The Stature of A Woman

"Stature" as envisioned in a physical sense, is a quality possessed by all—the natural height of the human body. Nature may have been assisted by a life-long habit of standing up straight; but to achieve total height, this is perhaps the only overt and positive act which could be taken.

"Stature" in further definition, denotes mental development and growth—processes over which a human has great control! It encompasses the expanding and widening of total personalities—even as is being done to a young body while "standing up straight."

At a certain age physical growth reaches its maximum height. But, due to the blessing and miracle of the powers of reason and deduction, the stature of a personality need never cease its continuous search for new heights. In our world, so beset with turmoil, perhaps Mankind needs to ponder more often on our basic obligation to show love and appreciation of one another. To love, one must understand; to appreciate one must know; and to know, one must continue to learn.

A member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, a woman of great fortune who has had the benefit of an education of higher learning, has experienced intellectual and comprehensive extension of personality development through the association and responsibilities of her active chapter involvement. As a young adult, she will have furthered this development by association with a large number of human contacts in society. As a mature woman she will be called upon by society to contribute her share of guidance toward the circle of human development.

At each stage of life a personal obligation exists to contribute to mankind commensurate with individual potential. At no point should one feel automatically entitled to "detour from the road for responsibility." Each day brings new challenges, new opportunities, new demands.

Kappa Kappa Gamma seeks noble performance from its members. A motivation to high achievement is given to us by our Founders in our Preamble, urging "... mutual helpfulness in the attainment of individual and social excellence." Honor, true friendship, the strength of unity, and leadership to light the way to new horizons are the finest gifts we can contribute to the Stature of our Fraternity.

1968

RESPONSE 1968—a column devoted to responsive thinking today, starts with this second issue of the 1968 year. The editor hopes this may be a continuing feature. It will, if the membership “responds.” This first column is devoted to Responsive Thinking by Actives as it appears, with one exception, in the pages of the chapter newsletters.

Subsequent columns will be devoted to Responsive Thinking by Alumnæ, Responsive Thinking by Administrators, Responsive Thinking on Fraternities. Send your thoughts for publication to the Editor. Any clippings of thoughts of others must show source of information.

Legacy to university and fraternity

“What would be an appropriate gift for Beta Upsilon Kappas to give to their university and sorority on their 100th anniversaries? Kappas have much to offer their sorority—friendship, loyalty, and love. Kappas have much to offer their university—scholarship, interest, and respect. But Kappas are an unique group of outstanding college women who excell in scholarship and character and thus, can give West Virginia University and Kappa Kappa Gamma a practical and lasting gift in the form of responsible student leadership.

“As Kappa approaches her Centennial mark, Beta Upsilon must continue to build on the strong base which her alumnae have constructed and led on into the next challenging century. Kappa will strive, as always, to maintain excellent scholarship, to uphold standards, to provide bonds of friendship, and to grow and to improve. We must be convinced of the value in the furtherance of our ideals, our legacy, and to work constantly to continue them. Yet, Kappa can give more. Kappa is unique, for she has the material to provide leadership and responsibility to her campus, a magnificent gift to the future of the university and sorority which must be shared.

“In this challenging century, sisters will have more opportunities than ever to give their gift of responsible leadership. In the area of academic achievement and standards, Kappa must set an example. Activities outside the classroom will cry for responsible leaders also. Kappas will be needed. In responsible acts outside the sorority we can strengthen ourselves, our chapter, our fraternity, and the Greek system.

“Within the chapter, Kappa will need sisters to direct worthy projects which will benefit others, as well as the membership. Kappa will require responsibility from each sister and leadership, not only from her officers, but, in some capacity, from each wearer of the badge. Kappa will give of herself to others. Not a society behind closed doors, Kappa is an open door out of which are passing sisters who have much to give to the University, fellow students, and society-at-large, as well as the sorority in this challenging century.

“If each sister can continue to perpetuate Kappa’s legacy annually, we need feel no apprehension for the future of Kappa Kappa Gamma on campus, within the chapter, or in the community, and we can feel that we have given to our university a gift that we can be proud of 100 years hence.”

Unsigned editorial in the Kappa Klippings of B Y-West Virginia, 1967.

Sharing builds

The sharing of ideas, philosophies, and experience builds friendships into lifelong associations. Kappa can be not only a lasting memory but a dynamic influence on the life of each girl who takes the time and interest to give of herself to it. I feel that it is important for our house to be a vital link between each of us as students, and as members of the University. . . .

"The importance of excellent scholarship and widespread activities are essential to the development of each individual, but the element of personal communication between the members determines the strength and success of a chapter. This communication should be our greatest goal."

CAROLYN TASH, president B II-Washington, in the Kappa Kolumns, 1967.

Are sororities and fraternities functional?

The feeling expressed by two chapter presidents of the same chapter is seen in these two editorials found in the 1966-67 and 1967-68 issues of the Kappa Kopy of E E-Emory.

The question, 'Are sororities and fraternities functional?' is truly an important one to keep in mind; for when Greek organizations cease to be functional, they will soon cease to exist.

"But exactly what are the functions of a sorority? Dr. W. Clarke Wescoe, Chancellor of the University of Kansas speaks of the 'five senses': a Sense of Purpose, a Sense of Responsibility, a Sense of Discipline, a Sense of Cohesion, and a Sense of Vitality. The functions of a sorority are all found in the attainment of these qualities.

"A SENSE OF PURPOSE: The purpose of Kappa Kappa Gamma Fraternity is to 'form ourselves into an association for the development of nobler qualities of the mind and finer feelings of the heart, and for mutual helpfulness in the attainment of individual and social excellence'. This purpose has remained unchanged for almost one hundred years, because its meaning is always current and sets before us an ideal for which to strive.

"A SENSE OF RESPONSIBILITY: Every member's responsibility to the group and to each person in the group is vital to the chapter. Without this sense of responsibility every project becomes a chore, a few members have to do the work of an entire chapter, and part of the feeling of sisterhood is lost. Responsibility can be achieved by realizing what the sorority can mean to the individual and the joy of working together toward common goals.

"A SENSE OF DISCIPLINE: The discipline of a chapter is exercised primarily through the personnel committee since it is responsible for carrying out many sections of the Constitution and By-Laws. But far more important, the personnel committee also uses a type of preventive discipline through fraternity and appreciation programs, promoting Kappa spirit and morale, the big-little sister program, pledge conferences, and by trying to help a chapter member before her problem becomes serious.

"A SENSE OF COHESION: The feeling of sisterhood is the cohesive factor in a sorority. Sisterhood is almost impossible to define; it's a sense of closeness, of loyalty to each other, and of a common bond with Kappas throughout the country whom you've never met. Sisterhood is the result of sharing—sharing achievements as well as disappointments.

"A SENSE OF VITALITY: For a chapter to have a vitality it must grow constantly. This growth is necessary in every area of chapter life—chapter organization, the chapter on its campus, the chapter in its national organization, and the chapter's influence on and through its members. Contact with other groups is an excellent way to promote vitality. National and Province conventions, visits of Field Secretaries, and working with Province officers allow individual chapters to exchange ideas and solve mutual problems. On its campus the chapter can work with the administration, other campus organizations, its advisory board, and above all the Panhellenic Council.

"In my opinion, sororities are definitely functional in that they strive for the attainment of these five characteristics in the chapter and in the individual. They are unique in providing this guidance, friendship, and growth for college women."

ANN EVANS, E E-Emory, president 1967-68, in
Kappa Kopy, 1967.

The girls whose heads are used to illustrate this article were picked at random from candid shots taken at the last Fraternity Convention. They were chosen as typical of the active member giving serious thought to the business of the Fraternity.

The meaning of Kappa

"Ninety-six years ago Kappa Kappa Gamma was established. Within these 96 years the whole western world has undergone great social, political, intellectual, and moral upheaval. The changes that have taken place and are taking place in the world today have greatly influenced and will continue to influence the fraternity system. Kappa Kappa Gamma was founded as a result of changes in the world and has continued to move forward with the times. And so, we, who are carrying the ideals of our founders into the last half of the twentieth century, must continually evaluate and re-evaluate the position of Kappa in our world.

"At the General Convention in New Hampshire last (ed. note: 1966) summer, I saw the Kappa of today. Six hundred Kappas, alumnae and collegiates, from all over the United States and Canada convened not only to carry out the organization's business but also to examine the purposes of Kappa and the means to achieve these purposes. Each member there was concerned with the growing criticism that 'Fraternities are anachronistic organizations which are in finality, nothing more than highly organized social cliques.' Each member there sought for the words and means to express the meaning of Kappa to these critics. The challenge is real. Not only are the ideals and purposes of the organization under attack but also the actual physical chapters themselves. We must answer these attacks not only in the intellectual debate but also in the actual pragmatic accomplishments of the collegiate and alumnae groups.

"There are two main criticisms that we have faced and must continue to face today. These criticisms come not just from without the fraternity system but also from within. The first criticism is that fraternities practice discrimination. Actually, discrimination is not, in its essence, a prejudicial deed. The word has come to have a bad connotation in the past few years not because discrimination itself is under attack but because the reasons behind the discrimination have been unjust and unsound in our democratic society. Therefore, the fraternity's answer to this criticism can only be the constant awareness and continued practice of the discrimination with the basis of selecting members who uphold the same standards and are basically compatible with its own members. We cannot deny discrimination—we can only stand on the knowledge that we are discriminating in our group only as all people discriminate in choosing their closest friends. We must be constantly on the alert that our reasons remain sound.

"The second major criticism is that fraternities are useless in our individualistic society and a waste of time. This challenge is also a result of the changing times. Time has become valuable not only to the college student but also to the alumnae members. The university has become so competitive and a college education has become necessary for any type of advancement in our society that the time spent in fraternity activities is too valuable to waste. For the alumnae member whose life is complicated and busy, working for the fraternity is an added burden of great measure. Therefore, the answer to this challenge can only logically be the changing of the fraternity's activities so that they will not be a waste of time but will enhance the individual. As simple as this seems, it is actually a complicated and overwhelming job. There are many activities in which the fraternity participates that some feel are important while others may feel are frivolous. However, there are many activities that the majority feel are useless. These need to be abolished if the fraternity system is going to continue to keep pace with the times. This does not mean a radical dissolving of all activities that may seem trivial but in actuality are good for fraternity spirit or tension release. What this means is a radical evaluation of each activity whether social, cultural, or organizational as to whether its values to the fraternity are greater than its drawbacks.

"And so, as the twentieth century, moves on—continuing to change and to challenge—we who are members of an organization that has been the vanguard in the fraternity system must continue the forward-looking ideals of our founders. The fraternity system, especially the women's fraternities and sororities, has been under attack since its beginning and has survived. It is up to us in this new day to prove that Kappa is not an anachronism but a useful and meaningful part of our lives and of future lives. The challenge has been set and only we, by positive action, can meet it!"

PAULA HELM, E E-Emory, president
1966-67, in Kappa Kopy, 1966.

Conservative hippie

Drawing from the Delta
Alpha Keynotes

In 1870, six young ladies formed a fraternity based upon the ideas of truth, wisdom, and beauty. If, in the industrial 19th century they were ideals, so more so are they ideals in a technological 20th century. Amidst the vastly changing moral, political, and ethical codes of modern life, there are some who still find the search for these ideals are valid. The problem, then, is not one of validity, but of attainment.

"Essentially, this search is a lonely and individual one; it is part of maturing, part of attaining self-actualization, and if our conceptions of truth and beauty change, so that task becomes more complicated and difficult. And in his difficulty man seeks a comfort and empathy, the wisdom of words and wisdom of silences. He seeks to become what he has always been.

"If his search is individual, he is not alone in that search. There can be much sharing and therefore much love. It is upon this love that we build a union—a fraternity. All else seems extraneous, although this kinship can always be strengthened and deepened. And we are creating ourselves continually.

"In perspective, then, there seem to be many parallels with the current and real hippie philosophy . . . a commune of men, respecting individuality and change, who share a living experience based upon love, and who search (if somewhat desperately) for truth. We each 'do our thing.' In place of beads we find a key; instead of psychedelic orange we wear blue and blue; our 'highs' come, not from drugs, but from life; Sgt. Pepper is transformed . . . zap . . . to Minerva; our 'co-habs' are for women only; instead of 'dropping out' we've 'dropped in'; our flower power . . . the fleur-de-lis."

ANN STALEY, Δ A-Penn State, in the
Keynotes, 1967.

Dear alumnae:

“An informal letter like this gives me an opportunity not only to introduce myself to you, but also to let you know something about Upsilon Chapter.

“I think this working closely with advisers and alumnae as well as with new freshmen, gives one a real feeling of the ‘nationalness’ of the sorority. We often get closed in our own world and forget the existence of everyone but those around us. Convention last spring really made me feel what a tremendous organization Kappa is. The chance to talk about college not only with other girls, but with the active alumnae and advisers, as well as the ‘grand old ladies’, is an experience every Kappa should have. It makes one aware of the existence of Kappa beyond the four years of school.

“Our Christmas party with alumnae and their children, and other contacts mean a great deal to us. They show us the continuum of Kappa. This continuum is important to all of us. For Kappa is an organization made up of individuals; and the profile of a group can change reflecting the elements within. Although the individuals come and go, we must all strive to maintain the standards of Kappa through strengthening alumnae relations as well as inter-chapter relations. As a senior, well-aware of the imminence of her departure from the university and full of nostalgia, this is what I would ask of actives, pledges and alumnae.

JANE BELL, president Y-Northwestern, in the
The Kappa Good News, 1967.

Feelings are fluid

“Not everyone has exactly the same feeling toward Kappa. Nor does any one person maintain a fixed regard for our fraternity. Rather, our feelings are fluid and varied, differing from individual to individual and in each one at diverse moments in her life. We have certain sentiments when we are pledges that change once we become actives, and change again and again as we become officers, and then alumnae.

“However, underneath the flux lies something more constant—an orientation toward friendship, toward the giving of ourselves to others that the fraternity ideals inspire in us. This friendship is constant even though we cannot be. This is what makes membership in Kappa Kappa Gamma a continuous experience, and not one limited merely to college days. As actives, then, we can look forward to the experiencing of a new aspect of Kappa as alumnae while the feeling we share as sisters always remains. For no matter what phase of fraternal life we are engaged in, we hold the same ideals and come within the same enveloping bond of friendship.

ALISON BRENNER, president, K I-William and Mary, in The Owlette, 1967.

Sorority pinned

The following letter was sent to the University of Delaware student newspaper, The Review, by Carol Campbell, ☉-Missouri who has transferred to that campus. This letter was written in support of recent action by the Board of Trustees to establish sororities on the Delaware campus.

“As a transfer student and sorority member from the University of Missouri, I feel that both the administration and the students of the University of Delaware have many misconceptions about sororities. Sure, they’re called social sororities, but, if anyone would take a good look, it can be seen that sorority life gives so much more than merely an opportunity to meet people. The sorority develops sound scholarship based on intellectual and cultural pursuits. It encourages leadership training and helps the coed to achieve self-discipline based on the highest personal and social standards.

