THE KEY

OF KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

SPRING 1969

Whose Standards?

The reputation for high moral and ethical standards has contributed to the longevity of social fraternities. Membership implies the opportunity to become associated with others who seek similar standards of behavior. It is natural to desire the company of those with whom we have common bonds of interest. Such a foundation is requisite for the establishment of lasting friendship.

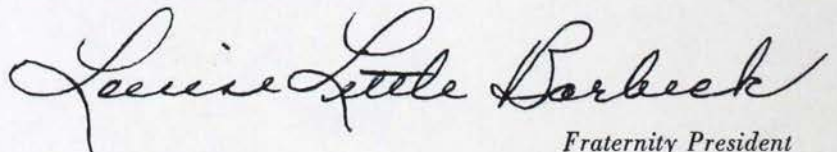

With today's emphasis upon the individual, the question is raised as to "whose standards" should prevail? Should fraternity women be obligated to follow patterns of social behavior established by generations of women before them, or should they be free to set a code of ethics by individual choice? While the Constitution of Kappa Kappa Gamma states, "mutual helpfulness in the attainment of individual and social excellence among its members", the implementation of this purpose has been developed by the membership since its inception. Certain social actions have been accepted as the criteria for members and others have sought to become associated with these purposes and goals that have stood for dignity and pride in well-being.

The majority of undergraduates have already established patterns of behavior by the time of college entrance. By mutual and voluntary choice, a continuation of high standards is sought by the individual and the sorority. An understanding of purpose in membership is necessary if the individual is to prosper, and the group to continue its pursuit of its original reason for being. There should be a parallel of interest between individual choice and group cooperation.

While one might debate that her actions resulted from personal desire and not fraternity policy, the result is paramount. Group association connotes a willingness to accept the majority opinion and a responsibility to share in the reputation of the group. Flagrant violations of standards objectionable to the purposes of the majority cannot be tolerated. The entire reason for joining becomes non-existent. The individual who chooses social actions of a questionable nature will not be happy in a situation where such actions are unacceptable.

Kappa Kappa Gamma is proud of a name associated with honor and the highest qualities of womanhood. Friendship implies a desire to promote the welfare of close associates. The fraternity's goals are linked with objectives that inspire members to seek qualities that fulfill individual purpose. Anything less would be dereliction of duty and abrogation of responsibility.

Whose standards? Yours and Kappa Kappa Gamma's!

Howard Rusk to Fraternity Headquarters during the filming of the Centennial movie in Columbus last June.

When the "Bank Holiday" of 1933 hit our country several items in the February 28 issue of the Columbus Citizen were grouped on the front page under the sub-head, "Life Goes On. With banks in Columbus and most of the cities in Ohio limiting withdrawals, businessmen and individuals were considering how they would meet problems arising from the new situation. Here is how!" And one of those items telling how was headed, "Scholarship Fund menaced by ruling. The executive secretary of one of the large national sororities was making the rounds of the banks drawing the organization's allotted five percent from convention and various other funds in order to get together $1,000 to meet scholarship loan obligations all over the country which are now due. Straightening out her books later is going to be another nice job."

Your editor has a personal remembrance of this period also. Early one morning Clara was alerted by a Kappa in Detroit that the banks were closing there and before the Columbus banks had joined the national trend Clara Pierce had gotten enough money to pay the salaries of the girls in the office for the coming month. Your editor, then a member of the Central Office staff, was one of the few people in Columbus with a little money in her handbag.

In reporting the 1934 Convention the Executive Secretary wrote: "If nothing else had been accomplished the meeting would have been worthwhile, for it stood for the basic quality of any fraternity (fine spirit of fellowship). However, there was work to be done and plans were to be made for the future. In this day of changing social and economic conditions no organization can drift along in the course of least resistance, and each delegate was ready to meet the challenge and offer splendid suggestions to solve the problems before the college world."

At a time when jobs were hard to "come by," Clara Pierce suggested that the younger members of the organization who were preparing to go into the business world might profit from the experiences of "those who had already climbed the ladder," and Council appointed a Vocational Guidance chairman in 1934. In a 1937 issue of THE KEY Clara gave this sage advice to the young Kappa. It in itself is her own philosophy. "In choosing a vocation, study its characteristics and demands in relation to your aptitudes and interests, assets and liabilities. Remember that every career has its price, so determine whether you feel it is worth paying. There is no position without its compensations and also its drawbacks. Regardless of the type of your future work the development of tact, adaptability and rules for successful living will be valuable assets."

Through the trying years of World War II Clara guided the Fraternity wisely and well. Providing the sound business leadership behind Kappa's war efforts the name of Kappa Kappa Gamma spread from Hawaii throughout the continental United States as the Service Women's Centers flourished. Soon after the end of the War in 1946 Clara wrote: "Leadership in this generation has often been questioned, but there is no cause to worry about the future of Kappa. The field secretaries, graduate counselors and members of the central office staff have proven that in their work ability and mature judgment. Kappa youth can disprove any such theory and be trusted to fill the ranks of those who have made the place which the Fraternity now enjoys in the world."

In 1947 when Clara had assumed the task of editing THE KEY as a collateral duty when no editor was to be found, she editorialized "Who ever said that it was more difficult for our older sisters to obtain a college education should try to register today. I happened to be in California when the new semester was beginning and found young Kappas standing in line all night in order to register. Finally when the task of registering is accomplished, classes of five hundred students begin. It will be interesting to see what mass education will produce in the next few years. Individual attention and the Greek philosophy of education in small groups is a thing of the past for the present Greeks. Again more need for guidance is thrown upon the one small intimate group within the university—the fraternity."

Again in the post-war period of the forties "From the Desk of the Executive Secretary" came the report of the 1947 Council Session. "Council deliberations went far into the night at the last session. The problems of management of an organization of 40,000 members in these days of unprecedented events is no small problem. Truly, their best thinking went into the decisions which were made as each one felt the responsibility placed upon her as a trustee of Kappa Kappa Gamma Fraternity. Only time will tell how wisely the owl guided our destiny."

And again in the same issue when Kappa's March of Progress made its bow—the former bequest program "now in a new dress and figure" Clara wrote: "Being a woman's collegiate organization primarily, the Council feels that our first business is to serve youth—the future of tomorrow depends on wise thinking and educated minds. In our small way we hope to add more truly educated women to serve the world. Undergraduate scholarships are the first necessity; to urge advanced study in specialized fields is second; to promote international understanding among the youth of the world is the third part of our program. We have ventured a little into the field of international goodwill by foreign study scholarships but never was there a greater need. You can build the keystone of this program by giving for the living and saving by giving." And in this same issue a very true bit of her combined humor and business sense: "Budgets to most people are a dull subject and truly dull when not in balance."

