISSA DUFF

Beta Alpha—Chartered 1890

University of Pennsylvania—Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Initiates: Winifred Bardsley, Germantown; Catherine Bell, Llanerch; Frances Lee, Had-donfield, New Jersey; Betty Meyers, Oak Lane; Marie Wagner, Philippine Islands.

Pledges: Jane Barnes, Wynwood; Elvina Castle, Wayne; Isolde Doernenberg, Philadelphia; Georgia Giddings, Philadelphia; Anne Sixmith, Ashland.

Our heads are whizzing from all that Beta Alpha has been doing, so we'll have to impart some of our "whiz"dom to you.

Rushing gave us 10 grand new Kappas, and they are all well-launched on campus activities. Betty Meyers is freshman class treasurer and a Glee club member, Class council claims Elvina Castle, Georgia Gillings, Anne Sixmith, and Marie Wagner as members. Marie was also elected to the Bennett News staff, and Isolde Doernenberg has a lead in the German club play.

We fêted our pledges at a Thanksgiving dance, and everyone got together for our Christmas formal.

December 5 we initiated Adrienne Bonnelly.

We are in the midst of preparing for the annual production of Bowling Green (dramatic society). Bunny Bovell, Sally Goepp, Bernice Graham, Dorothy Masterman, Muriel Maurer, Dorothy Roessler, Anne Sixmith, and Marie Wagner are all members of the cast; Betty Bowen, Barbara Dolman, and Marianna Geauque head committees.

Initiation was February 25, and following the initiation banquet we held our Hallelujah dance to celebrate the conclusion of exams and general good spirits.

Soon all campus will be busy with the activities of senior week, of which Grace Waserman is chairman.

Engagements

Mildred Gregg, '33, to Frank Loesher, University of Pennsylvania, '32.

Edna Lockhart, '32, to Royden Astley, University of Pennsylvania, '32, Delta Chi.

Eleanor Stevens, '33, to Charles Bohmer, University of Pennsylvania, '30.

Beta Iota—Chartered 1893

Swarthmore College—Swarthmore, Pennsylvania

We're still trying to settle our fraternity problem here at Swarthmore. It has been dragging on for almost a year now, and nothing has been done. A decision will be reached within the week—just too late for this letter, but we will let you know all about it next time. Our alumnæ have been almost as interested as the active members, and have helped us a great deal with their advice.

With exams over, everybody was ready for a breathing spell, and several of the chapter enjoyed the annual college house party at Sky-top, Pennsylvania.

Agnes Metcalfe is on the basketball team, and Janet Smith, Lydia Highley, and Sarah Antrim are on the swimming team. Caroline Butler and Elizabeth Dunham are trying out for managership.

Last, but not least, we are glad to tell you that Eugenie Harshbarger has been elected permanent secretary of the senior class.

Beta Sigma—Chartered 1905

Adelphi College—Garden City, Long Island

The tense atmosphere in which the Beta Sigmas have been living since last September, has cleared at last. As yet we do not know what the results of our long seige of rushing will be, but we are hoping for a number of pledges.

At a recent supper meeting our alumnæ served the actives with a most delicious dinner followed by an impromptu pantomime as entertainment.

During informal rushing we had some grand times, especially at a treasure hunt when one of the tasks was to secure a white hair from a horse's tail.

Lastly we are looking forward to our spring dance. We hope it will be a success, especially since we are introducing a "stag line" for the first time.

At Adelphi College on Long Island these Beta Sigmas represent Kappa.

Marriage

Margaret Henderson, '31, to Wilder Hobson.

ETHEL BROWN

Gamma Epsilon—Chartered 1919 University of Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

Initiate: Sally Isler, Brookside Farms, Pittsburgh.

Gamma Epsilon has just completed one of her most successful rushing seasons. We turned our house into a lively Harlem night club February 23. February 24 we entertained at a convict conclave, where each rushee was summoned before the magistrate and convicted on general principles. The afternoon of February 25 we had a kid party, and that same evening our spirited treasure hunt, which took us to dark corners throughout Pitt campus, Squirrel hill, and Schenley park.

Six of our girls won the bronze cup at the interfraternity sing which was held at Heinz house January 16. Since their victory they have been asked to sing their chain gang skit over the radio.

Emmy Lou Haller, Helen Bair, and Betty Quarrie are now initiates of Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic society.

Our initiate, Sally Isler, has already taken an office in the fraternity; she is assistant treasurer.

Our president, Dorothy Getsinger, with Daniel Smith, Delta Tau Delta, led the interfraternity ball January 13 at the William Penn hotel.

We wish to take this opportunity to say how much we enjoyed the visit of Mrs. Hodge last month. We had many talks about Kappa ideals, experiences of other chapters, and suggestions on improvements for our chapter.

Marriages

June Miller to C. Frederick Rebhun.

Ruth Kramer to Byron Gillespie.

Engagements

Emmy Lou Haller to Edward Moshier.

Elaine Blauvelt to Bruce Scott (West Point).

Delta Alpha—Chartered 1930 Pennsylvania State College—State College, Pennsylvania

Pledges: Ruth Hockenberry, Slippery Rock; Mildred Morgan, Bradford; Ethel Williams, Manheim.

Midyear graduation took two of our seniors, Ruth Niebel, who was graduated with second honors, and Mildred Travis.

Our rushing of transfers netted us three new pledges. They were pledged just in time to attend our annual formal dinner dance at the Nittany Lion inn, February 11.

Mary Laramy was a member of the senior ball committee, and Margaret Kinsloe has been appointed to soph hop committee.

Engagement

Elizabeth Crozier to David Young, Lambda Chi Alpha.

Lambda—Chartered 1877

University of Akron—Akron, Ohio

Initiates: Jeannette Hopkins, Harriet Larabee, and Marian Terrass.

Pledges: Elizabeth Adams, Charlotte Burdette, Clara Doyle, Jean Frazier, Eleanor Gorman, Mary Giddings, Martha Lowenhaupt, Rosemary MacDonald, Helen Sherer.

Our mid-winter dance, the "blue ball," was given February 18 at the Akron City club and was proclaimed a great success because of the untiring efforts of our social chairman, Margaret Frank.

Recently the school promoted a song contest in which every sorority was obliged to enter. Lambda received second honors. Also the Kappas won second place in the inter-sorority basketball games. We plan to give a party for the team.

Irma Rugers was one of three students given the "A" key award for scholarship.

Virginia Butler presided as queen of the junior prom sponsored by the junior class of the university.

Elizabeth Brodt was pledged to Delta Psi Kappa, national physical educational honorary, and Idabelle Peterson was pledged to Kappa Delta Pi, teachers' honorary fraternity.

Rho—Chartered 1880-1925

Ohio Wesleyan University—Delaware, Ohio

Initiates: Elinor Elvord, Sandusky; Margaret Austin, Cleveland Heights; Mary Harriet Brooks, Cleveland; Helen Compton, Dayton; Eleanor Dice, Akron; Ruth Ferguson, Shaker Heights; Harriette Hatch, Dearborn, Michigan; Jean Herbert, Cleveland Heights; Marion Hubbard, Delaware; Virginia Leland, Dayton; Mary McKillop, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Doris Manuel, Crawfordsville, Indiana; Margaret Morgan, Mechanicsburg; Mary Powers, Delaware; Virginia Salter, Kent.

Rho is proud to announce the election of seven of her initiates to Phi society, honorary scholastic society for freshmen and sophomores: Mary Harriett Brooks, Eleanor Dice, Ruth Ferguson, Jean Herbert, Doris Manuel, Mary McKillop, and Mary Powers.

Jane Rideout and Elizabeth Scatterday received recognition from Panhellenic association at a scholarship tea given for all fraternity women who showed a marked raise in their scholastic averages over last semester. Elizabeth Scatterday was one of nine sophomores on the campus who made a perfect scholastic average last semester.

Margaret Easton was one of three girls initiated into Orchesis, honorary dancing fraternity. Cornelia Sawyer has been initiated into Delta Phi Delta, honorary fine arts fraternity.

Participants in Alice in Wonderland, given at the Little theater, February 17 and 18, were Elizabeth Monahan and Louise Hartman. Helen Wildermuth will take a part in The Rivals, Theta Alpha Phi play. Elizabeth Monahan was properties director for the recent Town and Gown production, The Whole Town's Talking.

The alumnae association entertained the active chapter with a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Lorin A. Thompson, February 20.

Doris Dean and Esther Scaife have been appointed chairmen of the pageant-planning and finance committees respectively for Monnett day, which will be May 13 this year. Assisting on various other committees for the affair are Helen Wildermuth, Mary Jane Strecker, Marjorie Yeomans, Joan Brightman, Martha Slusser, Esther Wright, Ruth Ferguson, Virginia Kinnison, Ruth Polley.

Engagements

Eleanor Ferguson, '32, to Harlow Salter, Phi Gamma Delta, '30.