“As pledges, we had a required three-hour study hall every day—even on week-ends. Some sorority’s pledges were even required to study an added ten hours a week at the library. The house had a complete, up-to-date test file on each course at the university. Girls with mid-semester conditionals made good use of our excellent tutoring program.

“The general comprehensive scholarship program of the sororities is obvious in their 2.63 grade point average as compared to the over-all girls 2.25 average.

“Another misconception about sorority life is its so-called tendency to stereotype. No, a girl doesn’t lose her individuality in a sorority;—she finds in the sorority an opportunity to further develop it. She is not stifled, she grows; she grows through a very meaningful bond of friendship—a bond which continues long after college.

“Some people call it ‘instant friendship’. This sorority business isn’t a one way deal, but a mutual cooperation of people who care and who are willing to work. There is no such thing as apathy within a sorority.

“I am glad that the University of Delaware is finally realizing the potential of sororities in the education environment. Congratulations!”

Generation gap

Is there a generation gap? If so, what does it mean to the sorority system? Two active Gamma Xis give their ideas on this subject.

“The ‘Generation Gap’ is not an unique development in today’s society, but there is a breakdown in communication which should be mended. The sorority girl today thinks, acts, and feels differently than her mother did when she was in college. A typical girl going through rush has pierced ears, short skirts, and textured hose. She believes in God, but cannot totally accept organized religion. She has been openly exposed to alcohol and cigarettes since she was 16. She does not smoke marijuana herself, but has friends who do and she doesn’t condemn the practice. She doesn’t look down on a girl who engages in pre-marital sex, providing the couple is ‘in love’. Her interests extend far beyond float-building, football games, and beer busts. Every facet of human experience is exciting and interesting to her.

“There is a new openness; a new desire to inspect, understand and evaluate all aspects of life, and to become a self-realized person, rather than accepting a spoon-fed philosophy and morality.

“In the face of this new freedom and new outlook, the sorority has a distinct responsibility. It can remain an effective force in maintaining high standards of womanhood only if it is flexible enough to fulfill the needs of a new generation. A sorority is only as effective as it is popular. Only if the girls feel that it is an honor to belong, and believe in what it stands for, can the sorority retain its influence. It is extremely important that national officers, alumnae, and advisors really know the girls who are active: to know what they are learning, feeling and thinking. The sorority system can no longer dictate ideals and standards. It must teach girls to find them for themselves to know and see what the world is like and where they stand in it. Any ‘phoniness’ can mean the death of the sorority. Honest, realistic outlooks must be taken in regard to sorority policy, goals and standards, to make sure they are appealing to the girls who are a part of this new openness. The sorority has a wonderful opportunity. It can bridge the gap between generations. It can be a home in which the best of each generation is realized. But, the only way this can be accomplished is to throw off conservative taboos and jump whole-heartedly into reality. To buy issues under a gauze of unacceptability and ‘T.N.K!’ is to jeopardize the future of the sorority system. True womanhood is achieved when a girl knows herself and can be proud of that self in any company, of any generation. I’m not denouncing or purporting any specific policies, but only urging that every Kappa has the awareness and the understanding of ‘what’s happening’ to build that bridge between generations, instead of leaving the whole sorority tradition on the bank behind.

ELIZABETH DE JONGE, Γ Ξ-California at Los Angeles, in Through the Keyhole, 1967.

“The existence, or even the possibility of a generation gap is a myth, a fallacious conception of our time, and of the ‘older’ as well as the ‘new’ generation. We have supposed each other at opposite ends of a long continuum of communication, incapable of reconciliation yet it is not individuals between whom we conceive this polarity—it is the total mass of society, divided into two camps.

“It is here that we encounter the principle fallacy of the generation gap. The ability to

Memories

At the close of 1967's spring term Kathy Irwin, president 1966-67 of  $\Delta$  B-Duke, wrote this expression of what four years of Kappa had meant to her. It was included in the current issue of The Keyhole of  $\Delta$  B-Duke.

“As is most often the case, it seems like only yesterday that the Kappas of the Class of '67 were gathering to discuss the approaching Senior year at Duke; their aims, hopes, and plans for Delta Beta. Now we prepare to leave Durham for what will for most of us be the last time. What part of Duke, of Kappa, will we take with us as graduating Seniors? What hopes, goals, and dreams will we Seniors leave here with the Chapter? Perhaps from my answers to these questions you will be able to sense the flavor of Delta Beta 1966-67.

“As 'has beens' we Seniors spend the last weeks at school reflecting. In packing all our clothes and gathering up odds and ends, we've each saved a special corner deep in that trunk for our treasured box of Kappa memories. It is in a box that will weather time and rough treatment—one that will be dragged out from its hiding place over and over—it will always be a precious possession. What kind of memories are stored in that box? Well, to tell you the truth, I have not yet sorted that collection. (I'm not really much of an organizer.) When I think of Kappa '67, I think of responsibility, hard work, some worry, even disappointment . . . Well, in someone else's words, I think of 'just a little bit of labor.' We faced that old attendance problem and I remember emphasizing, 'we have a responsibility'. I remember enthusiastic pledges innocently asking, 'Where are the actives?' I remember working late during rush—giving so much time and emotion that you thought there was nothing left in you to give. I remember the mix-up in plans and schedules. I remember the hurt of two de-activations. I remember falling short of Kappa and her ideals—disappointing ourselves as well as others. Yes, I do remember a little bit of labor, and it is not a bitter memory of work, but a fond one—you know, it is that worrying together, striving together, and achieving together that makes it possible for us to be so strong and to grow together. That little bit of labor is very important. I think that we all realized that this year.

“Constantly bulging out of that valuable little box are the memories of friends and plain fun. Why, I'll remember that big swell of pride that used to envelop me as I would look around that room of really fine people. How many times did I say, 'You are a lucky girl!' I remember welcoming the best pledge class ever. I remember singing together and just relaxing at our annual retreat which was finally relegated to the Campus Center. I remember inviting faculty members for the evening and noting the real exchange that was so spontaneous to that group. I will remember that deep sense of love and respect among sisters—a feeling which I believe was nourished only with the coming of the second semester. I'll remember the term 'planned spontaneity' which was to be the real key to Kappa success in '67. I'll remember the field secretary's words: 'You all have something special.' And you know, I will recall each sister. So to those memories of a little bit of labor, I'll quickly add a little bit of laughter and a little bit of love. And there you have Kappa '67.

“And what do we departing Seniors leave with you? All our hopes and plans can be combined with a little bit of luck. We can selfishly take our little boxes of memories, but you see, we leave so much thought and concern behind. Now, for the first time in several years, you know and we know just how wonderful Kappa can be—we've realized her potential. A part of each of us will stay here with you because Kappa is such a part of us. It has been a rewarding year, blessed with some labor, a little laughter, and a little love. With these ingredients and the addition of that bit of luck, Kappa '68 is 'on the way!' You can't help but have a grand year and we are all already proud of you!”

KATHY IRWIN,  $\Delta$  B-Duke president,
1966-67 in The Keyhole, 1967.

A postscript from 1900 becomes a preview of 1968 —in Columbus

The Fifteenth National Convention of Kappa Kappa Gamma, eagerly anticipated, keenly enjoyed, belongs to the past. How can the hundreds of Kappas who read THE KEY be made to realize what the hundred Kappas enjoyed and learned at Columbus? From the many girls in the thrill of their first convention to the veterans of three or four, all found the week one of happiness. Former conceptions and ideals of fraternity were found insufficient, friendships which will be life long were formed, and from the convention came such inspiration as will be felt, not merely by those who were actually present, but by each of the different chapters, and which, widening, will touch the lives of our scattered alumnæ.

To enjoy convention completely, one should have some excuse for coming a few days early. Then one sees behind the scenes, and realizes something of the thought and work necessary for a successful convention. Then one learns to know the girls of the entertaining chapter, and enjoys the excitement of meeting the visitors as they come, and feels something of the responsibility of welcoming them. If one is fortunate enough to be lodged, even temporarily, in the "Council House," there seems to be nothing more to be desired.

Beta Nu welcomed us royally. From the earliest train to the latest, groups of girls were at the stations. How good it seemed to recognize Kappas even before the key was visible!

The University of Ohio is located in the "North End" of Columbus, four miles from the business center, so it was not practicable for the girls to stay in any of the hotels. Beta Nu had therefore secured rooms in the pretty houses on the two avenues immediately in front of the campus, and the general meeting places were the cozy "Rest Room" in the main University building, and Mrs. McPherson's boarding house, which for the week was given over to the Kappas.

And the campus! What words can describe it? To those in less favored universities, it seemed boundless in extent, and the trees and ivy were a constant source of pleasure. Then the spring!—No wonder the water is good; it could not be otherwise in so pretty a spot, where mossy rocks and ferns and trees abound.

Convention opened with the traditional informal reception at the home of Miss Pratt. What a pleasure this reception always is! The difficulty of introduction is done away with by the wearing of cards with name and chapter, and new friends are old friends, by virtue of the key, before the evening is over. It is an occasion to be remembered when you discover the girl you liked best of all at the '96 convention, or greet again the one with whom you have corresponded since '98. Not the least of the joys of the evening came from Mr. Auld in his gift of the convention pins. The silver fleur-de-lis of 1898 gave place to the gold button of 1900. You might have thought at first glance that it had patriotic significance, but embossed upon it was the key surmounting a fleur-de-lis and the inscription "Columbus 1900."

On Wednesday morning came the opening session, held in the University Chapel. Colors and palms were everywhere and our matchless monogram occupied a conspicuous place in the decorations. On the piano was a great mass of asters, with greetings from the local chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta, while vases of roses showed the remembrance of Phi Kappa Psi.

Let men and outsiders marvel if they will, how women can occupy a week at a fraternity convention. We know that it was a week full of business and business—a week which is epoch making in the history of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Surely no delegate can return to her chapter without feeling that she must take to it a broader realization of what the fraternity means, without feeling that she herself has grown in character because of the experiences of the week.

Editor's note:

Convention meets in Columbus, Ohio, June 13-18 at the Sheraton-Columbus Motor Lodge. This article, signed MCW, Σ-Nebraska, presumably refers to May C. Whiting Westermann, who later served as the President of the Fraternity. It tells of the Convention week in Columbus, Ohio in 1900 when Beta Nu Chapter and the Columbus Alumnæ Association once before welcomed actives and alumnæ to the Capital city of Ohio.

On Wednesday afternoon convention enjoyed the hospitality of the Ohio chapter of Pi Beta Phi. A charming reception was given and it was a pleasure thus to meet other Greeks.

Friday morning that unsatisfactory something known as the convention picture was taken. It is always a disappointment, for it never seems to do anybody justice, but it is something tangible to show the girls at home, and no one would fail to have one.

Friday evening came the great event socially. In the Gymnasium, resplendent with lights and flags, and suggestive with fraternity colors and emblems, a reception and ball was held. President Thompson and his wife were of the receiving party, and the Greek world—masculine—assisted Beta Nu in giving the visiting Kappas a delightful evening. For this occasion the campus was illuminated, rows of gay Japanese lanterns marking the path to the spring, where lights twinkled from the crevices of the rocks and made water seem more tempting than punch or ices.

Saturday night was "Frat Night" on the printed programme and the name caused much speculation. It proved to be a splendid big fraternity meeting without any business. Everybody had the best time imaginable. There was dancing and the singing of Kappa songs and much talking. Then in a solemn silence a man was ushered into the hall, and we were enraptured with the playing of Mr. Selwyn Pratt, a celebrated pianist, brother of one of Beta Nu's girls. Then there were songs and recitations and dancing, interspersed with fudge and welsh rarebit while everybody admired the souvenir pennants—dark blue with a light blue monogram. All were sorry when the lights went out for such meetings as these are the pleasantest of convention.

Sunday Beta Nu deserved a rest, but her unflagging hospitality caused her to entertain, individually, many of the visitors, at dinner or tea, and also to see that others enjoyed drives over the miles of perfect paving. It was well worth while to see High Street in the glory of evening dress. The method of lighting the main street of Columbus is unique. Instead of the common-place arc lights, steel arches closely set with incandescents span the street at intervals of half a block, as far as the eye can reach and the effect suggests a continual political ratification or a carnival.

Monday was the busiest day of all. Not merely the usual sadness of the last day characterized the closing session, but with the installation of the new council came to most of us, for the first time, the realization that as a fraternity we were parting with officers who for six years had served Kappa Kappa Gamma with such faithfulness and unselfishness as no organization has warrant to expect, much less a right to demand. It is not possible for the fraternity adequately to express its appreciation.

The closing banquet was to be at eight o'clock but it was seven-thirty before the Grand President declared the Fifteenth National Convention adjourned. There was much scurrying into party gowns, and finally all were together again at the Chittenden and seated at the pretty tables arranged in the form of the Greek Kappa, where dainty name cards with pen and ink sketches by Beta Nu artists marked the places. Between courses the menu cards were passed for autographs, and wit and wisdom—not mere conventionality—came with the toasts. Marion Belle Slade, Lambda, who was to have been Magister Epularum was called home unexpectedly, but surely nothing could have been lost in the substitution of Elmie Warner from the same chapter, newly elected Grand Registrar.

The toast list was as follows:

- Welcome .....Mary Bole Scott, Beta Nu
"Welcome ever smiles,
And farewell goest out a-sighing"
- Fleur-de-lis among the "rushes" Eleen A. Janney, Chi
"Tactful, talented, debonaïr, Decorous foes were they"
- Pan-Hellenism .....Elizabeth Dinsmore, Beta Iota
"In faith and hope the world will disagree,
But all mankind's concern is charity.
All must be false that thwart this one great end,
And all of God that bless mankind or men."
- Beta Lambda .....Margaret Mann, Beta Lambda
"Hail, blooming youth!
"May all your virtues with your years improve."
- ? .....Elizabeth Allen, Beta Epsilon
"The time has come" the walrus said,
"To talk of many things:
Of shoes and ships and sealing-wax,
Of cabbages and kings."
- Kappa Men .....Viola Pattiani, Pi
"Here's to those who love us—if we only cared!
Here's to those we'd love—if we only dared!"
- Double-Blue .....Retiring Grand Council
"We pledge ourselves in blue,
The blue of sky and sea,
And for Kappa Kappa Gamma
I'd lay me down and dee."

But Columbus cars do not run all night, even to please the Kappas, and so with regret the parting song was sung, and each girl carried away to make

Housing

A new house for Delta Tau

by SHERAN O'CONNOR HOYE
Δ T-Southern California

Delta Tau Chapter, on the University of Southern California campus, celebrated its twentieth anniversary last Fall. When the chapter was founded in 1947, there were about 20 members. The house that was remodeled for Delta Tau's first members was gracious and adequate for many years, but as the Chapter grew to more than 80 members, it became apparent that the house was too small. There was no practical way to enlarge the house and vacant property on the campus was non-existent. At a crucial moment Kappa Delta sorority decided to sell its Los Angeles property on the USC campus and move this chapter to San Diego. Kappa heard about this and the national Fraternity purchased the property. The newly purchased lot was about twice the size of the original Delta Tau property. The old Kappa Delta house was torn down, and in its place stands one of the most beautiful houses on the Row.