Once again that philosophy which has meant so much to Kappa Kappa Gamma was shown in a 1952 quote about the values of attending convention. "To be a Kappa is to be a good citizen. To attain this goal one must have understanding of the other person's point of view and how he lives. Meeting people from all parts of the United States and Canada, gathered together for the same purpose, is a rare privilege which comes but to a few. May those attending make the most of this experience, be given the foresight to meet today's problems, and take back to their chapters and alumnae associations the inspiration which they will gain."

The nineteen fifties found the Fraternity moving into their permanent home at 530 East Town Street. The former KEY editor, Helen Bower, wrote at the time of the opening of the Fraternity Headquarters "Unfortunately it is not possible for the large and widely-scattered membership to have firsthand personal knowledge of the vision

Clara Pierce has always had for the Fraternity, or how steadfastly she will stand her ground until that vision can become reality—as with the new headquarters building. She is trigger-quick to grasp opportunity when and where it will best serve the Fraternity as a whole.

"Above every other characteristic she possesses, Clara Pierce knows how to keep her own counsel. This attribute is probably more baffling than any other to those who do not have it. But it is an absolute essential in an office such as hers.

"In her it also conceals the extremely sensitive woman who lives within the person of the eminently capable executive. This woman has carried heavy burdens of personal grief and family responsibility without a sign by which the casual observer could be aware of them.

"Her personal loyalties are intense, deep and abiding—like her loyalty to Kappa. Yet these, too, lie hidden from all but the most discerning.

"It is the combination of brains, ability and personality which has been fired with only one continuing purpose—the well-being of the Fraternity to which she has given the past 25 years of her life."

At the 1961 Zeta Province Convention, "The Fraternity—an Educational Unit" was the topic of Clara's keynote speech. Her quick insight to the current educational picture once more comes through clear and loud. "There are those on every campus today who cannot appreciate the social fraternity, born in the era of the classic tradition, because they have proved to be a bulwark against insidious social ideas. Radicals hope to diminish their conservative influence and turn college students away from sound principles and a wholesome life. The word discriminating has received a bad connotation in the press. According to the dictionary 'it is the power of making nice distinctions.'

"One who has discriminating taste is a person who likes the finer things. It applies to everything we do as well as the friends we select. In the zeal of seeking the right to speak one's own views, do not overlook the danger of being influenced by the liberal movement and its ever present menaces. Intolerance of fraternities only shows their worth and it is necessary to stand fast for what we believe in and the things we cherish.

"The conduct of each individual member reflects on Kappa as well as other Greek letter groups. It is difficult for chapters to distinguish between loyalty to the group and to the individual, in cases where conduct is not acceptable. It is the obligation of the chapter to make its policies clear and the individual is then responsible. . . .

"Grades are but a measuring stick of knowledge . . . Plan time to work and time to play . . . Remember: intelligence plus application times responsibility squared by common sense equals good scholarship.

"You, college women, will set the pattern for this scientific and space generation. May I hope you will meet the challenge well by acquiring the spiritual power to succeed . . . that you aspire nobly . . . adventure daringly . . . but serve humbly."

Two years later at a Province meeting she challenged, "Today's campus calls for self-discipline, courage, and determination—sorting out the trivial things from the important. The line of least resistance won't lead to success. . . .

". . . Our foundation was not built of cement and steel but on the basic need of people to have ideals for which to strive and the friends who really care."

And once again her abiding faith in the value of the organization to which she had given her life comes through pointedly and plainly in an editorial in 1963. "Today some claim that fraternities have outgrown their usefulness. The need for closer associations with those of mutual interests for the purpose of developing individuals is ageless. The desire and need of humans does not vary, whether it be the horse and buggy era or the day of electronics. Humans are not machines and few live as hermits. Encouragement and inspiration are essential to any person and necessary to his success. The business of fraternities is with the development of people, which is as much a part of life as death and taxes."

And on the night of February 11, 1965 the devastating fire at Fraternity Headquarters would have broken most. But not Clara O.! Although ill with a heavy cold she led the office staff in trying to save records and Fraternity memorabilia. From that day to the present she has continued her day to day duties as Kappa's executive officer and at the same time tried to bring order out of the chaos of that horrible night—collecting and sorting reports and records to be kept as the heritage of the Fraternity.

At Convention last summer Clara made her last official report to the Fraternity. That keen business mind once more told of the financial status of the organization. It was a true picture of the times.

"Steadily increasing costs are seen in every direction—chapter expenditures, Headquarters and officers' supplies and in chapter housing. The chapters are not finance companies and cannot afford to advance credit. In this day of easy credit, there are few who follow the 'pay as you go' method but chapter budgets are based on each member paying her bill.

"It has been 16 years since any Fraternity fees have been raised. Hopefully, at that time, we were sure this would be sufficient. Now the budget is showing the strain. The Fraternity has no control over such change and has to cut some items which the officers think are essential. During my term in office the Current Expense Fund has never ended in the 'red' but I can't predict the next two years."

Through the years chapters, co-workers and friends have honored Clara. In 1959, Mu Province at their convention presented her with a scroll for the aid she had given them. In 1957 Elizabeth Kimbrough Park and Marian Ackley Chenoweth, former Council members, together with Helen Bower, presented the Fraternity with the Gracious Living Cup in honor of Clara O. Pierce. In 1952 when she had served the Fraternity nationally for 25 years her own chapter presented her with a scroll honoring the inspiration she had been to them. A tribute was again given by the Council in 1964 at the Sun Valley convention.

In summing up those words of affection and esteem felt by those whose lives have been touched by Clara O. Pierce, Ann Scott Morningstar, whose first association with Clara was as an active at Ohio State, writes:

An open letter to "C. O. P."

Dear Clara:

Now that you are entering yet another phase of your lifelong work for Kappa, will you first please turn to page 791 of the Kappa History, published in 1932?

There, beneath a cloche that might easily be Coco Chanel's latest, framed in modish stand-up fur collar, is the face that in the past forty years has launched more Kappa ships than can be counted.

There is a term that fits you as neatly as your well-chosen wardrobe. The term is "innovator." The innovator in industry, education, or organization charts uncharted seas. The innovator leads others in discovery of new approaches and solutions. The innovator hacks away the underbrush in the Great Agenda Forest and creates living space for tender young shoots of new ideas.