Cornelia Sawyer to Jack E. McIlvaine, Phi Kappa Psi.

Joan Brightman to Joseph M. Thatcher, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

LOUISE HARTMAN

Beta Nu—Chartered 1888

Ohio State University—Columbus, Ohio

The event of which Beta Nu was most proud this year was the selection of Jane Berry as the representative of Ohio State at the beauty contest sponsored by the "Big Ten" conference. The contest was held February 17 in the ballroom of the Hotel Aragon, Chicago. Among the judges were Katherine Brush, Ben Bernie, and Mary Nolan.

Mary Lou Torbert, who has always been one of our outstanding girls in activities, has just been elected vice-president of Y.W.C.A.

We are proud of Catherine Campbell, a junior in the Arts-Education college, who has a perfect A record for the five quarters she has been in attendance at Ohio State.

Our pledge class has certainly been looming large on the recent calendar of social events. Marcia Simonton was maid of honor at the junior prom, February 21. Dorothy Fernberger, also a pledge, was chosen a member of the queen's court at the freshman prom held February 17.

The pledge chapter entertained in February at the chapter house for the Phi Gamma Delta and Phi Delta Theta pledges. The occasion was a tea dance.

Pledge elections were recently held and the following officers were elected: Polly Pater-son, president; Jean Griffith, secretary; and Marion Frame, sergeant-at-arms.

Marriage

Dorothy Horton Pershall to Kenneth Dill-man of St. Louis, Missouri.

In accordance with custom, Beta Rho held initiation on Washington's birthday. This year we are proud of the freshman class since nearly all who were pledged made their grades. The banquet was planned by the alumnae association.

Tryouts for the annual musical comedy have already been held. Many Kappas are anxiously awaiting the final reports and hoping to be among the lucky ones.

We are all looking forward to the promised visit of our Gamma province president, whom we expect to arrive February 27.

Gamma Omega—Chartered 1929

Denison University—Granville, Ohio

Pledges: Maureen Armstrong, Zanesville; Lauramae Barrick, Canton; Frances Beggs, Granville; Marion Brewer, Cleveland; Agnes Darrow, Granville; Virginia Davies, Cleveland; Elizabeth Davis, Dayton; June Lank-fitt, Clarksburg, West Virginia; Sarah Marr, Troy; Dorothy Martin, Kansas City, Missouri; Lucie McCormick, Dry Branch, Georgia; Vivien Mercer, Youngstown; Elizabeth Reinbold, Newark; Virginia Snyder, Evanston, Illinois; Marie Talbott, Wheeling, West Virginia; Mary Wilson, Rockwood, Tennessee.

It is rather late to be welcoming our pledges, but now that we know them better, we do so even more cordially.

Before we could catch our breath the first semester had come and gone—exams and all! In the class contest, sponsored by the scholarship committee, the juniors and seniors won first and second places respectively; therefore they sat with glorious leisure at the scholarship banquet table, carefully prepared by the sophomores and pledges—the losers. The jeweled scholarship key is now being worn by a junior, Ruth Darrow.

February 13, we were honored by a visit from our province president, Mrs. Boardman. Beside chapter meeting, the only opportunity many of us had to see her was at a little "spread" held in the "attic suites" after 10 o'clock.

How proud we are of our musical sophomores! First Margaret Stoker and Elizabeth Veale became members of Delta Omicron, the honorary musical society; then Betty Ballard's own composition, "Lullaby," was featured in a recital given here recently.

Virginia English was voted the woman who has done the most for Denison; Mabel Throckmorton (our president) was voted the most popular co-ed on the campus; and Elizabeth Davies was voted the best woman athlete.

Delta—Chartered 1873

Indiana University—Bloomington, Indiana

Initiates: Wilma Bales, Fort Wayne; Mary Biggs, Princeton; Virginia Brill, Danville; Elizabeth Carter, Bloomington; Ruth Conrad, Bicknell; Eloise Dreisbach, Fort Wayne; Marjorie Lee Eichen, Evansville; Catherine Feltus, Bloomington; Dorothy Guy, Hammond; Betty Grimsely, Evansville; Martha Helme, Angola; Susan Hussey, Martinsville; Alice Kenefick, Michigan City; Jean Murphy, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mary Jane Railsbach, Newton, Massachusetts; Mary Elizabeth Seiber, Fort Wayne, Janet Seward, Bloomington; Charlotte Sputh, Indianapolis; Margaret Stewart, Monmouth, Illinois; Eunice Stonex, Bloomington; Rhoda Toothill, Fort Wayne, Pauline Vonnegut, Indianapolis, Ann Wilkinson, Wabash; Marjorie Weaver, Louisville.

Pledge: Betty Van Arnam, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

February 25 will live forever in the heart of Delta and 24 pledges who were initiated into the chapter on that day. This group, led by Mary Dot Johnston, was the largest ever to be initiated by Delta. Delta was honored by the presence of many distinguished alumnæ.

The Only Girl, Indiana University musical comedy for 1933, taking the place of the Jordan River revue of former years, will be led by Martha Helme. Catherine Feltus and Charlotte Sputh also have parts in the production, and Madelaine Lahr will represent Kappa in the chorus. Catherine Feltus also has one of the few co-ed parts in Ten Nights in a Bar-Room, which is being heralded as one of the cleverest skits of the year!

Virginia Homan was honored February 23 with the coveted position of co-ed sponsor of the R.O.T.C. Sarah Ann Matthews bobs up again, this time as a member of the junior prom committee.

A heart-to-heart Valentine dinner party was given by the upperclassmen for their "Kappa daughters," February 13.

Marriage

Carolyn Nancy Rossow, ex-'34, was married to Richard Ellis Ryan, Jr., former student at Dartmouth and the University of Chicago, December 29, 1932. Mr. Ryan is the assistant manager of the Franklin Life Insurance company at Cleveland, Ohio, where the couple are making their home.

Alice Kenefick

Iota—Chartered 1875

DePauw University—Greencastle, Indiana

The second semester of 1932-33 has been filled with honors for Iota chapter. The bowling tournament was won by the house for the second consecutive year.

Dorothy Gillies, Elizabeth Hughes, Elizabeth Carr, and Elaine Kenna were made members of the honorary Spanish club; Dorothy Gillies and Katherine McNeill are in the cast of the Spanish play. Helen Lampert was made a member of the History club and Martha Ann Bridges of German club. Betty Jane Cox and Lee Zimmerman both had parts in the German play recently presented.

Martha Davis, Vivian Claffey, and Betty Barber made the business staff of the Mirage, annual publication, and Martha Davis and Ann Gough made the editorial staff.

The beauty contest for the Mirage was held and Jean Davidson was one of the winners. Jean Alice Shaver has the lead in the Monon revue, De Pauw's annual musical comedy, and Marjorie Finch is also in the cast. There are nine Kappas in the choruses of the Monon revue. Margaret Cox, Dorothy Gillies, Eleanor Williams, Mary Louise Williams, Virginia Powell, Margaret Lewis, Eleanor Jensen, Mary Geohegan, and Jean Davidson; in the same revue, Iota's by now well-known trio, Elizabeth Lupton, Virginia Leonard, and Elaine Kenna will sing. Jean Davidson had a part in the dramatic production R.U.R.

Iota is proud to announce that on March 4, 12 pledges will be initiated. Marjorie Finch has been chosen rush captain for next year.

Marriages

Lucille Hunt to William Hamor, Theta Chi.
Evangeline Morgan to Leslie Everson, Beta Theta Pi.

Janet Iddings (pledge) to David Bon, Phi Gamma Delta.

JEAN DAVIDSON

Mu—Chartered 1878

Butler University—Indianapolis, Indiana

Pledges: Anna Louise Amos, Rushville; Regena Funderburg and Adele Myer, both of Indianapolis.

January 4, Mu celebrated the fifty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the chapter as the actual birthday, January 2, occurred in the holidays. Mrs. Flora Frazier Dill, our only living founder, was honor guest, and the alumnæ presented to her and to the chapter one of the new Kappa histories.

Honors were brought to us when Nancy Moore was elected to Phi Kappa Phi. Fourteen girls won places in the Fairview Follies chorus, an annual campus production, this year called "The Cellophane Age."

February 24 the active chapter was entertained by a stunt given by the pledges. Betty Sue Woolling was the stunt chairman.

The newly elected rush committee is Marthabelle Bond, in-town rush captain; Mabelle Sherman, assistant; Martha Banta, out-of-town rush captain, and Betty Lou Myers, out-of-town assistant. Martha Banta will be correspondent to THE KEY.

MARTHA JANE BANTA

Xi—Chartered 1882

Adrian College—Adrian, Michigan

Initiate: Alices Baldwin, Adrian.

Pledge: Mildred Marshall, Jackson, Michigan.

Monthly potluck dinners have become a feature of chapter social life and have proved a pleasing way to bring the active and alumnae chapters together. The first Monday in March our actives and pledges entertained the active chapter of Tri Deltas.