The new house was ready for occupancy in time for rushing in September, 1966. It houses 61 resident girls. The house is three stories high with a sun porch on the roof. There are 29 bedrooms, with only two girls sharing most rooms. A lounge on the second floor provides a room for television or study. There are spacious bathrooms and laundry rooms on the second and third floors. There is plenty of storage space for luggage and clothing.

The new dining room seats 90. No more Monday nights with card tables set up in the hallways and living room! There is a center foyer with no stairway. This is a definite improvement when boys are calling for their dates. They now have a pleasant place to sit while waiting, thus avoiding congestion.

To the left of the center hall is a large living room with a beautiful fireplace. A lovely antique piano, completely refinished and with a beautiful tone, the gift of Helen Ryons Nix,  $\Sigma$ -Nebraska, and her husband, Judge Lloyd Nix has a place of honor in this room. Behind the living room is a large recreation room where the girls can visit, read, or watch television. There are firestairs at both sides of the house which go from the basement to the roof. The house director's suite and a guest suite are on the first floor. The chapter room and a snack room are in the basement.

There is a convenient parking lot which extends on two sides of the house and provides space for 32 cars. The old house had its parking lot in front of the building where a front lawn would be expected. In the new house it is nicely hidden in the back and on one side.

The new house was designed by Frances and Herbert Schmitz, Fraternity Architects, and assisted by the Los Angeles architects Honnold and Rex. Sadly, Mr. Schmitz passed away just before the house was completed. The wonderful cooperation between the architects and the contractor, Harold Anderson, enabled the house to be finished on time in spite of heavy winter and early spring rains which delayed the start of the building. Financing was arranged by the Fraternity Headquarters in Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Lloyd Nix was the Fraternity representative for Delta Tau, and worked for several years to see the new house become a reality. Gretchen Larimer,  $\Gamma$   $\Sigma$ -California at Los Angeles, N.S.I.D., was the interior decorator. Florence Bark McLaughlin,  $\Gamma$  A-Kansas State, Chapter Council adviser, is in charge of the landscaping. Mrs. Fern Crane, Delta Tau house director, helped immensely in getting the house ready for the girls. A House Committee has been formed to assist in the running of the house. With the exception of our talented president, Gretchen Larimer, and our mathematical treasurer, Mary Brown Mills, B N-Ohio State, the Committee is made up of Delta Tau alumnae. They are; Lois Stone Erburn, Lynne Morgan Terzian, Sheran O'Connor Hoyer, and Mary Louise Kaiser Huntley.

Neither the interior decorating of the house nor the landscaping is completely finished, but overall plans have been made and are being carried out as it becomes financially possible. Wonderful financial assistance has been given to the chapter by various alumnae groups, individuals and Southern Area Council as well as the Delta Tau Mothers Club. Without their generous help the Delta Tau house could not have become the beautiful and liveable home it is.

ABROAD

Martha L. Bond, P<sup>A</sup>-Ohio Wesleyan, is studying Spanish with the Latin American program of the Great Lakes College association at the Universidad de Los Andes, Bogota, Colombia. She may be addressed c/o Senora Carmen de Matiz, Avenida 25 c, #3-45, Bogota, until the end of June.

Sallie Stemple, T K-William and Mary, is studying psychology at the University of Exeter, Exeter, England. Her address until June is Thomas Hall, Cowley Bridge, Road, Exeter, England.

Patricia Sines, B T-West Virginia, is studying Arts and French at the Institute for American Universities, Aix-En-Provence, France. Her address until September is 2 Bis Rue DuBon Pasteur, c/o Institute for American Universities, Aix-En-Provence, France.

Jennifer Anner Biehn, B II-Washington, is studying in London and Paris this spring and summer. She may be reached at 51 Queens Grove, St. John's Wood, London, England N.W. 8 until June 15 when she goes to Paris on a Study Abroad Program of the American Heritage Association, for two months.

Judith Parke Schiffbauer, A A-Penn State, may be reached care Peace Corps, American Embassy, Kabul, Afghanistan. She writes: "I would be very pleased to have my 'story' in THE KEY column 'Kappas Abroad'—both in the interest of meeting any Kappas who may happen our way and of letting my sisters know my whereabouts.

"My husband and I recently completed two years as Peace Corps volunteers serving as English teachers in Baghlan, Afghanistan. After spending a month at home, my husband has returned to Afghanistan to assume the position of Field Officer on the Peace Corps staff and I will be joining him in April. We will be living in Kandahar, a city in southern Afghanistan, and expect to be there for the next two and one-half years.

"It has been a wonderful experience for us to live and work in such a fascinating Asian country.

We would be delighted to meet any Kappas who may be travelling in the area!"

Karen Ann Freeman, T A-Purdue, may be reached care Sra. de Cañete, Azcona 2-5° Izqd., Madrid 2, Spain until June. She is studying Spanish at the University of Madrid with the Purdue-Indiana Universities Study Abroad Program.

Lynn E. Johnson, B T-Syracuse, is studying Graphic Art at the Royal Academy of Art in Stockholm, Sweden. She may be reached c/o S. Lofgren, Ferievagen 6F, Bromma, Sweden, until June.

Janis Rosenthal Pahl, A X-San Jose, and her husband, Gary, are teaching primary and secondary classes with the Peace Corps in Honduras, El Salvador and the Dominican Republic.

Caroline Margaret Dacre Spankie, T T-British Columbia, is studying Town Planning at The Royal Academy of Fine Arts, Copenhagen with a Canadian-Scandinavian Foundation scholarship. Her address until September is c/o Van Deurs, Henrik Steffansvej, 1866 Kobenhavn V, Denmark.

Joan Lea McTurnan, M-Butler, newly appointed by the Muncie Community Schools as city supervisor of Home Economics, spent the past two summers as chaperone with a group of high school and college girls in Europe.

Pamela Browning and Laura Falk, V-Cornell, are studying in Florence, Italy this year as a part of the Syracuse University Foreign Study program.

Wanda Ross Brunkow, B O-Oklahoma, sent her contribution to the Centennial Fund from Istanbul, Turkey. Enclosed was the following letter. "THE KEY reaches me at my Istanbul address and I read it eagerly. I came to Turkey last May to live with a friend who is administrative secretary in the Near East Mission of the United Board for World Ministries (United Church of Christ), and I am giving service in the Mission.

"We live on the campus of the American Academy for Girls in Uskudar on the Asian side of Istanbul, and cross the Bosphorus by ferry every day to go to the Mission Office in Bible House on the European side.

"Too many visitors see only the mosques, museums, and the Covered Bazaar of Istanbul and miss such historic places as Bursa, the former capital of the Byzantine Empire, and Ankara, the new capital of Turkey established by Attaturk.

History comes alive when one views the ruins of Ephesus, Pergamum and Troy, and one is awed by the spectacular cones, towers and pyramids in the eroded Göreme Valley where early Christians carved cave dwellings and churches out of the rocks.

"By living in Turkey I can better understand its history, be sympathetic to the problems, and appreciate friendships with the Turkish people.

"I can be reached at Amerikan Bord Heyeti, P.K. 142, Istanbul, if traveling Kappas want a guide in Istanbul."

(Muriel) Jean Miller Hagen, H-Wisconsin, is living at 1 Berlin-Britz (47), Koppelweg 9a, West Berlin, Germany. She writes: "My husband, a native Berliner, whom I met while he was studying in the United States on a World Council of Churches and Fulbright scholarship, is one of three pastors in one of Berlin's 16,000 member churches. We spent two and one half years (1961-63) here prior to his serving a Lutheran Church in America church in Kitchener, Ontario from 1964-67, and have now returned with our two children to this walled city for an indefinite period of time.

"May I take this opportunity to extend a warm and sincere invitation to any Kappa sisters who might be visiting Berlin to drop in for a visit. I will be glad to welcome you and to help you become better acquainted with this international city.

"I am extremely anxious to continue to receive THE KEY—it means a great deal to one so far from home."

Enjoying E Z-Florida State, while she is abroad is Brenda Singletary, who is studying with the Florida State Florence Program. While calling the fifteenth century Villa Fabricotti her home, Brenda is reaping the culture and excitement of Italy first hand.

After serving as a vice-consul at the American Consulate in Genoa, Italy, Carol Lucas, Γ Δ-Purdue, is now married to Robert Drennan, and living back in the United States.

Suzanne Chamier, Alice Schultz, and Kay Rheinhardt, Θ-Missouri, are studying abroad. Suzanne is in Strasbourg, while Kay is in Heidelberg and Alice in Paris.

Beverly Keller and Carron McAuley, Γ E-Pittsburgh, were in Europe last summer studying language and culture at the University of Pisa in Biareggio. Carron still is studying French at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland. Another Γ E member, Sue Lacke, is at the University of Madrid studying fine arts and Spanish on a Junior Year Abroad program.

Barbara Repscha Pfeiffer, Δ A-Penn State, will be in Japan for 3 years. Her address is NSAPAC, REP Japan, APO, San Francisco 96343.

Barbara Renick Martell, Γ Ψ-Maryland, is in Taipei, Formosa where her husband Bob is stationed.

Catherine Barnes Coolidge Δ Γ-Michigan State, and her husband, William, are with the Peace Corps in the Bolivia Mines area. It is the first time that the Peace Corps has recruited, trained and assigned a specific program for the depressed Bolivian mining community.

Sue Reynolds Dick, B Z-Iowa, and her husband Alexander, are also working with the Peace Corps—in Manila.

Elaine Bearer, Δ Ξ-Carnegie-Mellon, studied in Fontainebleau last summer and decided to stay this winter at the Paris Conservatoire.

Three Δ A-Penn State members travelled with the Penn State Chapel Choir on their seventh European Concert Tour last summer; Janny DeBoer, Ann Walter, and Janet Bressler. The tour began in Cambridge, England, then continued to London for a concert in St. Paul's Cathedral. From there to Leominster and on to Holland, Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, and France. The girls said they were always "well-received" and found all their contacts to be gracious hosts.

Sue Tisdall, Ω-Kansas, writes of her seven weeks spent in the Communist countries of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Roumania.

"The tour, sponsored by the United States State department, sent six students and one professor, all from the theatre department at KU, on a 'Cultural Exchange' to several cities in the five countries mentioned. Our job was to perform selections from contemporary American drama and observe the actor training programs and their obvious results in the numerous professional theatres in each city. Of course, the real value was the opportunity to meet and discuss theatre, government, new generations, and our contrasting societies with the students. For the most part we communicated quite well and warm friendships and profound understanding developed as a result of our long walks and talks.

"State supported theatre in Eastern Europe is highly developed probably because fewer forms of entertainment exist. The people flock to the theatre and often three shows play in one day. On Sunday in Bucharest, Roumania, we saw Tennessee Williams' Streetcar Named Desire at 10:30 A.M., skipped early matinee and returned for Shakespeare's Troilus and Cressida in the evening. We attended the theatre every night we weren't performing. Though often frustrating to listen to Cyrano de Bergerac in Slovak, we learned much about actor technique and how one can express meaning physically or through vocal quality. We sometimes used the third act for a quick nap, too, though I'm ashamed to say that the only show that I dozed in was My Fair Lady, spoken and sung in Czech.

"Obviously the tour will always be for me an extended fantastic experience, associated with memories of fine people whom I hope I can some day freely entertain in the United States."

Laura Ritter,  $\Gamma$   $E$ -Pittsburgh, working in Lagos, Nigeria with the Peace Corps writes: "I have been luckier than most Peace Corps volunteers. Although everything was strange and frightening for a long time, it has always been fascinating. . . . My jobs have been varied. I started out as an Art/English teacher. The school closed and then I landed a job I wanted: teaching domestic science in a community center. This was my first 'culture shock,' moving to a city with electricity, and a real shower in my brand new house. I now drive a Volkswagen van to the bush areas. We cook over open fires and sew by hand. The women here are wonderful; they do a great deal of work and never complain. The tribe where I work, the Ibos, are particularly progressive and anxious to improve themselves.

"So many people enter the Peace Corps with the idea of doing something tangible. They are anxious to get away from the abstractions of the classroom and do something really big. Most of us find plenty of small things to do, but nothing monumental and it's often harder to see the results than a grade on a philosophy paper."

Wendy Averton,  $\Delta$   $E$ -Rollins, a nationally ranked tennis player, spent over a month last summer on the English and European tennis circuit. Wimbledon was the big light of the contests where she played mixed doubles and won one round. Her last stop was Dusseldorf, Germany. She played against amateurs from all over the world.

Another  $\Delta$   $E$ -Rollins Kappa, Carole Conklin, spent the past summer in the Old World under the supervision of the Florida Presbyterian College Summer Institute Abroad program. She felt the bonds of Kappa sisterhood even in a foreign country as she formed a close friendship with Cindy Stokes,  $\Gamma$   $\Omega$ -Denison, who was sharing the same experiences with her.

(Ottley) Ann Shaw Sims, T H-Washington State, and her husband Jack, are working on their doctorates in Arabic Studies at the University of Beirut in Lebanon.

Betty Davis Poynter, E Δ-Arizona State, and her husband, Bob, after training for the Peace Corps in the Virgin Islands, are now settled in Sierra Leone, West Africa where Betty is teaching nutrition and child care to mothers, and trying to learn the native Mende language.

Patricia Conner, B Π-Washington, is living in Hong Kong where she is press attaché for the Consulate.

In Naples, Italy, Peggy Johnson Ostrom, T H-Washington State, is chairman of the Naval Support Activity Wives club and co-chairman of the hostesses for the Allied Officers' Wives Club. Her husband, is a Navy dentist. She sees Glenna McEwen Jones, also T II, who is in Naples with her husband who is connected with NATO.

Bilingual secretary is the occupation of Elizabeth Haas Alvarez-Barrios, T Z-Arizona, who is living in Madrid, Spain.

Andrea Meditch, T-Northwestern, spent six weeks in travel and study in Russia. She writes: "The trip last summer began in the quaint Rococo-style town of Viinus and took our group of 27 students through the Baltic countries and capitals to the metropolises of Leningrad and Moscow, down to the Caucasians to see Yerevan and Tbilissi, and ended with the Black Sea resort town of Yalta. Besides the cities, we spent many days at sports camps and beaches, relaxing and getting to know the Soviet citizens.

"Probably the most memorable place we visited was Red Square, ringed by its magnificent Kremlin and Gum's department store. But we were even more impressed by the country-wide signs of progress and evidence of great strides toward an increasingly more stable national economy.

"But I think the experiences that remain foremost in our minds are connected with the delightful hours and days we spent talking, laughing, arguing and playing with new found Soviet friends. The friendships that were formed this summer may some day be part of a link which will bind our two countries in peace.