Along the trails you blazed beginning with your chairmanship in 1926 of the Endowment Fund campaign we see innovation after innovation that flowered for Kappa. The manuals you researched and wrote—for pledge training, finance, house boards, house directors. The schools for field secretaries and graduate counselors. Our Educational Endowment Fund. Our Magazine Agency. Our prestigious Alumnæ Achievement Award. The counselling and services for chapters and alumnæ with building programs and problems. To mention only a few.

Like the great innovators in all fields, you seldom rejected fledgling flights of others. You listened. You deferred judgment. And if a suggestion had to be rejected, your stroke was swift and merciful, accompanied by reasons.

What does Clara think? From coast to coast, this question was asked. Does Clara feel we should go ahead? Unhesitatingly, we turned to you. We knew you had studied and examined every point of view. We knew that your "yes" or "no" would be based on your own high standards for performance of any task concerning Kappa.

You have never wanted much personal recognition. Some of us realized this. Partly because the grey-green eyes beneath the fabulous auburn hair reveal a certain shyness.

As our thousands of members encounter you briefly on the Centennial film, A Key to the Second Century, they will hear you characteristically disclaiming more than passing credit for the beauty and utility of our Headquarters building. But pictures cannot lie. What comes through loud and clear is a lifetime of devotion to Kappa.

Loyally,

All of Us

CLARE BLACKFORD SPITLER, I-De-Pauw, with her husband John, are the fervent operators of Gallery One in Findlay, Ohio. Four years ago they purchased a 100-year-old brick house, restoring it on the ground level for Dr. John's dental offices, and making the upstairs an art gallery to show contemporary paintings, sculpture and graphics. The Spitlers began with the objective to bring art to Findlay, to help to promote good talented artists of that area, and to encourage people to buy original art for their homes. They found regional artists very interested in showing their work locally, and while Gallery One is mostly contemporary, they have acquired two early American painters who started in Paris in the nineteen-twenties, whose work appeals to the formal taste of some decorators and collectors. Gallery One opens in September with a group show of members' new work in a variety of styles, subject material and media. From October to June, there is a different one-man show each month. The Spitlers are innovators, opening the Young Collectors Corner, where graphics, drawings, and water colors are matted and gathered for sale. Their newest project is a sculpture garden behind the house to display sculpture too large to keep in gallery rooms. Clare Spitler spills over with enthusiasm for art and for encouraging other families to renovate and live in old historic houses. She hopes to establish a society in Findlay for the preservation of such homes. Her decorating ideas are unique. She uses an old shoe display rack to hold a painting, and inverts colored flower pots to serve as hanging lampshades. The couple considers the gallery a family project, and the atmosphere is relaxed with coffee perking during visiting hours of one to five, Sunday through Friday. John Spitler attended Duke before World War II; finished at Ohio State after the war, where he joined $\Phi K \Psi$ and ΨO dental fraternity. Their four children enjoy helping to run the gallery and meeting artists, and all have started their own art collections. Gregg is 18 and a freshman at Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Indiana. Amy at 15 wants to be an artist. Kevin is 13 and Carrie is 10.

Editor's note:

The Fraternity is proud to present this section of Kappa artists and their work. The interest shown in the section is gratifying. To continue this annual feature, the help of all Kappa artists is solicited.

Send all material for this section to the Art Editor, Mrs. Graydon L. Lonsford, 729 North Lebanon Street, Lebanon, Indiana 46052.

Mrs. Lonsford requests that in sending material for this feature that maiden name, chapter and college be included. In addition she says: "Write fully as to kind of work you do, where and when it has been exhibited, awards won, professional organizations electing you to membership, your training in art. Include information concerning your husband and his college or fraternity, your children, and active work in which you are now engaged."

Virginia Welspard McClure ceramic sculptress.

VIRGINIA WELSPARD McCLURE, Δ Δ-McGill, is a ceramic sculptress whose pottery is sold on order to Canadian Handicrafts, Eaton's department store, and at exhibits. Her fourth one-man show was held at Canadian Handicrafts Guild in March. After studying at Boston Museum School from 1955 to 1960, she became a part of the Potters Club of Montreal, and has served as their president the last two years. This organization has grown in 15 years from humble beginnings to a forceful artists' membership of 80, who own their building, house some members in studios, and conduct an educational program serving about 500 non-member pupils a year, as well as stocking and running a Boutique to sell member's work and provide operating expenses for the Club.

She has won three times the sculpture award of "Canadian Ceramics," and describes her style as contemporary. Her husband, Olaf, is a graduate of Cornell, and their two sons are Troy and Eric, 7 and 9. Mrs. McClure's life is involved with her family and educational work for the Potters Club, with her own art filling in every spare moment.

NAN NALDER TONKIN, Γ H-Washington State, was included in this year's compilation of Outstanding Young Women of America for professional excellence. A cum laude fine arts major, she has worked as a graphic illustrator for Medford, Oregon's county intermediate education district; done fashion illustrations for Frederick and Nelson in Seattle; and been art director for Tycker-Hold Advertising Agency in Medford and Eugene, Oregon. Last fall, she showed at Attica Gallery in Seattle a hooked rug relating to a large diptych, and canvasses including several six feet by four feet. In February, shows opened at Southern Oregon College and at Fountain Gallery in Portland. Her one-man exhibits have been in the states of Washington, Oregon and California. One of her paintings is in the Haseltine Collection of Northwest Art at the University of Oregon, and others are included in the United States Bank collections of Oregon. The Portland Art Museum honored her in their "Artists of 1966" show, and she has recently been in a group collection at Tacoma Art Museum. Mrs. Tonkin is a versatile member of a new direction in art, which has added collage to express ideas and produce compositions with many facets. She feels painting must go beyond two dimensionality and adds beads, stitching and a multitude of papers and other materials to her work. She says, "I am involved with light, touch and sound. The sound often emerging in the form of incised or stencilled word and number messages. I am constantly working for a proficiency in handling my chosen mediums as I believe discipline in one's craft frees the spirit and style. And with proficiency comes freedom—." Her husband is Leslie Vincent Tonkin, Φ Γ Δ , an architect with Sulam and Aehle in Seattle. They have one son, Eric, age 6, and expect a new addition to the family in March.

Alice Blue Girand lettering script in the uncial alphabet and wearing a handwoven dress.

ALICE BLUE GIRAND, Γ B-New Mexico, is a fine arts major and a rare calligraphic artist who does many styles of alphabets. She is also a weaver and clay worker. Her loom is a four harness, 56-inch weaving width, which allows her to weave rugs, bedspreads, place mats, yardage for clothes and wall hangings. She shows at the Museum of Albuquerque, New Mexico Junior College, and College of the Southwest. At present she is teaching calligraphy and papier maché at the New Mexico Junior College, and is president of the Hobbs Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnæ Association. She and her husband, Dan, Π K A-New Mexico, spent four and a half years in the USAF and while at Travis Air Force Base in California, she studied with Mary Van der Hoeven. Their children are Ann, 5, and Dub, 8 months old in December 1968.