Our president, Eleanor Santose, was a member of the women's debate team which was undefeated this season.

Initiation services for Alices Baldwin were held March 4, after which she was honored with a luncheon for which the active chapter was hostess.

Our winter formal party was held March 10 at the Adrian club. The decorations were in keeping with the St. Patrick's day season.

The all college banquet was held February 24, and the Kappas on the campus were especially active in making it a success.

HELEN MAXHAM

Beta Delta—Chartered 1890

University of Michigan—Ann Arbor, Michigan

The frenzied midnight watches of the examination period being over the chapter has settled down again into a quieter routine. All of our grades have not been reported as yet, but we have high hopes of raising our scholarship average over that of last year.

Josephine McCausey has been elected president of the Panhellenic association for next year. This is one of the highest honors to be conferred on the campus.

Uldean Hunt was elected to Comedy club, and she has already taken several important parts in the plays that have been produced. Corrine Henry has been appointed to the committee for the Senior ball which will take place in May.

Elizabeth Allen, a pledge, received one of the $50 Hopwood awards to freshmen for her poetry.

Gamma Delta—Chartered 1919

Purdue University—W. Lafayette, Indiana

Pledges: Justine Beyers, Mildred Mills, and Jean Harding.

Gamma Delta has not been left out in the various activities this season. Martha Alexander was pledged to Gold Pepper, an honorary activity organization sponsored by Mortar Board, which has for its purpose the encouraging and backing of athletics, especially among women.

Kathryn Bourne, pledge, was elected chairman of Freshman Cozy, an organization for freshman women. Our pledges gave a stunt at its last meeting.

Virginia Meguiar, pledge, has the lead in Playshop's new play, an old fashioned melodrama entitled "Gold in the Hills." Kathryn Bourne also has a part. Ethelyn Ker had the lead in the previous production. Androcles and the Lion, which was presented in January. Georgianna Van Hoesen, Kathryn Bourne, and Virginia Meguiar, pledges, were also in the cast of the last play.

Jeanne Beaver, pledge, made the freshman volleyball team; Margaret Parks, pledge, made the sophomore rifle team.

February 7 we gave a dinner for 10 rushees.

February 12, a Valentine party was given for the chapter and guests. Lieutenant and Mrs. C. M. Hallam (Mary Mellison, Beta Kappa), Mrs. Marker (Winifred Mellison, Beta Kappa), and Captain O. C. McIntyre were the chaperons.

Miss Elizabeth Osborne, a personality expert from New York, spent the week of February 20 at Purdue giving talks on dress and the development of personality. Mary Hartsock, secretary of Memorial union, had charge of Miss Osborne's program and arrangements for her visit.

Engagements.

Margaret C. Garrigus to Paul Moss, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Ethelyn Ker to Paul E. Bergevin, Alpha Tau Omega.

Elizabeth Graham to John Nickerson, Beta Theta Pi.

Birth

To Mr. and Mrs. Clayton N. Watkins (Kathleen Karker), a daughter, Jean Montgomery.

MARIWYN E. BRENNAN

Epsilon—Chartered 1873

Illinois Wesleyan University—Bloomington, Illinois

Pledge: Mary Adsit, Pontiac, Illinois.

At the end of the first semester Jean Bryan graduated; she will receive her degree in June. Leone Waddell transferred to the University of Illinois for the second semester.

Virginia Jarrett of Bloomington was re-elected president of our chapter for the second semester. Marjorie Kirkpatrick and Jane Hiltabrand, both of Bloomington, were appointed rushing captain and assistant rushing captain respectively, for next year.

A Panhellenic dance was held February 3 at the Bloomington club. This dance was not supposed to be a money-making proposition, but rather to create a better feeling among the groups on the campus. Our pledges gave us a dance February 18 at the chapter house. Trunetta Keys was chairman.

Panhellenic is going to sponsor a round table discussion for all freshmen girls. From this discussion we wish to learn how the university can help the freshmen more, and individual groups also want suggestions.

HELEN ALDRICH

Eta—Chartered 1875

University of Wisconsin—Madison, Wisconsin

Pledge: Frances Dimond, Lima, Ohio.

In December Eta chapter elected new officers: Ellen Pray, president; Cheryl Ellsworth, recording secretary; Mary Neff, corresponding secretary; Julie Byard, treasurer; Jane Walker, assistant treasurer; Sara Flint, marshal; Helen Rieke, registrar; Florence Lloyd-Jones, assistant registrar; Sara Flint, correspondent to KEY; and Constance Fazen, rushing chairman.

There has been a great deal of financial retrenchment and we have spent a lot of time on the reorganization of our finances.

We have changed our system of meetings, alternating chapter and house meetings every other week.

Sixteen of our pledges made their grades and they will be initiated in the spring.

Several of our active members were forced to leave school on account of the present financial conditions.

SARA FLINT

Chi—Chartered 1880

University of Minnesota—Minneapolis, Minnesota

Initiates: Jane Wright, Jane Yerxa, Mary Appelget, Mary Ives, Miriam Seeger, Beatrice Barnard, Ellen Brown, Jane Greer, Jane Dennis, Deborah Thompson, Genevieve McMillan, Caroline Earl, Anne Duncan, Diana Doty, Edith Wheeler, Eleanor Belden, Isobel Baer, Jean Pike.

Pledges: Mary Aasgaard, Minneapolis, and Mary Pierson, Excelsior.

At Christmas time, we decided that we should appreciate the season more if we helped some who were less fortunate than ourselves. So we each donated a small amount and under the direction of Betty Keller and Inez Bedard, supplied two families with clothing, shoes, staple foods, Christmas dinners, and toys. The appreciation with which they were received more than amply rewarded us.

Recently our local Panhellenic instituted a series of campus "sewing bees," under the direction of the Red Cross, to make clothes for needy families. Kappa acted as hostess for the first week; the experiment is providing a great deal of enjoyment for the girls on the campus, as well as promoting better feeling among the sororities.

We were appreciative of the visit recently paid us by Helen Snyder. We were especially glad that she was here to help start our scholarship banquets; gave us great encouragement and contributed to the success of the dinner.

We were proud to have Marlys Hanson, a pledge, represent Minnesota at the "Big Ten" beauty competition in connection with the charity ball at Northwestern.

Our 18 initiates are already filling an important place in the chapter.

Our newly finished chapter room, is giving great satisfaction and service. We are using it as a study room, and also for meetings; it is especially appreciated by the town girls.

Upsilon—Chartered 1882

Northwestern University—Evanston, Illinois

Pledges: Margaret Brown, Lorine Faulconer, Valorie Haight, Dorothy Seymour, Helen Smith, and Betty Welch.

The past month has found Upsilon chapter as busy and active on campus as ever. Y.W.C.A. has three Kappas as committee executives: Margaret Brown, finance; Amy Veerhoff, international relations; and Margaret Huth, publicity. Our chapter is also proud of Jean Thackery and Cora Kling chosen president of Senior Lantern and secretary of Junior Lantern, W.S.G.A. organizations.

Francis Taliferro, Eleanor Sproul, and Marjorie McPherson have been pledged to Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism fraternity. Marjorie Welch is the new vice-president of Zeta Phi Eta, speech fraternity and Cecile Stern, president of Alethenai literary society. We are proud of our freshman, Betty Jane Hartley who has been elected secretary of the Woman's Athletic association.

In still another field we find Kappas well represented—the annual W.A.A.-M.U. musical production. Mary Elyzabeth Townsend plays the leading rôle and Mary Jeanne Tansill, a freshman, represents the disturbing blonde element of the show. In the chorus are Joan Cotter, Jane Iredale, and Joyce Snider; and among the show girls are Betty Dostal and Jean Thackery.

A new rushing chairman and assistant, Eleanor Berger and Cora Kling, handled mid-year rushing admirably. Upsilon is proud of its six pledges.

Engagements

Gertrude Robinson to Robert Hawley.
Dorothy Graham to Thomas Wigglesworth.

Marriage

Katherine Metzgar to Willard Rogers.
LORETTA WHITE

Beta Lambda—Chartered 1899

University of Illinois—Urbana, Illinois

Pledge: Dorothy Fultz, Decatur.

Our initiation date has been set for March 2, and we are all looking forward to the initiation of 17 pledges.

Josephine Rasmussen was given a part in the Woman's league show, and Barbara Bischoff will be initiated into Alpha Lambda Delta, the freshman woman's honorary.

Mid-semester we lost two of our seniors, Sara Hughes, and Virginia Ziegler, by graduation.

Engagements

Helen Robbins to W. G. Garrigus, Theta Sigma Chi, Connecticut State college.

Maxine Sterrett to Ralph Thompson, Sigma Chi, Illinois.

Kathleen King to Wilbur Stocking, Delta Kappa Epsilon, from Illinois.