"It was a short six weeks of travel and study, but it took our group from one end of the huge, active, beautiful country of Russia to the other, and as we moved, we grew to love it. I hope some day to return to visit Soviet friends and to learn from them more about their beloved Motherland."

Marilyn Burrill O'Toole, Δ T-Southern California, has been teaching government but has gone to Johannesburg with her husband.

Joanne Stevenson Voogd, Δ T-Southern California, may be addressed at Klein Persijnlaan 6, Wassenaar, Z.H., Netherlands. Husband Jake is a vice president of his firm so will be extending their stay in Europe.

Peggie Bower Morrison, PΔ-Ohio Wesleyan, is stationed in Teheran, Iran for two years with her First Lieutenant husband, Pete. He is aide-de-camp to a general in charge of air force section of military assistance Advisory Group in Iran.

Sue Burkhalter, PΔ-Ohio Wesleyan, is studying in Scotland and Christie Smith is going to school in Japan. Suz Glover, also PΔ, will spend next year in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Thereafter, "Suz" will attend graduate school in Mexico on a scholarship from the Pan American Union. Pre-Columbia Art History will be her field of study.

Ann Barnard Rosser, B T-West Virginia, is living in Worms, Germany where her husband Captain Earl is Judge Advocate General of the U.S. Army.

Lloyd Bane, B T-West Virginia, is residing at 48A Addison Rd., London, W. 14, England. She has been working in the haematology department of Hammersmith Hospital, post graduate medical school for England.

Sara Currance, Margaret Tiley and Shelley Melvin, all B T-West Virginia, share a flat and work in London.

Peggy Day Jones, B A-Pennsylvania, is now living in Richmond, Surrey, England, where her husband is a British Research Physicist.

Dorothy Sawyer Soper, PΔ-Ohio Wesleyan, 42 Avenue Bugeaud, Paris 16<sup>e</sup>, France, writes: "This is to notify you of my new address and also to let you know that I am living here in Europe for the next three years. I never like to be out of touch with Kappa for long, as it has always meant so much and has meant many friendships all over the world.

My husband is a partner with Arthur Andersen & Company and is working here in the Paris Office. His company is an international public accounting firm.

"Our world travels began last year when we spent seven months living and working in Tokyo. We feel privileged now to have the opportunity to see and learn something of our own western heritage, though we enjoyed Japan immensely and absorbed a great deal of the fascinating oriental culture.

"There is much for an American woman to do here in Paris. I am studying French and also art at the Louvre. As a member of the American Women's Club of Paris I am trying to take advantage of the numerous courses and tours that they sponsor. Paris is such a cultural center that I hope I can do it justice in three years.

"I would be happy to know of other Kappas living here or near. Are there enough for a club or alumnae group?" (Ed. note: Fraternity Headquarters has forwarded the names of the Kappas known to be living in Paris.)

Word comes from Dorothy Boettinger Ware, H-Wisconsin, the president of the London Association, about the group activities. The season started with a Founders' Day tea at the American Women's Club in London. Three 50 year pins were presented to Salena "Beth" Wrentmore Graham-Watson, B II-Washington, Helen Dana Howard, B E-Barnard, and Margaret Goldsmith, B A-Illinois. Miss Goldsmith was one of the founders of the London group in 1931. Unfortunately she was unable to attend because of illness but her pin was given to her at a later date. A Panhellenic luncheon was held after Thanksgiving and in December a Punch-Buffer party. February found members attending a luncheon at the Palace Gate, London home of Harriet Crowder Coulson, B T-Syracuse. The group will again get-together in May for a family and friends picnic at the home of Marilyn Jenkins Sinclair Θ-Missouri and her husband, Darby House, Darby Green, near Camberley, Surrey.

Dorothy writes: "We schedule at least four meetings per year and attempt to vary the time and the locale as much as possible in order that all may find a few of the meetings that will be possible for members to attend." She requests that any Kappas who are not now listed as members of the group contact her at Oak Cottage, High Street, Saffham Prior, Cambridgeshire. She is Mrs. George Arnett Ware.

Mrs. Ware notes that the Association activities are mainly social "to provide contacts and friendship that we often feel the need of particularly when we are so far away from home. Some people on our list haven't attended for years and suddenly become very active or just attend an occasional meeting. You are always welcome! Some of us who live in a totally English environment find an American gathering quite a treat. Many of our members are permanently domiciled here, many others are here for only a short time."

Nancy Collins, Γ II-Washington State, teaches English to four upper levels in a Government School in the village of Niamtaugau, Togo, Africa. Nancy is the only Peace Corps volunteer in the village, situated in French-speaking Northern Togo, where she plans to be for two years. Nancy has her own house and finds the people are eager students.

Irene Kruegel Van Der Meulen, Γ II-Washington State, of Wassenaar, Holland reports that she is still very interested in long and concentrated Bible study.

Mary Ann Polley, P<sup>4</sup>-Ohio Wesleyan writes of her stay in Poland. "I've always wondered what it would be like to live behind the Iron Curtain, and last summer I had the first hand experience of living there. I travelled to Poland as a Community Ambassador from Ohio Wesleyan University and Delaware, Ohio, on a program sponsored by the Experiment in International Living. The Experiment believes in promoting international understanding through living in and being a part of another culture, for this is the best way to understand and appreciate a culture which is different than our own.

"My summer in Poland was a fascinating and rewarding experience that I shall never forget. I lived with a family in Gdansk (formerly Danzig) Poland, a small city on the Baltic Sea. My Polish 'father' is a history professor, my 'mother' teaches Polish in the high school, and I had two sisters and a brother. This was really an ideal family because they were interested in having me learn as much as possible about Poland, and they were equally as interested in America. Also, my brother spoke English very well—a great help to someone who only had two weeks of the Polish language in her whole life!

"During my homestay in Poland, a bi-national group of the American students and one member of each family, traveled through Poland. We visited and stayed in Cracow, Zakopane, and Warsaw, the capital of Poland. These cities enabled us to get a more general, overall view of Poland. Travelling bi-nationally is a tremendous help because we were able to see these cities more thoroughly than American tourists do, and we were always sure that someone we knew would understand the language!

"The summer ended with a short and unfortunately rather superficial trip into Russia. We spent a week in Leningrad and one in Moscow. Our visit was too short, but beneficial in the sense that our guide let us go wherever we wanted, and we were able to talk to a few Russian students.

"My summer was a wonderful experience, and now I have a better idea of what it's like to live behind the Iron Curtain. But, more important, I know that I have made lasting friends in another part of the world, and maybe if enough people make enough friends, someday the world will live in peace."

more substantial the many pleasant memories, a Chittenden souvenir spoon.

And the next day we separated—all vowing to be at the next convention, but knowing, all too well, that the complete reunion will be but a dream.

Then let us look toward Ann Arbor and 1902. Let us hope that many of us may meet, but let us know that other Kappas inspired by the experiences which have been ours, will enjoy Beta Delta's hospitality and learn the fraternity lessons which can be learned only in this school of convention.

Happiness is the efficiency award

by NANCY HICKS

Δ Ψ-Texas Tech,
pledge training chairman

As the Kappas of Delta Psi arrived on the campus of Texas Technological College in the fall of 1966, our most frequent phrase was, "Happiness is winning the efficiency award." A more appropriate phrase, however, might have been, "Happiness is a climbing tree," for efficiency is not a single factor, isolated from the rest of the chapter, but each phase of chapter life, building step by step toward that goal. Efficiency begins as girls enter a pledge class and rises with them to all levels of a chapter. Efficiency touches every phase of the chapter and makes it a vital, dynamic force on campus. So here, according to the philosophy of Peanuts, are Delta Psi's steps toward chapter efficiency:

"Happiness is being able to reach the doorknob."****

Before a chapter succeeds in any area, there must be a goal, a mark of excellence for which each individual strives. Perhaps the goals which immediately come to mind are scholarship, pledge training, standards, gracious living, fraternity appreciation, and relations with alumnae, other Greek fraternities, and the university faculty and student body. In reaching for these goals, however, the efficient management of a chapter will evolve naturally, for if a chapter is to achieve each of these goals, it must be well organized.

"Happiness is a smooth sidewalk."****

Each person in the chapter has an obligation to "live up to all that is fine in life and thought and character": an obligation to herself, her fraternity, and society. When each person carries out her responsibilities, the chapter runs as smoothly as a sidewalk without cracks. When these responsibilities are not carried out, it is like roller skating on a cracked and buckled sidewalk.

"Happiness is getting together with your friends."****

As an unhouseed chapter, Delta Psi is faced with the problem of effective communication. To solve this problem, an Efficiency Committee was set up to act as a telephone committee. The second vice-president keeps a calendar bulletin board in the lodge. With the addition of announcements made at pledge and chapter meetings, the chapter stays well-informed.

"Happiness is one thing to one person and another thing to another person—"****

But efficiency is a combination of the efforts of officers, members, and pledges, in which each one carries out her responsibilities to the fraternity.

Happiness is a report . . . after it's been mailed to national.

Each officer keeps a calendar from THE KEY in her notebook and is reminded of reports due to Fraternity Headquarters by the second vice-president—both several weeks in advance and about a week ahead of the deadline. In this way, the second vice-president acts as a check on forgetful officers and reports are not put off until the last minute or mailed late.

Happiness is a notebook.

Every active has a notebook prepared by chapter officers which contains active and pledge telephone lists with school and home addresses; alumnae, active, and pledge officers; alumnae advisory board; big and little sisters; requirements of the scholarship program; house rules; a letter from the chapter president; and Kappa songs. Pledges have a pledge supplement which includes similar information with the addition of pledge policies, information about Texas Tech, letters from other officers.

* From Happiness is a Warm Puppy, by Charles M. Schulz, copyright 1962, United Feature Syndicate.

† Three more articles in the series telling how active chapters who won Fraternity awards in 1966, felt they won them.

"Happiness is knowing how to tie your own shoe."****

As each officer is elected in the spring, her predecessor is responsible for training and guiding her in the duties of her office. In addition to this, the second vice-president plans an officer workshop, attended by old and new officers. At this time, officer notebooks are explained and organized by the officers, and checked by the second vice-president. Plans for the coming year are made as each new officer highlights the goals of her program, calls for suggestions, and adds important dates to the chapter calendar.

Gamma Alpha also efficient

by CINDY SPERRY

Γ A-Kansas State

chapter president 1966-67

"The Value of Tradition," the 1966 convention theme, was especially fitting for Gamma Alpha in the fall of 1966. Fifty years ago a tradition was begun with the installation of our chapter at Kansas State. This tradition was realized when we proudly received the May C. Whiting Westermann Cup for Chapter Efficiency. But the credit goes not only to those in the chapter house today, but to over one thousand Gamma Alphas who through the last 50 years have left a heritage of outstanding achievement on which we can build today.

Yet no one could have been more surprised than we were upon receiving the award. The Efficiency Cup is not the end to which we encourage high performance; our aim is to have a harmonious, well-rounded chapter with girls who are happy and proud to call it their home. High performance then becomes a means by which we can achieve our goal. We find this level of performance is best attained when each girl is actively participating in and concerned for the chapter. By becoming involved, each girl gains as an individual, and in the process, the chapter gains.

The Efficiency Award is based upon efficient chapter management, more specifically capable officers and thorough reports, and all-round chapter performance. In the last analysis, all of this stems from a sense of responsibility felt by each individual member—not only the officers. The question then becomes, how does one develop capable and responsible Kappas? Let's be realistic! It all depends upon pledging "top notch" girls to begin with through an effective membership selection program. A chapter must have a strong base from which to build.

But once rush is over and the girls are pledged, the work has just begun. From the time a girl first wears the fraternity pledge pin to the time she exchanges it for a golden key, it becomes the responsibility of the pledge program to develop her capabilities as a Kappa and as a university woman. Only through an effective pledge program can the chapter initially direct and focus this potential toward developing a Kappa Koncious in each girl. Here is where one builds enthusiasm and a feeling for Kappa.

To achieve well-rounded pledges, many chapter programs must be integrated with the pledge program. A successful blending of personnel, scholarship, activities, social, and culture is necessary to attain our goal. Personnel and scholarship are basic in helping a pledge establish values and attitudes toward both herself and others. But being a well-rounded individual encompasses a lot more. Thus we "put the frosting on the cake" with activities, social, and culture.

So where does all this lead us? We've pledged the best girls and started them on their way to becoming mature and responsible persons. It follows then that as these girls profit from experiences in chapter living, the foundation we have laid during their pledgeship reasserts itself as effective officer leadership. In turn, these officers, through high performance, lead the chapter toward accomplishing our goal of a harmonious, well-rounded home of happy Kappas. We of Gamma Alpha feel this is where the secret to our success lies.

How to have a winning newsletter

by MARTIE HUDSON

Gamma Zeta-Arizona

public relations chairman 1966-67

Putting out a chapter newsletter is the most frustrating and rewarding job imaginable. All the problems, hard work and sleepless nights are forgotten when the finished paper rolls off the press. This work has been particularly rewarding to Gamma Zeta Chapter, University of Arizona, because our Keyhole received the Fraternity award for the outstanding chapter publication at the General Convention in 1966.

Working on the newsletter is a year-long project, as it is an annual report to the alumnae about what they and the active chapter have been doing. It is so much easier to write the news when the events happen and the details are still fresh in your mind. This also makes the work load lighter in the Fall when the newsletter is put together. Before the public Relations chairman can even begin to write the news, she must read carefully the Public Relations handbook What Every Kappa Should Know and the section on Public Relations in Adventures in Leadership. We also use the Associated Press style book, which is invaluable.

For news ideas we keep a complete file of past Gamma Zeta newsletters as well as publications from other chapters that we receive each year. The most valuable thing to the Gamma Zeta public relations chairman is the detailed report in the officer's notebook that tells exactly what must be done, how and when.

Before the stories are written, the public relations chairman should make a list of all the stories she wants in the newsletter and assign them to members to write. Having different people write the stories gives the paper originality and the chairman should not try to do all the work herself.

Because the newsletter is for the alumnae, the majority of the news should be devoted to them. Each year the Gamma Zeta registrar includes a questionnaire in the Keyhole which the alumnae fill out and return. These forms are the best source of alumnae news and are used as extensively as possible. In addition, stories about the advisory board, the house board and alumnae events are interesting and informative.

After the stories have been written, they must be carefully edited to eliminate any careless errors which the printer will resent having to change once the stories have been set in print.

As many pictures as possible should be used to make the newsletter attractive. Head shots can be obtained from the girls themselves. For action pictures it is best to hire a photographer unless someone in the chapter is very good with a camera. Most campuses have several "camera bugs" who would enjoy taking the pictures. We have found this produces excellent results and can be done inexpensively.

Before you can go any further, it is necessary to choose the print shop. With the printer you can decide what size to make the newsletter. You must also get a schedule of the size and counts of the headline type. The headline schedule is one of the most important parts of putting out the newsletter. The counts must be strictly adhered to because there is no greater waste of time in producing a publication than having to rewrite headlines at the last minute because you thought you could squeeze in two extra counts.