HELEN M. KEIM, B A-Pennsylvania, follows an old tradition in the development of artists. She has battled all her life with arthritis, and began in 1945 to do what she calls photographic canvasses in oil. She is a self-taught artist, encouraged and supported by the encouragement of many friends. While she continues to like subjects "you want to live with," her own philosophy is becoming part of her work. She feels great art requires the old-fashioned biblical word "charity" in the soul of the artist—not in the beholder. What, she wonders, would the work of Dali and Picasso be like had they been forced by necessity to be full-time workers and part-time artists. She has presently undertaken a painting of still life objects collected by a patron to be called "These Things Are Dear to Me." Helen lives in Narberth, Pennsylvania.

VIVIAN VON HAGEN THOMPSON, Δ T-Southern California, is a many-faceted person, whose interests place her in numerous varied positions. She does pastel portraits of children, landscapes in water color, and drawings of dogs and cats. With Universal-Filmedia Studios in Washington, D.C., this spring, she plans to make a film concerned with the lives and functions of domestic animals. She feels city children know little of cats, dogs, sheep, cattle and poultry, and that text books do not cover the subject. She has taught emotionally disturbed teenage girls at Charter Oak Foundation, and says she will continue to teach small groups whenever she is needed. At present, she and her husband are establishing an Arabian horse breeding program on their Seven Springs Ranch near Roseburg, Oregon, and she has added writing (poetry and articles) as well as extensive photography to her busy life. Western Livestock Journal in August, 1968 carried one of her articles, and she is acting as editorial assistant to the Los Angeles Junior League Magazine. Her husband, John T., is a Δ Σ Δ, dental fraternity of the University of Southern California, and also attended the College of Eastern Utah. They live in Covina, California.

Vivian Von Hagen Thompson

CARLTON HAXALL CAMERON COLLIER, B O-Newcomb, began her career at the age of 10 by winning poster contests and doing yearbook drawings as a teenager at St. Margaret's Episcopal boarding school, where she had six years of art classes. An art scholarship took her to Sophie Newcomb, from which she shifted to Richmond, Virginia's Commonwealth University to take commercial art because she wanted something tangible to do in the business world. Here she won the RPI Art Achievement Award upon graduation with a major in communications arts and design. Her first job in which she has attained outstanding success was as graphic designer for the City Planning Commission of Richmond. With her own special insight, she began a "face-lifting" program for more modern, better-designed billboards, brochures, and visual materials representing all city programs.

Her specific jobs include a new symbol and layout for the Model City Applications of 1967-1968; new cover for REB, employee publication; the city seal; letterheads; and special reports. Her free-lance work involved covers for Rural Virginia magazine, and over 30 portraits of past presidents for the Virginia Roadbuilders' Association. She has an emphatic approach to design projects, convinced that the best modern styles can be blended with historic images to produce economy in time and money, friendliness in public relations, and progress in terms of a city's culture.

Her husband, Boyd Collier, II K A, Wake Forest, and $\Delta \Phi$, law fraternity, from Richmond University, is an attorney. They have a son, Boyd Franklin, Jr., born in May, 1968. She has been retained as a consultant in graphic design by the city of Richmond, and will do free-lance art work at home.

HALLE WALLER JOHNSON, A-Akron, who transferred to Oberlin Conservatory of Music, is an abstract expressionist, working and living the year round in Boothbay Harbor, Maine. She has a log house, overlooking the harbor and into the White Mountains. In an area where there is great art activity, she has continued the work she began when the family lived in Cambridge and Boston. She derives her subject material from poetry and music, and the elements she observes in her own environment. Her paintings are in oil, are large, and sometimes murals. Her one-man shows have been held in Boston's Spiral Gallery, Cambridge Art Association, and last spring in the Maine Art Gallery, of which she is a member of the Board of Directors. Her work has appeared extensively throughout the North East, New York, Wiscasset, Cambridge, and the Boston Art Festivals. She has directed painting workshops for Boston's YWCA, and been president of the Cambridge Art Association. Her husband, Roger, attended Bowdoin College and Harvard Business School. Their son, Roger, Jr., is a theatrical producer in New York City.

CAREY BOONE NELSON, Θ-Missouri, was graduated from Wellesley with a pre-med degree, and holds a Masters in education from Wagner College. She is a portrait sculptor in stone, marble, alabaster, and plastilene, cast in bronze. She studied sculpture with Arthur Lorenzani at Staten Island Museum, St. George, and with John Hovannes and John Terken. Her style is traditional and she prefers children for models. Her work has been on display in Europe through International Art Exchange (Paris, Monaco, Cannes, Athens). She is affiliated with Portraits Incorporated, the Chase Gallery, Sculpture Garden, D'Allessio and Pastiche Galleries, and is a fellow in the American Artists Professional League. In May, 1968, she received the George Salzman Memorial Award at Staten Island Museum for a sculpted bas relief work, "Women of the House." "Fox on Ridge," a bronze sculpture, was displayed in the American Artists Professional League Show at Manufacturers Hanover Trust (Madison at 47th), New York, in October, 1968. Her works are in permanent collections of the Robert F. Shelare Library of St. Joseph Hill Academy in New York, and in private collections including those of the Cornelius Vanderbilts and of Aaron Frosch (Richard Burton's attorney). She is a frequent contributor to shows at the National Academy (Allied Artists); National Arts Club, New York Bank for Savings, Catherine Lorillard Wolfe Annuals, Lever House and Theodor Hertzl Institute. She is working on a group show for Slater Memorial Museum in Connecticut.

Carey Nelson is a sixth great-grandniece of Daniel Boone, and planning a medical career, started as research assistant to Dr. Joe V. Meigs at Harvard Medical School. She feels her knowledge of anatomy and those many hours of scientific sketching assist her sculpting. She has never stood still, being interested in playing the violin, modern dance, professional modelling, and working for a time as research consultant for a cosmetics firm. Since her marriage, she has been equally active in community affairs. Kenneth Nelson, her husband, is a Φ K Σ from MIT, and conducts the family automobile business founded by his father. Their six children are Caren, Kenneth, Jr., Kimberly, Keith, Kyle, and Craig. The Nelsons live on Staten Island.