ANNE ASH

Gamma Sigma—Chartered 1928

University of Manitoba—Winnipeg, Manitoba

Initiates: Margaret Dafeo, Winnipeg; Roberta Lee, Winnipeg; Helen Jan Nichols, Winnipeg; Mary Elizabeth McIntyre, Winnipeg; Elizabeth Read, Regina, Saskatchewan; Marjory Smith, Selkirk.

The day after Christmas we had our usual Christmas tree at the apartment and were delighted to hear from two of last year's initiates, Dorothy Baines and Bernice Duncan.

We ushered in the new year with a successful reception at the home of Marion and Jean McKay.

January 23-26, we were honored with our first visit from Helen Snyder. During her stay she was the guest of Mrs. Carl Hall (Helen Upham). Initiation was held January 25, and Helen assisted our president in the ceremony. At our initiation banquet various members of the fraternity gave excellent addresses, including our guest, whose response to the toast "Our Fraternity" was truly inspiring.

Our annual silver tea February 4, at the home of Beth Kennedy, was successful.

In order that our families become better acquainted with our members, a mother and sister tea was arranged for February 18. We had an exceptionally large turnout.

Just now we are looking forward to a formal dance March 2.

RUTH CARLISLE

Gamma Tau—Chartered 1929

North Dakota State College—Fargo, North Dakota

Initiates: Myrtle Adams, Dean Alba Bales, Janette Greenshields, Fargo; Betty Horton, Mankato, Minnesota.

January 17 an impressive initiation service was held at the home of Betty Murphy.

At the two major social events of the season the grand march was led by Kappas and their escorts. Lillian Lindsey was first in line at the military ball with Frances Plaggmeir fourth; Ora Hammerud was first in line at the charity ball.

Kathryn Tharalson and Janette Green-shields were initiated into Phi Kappa Phi. Gamma Tau is also proud to say that Frances Anderson, a former member, was initiated into Phi Kappa Phi at Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa.

We are thrilled to be so well represented in the musical comedy Sky High, sponsored annually by Blue Key. Erlys Hill plays the leading rôle; Jane Nichols, Marion Barnierd, Martha Parker, Jane and Betty Bristol have important supporting rôles.

In the Edwin Booth play You Never Can Tell by G. B. Shaw, two of the three feminine rôles were played by Elizabeth Olsen and Ruth Barrett.

Janette Greenshields was initiated into Sigma Delta, an international discussion club.

Engagement

Eleanor Burnett, Fargo, to Dr. R. B. Bray.

Theta—Chartered 1875

University of Missouri—Columbia, Missouri

Pledge: Marianna Butts, Joplin.

Miss Scott, our housemother, gave us a Valentine dinner, February 14. The dining room and the tables were decorated with big red paper hearts, and the red color scheme was carried out even in the food.

Theta chapter is at present deeply interested in the intramural play contest. The leads in our play, The Duchess Says Her Prayers, will be taken by Dorothea Harris and Helene Hess, and Laura Allee will direct it. Laura herself has just been given one of the leads in Missouri Workshop's forthcoming production of Twelfth Night.

An intramural basketball tournament is also holding our attention. We are just starting on a hard schedule, but with one game already to our credit we have high hopes.

Margaret Brewster and Dorothy Castle have recently been initiated into Zeta Sigma, intersorority; and Edwina Nelson and Hilda Butts have been initiated into Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism sorority. We are all looking forward to our own initiation, March 9.

In a recent election sponsored by the Show-Me, Missouri university's official publication, Florence Guitar was chosen Missouri's best all-round girl and Frances Parks ran a close second.

Marriages

Eleanor Jeffrey to John Records, Sigma Nu, University of Missouri, of Kansas City.

Carolyn Cotton to Glee Ralph Stocker, Delta Upsilon, University of Missouri, of St. Louis.

Cena Christopher to Monte C. Draper, Jr., Kappa Alpha, University of Missouri, of Warrensburg.

Birth

To Mr. and Mrs. Carson Moss (Kate Mason), a son.

JANE KELLY

Beta Zeta—Chartered 1882

University of Iowa—Iowa City, Iowa

Don Totheroh's Moor Born was thoroughly a Kappa production. When it was given in February, Lorraine Gibson and Priscilla Morrison had the parts of Emily and Ann Bronte, respectively, and Rae Sorey was an understudy to Charlotte. Betty Bebout, Lorraine Gibson, and Priscilla Morrison will also work in the Shakespearean comedies to be given in March.

Francis Westerfield is a pledge of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary journalism sorority. Lois Beckman has been initiated into Phi Gamma Nu, national honorary commerce fraternity.

In the Seals pageant, March 9, Happay Page and Margaret Donohoe, will represent us.

Priscilla Morrison for the senior class and Lorraine Gibson for the junior class have been chosen Kappa candidates for the mecca ball queen.

PRISCILLA MORRISON

Omega—Chartered 1883

University of Kansas—Lawrence, Kansas

Pledges: Maron Meyers, Kansas City, Missouri; Betty Shirk, McPherson, Kansas.

Our between-semester rushing activities proved successful, and we now have two new pledges.

Winifred Stilwell and Marcia Ritter were members of the cast of Uncle Tom's Cabin, a play presented by the dramatic club of the university. Winifred portrayed Eliza, and Marcia was Topsy.

Helen Snyder was our guest for a few days, and it is needless to say we enjoyed her. She was with us during our rushing last fall, so this visit was a return one. We gave a small tea at the chapter house, and several of the alumnæ were able to become acquainted with her at that time.

Word has just been received that Betty Shirk has been elected to the dramatic club and Tau Sigma, honorary dancing sorority.

MARJORY HUDSON

Sigma—Chartered 1884

University of Nebraska—Lincoln, Nebraska

Pledges: Juliana Cunningham, Arkansas City, Kansas; Margaret Moore, Omaha.

Sigma's Mothers' club is becoming well organized under the able direction of Mrs. H. H. Everett, mother of our president, Betty Everett. January 28, Mrs. Everett gave a tea at her home for the active girls and their mothers. February 26, a group from the Mothers' club gave a Sunday night supper for the girls and their "dates."

Sigma won the bowling championship in the intramural sports. We were all so pleased that a Monday night dinner was dedicated to the team; appropriate bowling decorations were used on the tables. We hope to have other intramural honors. Our formal was held February 3 at the Cornhusker hotel. Many alumnæ were welcomed back for this occasion.

The annual banquet of Sigma, usually held in May, took place February 11, at the University club in order to coincide with the visit of Helen Snyder, national field secretary. Mrs. H. H. Branch (Helen Ryons), president of the Lincoln Alumnæ association introduced Miss Snyder, who gave an interesting talk on Kappa activities. The entertainment at the banquet was the presentation of the now famous Kappa skit, first presented at the Thanksgiving Kosmet Klub show. The freshmen also gave an original "jig saw puzzle."

MARGARET LAWLOR

Gamma Alpha—Chartered 1916

Kansas State College—Manhattan, Kansas

Initiates: Kathryn Black, Council Grove; Margaret Carr, Kansas City, Missouri; Fern Collins, Washington; Elnora Gilson, Manhattan; Jane Harmon, Bound Brook, New Jersey; Floye Poague, Havensville; Louise Rust, Manhattan; Rosemary Schmidt, Junction City; Marie Vail, Marysville; Edna Van Tuyl, Manhattan; and Jane Whyte, Kansas City, Missouri.

Pledge: Wilma Ray Womer, Topeka.

One of the big events of the year for Gamma Alpha was Helen Snyder's visit. Her talk at meeting included suggestions for the improvement of the chapter and a description of the central offices.

Initiation for 11 pledges was held March 11, preceded by an alumnæ luncheon and followed by the initiation banquet.

Helen Louise Davis did not enroll in school second semester; she will be in Los Angeles the rest of the semester.

Marjorie Morrow, Parsons, and Helen Teichgraeber, Marquette, have returned to school this semester. Marjorie will graduate this semester; Helen is taking graduate work.

Helen Ehrlich left school at the end of the first semester. She has a position as secretary and bookkeeper for a judge in Dodge City.

The chapter entertained with a breakfast dance at the house between semesters.

Helen Pickrell recently added to the dramatic honors she has received at Kansas State by taking the leading part in the play Minick given by the Manhattan theater, January 3. Margaret Carr, a pledge, also was in the play, taking the part of Mrs. Lippincott. Both gave excellent performances and were praised by critics for their dramatic ability. Jeanne Bryan took the part of a negro woman in Solid South, Manhattan theater play. Rosemary Schmidt gave a solo dance in Petticoat Pirates, a musical number at the annual Ag Orpheum March 3 and 4. Dorothy Cortelyou and Martha Jean Singleton took parts in the chorus.

Gamma Alpha will hold her spring party in the chapter house April 1.