At the University of Arizona, the printer is the biggest help on the newsletter. The Keyhole is printed in tabloid size, which is the same size as the campus daily newspaper. The same company has printed both publications in the past. Because of these similarities, the printer is well-acquainted with what we want and can make many helpful suggestions. The Keyhole is printed offset-letterpress. This method allows corrections and changes to be made more easily and produces a very clear and attractive newsletter.

After all the stories have been edited and headlines written, the public relations chairman must decide where she wants to use the stories and lay out the pages. This must be done with an eye for balance and reader appeal.

When everything is finished, it's time to go to the print shop, which practically becomes your home until the newsletter is printed.

After the copy has been set in type, the chairman must proofread the columns of print. The only corrections which should be necessary at this time are typographical errors.

Finally the time arrives when you help the printer put the type in the pages according to the layout. This is exciting as you watch the newsletter take shape. It is most important that each page be perfect before it is given final approval, because this is exactly the way it will look when it is printed.

The remaining part of publishing the newsletter is the best—the feeling of pride and accomplishment as you pick up the finished copies.

Centennial Fund continues its move ahead

DEAR KAPPAS,

The response to the Centennial Fund drive since the all-member mailing in mid-October 1967 has been highly encouraging.

Gifts have been received from every state, from every province of Canada and from as far away as Hong Kong and Peru. Heartwarming is the response from Kappas who do not live in areas where there are organized alumnae groups. Their ties to the Fraternity may not be active in the sense of organized participation, but their interest is no less strong.

Neither is this solely an alumnae project. Response from active chapter members has been very helpful and we can be proud that our young members are cognizant of the part which they, too, can play in assisting their Fraternity in its most extensive project to date.

It is gratifying to know that so many Kappas are willingly and loyally extending their financial support toward the Centennial. Once again our members are expressing their love for Kappa and its personal meaning to them, as well as their belief in the ideals and principles for which our Fraternity has stood in this past century.

To those of you who have sent your Centennial gift or made a pledge to the Fund I would like to extend the sincere and grateful thanks of the entire Fraternity. Your tangible support early in our campaign is of great help. I only wish I could personally write each one of you expressing our gratitude.

It is my sincere hope that all Kappas, everywhere, will feel the responsibility and the desire to support the Centennial Fund to the best of their ability within the next few months. A gift from every member will help make it possible for Kappa to continue to serve as well in the future as in the past.

Loyally,
ANNE HARTER,
Centennial Chairman

Honorary committee expands

The Honorary Centennial Committee, first announced in the Spring issue of THE KEY, is being expanded to include some good friends of the Fraternity. The first men to join the group of Kappa husbands, fathers, sons and brothers include:

Dr. Elden T. Smith
President, Ohio Wesleyan University

Dr. Douglas M. Knight
President, Duke University

Dr. Frank A. Rose,
President, University of Alabama

Dr. Noah Langdale
President, Georgia State University

Alumnæ groups continued their fine support of the Centennial Fund during the first half of the 1967-68 Kappa fiscal year. From July 1, 1967 through December 31 the following 47 associations and clubs contributed a total of $4,298.00. The Centennial Committee expresses sincere appreciation for these helpful gifts and for the effort expended in making them possible.

Notes and quotes on recent gifts . . .

"Since I am now a resident of an endowment home and uncertain of my ability to fulfill a pledge, I do not wish to make one now but have enclosed a gift for this year. But I am still most interested in education. As a life underwriter with Massachusetts Life Insurance Company for 33 years I sought that qualification in my prospects. On September 18, 1967 the local alumnæ group (Peoria, Illinois Association) honored me for my 63 years of membership. Do try me again each year! It truly is wonderful to be a Kappa!"

Iowa Centennial Chairman Appointed

A new resident of Iowa City, Mary Ellen Foster Comly, AΔ-Monmouth, has been appointed the Centennial State chairman for Iowa. She is the mother of five ranging from junior high Charles and high school Richard to college students Mary Fran, Margaret and John. Mrs. Comly was an officer of the Detroit Alumnae Association where she and her family lived until last fall. She also was active in the Choir Guild, the PTA, Mothers' Club and Artists' Market in Grosse Pointe. Music is her favorite hobby.

Notes and quotes on recent gifts . . .

"If my gift could measure my feelings for the benefits Kappa gave to me, it would be a million dollars. Unfortunately it is very small, but given with love."

Twelve Kappas have been appointed, one in each Province, to aid with rush problems. They are not to be confused in any way with the reference system.

What is a rush helper?

Just that! A helper!—in an informative, not directive manner. She is a wealth of information on everything a chapter should know pertaining to their rush. She has the answer for problems, parties, procedures. She has no authority, but can quickly refer you to those who do. She is a supplement to the Graduate Counselor, Field Secretary and Province Director of Chapters. She is an experienced Kappa alumna with a special love for rush; a vital friend to all the chapters in her province. She has an enthusiastic interest in Kappa and a sincere desire to help with this most important job of membership selection. Make her an ex-officio member of your rush committee. She is only as useful as you make her. Call her, write her, wire her! That's why she's there—to HELP!

Notes and quotes on recent gifts . . .

"I have always been deeply grateful for the honor bestowed upon me as a national officer of the Fraternity (Grand President 1920-22) and am happy at long last to express my appreciation. Throughout my life Kappa has meant so much to me—and now these past 15 years to see our daughter, Sally Rowe Kanaga, loving her Kappa associations and the friends she has made through it. I've been out of touch living where I can have no active participation, but I can still say that the Kappa friends of old are still the finest friends I have and I still feel close ties to them. With all good wishes and the hope that the Centennial Fund is growing by leaps and bounds!

Reviewed by

JANE EMIG FORD
Book review editor

The Miracle of the Met—An Informal History of the Metropolitan Opera 1883-1967 by Quaintance Eaton. Meredith Press, New York. 490 pages. Illustrated with photographs. $10.95.

In brilliant array an era passes in sparkling, sometimes, turbulent review as the Metropolitan Opera turns full circle, then begins anew another epoch. Reaching back to the Opera's first beginning and opening in the "Old House" in the 1880's, the author journeys through more than eight decades of success and failure to another opening and a new beginning launched September 16, 1966 in Lincoln Center where the company is now housed and performing in all its pageantry. It is through the lives and continuity of three groups of people: the founders, the managers, the performers, that the author approaches her subject.

Snubbed by the Academy of Music and its old line Knickerbocker society patrons, the founders started and financed the original Metropolitan Opera House on Broadway and 39th Street as an act of pique as much as anything. Endowed with new wealth and business acumen, with aspirations to Society with a capitol "S" if not a love of music, some 70 monied families lined the Golden Horseshoe of the new house they had sponsored on October 22, 1883, the opening night of the newly born Metropolitan Opera in New York City. Spearheaded by Astor, Vanderbilt and Morgan, the names of Gould, Bennett, Mills, Field and Rockefeller, as well as others, were to form the nucleus of a new society that would underwrite and dominate the Metropolitan's finances and its boxes for many years.

If to the industrialist fell the task of subscribing and supporting, it was the impresarios who shouldered the burden of managing the estate. Succinctly stated by Howard Taubman of The New York Times, they would preside over "a temple of temperament as well as art" in their struggle to acquire and maintain a roster of creative abilities that would either meld into great artistic operatic triumphs or disintegrate into a disaster of mismanaged money and of talent. It was for Abbey, Damrosch, Grau, Conried, Gatti, Johnson and the current artistic director, Bing, to manage the destiny of the Metropolitan for 84 years, each bequeathing something of his individual ambition and proficiency in creating an institution that would, in time, become one of the leading operatic organizations of the world, and the foremost in this country.

To such singing stars as Melba, Lehmann, the De Reszkes, Calve, Caruso, Farrar, Chaliapin, Flagstad, Tibbet, Ponselle, Callas, Tebaldi and to the hundreds of other great and lesser lights would, of course, belong the laurels and Miss Eaton dwells lovingly in capsule form on these along with cameos of the designers, choreographers, conductors and others whose talents formed the glittering whole.

Just published in February, 1968, The Miracle of the Met evokes the marvels of past glories, for, happily, Miss Eaton preserves the identity of each successive generation of founder, manager and performer. The grand Old House at Broadway and 39th is now a memory of this past; the Golden Horseshoe's boxes and finances shared by the democratic many, not just the gilded few; but the miracle of the Metropolitan Opera will continue as long as artists are born to sing and say as once did Fremstad-Sieglinde: "I spring into life when the curtain rises, and when it falls, I might as well die."

A recognized authority on opera and opera singers, Quaintance Eaton is also the author of The Boston Opera Company, Opera Caravan and Opera Production: A Handbook. A resident of New York City, she contributes to Opera News, serves as executive secretary to the National Council on the Arts and Government and is a member of Omega chapter from the University of Kansas.

Blood Brothers by Doris Andersen. Published by Macmillan of Canada in Toronto and St. Martin's Press, Inc. of New York. Illustrated by David Craig. 136 pages. Ages 9-13. $3.95.

Perhaps highly indicative of the merits of this book was the great interest expressed in it by Walt Disney Productions. Blood Brothers and its story of a Norwegian family's migration from the Minnesota plains to the mountainous lands of British Columbia has all the ingredients for a first-rate juvenile story.

It was an 1894 autumn that saw the pioneering Leirvicks, 11-year-old Nels and his prized elkhound, Viking, reach the mouth of the Bella Coola River, some 270 miles north of Vancouver. There, Nels made his first new friend. As he and the Indian youth, Qwata, symbolically seal their friendship sharing their blood in the ancient ceremonial rites of blood brotherhood, Viking, in full exuberant puppyhood and all its bumbling innocence, manages to provoke the virulent enmity of the powerful Indian shaman, Askankots. The dangers are not imaginary. Already suspicious and fearful of the white settler's interference with their tribal laws and customs, the Indians are aroused and vindictive. The threesome, caught between this animosity and the natural threat of the wild environment provide in action packed, suspenseful drama, a story exciting enough for the most adventuresome youngster.

Born in Tanana, Alaska and raised in England, California and Victoria, British Columbia, Doris Crompton Andersen is a member of Gamma Upsilon chapter at the University of British Columbia. Graduating with a B.A., Mrs. Andersen later acquired a B.S. in Library Science from the University of Washington and for five years served as a children's librarian. She is now head of a branch of the Vancouver Public Library where she holds regular puppet shows for children. Wife of George A. Andersen, a descendent of the Minnesota Norwegians who settled in Bella Coola, the author and her family live in West Vancouver, British Columbia, where they are the parents of three, grandparents of four and owners of a dog, a duplicate of "Viking" in the story.

Lady in Arms by Virginia Weisel Johnson. Houghton Mifflin Company, Boston. 181 pages. $4.50.

As much a part of his marriage as the familiar nuptial vows is the West Pointer's dedication to Duty, Honor, Country. Mrs. Johnson was to learn a great deal about the intrinsic substance and value of these words for during the course of 25 years she was to live, follow and sometimes do battle with them as the wife of a

West Point officer. Lady in Arms is the story of those years, an autobiographic hop, skip and jump through two wars and over and across thousands of miles of land and sea.

A member of a pioneer Montana family, Virginia Weisel Johnson was born in Missoula and raised on a ranch where she learned to train and break horses as well as to respect and love her Western heritage. With the permanence of a settled family wary of the soldier, feet well-rooted in Montana soil, it was just the chance exotic glimpse of an Oriental lantern at Ft. Missoula that first allowed the author's thought to linger on the infinite variety that Army life must offer. The stage was set, the moth was lured and thus began the metamorphosis of a Lieutenant and his wife. For the groom it was the beginning, the slow promotional rise from the rank of the lowly shavetail to the Brigadier General's stars; for the bride it was the opening bout with the "Exigencies of the Service."

In a series of gay reminiscences the author travels every inch of the long and sometimes stormy path of a civilian bride to the General's lady. Whether struggling with "old" Army customs, camp following 15 times in three years with more to come, or merely adjusting to homesickness in the Philippines, a poltergeist in England, the sheep war Germany offered, an Okinawan typhoon, the author copes: unfolding at last into the Regular Army wife, a cosmopolite, loving every minute of the Service, its siren bugle call and its monotony, its duties and responsibilities, its discomfort and its glamour.

An amusing, breezy book is Lady in Arms. In it the author takes us behind the scenes and informally and anecdotically presents the distaff side of a professional soldier's career, highlighting with humor, leaving the rest to one's imagination.

Author of The Unregimented General: A Biography of Nelson A. Miles and The Long, Long Trail, Mrs. Johnson graduated from St. Margaret's School in Washington D.C. and later attended the University of Montana where she became a member of Beta Phi chapter. The wife of retired General Walter Johnson, she and her husband have two grown daughters and are presently living in Missoula, Montana.

The Bronze Bow by Elizabeth George Speare. Houghton Mifflin Company, Boston. 254 pages. $3.25.

Doubly honored by the American Library Association, this is the second of Elizabeth George Speare's novels to be awarded the John Newbery Medal annually presented for the most distinguished contribution to American literature for children. The award-winning The Witch of Blackbird Pond was reviewed in a former issue of THE KEY but, although now in its ninth printing, The Bronze Bow has never before been presented within these pages.

The scene is Roman occupied Palestine during the time that Jesus was enlisting His disciples. Converting, teaching and preaching to them and to the ever-increasing multitudes that gathered to listen, He espoused a startling new philosophy that called men to fight for the Kingdom of God, not with weapons, not with hatred, but with love. These were troubled years, a time of deep unrest. The Roman legions held a heavy sword and hatred between the conquerors and the oppressed dwelt, fermented and flared into active dissent in the cities and villages throughout all Israel. One of the openly rebellious firebrands was Daniel bar Jamin and it is his story with which we are concerned.

Orphaned by Roman hands, this young Galilean was consumed by hatred: his twofold purpose to avenge his parents, and to rid the land of the marauding legions. Fleeing to the mountains, Daniel joined the bandit, Rosh, hoping to find with him and other renegade members of his band the way to achieve his mission. Within their outlaw midst, Daniel might have lived in hate and died in pillage and plunder, but for two fateful encounters which were to alter his course of action, indeed, his entire life. The first came in the form of a pact, an alliance with the daughter and son of the village scribe. Choosing their sign and symbol of strength from the Song of David: "God is my strong refuge, . . . —He trains my hand for war—so that my arms can bend a bow of bronze," the three swore on the Book of Enoch to stand firmly together to find a way to successfully wage their fight for Israel and for God's Victory. When Daniel returned to the village to assume his sister's care, the second confrontation came from Christ and in His words: "Hate does not die with killing. It only springs up a hundredfold. The only thing stronger than hate is love." Torn between the opposing forces, the conflicting doctrines of Rosh's brutality and the carpenter's words of love, Daniel was to hurt all those near and dear before he could relinquish the festering hatred within his heart and soul and accept in all humility the healing miracle of love. He and the others would continue their struggle but, not with weapons, not with hate, for it was the strength of love and love alone that could bend the bow of bronze.