ELOISE COLE REID THOMPSON, B ©-Oklahoma, does detailed, life-size botanical studies of wild flowers. Her book Wildflower Portraits was published by the University of Oklahoma and contains 100 color plates, made from original water color paintings. She has studied at the Art Students League in New York, the University of Oklahoma, and privately. For years, she has collected prize ribbons from the Art League of Houston, Garden Clubs of Houston, State Garden Federation, and City Wide Flower Shows for Conservation. In addition, she has held one-man shows at Hollins College, Dallas Art League, Dallas Little Theatre, Women's Clubs of Austin and Houston, University of Oklahoma, and University of Texas.

Her husband, Wallace, is a retired president of General Crude Oil Company. They have a son, Joe Reid, and a daughter, Katrina Thompson Ladwig, $\Gamma \Phi$ -Southern Methodist.

Barbara Rankin with wall grouping including her own charcoal sketches and assortment of antique collection.

BARBARA DODGE RANKIN, Γ Ω-Denison, affiliated B N-Ohio State, combines free-lance interior decorating with teaching art at West Muskingum high school. She is active at the Zanesville Art Institute, where she has studied with Dr. Charles Dietz for 15 years. She describes the style of her work as abstract expressionism, and her materials are oil, acrylics, clay and wood. Her awards are many including "Best of Show" in 1966 from Zanesville Artist Association; others from Ohio State Fairs; Coshocton Park Gallery Art Shows of 1966 and 1967; Newark Art Association; and Tucson, Arizona. Zanesville Art Institute owns one of her paintings in their permanent collection. She is well-known for her proficiency at interior decoration, and is an avid scavenger at house demolishings. She uses "found" material for her own assemblages and makes use of old pieces of wood by putting hooks in them and hanging them on the wall. Such accents to homes in the area are the result of her expertise and advice as a decorator.

She has one son, Alan Rankin, Jr., age 15.

BETTY LOUISE MILLER HART, B T-Syracuse, has a strong sense of design and an original way of working. Her style may be fantasy or abstract realism as she chooses but it has caught the eye of judges and viewers in all of the major professional shows in New Jersey, including the State Museum at Trenton and the Montclair Museum. She was an invited artist in the current exhibition (fall 1968) at the Newark Museum, and has held one-man shows at Old Mill Gallery, Linton Falls; Guild of Creative Art; and at Villanova University. Among her awards is a bronze medal of honor from American Artists Magazine. She was a founder and first president of the Art Auxiliary at Monmouth Medical Center at Long Branch, New Jersey, and is a past-president of the North Jersey Shore Alumnae of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Betty says she is always painting and drawing, and teaches classes at the Guild of Creative Art in Trenton Falls. Her husband, Harold, Jr., went to Villanova University. They have four children: John, 28; Harold, III, 20; Judith, 17; and Mary Beth, 6.

"Neptune's Garden," 21 x 26 inch pencil drawing by Betty Miller Hart, first prize in graphics at State Museum at Trenton show in 1968.

LANA ANNE BORIN HUTCHESON, B Z-Iowa, is an artist-teacher who says, "With complete sincerity, I admit my love for teaching equals my love for painting. The opportunity to give an adult a renewed zest for life, to discover and encourage a talent, or an unknown means of self-expression is more meaningful than turning out 'X' number of paintings per week." Since leaving Iowa University and taking training at Art Institute of Chicago, she has taught at the elementary level and now is art instructor in the junior high school in Cedar Falls, Iowa. Active in Northern Orange County Alumnae Association, she takes private pupils, and expects this summer to begin work on her Master's.

She paints, sculpts and works with papier maché in realistic and abstract styles, preferring to do portraits, landscapes and still life. She describes her life as satisfying and fulfilling—with her family, her teaching and her painting. Jerry, her husband is a Δ Y from Iowa U., and her favorite fan and critic. Their children are William Dale, 5, and Meridith Leigh, born last May.

Wilhelmina Freeman Greene with paper napkin showing flowers of the South.

WILHELMINA FREEMAN GREENE, Δ E-Rollins, is a botanical illustrator, whose book Flowers of the South, Native and Exotic, resulted in the Georgia Tech library acquiring an illustration for their collection. (A second has since been added.) Her floral designs are well known on place mats and paper napkins, and are sold to benefit Florida Federation Garden Center by the Federated Garden Club. She prefers to paint flowers of warm climes, and her floral paintings in water color, ink, tempera and oil are exhibited by horticultural societies, garden and women's clubs. Special shows have been held at Rollins College, Oberlin, Chautauqua, Columbus, Georgia, the World's Fair, the Inn at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania, in 1968, and at Rich's in Atlanta. She is now working on her second book, Tropical Flowers the World Around, and has shown flower and garden slides in 27 countries while preparing her plates for publication. Her husband, Raymond, is a K A from Rollins, and their three children are Mary Louise and Ann, both Δ A-Miami U. Kappas, and Ray, Jr. She lives and paints, when not travelling, in Winter Park.

MARJORIE ANN THOMAS YOUNG, Γ Z-Arizona, also attended the University of Texas at El Paso. She is a sculptress, ceramist and craftsman in metal, wood and stone. While she admits to preferring non-objective forms, her style varies with the mediums she uses. She shows at El Paso Galleries, Oklahoma Art Center, and El Paso Museum of Art, where she has been teaching ceramics in the Junior Arts Center.

items, such as candle sconces, jewelry, and coats-of-arms, and is in demand to design and execute scenery for Junior League Children's Theatre and decorations for Junior League's annual charity ball. She has been elected to International Designer Craftsmen. She and her husband, Randolph, a Δ T Δ from Texas Christian, live now in El Paso.

EMMA JANE (DEANIE) HOSMER MILLER, Δ A-Penn State, is one of many women whose interest in art was postponed until the demands of a family lessened. She is now studying at the Philadelphia Art Museum, and using oil, acrylics and gouache. She describes her style as "primitive" and she enjoys doing murals, which are beginning to be in demand in Bryn Mawr. Her husband, Carl, is a Δ T Δ from Penn State, and she has a Kappa daughter and four grandchildren.

There have been some changes made

With the retirement of Clara O. Pierce, the Council realigned the duties of the Headquarters staff. Katharine Wade Pennell, B N-Ohio State, was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Executive Secretary-Treasurer and Elizabeth "Lee" Tracy Ridgley, B N-Ohio State, has assumed the newly created position of Administrative Director.

"Kay" Pennell has been a member of Headquarters staff since 1945. She first served as head of the catalog department. In 1948 she moved into the position of bookkeeper and most recently has also carried the title of assistant treasurer. The Council feels that her grasp of the financial affairs of the Fraternity and her overall knowledge of the organization plus her ability to work with people make her the obvious choice for this position. Kay's chief interest outside of Kappa is her family which includes sons, William and Gary, and nine grandchildren.