MARY RANSOPHER

Gamma Theta—Chartered 1921

Drake University—Des Moines, Iowa

Initiates: Dexter Bowman, Mary Brammer, Kathryn Carmichael, Virginia Clemens, Helen Conrad, Kathleen Ferguson, Margo Frankel, Marguerite Greene, Muriel Hockett, Louise Hoover, Frances Leach, Sue Leson, Lucie Ellen Loe, Shirley Martin, Barbara Neff, Ruth Oldham, Eileen O'Malley, Grace Staves, Letitia Walling, Jeanice Williams.

The new semester started out with a bang for Gamma Theta with the acquisition of eight mid-year pledges, who have already plunged into campus activities with enthusiasm.

Immediately after rushing, we started preparations for the visit of our national field secretary, Helen Snyder, whose brief stay with us proved most pleasant. She was our guest at a formal banquet February 1, at Younkers tea room, at which representatives from every sorority on the campus gave short talks on interesting phases of their respective chapters, and Miriam Sinclair, president of the local Panhellenic association, described the relations of all social sororities in Panhellenic. The Des Moines alumnae also honored Helen with a luncheon at Grace Ransom's tea-room.

The production of No More Frontier, was a huge success, and we feel that this was partly due to the creditable acting of Mary Brammer, an initiate, who played one of the leading rôles. Many of our pledges, both new and old, deserve credit for their strenuous work backstage.

Elizabeth Jane Chambers was chosen for one of the rôles in the production The Animal Kingdom, to be given here February 22, by the Des Moines Community Drama association.

We are proud to announce the initiation of our president, Ruth Bailey, into Kappa Delta Pi, honorary national education fraternity; Jeanne Frink, Ann McKinley and Mary Schiltz into Psi Chi; and Jeanice Williams and Kathryn Carmichael into Theta Alpha Phi.

The depression has brought at least one little ray of cheer into our midst, the reduction of dues and board and room.

Gamma Theta is well on the way towards possession of the intramural championship cup, with 37 girls entered in the ping-pong tournament and a team entered in the semi-finals of volleyball.

Mary Neff has been chosen one of the candidates for "Who's Who."

Plans are being made for a Mardi Gras carnival dance to be given at the Country club March 3, in honor of the initiates.

Engagement

Elizabeth Cole to Thoburn Sands, Sigma Chi.

Gamma Iota—Chartered 1921

Washington University—St. Louis, Missouri

Initiates: Edna Birge, St. Louis; Maude French, Little Rock, Arkansas; Virginia Grace, Webster Groves; Elizabeth Hall, St. Louis; Betty Jane Jack, St. Louis; Lucy Lockett, Kirkwood; Eloise Megginson, Webster Groves; Martha Milam, St. Louis; Mary Robertson, Webster Groves; Eleanor Shinn, St. Louis; Marjorie Steele, Webster Groves; Lois Simcoke, Webster Groves; Virginia Stewart, St. Louis; Katherine Stuart, Webster Groves; Elizabeth Anne Ustick, Birmingham, Michigan.

Pledges: Marjorie Lasar, St. Louis; Lois Simcoke, Webster Groves.

Since our last letter the Kappas here at Washington have been kept busy with Christmas holidays, examinations, and initiation. The holiday season opened for us with our annual Christmas party. It was, as usual, lots of fun; pledges and actives laughed hilariously at the gifts from their pledge mothers and daughters respectively.

Of course there is not much to say about examinations. But we were pleased to find that 16 of the pledges made their grades.

Our formal dinner dance was held January 28. It was generally agreed that it was one of the best dances of the year; thanks go to Martha Jane Taylor, our competent social chairman. At present we are busy preparing for initiation, March 4.

Beta Mu—Chartered 1901

University of Colorado—Boulder, Colorado

Initiates: Elizabeth Cassidy, Boulder; Kathleen Conyers, Denver; Mary Jo Halley, Denver; Jean Keith, Kenilworth, Illinois; Jean Lawson, Colorado Springs; Marybelle McIntyre, Denver; Williamain McPhee, Denver; Marjorie Means, Saguache; Harriet Rathbun, Williams, California; Nancy Scoggins, Boulder; Martha Stauffer, Denver; Mary Witham, Burlington, Vermont; Marguerite Zang, Denver.

Our quietest quarter doesn't hold much of interest for Beta Mu. Again Cordelia Buck scored in the Little theater plays, as also did Marybelle McIntyre. A few of the Kappas took part in the Women's league vodevil in a "Little Nell" play written by Nancy Scoggins. February 14 we entertained Kappa brothers and sons at a Valentine party, and February 17 the chapter gave a subscription dance at the Brown Palace hotel in Denver.

The 1933 Follies starred a few Kappas, among whom were: Dorothy May Shabel, Merle Patterson, Mary Dart, and Peggy Simpson.

Betty Cassidy, Betty Brown, Janet Edwards, Nookie O'Leary, and Mary Cronland took part in the reading choir which was sponsored by the religious interest week committee February 24; Ruth Stauffer was on the committee which planned the functions for the week.

We are now preparing for final week and striving to put Beta Mu in first place for scholarship.

Engagement

Jean Knight to Francis Bain, University of Colorado, Beta Theta Pi.

BETTY SHONSBY

Gamma Beta—Chartered 1918

University of New Mexico—Albuquerque, New Mexico

Initiates: Martha Brownfield, Dorothy Burkholder, Jean Conrad, Ann DeHuff, Georgia Lee Dines, Mabel Downer, Frances Ferree, Sue Flint, Marion Foss, Marguerite Jenkins, Marie Jensen, Dorothy Lipp, Gertrude Moulton, Maxine Nordhaus, Vivian Scheer, Virginia McKnight, Jane Sorenson, Elizabeth Zimmerman.

Since the last letter to THE KEY, Gamma Beta chapter has been pretty much on the run. December 18, we took the cup for the cleverest Christmas stunt. We had a jolly collegiate "Hades" at which our outstanding students and professors were present. A mischievous devil chorus enlivened the affair.

We were all busy trying to carry on a week of rigorous pledge training before initiation, and also rush the new girls on the campus. We succeeded in pledging Robby Cochran, from Alamogordo.

The Kappas are organizing a snappy team for the annual intramural basketball tournament. We have been lucky in having a Pi Kappa Alpha to coach us and hope to have another cup added to our collection.

February 20 we initiated 18 pledges; and as I am writing this now, they are all strutting around like peacocks, with chests thrust out, exhibiting their keys to the world.

News arrived that Mrs. Kenneth Murphy (Polly Evans), is the proud mother of twins, Margaret Lee and Marion Lee, future Kappa and Kappa Alpha.

Now for dramatics. Betty Gill took an important part in the play Ice Bound. Marian Clark had the lead in a Dramatic club play entitled, Enters The Hero.

And, of course, we can't forget the usual candy sale by which we were able to pocket a few greatly needed dollars.

Engagement

Mabel Downer to John Biggs, Pi Kappa Alpha.

MARIAN CLARK

Gamma Zeta—Chartered 1920

University of Arizona—Tucson, Arizona

Initiates: Elizabeth Adams, Tucson; Joan Barnes, Tucson; Dora Lee Byers, San Antonio, Texas; Gene Curley, Tucson; Marion Hartig, Chicago, Illinois; Winifred Norton, Phoenix; Patsy Perkins, Tucson; Virginia Wills, Phoenix.

Pledges: Ruth Jones, Mesa; Lillee Presson, Tucson; Ann Maddox, Douglas.

Gamma Zeta's members and pledges have spent the last two months in more or less concentrated study, first for final examinations, and then in an ambitious spurt of work for the new semester. Of course, we do find lots of time to play, and on one occasion, January 13, our pledges gave a dance in honor of the members—a "13 day" party with black cats, broken mirrors, ladders, huge 13s, and other bad luck symbols adorning the chapter house.

February 24 we turned juvenile again, and had an informal roller skating party at the local skating rink, with members of other sororities on the campus as our guests.

Our whole attention now is centered on initiation, which is planned for March 4, and is eagerly awaited by the eight pledges.

Mildred McClanahan of Beta Tau chapter, who is attending the University of Arizona, is a frequent visitor at the house.

Birth

Gamma Omicron—Chartered 1927

University of Wyoming—Laramie, Wyoming

Initiates: Jean Balensiefer, Lois Buck, and Susan Davie Harris.

Pledges: Bertha Johnson, Lucille Moncur, and Marion Wormwood.

The Gamma Omicron Kappas have been busy collecting all of the campus honors possible, and, with Dorothy Graham (Sigma) to spur us on, we have prospered famously.

Doris Abrahamson is vocational guidance chairman on the Wyoming campus. Mary K. Budd is the senior representative on that committee.

Lucille Moncur, Marion Wormwood, Sally Hennick, and Jean Balensiefer were initiated into Spurs, the national pep organization. Jean Balensiefer was elected president of the Wyoming chapter and will be attending the national Spur convention at Corvallis, Oregon, in April.

Margaret Hamilton is secretary of the junior class. Carol Beck served on the junior prom committee. Lois Buck was an attendant to the junior prom queen.