A wonderful story told with all the action and violence of this particular historical period, The Bronze Bow is an eloquent, profoundly human study of the nature of love and the tormented journey of a youth in his quest of it. This is absorbing drama for the teenager, a book he will cherish and will want to read and reread again.

Born in Melrose, Massachusetts Elizabeth George Speare attended Smith College, later receiving both an A.B. and M.A. degree from Boston University where she became a member of Phi chapter. With a long list of published stories, articles and plays to her credit, her premiere full length historical novel, Calico Captive was selected by the Children's Service Division of the ALA as one of the notable children's books of 1957. Now, her first adult novel, The Prospering has recently been published and a review follows. The wife of Alden Speare and the mother of two children, the author and her family live in Easton, Connecticut.

The Prospering by Elizabeth George Speare. Houghton Mifflin Company, Boston. 368 pages. $5.95.

ELIZABETH GEORGE SPEARE

Author of three award winning historical novels for children, Elizabeth George Speare now turns her hand to another generation of readers in The Prospering, her first historical novel addressed to an adult audience.

The art of creating the historical novel, and it is an art, is an onerous one. It not only involves a tremendous amount of research in its demand for factual truth but it also requires a certain spark, a glint of recognition by the writer that a story is there, receptive to the probing and the telling. Mrs. Speare found the necessary inspiration in a few, scant mementos: mute testimony that Elizabeth Williams West has once lived, married and died in Stockbridge, Massachusetts. From the mental image they invoked, the author effectively reconciles the biography of one person, and of many; for The Prospering is, in part, the factual account of a village: its beginning and its flowering, with Elizabeth, the narrator, to tell the story of its people and how it might have been.

Founded in 1734 as an Indian Mission, Housatonic, as Stockbridge was first called, was settled on lands granted to the Mohican Indians, "to their use and behoof forever." As part of this unique and imaginative mission plan, four families were sent to the Indian settlement to serve as models for the English way of living and to help the young and dedicated missionary, John Sergeant, in his complicated task of making Christianity palatable to the heathen. Ephraim Williams, with his wife and six of his children, was the first English family selected for the experiment, and it is Elizabeth, the youngest of the three daughters, who is our spokesman. It is through her eyes that Stockbridge is re-created from its early primitive beginnings as a village in the wilderness through a span of half a century or more of growing pains and progress. Each change added materially to the prospering of the English and to the beauty and graciousness of the flourishing New England town, but in the wake of this prosperity, the original purpose, the visionary plan to educate and bring the Indian within the fold of Christianity, would flounder and, in time would be abandoned. Neither side was faultless and both Englishman and Indian must share the blame: for each in his own way and for his own interests had neglected "to keep the chain of friendship bright between them."

In exploring mid-18th century Stockbridge, the author offers authoritative explanations for the Indian Mission failure with special emphasis on the part the missionaries played in what was to be the continued Westward retreat of these first Americans. The influence of Jonathin Edwards, who replaced John Sergeant in administering to the flock, is also underscored, for it was his religious revival, a part of the Great Awakening which swept all New England and, in turn, had its effects on the Mission town. Just from its historical point of view, The Prospering is engrossing but it is more than that; it is the warm, convincing portrayal of a woman, a perceptive translation of Elizabeth, revealing through her voice, the spirit and the nature of the village and, in so doing, the very special person she, herself, must have been.

A member of Phi chapter at Boston University, Elizabeth George Speare's background will be found in the preceding review of The Bronze Bow, the most recent of the author's books for young people.

The Forest House by Elizabeth Allen. E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc., in New York and simultaneously in Canada by Clarke, Irwin & Co., Limited. 191 pages. Illustrated by Paul E. Kennedy. $3.95. Ages 8-12.

Both a Texas family and the Forest House were put on trial when the Moores first set foot in California to live with Uncle Marshall. Fable as well as fact; for, as the author notes: "The story is a story;" but "the house is real . . . there is a fountain in a tree; there is the smell of woodsmoke and apples; and there was, once, a bear named Susie."

An "Alice in Wonderland" sort of place, full of surprises, was the Forest House. No trial necessary for eight-year-old Marsh; it was love at first sight with an orchard of trees for the climbing, horses to ride, Susie and a whole menagerie of pets to care for and enjoy. For Amy it was a case of first degree homesickness: a chaotic period of change for a timid eleven-year-old with a new school to face and new friends to make. The charm of the house was largely ignored, overshadowed by dread at the sight of the mountains that seemed to darken and menace the horizon as far as her eye could see. She longed for the familiar security of Prairie with its friendly faces and wide open Texas skies where one could see the setting sun.

It was Amy's year of discontent; an autumn of learning; a winter of examination and growth; a springtime of decision. Yet fears can be mastered one by one, and, as the orchards burst into bloom, Amy looked up toward the mountains realizing at last that she could do anything. No longer a patchwork quilt of inherited bits and pieces, she was herself; she was Amy; the same little girl who had looked out across the Texas skies and the new one who could look up to the mountain peaks and see in their never changing serenity the inspiration necessary for all.

The very real fears of childhood and, in this case, the dual problem of environmental adjustment have been compassionately handled and skillfully inserted in this lively tale of a lively family. Ideally suited for those eight to twelve, the entertaining antics of the Moores and their pets will prove delightful reading for the juvenile.

Elizabeth Allen, the author of The In-Between and The Loser, both novels for young people, is a member of Beta Delta chapter and a product of the University of Michigan where she twice received the Avery Hopwood Award for literary achievement in the field of poetry. Now the wife of Dr. James B. Thompson and mother of two sons and a daughter, the author and her family live in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Sacajawea The Girl Nobody Knows by Neta Lohnes Frazier. David McKay Company, Inc., New York. 174 pages. Jacket and map by James MacDonald. $3.95.

The early Americans blazed a trail, each leaving a trace, sometimes distinct, often a faint imprint barely discernible in the annals of frontier history. Many of the exploits of these pioneers in the young and venturesome years of our country's history are well known, while others appear only as footnotes.

Sacajawea, the only woman with the Lewis and Clark expedition, remains one of these shadowy figures although her presence at the right place and the right time probably saved the expedition and guaranteed the right of the United States to claim a large slice of the western half of our great continent. Her role as Indian interpreter is well known and recognized. It was the extraordinary coincidental part she played as the sister of the Shoshone Indian chief who was approached for help at a crucial moment that assured the continuing success of the venture and secured for her an important and permanent place in American history. Monuments, lakes, parks, schools and other memorials honor Sacajawea's name, yet little is known personally of this young Indian mother, who with a new born son, accompanied the expedition on its trek to the Pacific Ocean.

"What I want to know," said a friend of the author, "is what happened to Sacajawea and her baby after the Lewis and Clark expedition ended." Mrs. Frazier, too, wanted to know and thus was sparked the task to create, clothe and bring to life the shadowy substance of the Indian girl nobody knew. With a detective's precision, dedication and concern, the author traveled many a trail; searched out historical routes; examined existing materials, research and notes available; sifting all for the elusive clue. The clues were there; for as the author painstakingly juggled the known factual pieces with the indistinct possible ones, a jigsaw image rounding out the plausible whole; preserving for history a picture of Sacajawea, who she was, where she lived and what she did.

Although born in Owosso, Michigan, Neta Lohnes Frazier has spent most of her adult life in the Spokane Valley area. Member of  $\Phi$  B K and a charter member of Gamma Gamma chapter she acquired a degree from Whitman College at Walla Walla, Washington as well as a lasting interest in the early history of the West. Mother of a daughter and two sons, the author, since the death of her husband, has lived in Spokane, Washington, in an apartment facing the mountains of Canada and overlooking the beautiful Spokane River. A member of the Author's League of America, Mrs. Frazier, using both Michigan and the West for background, has some 13 published novels to her credit.

A Wreath of Christmas Legends by Phyllis McGinley. The Macmillan Company, New York. 62 pages. $3.95. Illustrated by Leonard Weisgard.

Recipient of the 1952 Alumnae Achievement Award for eminence in the field of literature, Phyllis McGinley continues to be one of Kappa's and all America's best known and best loved poet-authors. Equally proficient in prose as well as poetry, Miss McGinley's work has received high critical acclaim and in the course of her celebrated literary career, almost every possible sort of laurel has been heaped upon her head. Her most recent acquisition, the 1967 annual Campion Award was presented last November by the Catholic Book Club in recognition of her "long and distinguished service in the cause of Christian letters."

Now, in A Wreath of Christmas Legends Miss McGinley's deft, well seasoned pen brings us a fresh selection of joyful, tender poems extracted from the myths of yesteryear. Based on little known medieval legends of the Christmas story, these 15 are not the usual spate of explanations offered each yuletide season but are the result of months of searching, each one a special gem of imagery unearthed. Illustrated with Leonard Weisgard's handsome, articulate line drawings, one feels this gentle, exquisitely perfected collection is a labor of love: a special heart warming project, the author's poems reaching final fruition in this, her 29th published work.

With a total repertoire of ten volumes of verse, several books of prose and some sixteen books for children, half of them now considered classics, Miss McGinley has been awarded the Notre Dame Laetare Medal, the St. Vincent Millay Memorial Award for The Love Letters of Phyllis McGinley, the Pulitzer Prize for Times Three and in 1955 was elected to the National Academy of Arts and Letters. Although born in Ontario, Oregon, much of the author's early life was spent in Utah where she became a member of Delta Eta chapter at the University of Utah. Formerly of Larchmont, New York, a village the author commemorates in her best seller, Sixpence in Her Shoes, Miss McGinley now lives in Weston, Connecticut as Mrs. Charles Hayden and the mother of two grown daughters.

Herbs: The Spice of a Gardener's Life by Katherine Barnes Williams. Diversity Books, 824

Main, Grandview, Missouri 64030. Illustrated with photographs, woodcuts and line drawings by Kathleen Bourke. 176 pages. $5.95.

Once upon a rare time there was a woman who fell in love with names: quaint, strange provocative ones like Good - King - Henry, Bee-Balm, Lamb's-Ears, Adam's Needle and St. John's Wort. With all the zeal of an inspecting lover, she examined, studied, and collected them; fondly, with the green thumb of the gardener, she planted them for they were herbs. During her more than thirty years of gardening, Katherine Barnes Williams selected, grew, gathered, stored, used and welcomed at one time or another more than 250 varieties of herbs within her garden gate.

In Herbs: The Spice of a Gardener's Life, precise, factual information is given to the novice: starting with a beginner's choice of plants for fragrance and for flavoring; designing a garden plot; where and how to buy and plant; when and how to reap the harvest, dry, store and use them. A dictionary and a biography all in one, the author's potpourri of knowledge and experience weaves a descriptive text, disclosing the herb's relationship to literature, legend and to us in its, perhaps, unfamiliar botanical world.

A member of Φ B K, Π Λ Θ and Theta chapter, Mrs. Williams received her B.A. and B.S. from the University of Missouri where, she reports: "Some of the happiest days of my life were those spent during my four college years in the Kappa house." Author, gardener, exhibitor and lecturer, Katherine Barnes Williams maintains an active role in the Herb Society of Greater Kansas City, an organization she helped found.

A Taste of Portugal by Shirley Sarvis. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York. 192 pages. $5.95. Illustrated by Erwin Schachner.

No book review section designed for women, seems quite complete without a cookbook. It was for Shirley Sarvis to do the honors in A Taste of Portugal: introducing in all its diversity, a winsome country, hospitable people and a distinctive myriad of culinary wonders.

Although containing a cook's discriminating selection—115 of the most notable dishes sampled "attentively and intensively" in Portugal's cities and provinces—this is not solely a recipe book of Portuguese favorites. Really three books in one, it is, secondly, a traveler's eating and dining guide, offering the oft bewildered but gourmet tourist a glossary of Portuguese menu terms and, for his eating and touring ease, a choice selection of regional foods and wines to try. Thirdly, the author attests to dining's raison d'être by personalizing each recipe, disclosing its origin, region, the reason for serving, complimenting the total eating experience by completing each dish with a traditional wine.

An ancient country: Portugal through the centuries has developed a cookery: colorful, flavorful, unto itself, one, contrary to popular opinion, quite unlike the foods of Spain. Its predominant flavors recur throughout the land although the cuisine of each province is individually its own, each reflecting its own unique climate, geography, and economy, harmonizing with the region's natural produce and environment.

Tested, tasted and proved in the author's California kitchen, each recipe conforms to American standards, measurements and ingredients, yet each faithfully translates the authentic, often exotic flavors of a dramatic, largely unsung cuisine. A Taste of Portugal provides an artful commixture: a travelogue as well as a song of praise for the Portuguese art of cookery.

Member of Gamma Alpha chapter, Shirley Sarvis was born in Norton, Kansas, and attended Kansas State University where she majored in home economics and journalism. After graduating she joined the staff of a California magazine where, as food editor, she wrote monthly articles along with developing and testing new recipes. Now, free-lancing in San Francisco, California, where she lives, Miss Sarvis is also the co-author of Cooking Scandinavian and San Francisco Firehouse Favorites.

Right Answer by Maude Barnes Miller. Windfall Press, P.O. Box 263, Chicago, Illinois 60690. 31 pages. $3.25.

An interesting phenomenon, the first of its kind to occur within this reviewer's memory, is the simultaneous presentation of Right Answer and Herbs: The Spice of the Gardener's Life, the books of two Kappa sisters. Both born in Fort Smith, Arkansas, Maude Barnes Miller and Katherine Barnes Williams were members of Theta chapter and graduates of the University of Missouri, but in their choice of subject matter the similarity ends, for Mrs. Miller's forte lies, not within the garden but in the realm of verse.

Author of Right Answer, Mrs. Miller's career was launched in the 1930's when her poems began to appear in good poetry journals and small publications of that time. Her later efforts found a market in newspapers and magazines on the national scene while others were reprinted in separate compilations such as, As You Were, Alexander Woolcott's anthology which featured the author's quatrain, "The Only One," in the section reserved for poetry. The winner of a number of awards and prizes in local and regional contests, all of the award poems and almost half of her published work, as well as others, are included in this volume, a selected collection of some 50 of Maude Barnes Miller's poems.

Classified by the author as versatile verse, the poems appear in a variety of forms, many intimately connected with her own existence, descriptive of encounters with her surroundings, places visited, objects noted, the sounds and color of the world around us. John Crowe Ransom, in his endorsement, spoke for all when he wrote these words: "She has wit and wisdom, and I commend her selected volume."

The wife of Franklin Miller and mother of three children, the author lives in St. Louis, Missouri, where she is a member of the St. Louis Writers' Guild, the St. Louis Poetry Center and an affiliate member of the Academy of American Poets of New York.

A Primer of Sociometry—Second Edition by Mary L. Northway. University of Toronto Press, Toronto, Ontario, Canada. 53 pages. $1.95.

In his Devotions written over three hundred years ago, John Donne said, "No man is an Iland, intire of itselfe; every man is a peece of the Continent, a part of the maine . . . I am involved in all Man-kinde." Although these words written so long ago point to man's personal relationships as the fundamental bond that binds him to the Continent, it has just been within recent years that research has concerned itself with this basic premise and its study.