Lee Ridgley joined the Headquarters staff in 1964 just before the fire. Lee became acquainted with day to day procedures in her position of administrative assistant. First she was in charge of the mailing room and its attendant duties such as overseeing the preparation of all mimeographing. From this specific job she has assumed more and more details of general office management and become familiar with most of the procedures of Headquarters. With this background, her executive ability and delightful personality the Council again feels they have a fine person to carry out the administrative duties of Headquarters. After spending a number of years away from Columbus, Lee returned with her late husband and two sons, Thomas and David, in 1964. Today her sons and her young granddaughter are her chief delights in "off duty" hours.

Another retirement from the Headquarters staff necessitated some further realignment of duties. Frances Davis Evans, B N-Ohio State, long-time Fraternity Chairman of Chapter Finance, at Headquarters also retired the first of the year. Curtis Buehler, B X-Kentucky, who has managed the insurance programs of the Fraternity, along with other financial duties has added this chairmanship as her responsibility. Curtis moved from Lexington, Kentucky, in 1966, after a successful career in her own insurance agency. She is well-known in Kappa circles as a former Fraternity Convention chairman.

Kappas wishing information from Headquarters should remember these new names at 530 East Town Street, Columbus, Ohio 43216.

A Special Request from the Catalog Department

The Winter issue of THE KEY carried a list of all Kappas who were listed with no current address on the Fraternity files. If you have not already checked this list, won't you please refer to your Winter KEY and see if you can't help the office find these "lost" members.

Do you realize it costs the Fraternity $.10 each time you move without sending them notification? In trying to keep track of the members the Post Office department sends forms with new addresses, when known, or notification of non-delivery. For each of these notices the Fraternity pays $.10. Why not make it a habit to include Fraternity Headquarters and your own chapter with a personal change of address when you move or marry. A handy form for Headquarters use is included for this purpose in every issue of THE KEY.

It's a family affair

More Kappa men are adding their names to the growing list of members of the Honorary Centennial Committee, signifying their interest in and approval of the aims of Kappa Kappa Gamma's Centennial celebration.

The latest additions include the names of men in various parts of the country and varying professions and careers.

Adrian C. Cassidy, Vice-President Pacific Telephone and Telegraph

Father: Leigh Cassidy, Y-Northwestern

"I should be happy to serve on the Kappa Kappa Gamma Honorary Centennial Committee, since I've long had a high regard for the Fraternity."

Eugene F. Ratliff, Treasurer, Eli Lilly and Company

Father: Christine Julia Ratliff, PΔ-Ohio Wesleyan Elizabeth Ann Ratliff, M-Butler

"I would be most pleased to add my name to the Kappa Kappa Gamma Honorary Centennial Committee."

Tom McCall, Governor, State of Oregon

Husband: Audrey Owen McCall, Γ H-Washington State

"I am honored to be chosen to join the distinguished members of the Honorary Committee for the Kappa Kappa Gamma Centennial."

Are you a parliamentarian?

Kappas serve in many professional and volunteer capacities, as the many articles in THE KEY have shown. But do we have any registered parliamentarians, or certified professional parliamentarians? Do we have any who are especially interested in the field and plan to take the examination for registration? If so, please get in touch with Rheva Ott Shryock, The Philadelphian 15B33, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19130.

State chairmen push Centennial quotas

The State Centennial Chairmen were recently asked to do a survey of the areas within their states which they found were producing the best results for the Centennial Fund.

Taken into consideration was each area's Centennial Fund goal (based on the number of Kappas residing therein) and support of the Fund through:

individuals gifts
association or club gifts

Here's how Richardson did it

Ann Stubblefield Ince, Γ Φ-Southern Methodist, hostess for the blouse coffee and Kay Lamar Van Hoy, Δ T-Georgia, Centennial chairman for Richardson.

The Richardson, Texas Alumnae Association had a "Blouse Coffee" in October at which time 51 orders were taken for blouses, sweaters and jumpers to boost the Centennial goal. It was held from 10:00 A.M. until noon. Each member was sent a postcard invitation "We'll Sell You The Shirt Off Our Backs", and asked to bring at least two prospective guests interested in making a purchase. It was casual on a come and go basis with coffee, tea and coffee cake being served. Samples from Sorority Deb as well as personal blouses were shown. Guests were invited to have refreshments, take a scratch pad to jot down style numbers and then place their orders. It was a most successful and painless way to sell a great number of blouses.

Meet THE KEY artists

THE KEY is indebted to Jane Edwards, ΔH -Utah, a current Field Secretary, for her contribution to the Centennial Fund—the eye-catching illustrations in this section.

Also credit for the Rube Goldberg drawing in the Winter issue of the magazine goes to Brad Bird, the son of the Fraternity Scholarship chairman, Marjorie Bird. The name was inadvertently cut off of the drawing.

In the six short weeks between THE KEY deadlines, alumnae groups and active chapters continued their support of the Centennial Fund through gifts. The helpfulness of these contributions cannot be stressed enough and the Centennial Committee is grateful to the following groups for their interest and financial support.

Delta Alpha sends gift

Delta Alpha raised the $50.00 gift for the Centennial Fund by playing our annual "Powderpuff" football game. We usually play against one of the fraternities (with revised rules, of course) and this is our philanthropy project for the Fall term. We charge 25¢ per ticket. We decided to give part of our earnings to the Centennial Fund this year. The remainder of the money we earned went to a little girl in this area who has brain damage and needs very expensive medicine and treatments.

Dreams do come true

by APRIL KOCH
Public relations chairman
Δ Π-Tulsa active

September 8, 1968, the long awaited day, arrived and 30 Delta Pi's from the University of Tulsa moved into their brand new beautiful house. Last year the University passed a ruling that each of the seven T.U. sororities would be provided with living quarters attached to the back of the individual lodges; so construction began in April hoping that by the following fall all of the girls who previously lived in the girls' dormitory could move into their new home. Dreams do come true as an excited Kappa chapter discovered when bricks and mortar began to take the form of walls.

Now that the finishing touches are completed, these Delta Pi members relax after their move into the new house.

Each room in the new Kappa house is provided with individual heating and air-conditioning which makes for comfortable studying and sleeping any time of the year. A three basin bathroom is shared by six girls. There are five suites, with three double rooms to each, along with the president's suite, the first vice-president's spacious single joined by a roomy walk-in closet and bathroom. The walls in each room are a cream colored stucco type, the ceilings are open-beamed. The bedspreads, which were donated by the Tulsa alumnae, and the drapes are different in each room, and yet coordinate with the golden brown carpeting, thus lending themselves well to a multitude of decorating ideas. Telephones in each room and an efficient intercom system keep the girls in constant communication.