Jean Balensiefer acted as co-director of a Mask and Sandal play in which two of our pledges, Marie Hocker and Marion Reed, had minor parts. Sally Hennick has a major part in another of these plays.

Marie Hocker made the women's rifle team with one of the five highest scores on the campus. Elizabeth Miller is president of Merica Hall, the freshman girls' dormitory.

The pledges have launched a good-will campaign with two Saturday afternoon teas given for the pledges of the other sororities and the independent groups of the campus.

Right now we are all digging up "rags and tatters" for our annual "hard time" dance, February 24.

Lucille Moncur and Jean Balensiefer were initiated into Iron Skull, sophomore honorary.

Pledges: Mary Alice Benson, LaJunta; Virginia Berger, Colorado Springs; Lois Brittain, Colorado Springs; Anna Margaret Daniels, Colorado Springs; Julia Dunham, Aurora, Illinois; Dorothy Echternach, Palisade; Mildred Fritchle, Colorado Springs; Eduth Gaylord, Oklahoma City; Marion Galbraith, Pueblo; Helen Haney, Broadmoor; Katherine Lingham, Montrose; Eleanor Lynch, La Junta; Sarah McIntyre, Colorado Springs; Lyda Roark, Denver; Marietta Sinton, Colorado Springs; Margaret Stewart, Colorado Springs.

After a successful rush week, we pledged the 16 prize rushees on the campus. The week-end of February 18 we initiated our former pledge class. The banquet was held in the fountain room of the Broadmoor hotel.

Of the 12 candidates for the Colorado college beauty queen, five are Kappas: Jim Browder, Harriet Engel, Marion Galbraith, Martha Herbert, Dorothy Chamberlain. Frederic March will choose the most beautiful girl, whose picture will appear in the yearbook.

February 25, at the colonial ball, Harriet Engel, Helen Gilmore, Emma Louise Jordan, Frances Lewis, Mary Katherine Rohrer danced in the minuet, which is an honor reserved for 16 sophomore girls.

In the March Koshare play, R.U.R., Evelyn Eastman played the lead, while the other woman's part was taken by Julia Dunham.

Pledges: Janet Baker, San Antonio; Elizabeth Binyon, Fort Worth; Mary Beth Birdwell, Beaumont; Eleanor Ann Buckley, San Antonio; Mary Carr Burnett, San Antonio; Catherine Carnrike, Fort Worth; Joan Chambers, Houston; Gordon Clark, Dallas; Mary Elizabeth Fagg, Greenville; Marie Graman, Cuero; Charlotte Hawes, Fort Worth; Mildred Hodge, Harlingen; Doris Kirkham, Cuero; Marietta Kleberg, Corpus Christi; Meredyth Mann, Dallas; Polly Miles, Kaufman; Ione Monroe, Houston; Margaret Rose, Dallas; Elizabeth Ann Schleicher, Victoria; Mary Gladys Sterne, Victoria; Elizabeth Thomas, Austin; Lucy Thompson, Dallas; Helon Torrance, Waco.

We are proud of our new pledges. Our rush week extended from February 15 to February 18. February 19, we held open house. At nine o'clock the pledge night german began, and this dance was quite an event!

We have recently been honored by a visit from Helen Snyder, our field secretary. She was here from February 21 to February 23. February 22 we had a buffet supper for her and for the new pledges.

Adrian Rose, as president of the University of Texas Sports association, automatically became president of the Athletic Conference of American College Women.

Mary Carr Burnett, a pledge, is to be queen of the honorary organization of Ross Volunteers at A. and M. college, Bryan, Texas, April 21. Adrian Rose will be in the queen's court.

Beta Xi is proud of the fact that there are 21 Kappas who have been nominated for the bluebonnet belle section of our yearbook. Seven girls will be placed in this section, and all of the nominees will be pictured in the annual.

Gamma Nu—Chartered 1925

University of Arkansas—Fayetteville, Arkansas

Pledges: Claudine Brannon, Fayetteville; Pauline Gates, Sapulpa, Oklahoma; Lucinda Smith, Paris, Arkansas.

Spring is in the air; the sunshine is warmer and days are longer. Spring fever is beginning to claim ready victims and bright days are luring students from library and book. But that is not the only reason for a recess. We are thinking of the initiation to be held soon. The girls to be initiated are getting anxious, and Gamma Nu is pleased to welcome these girls into her circle: Mildred Butcher, Mary Frances Felton, Margaret Joyce, Frances Leath, Babs Mayden, Ray Johnstone, Annie Laurie Spencer, Lorene Vinson, Vita R. Dickenson.

Second semester rush came January 31 and February 1. We have three new pledges, Claudine Brannon, Pauline Gates, Lucinda Smith.

Our chapter this year is well represented in campus activities. Lillian Joyce, Dorothy Kenney, Wanda Milhoan are members of Sigma Alpha Iota, musical fraternity; Claudine Brannon, Annie L. Spencer, Frances Leath, Lorene Vinson (pledges) represent us in Pi Kappa, journalistic organization; Virginia Rhinold, Margaret Joyce (pledge) are on the list of Blackfriars, dramatic society; Virginia George, Lorene Vinson (pledge), Lois Hanna (pledge), Wanda Milhoan are members of Rootin Rube, a pep organization; Jane Stelzner is a Pi Mu Epsilon and Gladys Farmer (pledge) is a Phi Alpha Beta, art fraternity.

unable to return to school. Margaret Biedenhorn and Helen Shapard went to the University of Texas.

March 6 we had formal initiation for our 16 pledges, and afterward formal banquet at the Dallas Country club. Martha Leeds was in charge of all arrangements.

Nellie Harris was appointed scholarship chairman in place of Virginia Hundley, and Katharine Gregg was appointed Key correspondent. In Margaret Biedenhorn's place Harriet McConnell was elected assistant registrar, and Erline Schuessler, marshal, in place of Margaret Blakey.

Maxine King had the leading roll in the Oak Cliff Little theater play Romeo and Juliet, March 15. Flora Ann Williams had the lead in Red Mill, a musical comedy given by the Southern Methodist university choral club. Phyllis Ellerman and Marie Dotson were also in Red Mill.

Dorothy Rogers earned the scholarship ring with a five "A" average. The jeweled key given to the pledge with the best average was won by Harriet Lang who also had a five "A" average. Alice Gillespie, secretary of the student council, attended a student convention in New Orleans, December 28. Nellie Harris was elected secretary-treasurer of the International Relations society, and she is on the committee for Powder and Patches, annual intersorority production. Betsy Garrard was elected secretary of the city Panhellenic.

Initiates: Helen Blake, Eunice Bowman, Peggy Brownell, Margaret Bushnell, Bettie Mae Carey, Madeline Kirk, Agnes Harrison, Catherine Deming, Barbara Fischer, Jane Brotherton, Patricia MacCauley, Jean Hether-ton, Maxine Smith, Marion Swenson.

The Beta Pis began winter quarter encouragingly by pledging Marian Finn and Kay Cunningham. This was followed by the election of Virginia Slocum as junior representative on the A.S.U.W. Board of control.

Two more of our girls have brought us glory this year: Clara Louise Schmidt was pledged Mu Phi Epsilon, music honorary; and Eleanor Bushnell, Sigma Epsilon Sigma, new "junior" Phi Beta Kappa honorary, of which she is the first president.

Beginning January 26, the pledges lived in the house for an exciting week, terminating in the annual initiation banquet February 4, which, in spite of the year, boasted the largest attendance, both alumnae and actives.

Since then we have had our formal, a dinner dance at Broadmoor Golf club.

Engagement

Virginia Winslow to Gary Collings, U. S. Coast Guard.

Marriage

Helen Katherine Lane to William White.

Pledge: Jean Cunningham, Alameda, California.

Our initiation ceremony January 20 was a most impressive one, and the banquet which followed was effectively presided over by Elizabeth DeCou.

February 20 the following new officers were elected: president, Margaret Compton; vice-president, Phoebe Greenman; recording secretary, Patricia Sherrard; corresponding secretary, Louise Labbe; marshal, Mary Dick Compton; Key correspondent, Margaret Wagner. Installation of officers took place February 27.

We held our annual winter formal at the Eugene hotel February 11. We had seven rushees as our guests and entertained them with a fireside party following the dance.

Hildamay Hobart was elected to membership in a national Spanish honorary, and Margaret Wagner to Pi Delta Phi, French honor society.

Marriages

Maxine Mae Myers, ex-'33, to Charles Claggett, Salem, Oregon.

Dorothy Lane Russell, ex-'33, to Vincent O'Shea, Santa Clara College.

Pledges: Jane Frances Archbold, Portland; Oregon; Hannah Margaret Bozarth, Culdesac; Dorothy Perkins Dole, Lewiston; Wilma Fisher, Weiser; Emily Gascoigne, Spokane, Washington; Margrethe Kjosness, Spokane, Washington; Kathryn Lane, Lapwai; Elizabeth Louise Lyle, Lewiston; Dorothy Menzies, Nampa; Annabel Laidlaw, Boise; Eulene Martin, Boise; Willa St. Claire, Idaho Falls; Carolou Weber, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Beta Kappa has just completed a happy semester. We had a successful fall rushing and pledged a group of wonderful girls.