The idea of Sociometry, now defined as the study and measurement of interpersonal relationship in a group of people, originated in 1934 when J. L. Moreno's book, Who Shall Survive? first presented the theory and the sociometric approach used by himself and by his colleagues in the field of sociology and social psychology. During the ensuing years great progress was made in the study and development of sociometry and in its offspring, sociodrama, psychodrama and other related techniques. This interest was reflected in the wealth of sociometric literature that accumulated including the author's A Primer of Sociometry which was first published in 1952. Reprinted twice and translated into Italian and French, it was the first of the "how to do it" books on sociometry. Now in its 1967 second edition this booklet again introduces to any group worker, teacher or student interested in the social structure of a group, the basic principles and practices of sociometry and the bibliography available in this field. In this revision, the author has made corrections brought to light by newer studies, added references to more recent findings, deleted those no longer accessible and has concerned herself with recent developments and their sources relevant to those discussed in the original manuscript.

Stressing the importance of the sociometric test as the most simple, accurate and speedy method "for determining the degree to which individuals are accepted in a group, for discovering the relationships which exist among these individuals, and for disclosing the structure of the group itself," the author devotes much of the first eight sections of the book in clarifying the techniques and procedures necessary to design, administer, organize, score and interpret the results of such a test. The remainder of the book discusses something of the discoveries sociometry has revealed, how these have been utilized in the past and present, and some of the contributions sociometric procedures may make possible in the future.

A member of Beta Psi chapter, Dr. Mary Northway is at present connected with the psychology department and the Institute of Child Study at the University of Toronto. As one of the early explorers in sociometric work with children, she is the author of numerous articles and pamphlets as well as co-author of Sociometric Testing, A Guide for Teachers which was published several years ago. It was under her capable guidance that the test research for this book was conducted at the Institute.

Rhyme & Reason: A Collection of Humorous Verse by Elinor K. Rose. An Essandess Special Edition of Simon & Schuster, New York. 87 pages. Illustrated by Loretta Trezzo. $1.00.

Eminently readable, comprehensible and quotable is the universal appeal for the light hearted verse of Elinor K. Rose. Quatrains are easy to read, digest and, therefore, to write, one might think, but, "Creativity is imagination with muscles," the author states. "In order to do actual creating you have to work." And work she does, up to 40 hours a week, in order to produce the four lines which pop up regularly in national magazines and appear daily under the titles: "Lifelines," "Rosettes," "Out Woodward Way," "Sugar and Spice," and "Four Lines," a syndicated feature in some 30 newspapers throughout the country.

Author of two previous books of poetry, Relax, Chum and Sugar and Spice, this slim paperback is Mrs. Rose's third collection of humorous verse. In looking through the rose-colored glasses of Rhyme & Reason, one sees the author manage in 244 different ways to run the gamut of the seasons, the sexes, the organizational man or woman. She touches lightly on life's commonplace, pokes gentle fun at its frustrations and in categorizing the yearling, the youngling and the middling she catches the very essence of the age differential.

Born in Montpelier, Ohio, Elinor Kiess Rose graduated from Hillsdale College where she became a member of Kappa chapter. The 1955 recipient of the Hillsdale Alumni Achievement Award, the author is, at present, serving on their Board of Women Commissioners as well as on the staff of the Oakland University Writers Conference. Cited the 1959 "Writer of the Year" by the Detroit Women Writers, author, lecturer, teacher, clubwoman: the other activities of Mrs. Rose are far too numerous and diverse to mention in this limited space, but they explain in part why she is listed in Who's Who of American Women and Who's Who in the Midwest. As the wife of Dana Rose, a Michigan Bell Telephone Company executive, and mother of three sons, this busy author lives in Royal Oak, Michigan.

World War I Letters by Dorothy Kitchen O'Neill. Available for examination in the Manuscript Division of the Library of Congress.

On July 27, 1967, the "Information Bulletin" of the Library of Congress officially listed the acquisition of a group of World War I letters donated by Mrs. Edward G. O'Neill the former Dorothy Kitchen of Kansas City, Missouri. Written to her parents while serving as an American National Red Cross "hut worker" with the American Expeditionary Forces, mainly in Saver-nay, France, the letters relay in all immediacy and unvarnished prose a full account of the events the writer either observed or, herself, experienced from September 1918 to April 1919. The letters colloquially and personally provide additional insight, a striking contrast and complement to the more formal histories of the period. The collection, the majority in holographic form, is now available for examination in the Manuscript Division of the Library of Congress.

A member of Eta chapter from the University of Wisconsin, Dorothy Kitchen O'Neill may be contacted at Moran Rest Home, Gardiner, New York 12525.

Ranchorama and Louie C. Walbridge—An Illustrated Story of Profile Ranch and the Owner, 1859-1939 by Caroline K. Walbridge. THE RUSSELL RECORD, Russell, Kansas. 105 pages. $2.95. (May be purchased from author)

In her documentary on a sheep rancher's life in Kansas, Caroline K. Walbridge has chosen an interesting method of preserving her father's memory. Instead of tucking the family memorabilia in some dusty attic for future generations to find and ponder, she leaves for them a prose and picture portrait of a vanished life and a vanished time.

Illustrating her book with facsimiles selected from the "collection of glass negatives, old letters, diaries and legal documents" carefully filed in Louie C. Walbridge's roller-top desk at Profile Ranch, the author sketches her father's life from birth in 1859 to his purchase in 1882 of the Russell County ranch where he would live, work, marry and raise a family until shortly before his death in 1939.

The great granddaughter of an original settler of Russell, Kansas, and born at Profile Ranch, herself, the author speaks with authority both of the ranch, ranch living and of Russell County history. Those intrigued with a taste of biographical Kansas living may purchase the book directly from the author at 1414 MacVicar Avenue, Topeka, Kansas 66604.

Miss Walbridge is a graduate of the University of Kansas where she became a member of Omega chapter. After obtaining her Masters in Library Science at Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia, she taught in Topeka, later serving as assistant librarian in Reno, Nevada, where she was a part of the American Library Association committee for the development of libraries in Nevada. A life member of the Kansas State Historical Society and the Kansas Authors Club, Miss Walbridge also belongs to Δ K Γ, international honorary teacher's organization. It is interesting to note that her sister, Anne, was also a member of Omega chapter and that her mother, Louise Castle Walbridge, about whom she also wrote, was a member of Eta chapter at the University of Wisconsin.

Books for Kansas Schools—1967. A Recommended List of Current Books for School Libraries edited by Mary Dudley. Published by State Superintendent of Public Instruction, W. C. Kampschroeder, Topeka, Kansas. 160 pages.

"Her competence, exacting attention to necessary detail, and joy in working with books are reflected in the list": reads the accolade publicly expressed by the State Department of Public Instruction to Mary Dudley. To Miss Dudley fell the special assignment of editing the 1967 annual issue of Books for Kansas

Schools, a book designed as an aid for Kansas librarians and teachers in its selecting and listing the best of several thousand books published each year for children and for young people. From the more than 2500 books reviewed this year, approximately 1215 titles were chosen and in annotated form listed in the catalogue as suitable for the elementary, the junior high and the senior high school levels, as well as an additional inclusion for the first time of a small group recommended for the professional shelf.

Well suited to this exacting work, Mary Dudley is a member of Gamma Alpha chapter from Kansas State University at Manhattan, Kansas. Her educational background also includes study at Washburn University, Harvard's Fogg Museum and a Masters Degree in Library Science from Emporia State. Well known in Kappa circles, Miss Dudley has served as Zeta Province Director of Chapters, Assistant to the Director of Chapters and for a number of years as Fraternity Scholarship Chairman as well as a current member of the executive board and past president of the Topeka Alumnae Association. A former English and History teacher, Miss Dudley is now a retired librarian from the Topeka Public Schools. Busy with a variety of cultural and civic activities in Topeka, the editor belongs to a number of professional teachers' organizations and continues to give of her experience in revising such works as the recently published, "I Want to Buy Books for the School Library BUT..."

The Publisher for Wildflower Portraits by Eloise Reid Thompson, reviewed last spring, was inadvertently omitted. It is the University of Oklahoma Press, Norman, Oklahoma.

Point to the Stars by Joseph Maron Joseph and Sarah Lee Lippincott. McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc. 93 pages. $3.95. Illustrated with photographs, line drawings and diagrams.

Revised edition of how to see, locate and identify constellations, planets and stars. Sarah Lee Lippincott, member of Beta Alpha chapter from the University of Pennsylvania. Original book reviewed upon publication.

Two additional books by Kappa authors were received too late to be included in this section. They will be reviewed at a later date.

You Can't Say What You Think and Other Stories by Elizabeth Allen. E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc. in New York and published simultaneously in Canada by Clarke, Irwin & Co., Ltd. 156 pages. $3.95. Age 12 and up. Elizabeth Allen, married to Dr. James B. Thompson, is a member of B Δ-Michigan.

Máximo by Betty Gene Wormser and lettered and illustrated by Judith Hawn Urrutia. May be ordered from P.O. Box 16233 Lapham Station, San Antonio, Texas 78216. 54 pages. Children's story published 1968. Judith Urrutia, the illustrator, is a member of B O-Newcomb.

Whoops We're Sorry!

Juanita Carlson Jones is married to Jenkin Lloyd Jones and Martha Corder Jones to Richard Lloyd Jones, not as listed in the Memorial to Georgia Hayden Lloyd Jones in the Spring issue of THE KEY.

Also in the Spring issue it has been called to the attention of the Editor that South Carolina's capital city, Raleigh, was also originated for that purpose along with Columbus, Ohio and Washington, D.C. The correction should be added to the article "Baedeker takes you to Columbus."

On the cover of this section—

Woman power continues to fill the coffers of alumnae treasuries . . . projects vary but all have one thing in common, hard working alumnae. Top left and clockwise: (1) Mary Stanton Willis Doll, Γ K-William and Mary, and Elizabeth Bell Dohrman, B X-Kentucky, president of the alumnae, admire one of the many spectacular candles at a preview showing of the Louisville Candle Coffee. Net profit of $400 purchased a mist-tent for the local Cystic Fibrosis Center. (2) Discovering that their alumnae were the first and second ladies of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg Kappas and Thetas joined to honor these alumnae at a holiday tea. Left, Kappa Alpha Theta alumna president, Mrs. H. Clifford Carroll, Jr.; wife of the lieutenant governor, Mrs. Raymond Broderick; Jane Davies Shafer, Γ P-Allegheny, wife of Governor Shafer and Jane Dougherty Malfizo, Γ K-William and Mary, president of the Harrisburg alumnae. (3) The "Kappa Konditorei" booth, designed and decorated by Marlie Richards Williams, H-Wisconsin, won first prize for the Kappas at the United Christmas Bazaar in Philadelphia. Over $700 was realized from the sale of items handmade by the Philadelphia alumnae. This money will go to the Child Development Center for Physically Handicapped Children. Chairman Carol McIntyre Tyson, B A-Pennsylvania, holds the first prize award. (4) Phoenix and Scottsdale Kappas have reserved a day in the Christmas holidays each year since 1958 to renew old acquaintances. The annual Kappa Mother and Daughter Christmas Coffee has grown from a few to 300 women who received invitations this year. Left to right: June Guoyne Fowler, X-Minnesota, Judy Fowler Harrigan, Γ Z-Arizona, Scottsdale president, Helen Jaffurs Cacheris, Δ Ξ-Carnegie-Mellon, coffee chairman and Phoenix president, Ann Dornsbach Mettlin, E Δ-Arizona State, Suzanne School Black, Δ A-Penn State. (5) Four Ft. Worth Kappas opened their gracious homes to the public for the "Kappa Kris Kringle," the annual tour of homes which features distinctive Christmas decorations and gift items at decorated homes. Betty McPherson Brown, B Ξ-Texas, alumnae president, and Jeanne VanZant Sanders, B Ξ-Texas, tour chairman, are shown at the Guy Witherspoon home. (6) The personal appearance of Bill Beaton, nationally known designer of children's clothes, added to the excitement of the Easter Parade of Children's Fashions, joint benefit of the Phoenix and Scottsdale alumnae. The two associations presented a check for $845 to the Arizona Pre-school for Retarded children. Chairman Marguerite Moriarty Seeds, Γ Z-Arizona, (left) is shown with Allison Smith, daughter of Ann Rich Smith Γ Φ-Southern Methodist, Suzanne Spingler, daughter of Molly Roller Spingler, Γ Z-Arizona, and Bill Beaton, who flew in from New York as guest commentator.

Looking for ideas

Columbus, Indiana Kappas contributed $165 toward the Centennial Fund with their Christmas Bazaar held in the home of Elsie Sweeney, M-Butler. Members brought some type of handcraft item or homebaked goods to be sold to other members of the group.

San Francisco Bay Alumnae held a champagne theatre party after the American Conservatory Theatre premier presentation of the Don't Shoot Mable It's Your Husband, Jerome Kilty's new farce. Patron's tickets and regular seats were sold by a hard working committee headed by Claire Smith Roth, B M-Colorado, and the funds were contributed to the Morrison Center for Rehabilitation and Kappa philanthropies.

Pasadena alumnae sent bright red invitations to their "Queen of Hearts" Valentine Fashion Luncheon which benefited the Pasadena Child Guidance Clinic and Day Nursery and Fraternity philanthropies. Heirloom gowns modelled by Kappa daughters were included in the show.

A regular "pro" is Carroll Dyrenforth Lowitz,

Γ-Northwestern, who has been auctioneer at the traditional January luncheon and auction of Westchester Alumnae for 25 years. The new and used articles are auctioned for the benefit of Kappa philanthropies.

Sue Hall Christian, Γ E-California at Los Angeles is working hard to establish a Reno, Nevada alumnae club.

Dallas alumnae cleared almost $6,000 on their Holiday Homes Tour. Each Kappa whose home was used was presented with an engraved sterling silver door key.

East Bay Kappas viewed a style show put on by one of their own members, Lois Hunter Brodriks, Δ A-Penn State, fashions from her shop, The Red Horse.

Cleveland West Shore alumnae held an old fashioned box social lunch, brought decorated boxes to be auctioned Almost 600 members of the Columbus, Ohio Association toured the newly renovated Kappa headquarters at a holiday tea.

The earth below

Mabel Power Dilger,  $\Gamma$  O-Wyoming, finds the oil business fascinating, and stays in it because "she enjoys it." After the death of her husband who was president of a Fort Worth oil company, Mrs. Dilger spent a year making evaluations and estimates of his interests and is still taking care of the production and royalties end of the estate. To learn additional facts about the oil business, during World War II, she returned to college to study drafting, land and contour maps and even learned how to make a plane table. She is a past president of the Fort Worth Geological and Geophysical auxiliary, also the Kappa alumna and Panhellenic associations. She is an active member of the Fort Worth flotilla of the United States Coast Guard.