Studying and visiting can be done on each floor in the two lounges. On the second floor is an extended outdoor sundeck which someday could be converted into another suite if needed. Passing each sorority house is a covered walkway leading to the main part of the campus where classes are held, so on snowy or rainy mornings boots and umbrellas won't be quite the necessity they once were. In addition to new living space, the Kappas were also able to expand the living room in the house to double its original size.

The Kappas were fortunate to have the help of many willing alumnae who donated hundreds of hours for this awesome project, as well as a hardworking president and house chairman. To these Kappas, Delta Pi gives many thanks.

As the university feels that greater school unity can be achieved only by the students knowing each other well, the freshman pledges will continue to stay in the campus dormitory where they will be living with girls from other sororities and independents. They look forward to the day when they will move into the Kappa house.

A new house in Stillwater

by GWEN BARNES UZZELL

Γ N-Arkansas
House building chairman

After almost two full years of living on the sixth floor of Drummond Hall, holding chapter meetings in a case study room of the Student Union, having no place to entertain unless other fraternal groups generously offered their facilities, the jubilant Delta Sigma chapter moved into its spacious new home at 1212 West Fourth on the first day of April, 1968.

The architectural style of the building, which was designed by Frances Sutton Schmitz, Fraternity architect and her late husband Herbert, to house 80 when completed, blends beautifully with the Williamsburg theme of Oklahoma State University.

Entering the slate-floored vestibule, one is immediately impressed with the spacious foyer, lighted by two small crystal chandeliers. The walls are dressed with a silver-bathed lemon and gold wallpaper, with a practical chair rail and wainscotting painted a creamy neutral color which continues on the walls of the living room, corridors, house director's suite, and above the paneled wainscotting of the lounge. The carpeting, which covers the entire area is a sculptured pattern in celadon green. The brocade drapes and cornices in the living room have a neutral background which blends with the color of the walls.

From the living room and foyer are large openings into a hallway from which one can exit to the west fire stairs which lead to all floors, or into the dining room or lounge.

A large bay window dominating the west wall of the lounge frames a view of the lovely old trees which shade the parking lot. The drapes are of linen, in a gay floral pattern. On either side of the wood-burning fireplace are glass doors leading to the grass-covered terrace.

Experience, research, and careful planning paid enormous dividends in the efficiency of the kitchen. A pleasant room, decorated in soft yellows and warm wood tones, it is highlighted by stainless steel counters and equipment. The food storage room is conveniently located beside the kitchen, with a stepless delivery door which opens from the inside only.

Just off the corridor which leads to the east fire stairs is a "mud room," with shelves for books and rods on which to hang coats.

In the corridor east of the foyer are a guest closet and telephone booth, mail boxes with bulletin boards and built-in storage. The men's room and cleaning closets are in the east corridor, and at the end is the powder room with its rust-colored carpet.

The guest room is carpeted in the same rust color as the powder room, has bone-white walls, and drapes of a floral patterned chintz.

The basement chapter room has light blue tile, with white walls which are lined with composites of the chapter dating back to its charter members. There is a well-lighted podium and spacious archives closets, as well as a ventilating fan for air circulation.

room walls a soft yellow, put glass curtains on the windows, taped together hundreds of rug samples in a gay patchwork to provide warmth and cheer in the enormous room. Across the corridor from the study room is a sound-proofed typing room, which also accommodates an upright piano, as well as the test files.

The project room is especially appreciated by Delta Sigma, a chapter with a history of participation and successes in homecoming decorations and floats, Varsity Revue, and Student Union Fairs. What a relief it is to have a room where spray painting is allowed! A sprinkler system insures fire protection.

A snack room is across the hall from the laundry room. A small treasurer's office is located across the corridor from the storage rooms.

The second and third floors, providing living quarters for 76 girls, have corridors of light gray, with dark blue carpeting for noise control. The bedroom walls are powder blue, with windows draped through the efforts of mothers and alumnae, spearheaded by the Stillwater Mothers Club under the direction of Mrs. Haskell Cudd and Mrs. J. C. Hillier. The fabric was contributed by the actives.

The colorful bathrooms, decorated in shades of blue and gold, are designed in a central core.

The pressing room is equipped with a laundry sink for hand laundry and a spray for shampooing. There is a drip-dry trough across the entire east wall of the room.

Each floor is equipped with three phone booths, a water fountain, house phone, extra closet space, and the second floor has a luggage room with shelves to hold hand luggage.

Part of the third floor remains unfinished, with wiring, fire-detection, and rough flooring in so that it can be used for overflow sleeping. Since the doors are all finished on the corridor side, the outward appearance is one of completion.

Delta Sigma wishes to express its deep appreciation to all of those who have made possible their beautiful and practical new home: the Fraternity Housing committee; the Study of Needs committee, Fraternity Architect; and Consulting Decorator. Dorothy Hensley Keyes, B Θ-Oklahoma, Fraternity representative and Norma McClain Moe, her assistant; Georgianna Drummond chapter president; Judy Hendrickson, chapter representative; House Building committee, Gwen Barnes Uzzell, Γ N-Arkansas, Jean Clarke Berry, B Θ-Oklahoma, Gladys Sullivant McGaugh, Γ N-Arkansas, Fund-Raising chairman, Martha Puckett Miller, Δ Σ-Oklahoma State. Special thanks go to all alumnae and parents whose support has been and will be vital to the successful completion and operation of the house.

Blue and gold highlight the neutral color scheme of the spacious living room (top).

Color television, gift of the Fathers' Club, and wood-burning fireplace contribute towards making the lounge a favorite spot for congeniality (center).

Two chandeliers, gifts of two Kappa mothers, Mrs. Earl Russell and Mrs. A. B. Smith, and lovely table decorations made by Tulsa Mothers, enhance the soft muted greens of the dining room which seats 80 (bottom).

Beatrice Woodman dies

Beatrice Woodman (center) wearing the Gold Medal of Honor visits with Monsieur and Madame Jacques Schricke, Secretary of the French Embassy, at the time of the presentation of the award.

Beatrice Stanton Woodman, Φ -Boston, holder of Kappa's highest alumnae award, the Alumnae Loyalty award, given for loyalty, devotion and service to the Fraternity, died in her native Boston, February 15. She graduated from Boston University after attending Smith College. Recently she gave the Undergraduate Reading Room of the new Mugar Memorial Library at her alma mater. In 1967 she was made a fellow of the Boston University Libraries, an honor conferred by the president and trustees for her philanthropic efforts.