We are especially proud of the fact that Virginia Gascoigne was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Several of our girls have been outstanding in dramatics: Rosamond Tenney has had the lead in Ladies of the Jury, and Elinor Jacobs had one of the two feminine parts in The Hairy Ape. Margaret Kellogg was elected secretary of the junior class and Janet Kinney, treasurer of the sophomore class. Nina Varian and Janet Kinney were initiated into Spurs. Virginia Gascoigne is president of the English club; Marthalene Tanner, vice-president of Mortar Board; and Dorothy Menzies, vice-president of Curtain.

We gave a dance for our pledges in the fall and a Christmas party just before vacation. For the daughters of our alumnæ in town we gave a fireside. January 4 our upperclassmen entertained at a formal dinner dance.

Gamma Eta—Chartered 1920

Washington State College—Pullman, Washington

Initiates: Eleanor Allen, Twisp; Dana Dungan, Vancouver; Margaret Henry, Endicott; Margaret Jones, Olympia; Nona Layne, Olympia; Gwendolyn Lewis, Wenatchee.

Pledges: Shirley Foster, Wenatchee; Cora Griffin, Seattle; Mildred Lemmon, Long Beach, California; Elizabeth Summers, Tacoma; Rosemary Suydam, Long Beach, California; Bette Williams, Long Beach, California; Dorothy Wohlers, Wenatchee.

Despite the mid-winter chill of Pullman weather our second semester began with a successful rush week. February 19, we welcomed into our midst seven pledges. Initiation was held March 11.

Gamma Eta has "gone dramatic" this season. In Ghost Train, the recent all-college play, Kappa was well-represented by Mary Anne Jackson, Evelyn Cook and Geraldine Gerding, who took prominent rôles. Mary Anne Jackson, Marjorie Anderson and Eleanor Allen have joined the ranks of the voice of the air as new members of the Radio club. Janet Chalmers has been appointed a night editor of the Evergreen. Adelaide Vaughn, Nona Layne, and Carolita Hazeltine are on the humor staff of the Chinook. Margaret Henry is a member of the freshman basketball team.

CAROLITA HAZELTINE

Gamma Mu—Chartered 1924

Oregon State College—Corvallis, Oregon

Pledge: Burnedette Oddekirk, Portland.

Initiates: Robena Taylor, Corvallis; Margaret Engel, Salem; Leone Rockhold, Glendale, California; Helen Stratton, Portland; Shirley Stuart, Corvallis.

There's been lots doing at Gamma Mu since our last letter. First of all we gave a breakfast for Mrs. Hazeltine, our housemother, and invited about 20 of her friends. Later the chapter members had a surprise luncheon for five of the pledges and initiated them the next day. All of the girls were proud to see five new Kappa keys at the student body dance that night. Our own Valentine dance was February 10. A week later we gave our annual sweetheart dinner and the house was transformed into a "bowery den." The climax of the evening was the announcement of the engagement of Winifred Warner to Max Becker, Sigma Chi.

We are proud to have Margaret Zimmerman voted queen of this year's junior prom. She has also been nominated for president of the Associated Women Students. Ramona Hand was initiated into Euterpe, honorary in music, and Jean Baird, Winifred Warner, Shirley Stuart, and Ramona Hand were chosen Junior Orchesis, dancing honorary for underclassmen. It's almost time for spring rushing now, and we'll have enough to keep us busy until next fall.

Initiates: Ann Ayres, Loutie Draper, Ann Dray, Mary Heath, Elizabeth Pigott, Clotilde Vincent, and Helen Yost.

January 9-12, we had the pleasure of a visit from Helen Snyder, who told us many interesting things about the other chapters and their activities, besides offering helpful suggestions.

January 31, we held a fathers' dinner which proved to be a great success.

Initiation is to be February 25 for seven pledges, and will be followed by a banquet in the evening.

Other social functions for the semester are a faculty dinner March 1, and a formal March 24.

Ruth Cutten has been elected to Prytanean, a campus honor society, and has also been invited to join Mortar Board. Alice Bechtel and Virginia Shumate have been initiated into Torch and Shield.

Our rushing parties came to a successful close January 20, when we pledged 15 girls.

January 21 we gave a tea in honor of our housemother, Mrs. Maize, at which our alumnae members were guests.

Our pledges were honored by the alumnae members at a tea at Mrs. T. T. C. Gregory's home February 9.

Fritzi Beth Bowman, sophomore, has been cast as Pedra in the Dramatic council's forthcoming production of An Enemy of the People, by Henrik Ibsen. Betty Ballachey and Dorothy Ann Jackson also have parts.

Jane Dearing has been elected president of Orchesis, a new creative dancing club which is being started on the campus. Marcia Cass, Elinor Day, Frances Burks, and Shelley Smith are also members.

Engagement

Elinor Ophuls to Dr. William C. Deamer of San Francisco.

Gamma Xi—Chartered 1925

University of California at Los Angeles—Los Angeles

January and February brought the Gamma Xis through some of the most "unusual" weather that California has seen for a long time. However, in spite of all the rain, there have been many bright spots within the chapter house, one of which was the pledging of Ysibel Stewart of Montreal, Canada.

In hope of being able to raise some money, we decided to give a theater benefit and chose Bridal Wise straight from its successful run in New York.

The Mothers' club of this chapter recently gave us some lovely peach-colored blankets for the two sleeping porches, in addition to fitting the entire house with new shades. Our alumnae have also been active; they have just finished conducting the sale of tickets for two performances of the Yale puppeteers. The shows were held down on Olevra street in the Spanish section of Los Angeles. The local color of this popular street contributed to the enjoyment of everyone, as did the wonderful display of puppets.

January 25 Chi Delta Phi, literary honorary, held its semester tea at the Kappa house. Two of our members, Betty Janss and Monica MacArthur, were in charge of the entertainment. In anticipation of mid-semester rushing we had our first party, a buffet supper, last Sunday evening. As soon as finals are over formal rush week begins.

At the last chapter meeting we elected our officers for the coming year: Margaret Brandel, president; Adele Phelps, recording secretary; Barbara Albertson, corresponding secretary; Barbara Van Brunt, treasurer; Emily Marr, pledge captain, and Vivian Holmes, house manager. The remainder of the officers will be elected at the first meeting following final exams.

Initiates: Melrose Boor, Alice Crawford, Virginia Duffy, Marie Gaydosh, Jane Howard, Marguerite Laughlin, Virginia Partlow, Eleanor Ramage, Guida Richey, Alice Stemple, Mary Welch, Margaret Willfong.

February 25, the pledges of Beta Upsilon entertained the actives with an informal dance in the University Armory.

We are fortunate in having one of our girls, Louise Dower, return to us for the second semester.

Alice Hamilton has been chosen president of Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics society; Marjorie Berg sang an aria from the opera "Ombre Legere" in a concert sponsored by the School of Music; Gene Crawford was one of the judges of a literary contest which was a preliminary to the Pennsylvania State literary contest; Mary Welch and Eleanor Ramage were elected to Forum; Mary Welch has been chosen to replace Emily Rodney as one of the R.O.T.C. battalion sponsors. We were unfortunate in losing Emily, who found it necessary to leave school the second semester.

Engagement

Lucy Frances Field to Irvin Wildman, Phi Kappa Psi, West Virginia University.

Gamma Kappa—Chartered 1923

College of William and Mary—Williamsburg, Virginia

Pledge: Flora Bozarth, Williamsburg, Virginia.

In the past few weeks Mary Nash Goodwin, an alumna, has entertained Gamma Kappas at a series of informal teas in her charming colonial home. Other enjoyable social events included two sets of midwinter dances, one of which was coed; and, in the chapter, a highly entertaining night club party given the actives by the pledges.

Betty Jackson, a pledge, has been selected for the lead in the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, H.M.S. Pinafore; Anne Chalkey, active, has been elected president of Los Quixotescos (honorary Spanish club); and Mary Porter, pledge, has been made a member. Five Kappas are participating in a recital which the dance club is presenting March 2; Bunny Refo, active, is treasurer of the club. Virginia Tucker Jones, active, has been elected to Theta Alpha Phi (honorary dramatic fraternity).

CARLEEN ELIZABETH LOEFFLER

Gamma Chi—Chartered 1929

*George Washington University—Washington,

Initiates: Helen Bunten, Frances Carden, Betty Cochran, Dorothy Detweiler, Anne Hill, Anne Nelson, Betty Schaub, Marjorie Seahorn.

Initiation held March 11 brought a valuable group into the active membership of Gamma Chi. Betty Cochran was awarded the cup for pledge merit at the banquet in honor of the initiates.