Mabel Power Dilger

On her toes

The activity level of Joyce McConnell Taylor,  $\Lambda$ -Akron, runs at peak capacity making this petite Kappa one of those special people so interesting to read about. Mother of three grade schoolers, and wife of a NBC television director, Joyce Taylor finds time for the things she thinks are "really worthwhile." This impressive list includes the choreography for the first American Stock Company presentation of Funny Girl, the staging and choreography for Chicago's Candlelight Dinner Playhouse production of Little Me as well as appearing in Repertory Workshops in Chicago and in New York television shows. She taught in a Highland Park camp last summer and has assisted in writing and choreographing a dance demonstration which will be shown in 60 schools this year. She was asked by the Institution for Cultural Development in conjunction with the Chicago Public School system to undertake an experimental program of teaching basic body movement and dance during the school day in a ghetto school. These teaching methods were filmed in an NBC series called These Our Children which is being shown around the country at the current time.

The helm is theirs

Newly elected president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Wisconsin State Historical Society is Jane Talmadge Rikers, H-Wisconsin. Mrs. Rikers is an adviser to Eta chapter, a member of the budget committee for Madison's United Fund campaign and serves on the Memorial Union Council as one of the two alumnae representatives. . . . The 5,000-members of the Texas Federation of Republican Women will be presided over by Beryl Buckley Milburn, B  $\Xi$ -Texas. Mrs. Milburn has been instrumental in furthering the Jean Bartel and Madam Ky, wife of the former Vietnamese premier.

Joyce McConnell Taylor

Republican party in Texas; her first achievement was to establish a Republican Women's Club in Travis County. . . . Ruth Bullock Chastang, B N-Ohio State, Kappa's National Panhellenic Conference delegate was elected to Upper Arlington's (suburb of Columbus, Ohio) first Board of Trustees for the Public Library. . . . The Grosse

On camera

Jean Bartel,  $\Gamma$   $\Xi$ -California at Los Angeles, has accumulated an impressive list of credits since her reign as Miss America. Radio, television, stage shows, live and filmed commercials, all have benefited from Miss Bartel's talents. She now heads her own firm, Jean Bartel and Associates. The latest accomplishment of this lovely Kappa was as associate producer and commentator of a one hour independently produced documentary in color on the Five Faces of Madame Ky filmed in Saigon, Vietnam. This program is the first of a projected series titled Focus on Women, which Miss Bartel hopes to do on well-known women throughout the world.

"Lady with the hats"

Known throughout Arkansas as "the Lady with the Hats" is Will Etta "Willie" Long Oates,  $\Gamma$  N-Arkansas. Vivacious Willie has no problem finding a place to wear her trademarks, most of which were especially designed for her (her collection includes several hundred) for she is an extremely active member of her community (Little Rock) and her state. She belongs to several dozen organizations, many of which she has served as chairman. A few of these groups include: the Salvation Army, Pulaski County unit of the American Cancer Society (which she organized), City Beautiful Commission, Muscular Dystrophy, Arkansas Heart association, Multiple Sclerosis association, State Opera board, State Art festival and the auxiliary to the Arkansas Medical Center.

A pair of planners

The program of the Fort Worth Junior Woman's Club included two Kappas at the helm of planning . . . Left Janet Ball Bonnett,  $B \Xi$ -Texas, president-elect of the alumnae "tries on" a school girl's dress held by Patricia Dean Boswell,  $\Gamma \Phi$ -Southern Methodist, past president of the association.

"San Francisco Scene in Spring"

This was the title of the $4000 winner for San Francisco alumnae. This year's tour of homes captured some of the city's most lavish show-places and was planned with unusual variety. A Normandy town house, an historic Victorian mansion, a Spanish Villa with 15th century Japanese antiques, and a contemporary home built around an atrium, were just a few of the choice "scenes."

Austin celebrates

Austin Kappas celebrated Founders' Day at a banquet with Martha Galleher Cox, Director of Philanthropies as the guest speaker. In commemoration of Founders' Day, the Alumnae Association of Austin and the Kappa Mothers Club of Austin presented a large, unabridged dictionary to  $B \Xi$ -Texas, for use in its study hall. Beta Xi chapter gave the funds for a Fraternity Scholarship to be awarded to a worthy Kappa for the furtherance of her education. As a special gift a Memorial Book in memory of the late Iantha Kaapke Long,  $B \Xi$ -Texas, was presented by her daughter, Janet Long Fish, also  $B \Xi$ . Mrs. Long was an instrumental force in the building of the  $B \Xi$  Chapter House and this book will be a permanent record of all gifts presented to the Chapter House, where it will be prominently displayed.

Human Growth Inc.

Being active in Kappa Kappa Gamma is a way of life acquired quite naturally for Martha Helmers Groebe,  $\Gamma$  A-Kansas State, former chapter president. Her mother, Isabelle Stepp Helmers, served as president of  $\Theta$ -Missouri, and thereafter as Kansas City, Missouri Alumnae Association president. Martha was at the helm of the Cincinnati Alumnae Association until her husband's business called the family to Dallas, Texas where she has recently become a member of Dallas and Richardson Alumnae Associations. Although raising three children, aged 3 to 10, has been her primary concern, she also has participated in Junior League, church activities, charity drives, and the P.T.A. However, more and more of her time is being directed toward Human Growth, Inc., an organization which seeks to make the public aware of growth problems children encounter.

Pictured at left are Martha and her son, Larry, who is thought to be a hypopituitary dwarf. Ten year old Larry stands 3 feet 10 inches in height and is currently at an identical height with his 7 year old sister.

Fortunately for Larry and thousands of other children there is hope on the horizon in the form of a growth hormone now being isolated from the pituitary gland of deceased individuals.

50 or more years a Kappa

Frances Fatout Alexander, I-DePauw, Fraternity President, pins 50 year award on Bess Canada Bate, M-Butler.

Mrs. Alexander awards Alice B. Mattby, M-Butler, the 50 year pin.

Cleveland East Side alumnae hear Mrs. Alexander speak at Founders' Day Banquet. Left to right: Mary Louise Salisbury Turnbough, K-Hillsdale; Katherine Fowler and Mary Josephine Barkley, both Γ P-Allegheny 50 year members, and Mabel Hodgman Thom, K-Hillsdale, 50 year member.

Eloise Reid Thompson, B Θ-Oklahoma, receives her 50 year pin from her daughter, Katrina Thompson Ladwig, Γ Θ-Southern Methodist. Mrs. Thompson is the author of Wildflower Portraits. Both she and her daughter are active in the Houston Association.

100 year Kappa receives 75 year pin

Los Angeles honored 100 year old Jessie M. Burdick Somerville, B T-Syracuse 1889, belatedly with her 75 year pin at the 1967 Founders' Day Luncheon. Also sharing honors with Mrs. Somerville were 50 year members. Front: Betty Risser Heenan, Γ K-William and Mary, Los Angeles alumnae president with Mrs. Somerville; Back: M. Louise Neal Conkle, M-Butler, Kappa Province Director of Alumnae, Eleanor Zahn, Γ Ξ-California at Los Angeles, Edith Curry Brown, I-DePauw, and Helen Barry, B II-Stanford. Mrs. Conkle, Mrs. Brown and Miss Barry are 50 year members.

Honors come to outstanding alumnae

Dr. H. R. Albrecht, president of North Dakota and Ruth Barrett Dunn.

Ruth Barrett Dunn,  $\Gamma$  T-North Dakota, was one of five University alumni presented with an achievement award this past year. Since graduating, Mrs. Dunn has designed glass windows for more than 200 churches, colleges, homes, mausoleums and industries. Mrs. Dunn's career has included studying textile design in New York and the McNa Institute in San Antonio. She was chairman of the Incarnate World College Fine Arts department in San Antonio. Among her outstanding windows are the Margarite B. Parker Chapel at San Antonio which includes 25 windows, and the First Methodist Church in Midland, Texas which has 64 clere story windows.

Gamma Theta chapter celebrated a very special Founders' Day this past year. Helen Smith Thompson, one of Drake's distinguished alumnae presented a book of Kappa History to the chapter. This Fraternity History, kept by Mrs. Thompson for 41 years, is full of Kappa memories, signatures, including those of all but two Fraternity presidents, charter members of chapters and officers attending general biennial conventions. In it is a letter from Fraternity Founder, Louise Boyd, written when she was 92. This unique book has been placed in the chapter house trophy case with Mrs. Thompson's most recent books Swirl and The Art of Being a Successful Student. In 1966 Mrs. Thompson received the Distinguished Alumni Service Award for her "contributions as teacher and director of the Thompson Reading Clinic at Chapman college, for her leadership as director of Educational Television, Incorporated, Long Beach, California and as a nationally respected authority in the field of remedial and developmental reading."

The University of Missouri College of Arts and Science honored one of Theta chapter's outstanding alumnae when Dr. Geneva H. Drinkwater was presented with a Citation of Merit. This distinguished woman has been on the faculty of Stephens, Carleton, Vassar, and Rollins Colleges and the University of North Carolina. After "retirement" from Rollins she continued her career as Lecturer in history at the University of Madras in India under a Fulbright grant. Following this she was visiting lecturer at Sweet Briar college and at St. Andrews Presbyterian College in North Carolina. At the last two posts she arranged that her salary be granted as fellowship to graduate students. She is presently serving on the Board of Curators at Stephens college. Dr. Drinkwater was presented with her 50 year pin in 1966.

Norma Opgrand Warner,  $\Gamma$  T-North Dakota, is a dietitian with the Dairy Council of California, working with physicians and nurses in industry, medical schools, hospitals and clinics. She is a member of the American and California Dietetic Associations.

Alumnae Activity

Gladys Haddad, Γ P-Allegheny, began the dual role of assistant professor of Education and director of the new office of Field Studies, at Lake Erie College in Painesville, Ohio, in January. As a writer and consultant for the Greater Cleveland Education Research Council, she published several articles in professional journals and spoke before educational groups. As a member of the Education faculty, Miss Haddad has administered the Lake Erie College program in elementary teacher education introducing the In-Course Teaching experience as part of every preparatory education course.

Barbara Jane Reed Kostoff, B Δ-Michigan, is one of the 6,000 outstanding young women between 21-35 whose name is listed in the new edition of Outstanding Young Women of America. She is president of the Port Huron Symphony association, secretary of the International Symphony Orchestra of Sarnia and Port Huron, a member of the board of directors of the Joint Hospital auxiliaries and of the Port Huron Hospital auxiliary. Barbara holds a women's certificate with the United States Power Squadrons and was recently nominated for the Community service award.

Hattie Beal Smart, Ξ-Adrian, added a new dimension to her role as teacher of English at Adrian Senior High School, when she accompanied a group of 10 students to Scotland for summer study at the University of Aberdeen, a trip arranged by the American Institute for Foreign Study. Each member of the group, including the chaperone, studied three subjects chosen from a list including Scottish History, History of the Highland, government of Britain and British writers. (Mrs. Smart is an avid collector of cookbooks, antiques, Delft China and buttons.)

The Grosse Pointe News carried a feature article about Jane Spencer Smith, Γ K-William and Mary, who heads the Rehabilitation Institute volunteers in Detroit. In addition, Mrs. Smith is the present membership chairman of the Grosse Pointe Motion Picture and Television Council.

Pia Lindstrom, B M-Colorado, attractive daughter of Ingrid Bergman, has made a place for herself as the only woman in the newsroom of ABC's television outlet in San Francisco.

Phyllis Lasky Renick, Γ K-William and Mary, practices law in Richmond . . . Mary Louise Strong Warner, Γ K-William and Mary, has completed her Masters degree in art history at the University of Minnesota and opened an antique and art shop in Minneapolis . . . Joanne Direcks Jackson, E Δ-Arizona State, traveled to Germany with her husband who was invited to give exhibitions at the Berlin Sports Palace. Don is a featured solo skater with the Ice Follies . . . Mary Louise Colianni, Γ E-Pittsburgh, is working as a Pittsburgh reporter for Women's Wear Daily . . . Betty Ann Bowser, PΔ-Ohio Wesleyan, has a five day Television program and does special reports for a news program in Norfolk, Virginia . . . Roberta Vermillion Parkinson, Δ Γ-Michigan State, is on the planning committee of the Junior Blades Figure Skating Club in Overland, Kansas. She was recently appointed Figure Judge of the United States Figure Skating Association . . . Nancy Babel Batchelor, Γ Z-Arizona, an attorney, specializes in adoption and domestic cases.

Programs of note

Lehigh Valley Club members enjoyed hearing a talk by a member of a New York Stock Exchange firm . . . The head of the harp department of California State College, presented a musical program entitled, "Around the World in Thirty Minutes" for Southern Orange County alumnae.

Kelly Harmon, B M-Colorado, appeared on the cover of the October, 1967, issue of Glamour magazine. Kelly, a sophomore from Los Angeles, spent last summer modeling for Ford Model Agency in New York City. She was one of two girls chosen to fly to Ireland to model for Glamour. Working under David Bailey, a famous English photographer, she spent her four days in Ireland driving over the beautiful hills of Kerry where they stopped periodically to model against the gorgeous scenery.

communicate, to bridge that gap, which divides two people, is an individual art, an individual phenomena, a private miracle. Mass communication can only be achieved through mass media. An individual can not hope to attempt a communication with another indiscriminately, without a personal awareness of the other person.

"In connection with this, we find a second major misconception—the 'don't trust anyone over 30' threat. Here again, there is a supposed delinquent of society, computerized so that everyone over 20 is placed in the category of shallow, materialistic, concerned only with superficiality; the 'Establishment'. The under 30 age group is categorized as aware, sensitive, socially and politically conscientious, unimpressed by tradition or rules. In actuality, the concept of a 'Generation Gap' is rather pathetic, for it purports to place even the 'younger generation', a generation which demand individuality, into a well-defined pre-programmed sociological niche. What is really ugly, is that they accept this.

"Perhaps, the 'Generation Gap' is an excuse on both sides, an excuse to shrink the responsibility of attempting to communicate; an excuse for a failure to understand another person. In reality, something as personal as communication cannot be expected to always be a success, or to happen at all. Certain people will never be able to communicate. Perhaps, more people would be able to if they strove to get down to the 'nitty-gritty'; to attempt to relate those feelings which lie at the core, not the periphery of our existence. That 'core' rarely changes, for it is what is most basic in man. They are all that is really important, and if we communicate it is the verbal manifestation of those thoughts and emotions which emanate from within us, personally and subjectively."

LOUISE MACATEE,  $\Gamma$   $\Xi$ -California at Los Angeles, in Through the Keyhole, 1967.

Notes and quotes on recent gifts . . .

"It is with a deep sense of gratitude to Kappa Kappa Gamma that I enclose my check toward the 1970 Centennial Fund. After College graduation I affiliated with alumnæ groups in Boston, Los Angeles and here in Detroit and through personal contact I never felt like a stranger in a new city! Also, as President of the Detroit Alumnæ Association from 1959-61 I was fortunate enough to be a delegate to the 1960 Coronado convention which will remain a memorable and worthwhile experience."