Marjorie Seahorn received a bid to Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman honor society, granted only to those making a 3.5 average.

This year Gamma Chi is inaugurating a policy for mid-term elections, by which the new president is elected in February, to be installed the same month. By this system she does not begin her term of office with rush season and fall initiation. Marywade Moses was made president and Jane Loise Stein, vice-president.

Evelyn Iverson was awarded the scholarship key given to the active who shows the greatest improvement in grades.

Marriage

Nellie Howlett to Chester Bergey, Kappa Sigma, March 13.

University of Maryland—College Park, Maryland

Initiates: Ann Beach, Chevy Chase; Mildred Berry, Largo; Charlotte Dorsey, Hyattsville; Barbara Gibbs, Hyattsville; Virginia Ijams, Baltimore; Mary Keller, Washington, D.C.; Winifred Kerstetter, Lanham; Doris Marburger, Baltimore; Janette Martin, Wilmington, Delaware; Anabel Maxwell, Mariottsville; Nancy Norment, Hagerstown; Marion Parker, Washington, D.C.; Merza Tuttle, Baltimore; Kathryn Walker, Catonsville.

Pledges: Julia Allen, Chevy Chase; June Barnsley, Rockville; Edith Coleman, Hyattsville; Eloyse Dahn, Chevy Chase; Wilma Dahn, Chevy Chase; Marguerite Norris, Chevy Chase; Louise O'Leary, Chevy Chase; Fay Reuling, Baltimore; Betty Stone, Port Tobacco.

Initiation was February 25, and now we have 14 new sisters. The key awarded among the pledges for high scholarship went to Nancy Norment, who had almost a perfect average, a 3.7 out of a possible 4. Initiation service was followed by a buffet supper at the chapter house. June Wilcoxon has been appointed rush chairman for next year to carry on the splendid work Dorothy Shipley accomplished this year.

Chapter elections were recently held, and Gamma Psi now has Amy Mister at its head, with Rosalie Grant, vice-president; Kathleen Hannigan, recording secretary; Gertrude Nichols, treasurer; June Wilcoxon, corresponding secretary; and Emma Gibbs, marshal.

The sixth annual birthday party for the house was February 20. There was an informal meeting with the pledges, who provided a clever pledges' review as part of the entertainment. The George Washington's birthday tea dance was as usual one of the most pleasant affairs of the year.

Esther Hughes, from the college of home economics, was the only woman on campus elected to Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholarship fraternity, this year. Phoebe Steffey, who was graduated in February, had, before her departure, the leading rôle in the Footlight club's production of The Royal Family, and Mary Ricketts was also in the cast in an important part.

We were inspired by a visit from Mrs. Richard Shryock, president of Lambda province.

Pledges: Marian McCleneghan, Raleigh, North Carolina; Marie Pelgrim, Coral Gables, Florida; Doris Welles, Pensacola, Florida.

There is quite a book full of news from Delta Beta for the past few months. To begin, we Kappas have annexed a large loving cup, the award for a stunt called "A Modern Edition of Julius Caesar," judged the best of the stunts presented at the post-exam jubilee sponsored by the Y.W.C.A.

Louise Sellars was elected to be in the May court in the annual May day festival, one of the big events here at Duke. Annie Kate Rebman is to appear in the beauty section of the Chanticleer, the Duke annual, and Ethel Garret is to appear.

Elaine Tenney left school at the end of the first semester to go to England. Last year Katherine Davies also left the chapter to go to England. There must have been rather an interesting Delta Beta reunion over there, for the girls planned to meet as soon as Elaine arrived.

The Kappas went to the finals in the basketball tournament.

Pi Beta Phi has just been installed here at Duke. The Kappas moved out of their section and turned over the chapter rooms entirely to the visitors here for the installation. It was a great deal of fun to talk with all the visiting Pi Phis and have them tell us about the Kappas at the schools they came from.

Helen Snyder, field secretary, visited Delta Beta and the Durham Alumnæ association March 9-12. A formal tea, a theater party given by the pledges, and a jaunt to the neighboring college town of Chapel Hill were all given in her honor.

Dorris Fish had the honor of being initiated with the key of Elmie Warner Mallory, Lambda chapter, who was grand registrar from 1900 to 1904, and grand president from 1904 to 1906. After her initiation, Dorris wore the key of Cynthia Mallory, Beta Delta, Mrs. Mallory's daughter, who was initiated into Kappa at the age of 14 at the University of Michigan.

Beta Omicron—Chartered 1904

Newcomb College—New Orleans, Louisiana

Initiates: Marie Louise Legier and Blanche Mills.

February 25 we enjoyed an all too brief visit from Helen Snyder, field secretary, who gave us interesting accounts of activities at other chapters she has visited recently, and had a number of new and helpful suggestions to make. The chapter gave a tea in Miss Snyder's honor at the home of Virginia Logan.

We are delighted that Virginia Worthington, of San Antonio, Texas, has promised Kappa.

The chapter has enjoyed meeting Mrs. Neff (Cora Lloyd, Iota), who told us many interesting and entertaining stories about the early days of Kappa and of Iota chapter.

A number of elections took place recently. Elizabeth Pearce was elected rush captain for next year. On the campus, Ruth French was elected freshman class president; Brent Robertson, vice-president of the Dramatic club. Marie Louise Tobin was elected to Theta Nu, honorary journalism fraternity; and Lillian Dameron was elected alumnæ reporter.

Carnival festivities are in full swing, as gay and gorgeous as ever, despite the depression. We have a number of Kappa debutantes who have been queens and maids in the courts of the various carnival balls, so it is particularly interesting for us this year.

Beta Chi—Chartered 1910

University of Kentucky—Lexington, Kentucky

Pledge: Burton Hawkins, Lexington.

The annual election of regimental and company sponsors of the Kentucky division of the R.O.T.C. resulted in the nomination of Mary King Montgomery, regimental sponsor, and Mary Chick, sponsor for Company G.

Cwen, national honorary society for sophomore women, conducted an interfraternity and sorority singing contest February 15. As a reward for the most meritable performance, Beta Chi won the gold cup. Special mention went to Chi Omega and Tri Delta respectively. The two songs offered were "Kappa, all Hail to Thee" and "Kappa Toast."

For the first time in a great number of years a freshman was chosen by the acting committee as beauty queen. This signal honor fell upon one of our pledges, Mary Campaspe Dantzer, of Lexington.

In obtaining all of these social honors, we have not neglected our scholarship. Special mention goes to the pledges, eight of whom met the standards required for future membership in Phi Beta Kappa.

Pledge: Cornelia Nevins, Tampa.

After initiation the banquet was held at the Alabama hotel. The following afternoon a tea was given for the alumnæ.

We are proud of Eleanor Wright and Kathleen Hara, who took the two leads in Philip Barry's Holiday, and of Mary Trowbridge, who won the fall tennis tournament for women.

Founders' week was held at Rollins beginning February 16. Among the outstanding events was the animated magazine, in which many national and international figures took part. Mary E. Woolley, president of Mt. Holyoke and delegate to the Geneva disarmament conference, was the speaker at the convocation exercises.

One big event of February was the benefit tea-dance-bridge given at the Alabama hotel. It was a warm afternoon, so the bridge tables were placed on the terrace overlooking the lake where couples danced to the music of a negro orchestra. We were most successful in proceeds.

BESSIE GRAHAM

Kappas of Long Beach Unshaken in Courage

FOLLOWING nature's "sub-surface readjustment" in California a few weeks ago, the Long Beach Alumnæ association reported to central office that so far as Helen S. Thompson, association secretary, knew, the Kappas in the vicinity had come through the experience unscathed.

"The earthquake is over!" she wrote. "At least for a time. We are still being frightened to death by the after tremors, but gradually we are beginning to breathe normally again.

"You will be interested in the fact that outside of a few less strong nervous systems, bushels of broken dishes, and numerous fallen fireplaces, our group seems to be intact and very little affected by the quake. I found upon inquiry that many of our association were busy from the first on the Red Cross emergency program; others left the city; still others slept in cars or garages until homes were pronounced safe for occupancy. But none suffered injuries and all are well. We have a great deal to be thankful for.

"Of course there was damage. Parts of the city suffered terribly. The schools show a greater loss than perhaps any other type of building. Schools are closed until temporary structures can be erected. Plans are vague. We are all trying to be patient, helpful, and hopeful. Reconstruction is going on by leaps and bounds. Soon Long Beach will be itself again or perhaps a more progressive, better city—thanks to the quake."

Thou Kappa Kappa Gamma live each day in all our hearts. And in our lives play many noble sympathetic parts. The parts of sister, second mother, counsellor, true friend. Of Love's ideal to which we raise our eyes until the end Until the end? I think when passed beyond this little sphere. We still shall see thy joyous shining light forever clear. And hear in all the skies thy call of perfect Womanhood
So God may say "On earth and here thou art a lasting Good"