"Bea" served Phi Chapter as an adviser for some 40 years. Her home was truly a "home away from home" for all active members. In 1956 she presented a Salem bowl to the Fraternity to be awarded for the Best Advisory Board-Chapter Relations.

Miss Woodman served as president of both the Boston and Boston Intercollegiate Alumnae Associations, and as Alpha Province President and Vice-President.

In 1946 she was appointed the first and only chairman of the Dorothy Canfield Fisher Fund for French Relief. As a result of the work she did with the children of Bas-Meudon following World War II in Kappa's name she was awarded the Gold Medal of Honor of Foreign Affairs of the French government in 1948. After visiting the Kappa sponsored schools, Mrs. Fisher wrote that "the moment Bea appeared—and smiled—their hearts melted into far more than 'appreciation'—into affection which they all, from the youngest child to the most dignified school official, showed her in every way they could devise. Personality is an ineffable force. It works its magic in some mysterious way as if by an emanation from the mere presence of a fellow human being."

When the Relief Project was completed in 1952, "Bea" began a four year stint as chairman of Foreign Study Fellowships. In 1956 she became a member of the Fraternity Historical committee. For the past three conventions she has been a member of the Hostess committee.

Beatrice Woodman will be missed by her many Kappa friends, both active and alumnae. Her "personality" indeed was an "ineffable force."

We toured Berlin with tears in our eyes at the sight of the wall that divides East and West, and the progress that West Berliners have made with the help of the Americans. In Belgrade, a discussion with a student at the University of Belgrade helped us to better understand the Communist philosophy as well as our own. Two E Δ-Arizona State Kappas Katie O'Keefe and Wendy Colby write of their year in the "Eternal City." "Where, oh where do we begin?! All that we did, all that we learned, all the fun, excitement, and enchantment of nine months in the truly 'Eternal' city of Rome simply can not be expressed in words.

"Rome was our classroom for nine months while we studied under Loyola University's Junior Year Abroad program. There were approximately 300 students representing 85 universities from across the United States. The majority of the students lived and attended classes in an old five-story villa atop Monte Mario—a hill overlooking the historically famous Tiber River and Vatican City, the center of Catholicism. In order to attend classes in the villa, 90 of us, who lived in a typical Italian apartment building across the street from the villa, had to make our way down a tree-lined archway about which an age-old legend still lingers to haunt those who innocently walk its path. Although the villa acted as dormitory, cafeteria, library, and classroom for the students, it also provided a beautiful view of the city from its fifth floor belvedere where we often spent quiet afternoons in the sun and romantic evenings under the stars, just thinking or playing the guitar.

"Loyola in Rome is a center of liberal arts and all the traditional subjects in a liberal arts curriculum may be studied there. Although we were required to study two semesters of Italian, what we learned in the classroom came alive when we bought flowers from a street vendor, ice cream at Giolitti's, and pizza at the corner trattoria.

"What we read in the annals of history texts stood before us as we wandered through the Roman Forum, meandered aimlessly through the ruins of the colosseum, or drove along the ancient Appian Way—the oldest road in the world. What better way is there to appreciate and feel the power and beauty of Michelangelo's Pieta, his frescoed ceilings of the Sistine Chapel, or the architectural strength of St. Peter's, than to gaze upon them with your own eyes and to live with the very people to whom they mean the most? Even the courses in theology and classical literature gained more relevance because we studied them in Rome.

"Numerous long weekends made travel to the quaint nearby Italian villages and surrounding areas possible. Holidays were also unusually long, enabling us to travel extensively throughout Western Europe. Individual students were free to plan their own itineraries and to choose their own modes of travel: one group cycled through the Swiss Alps; another hitch-hiked from Rome to Amsterdam; and still another rode camels in Tunisia. The Eurail Pass provided a popular and practical convenience for many of the students, assuring them of, if nothing more, a warm place to spend the night. Nevertheless, wherever we went or however we traveled, we realized that we weren't mere tourists—Europe was our 'home.'"

Anne-Claude Cotty, Γ P-Allegheny, may be reached at Segre 16, 1°, Madrid 2, Spain until June. She is studying Spanish at the University of Madrid.

Patricia Edgerton, B II-Washington, is teaching and studying Indian literature at Lady Doak College, Madurai, India this Spring. She is on a leave of absence from Foothill College, Los Altos, California. In April she expects to go to Kenya where she "may stay and work awhile in order to tour East Africa."

Founders' Day across the country

In Lawrence

In California

Southern California Kappas celebrated Founders' Day . . . three hundred strong. Twenty-three alumnae groups and two active chapters were represented at the luncheon in the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Dean Nola Stark, Dean of Women at UCLA and guest speaker acknowledged the contribution Kappas have made over the past 98 years to scholarship and philanthropies and brought a challenge for the future.

San Francisco Bay alumnae pinned the golden 50 year pin on five members of their group. Margaret Patrick Macormack, Π^A -California, (pinned by Rose McGill Fund chairman, Ruth Armstrong Harris, also Π^A), Cora Salter McGowan, B K-Idaho, (received her pin from classmate Zella Bingham Fox, B K) Donna Ellen Mailliard, B H-Stanford, (pinned by her granddaughter Marcia Smith, Π^A -California), Irma Lutz Ebnother, Ω -Kansas, (pinned by association president Jean Nyo Dennison, Γ Γ -Whitman), and Catherine Ware Wight, Θ -Missouri, (received her pin from M. Pauline Crouse Barnett, B Z-Iowa, a 65 year Kappa). Hostess association for the event which included members of Pi was the East Bay group. Priscilla Slaybaugh Schultz, I-DePauw, gave the inspiring talk of the evening.

Mary Langdon Brereton, B Δ -Michigan received her 50 year pin from the Santa Monica-Westside Alumnae Association. Mrs. Brereton has given a great deal of time to the various projects of the Blind. She has transcribed entire courses in German and French into Braille and donated the library to the University high school. Although her son Robert was blind at birth, Mrs. Brereton learned to dictate music to him, and he was able to study at Juilliard Graduate School with Mr. Artur Rubinstein. He has developed into a successful concert pianist, performing with various orchestras across the country.

In Tulsa

In Washington, D.C.

Six members were honored in a candlelight ceremony held on Founders' Day by the Washington, D.C.-Suburban Washington (Maryland) alumnae. Receiving their fleur-de-lis pins were: Alys O'Neil Baldwin, Γ P-Allegheny; Helen Armfield Barth, I-DePauw; Marguerite Fleckinger Dyke, B Z-Iowa; Dorris Laflin Gregg, Υ -Northwestern; Esther Anderson Pierce, I-DePauw, and Frances Staley Skinker, B Υ -West Virginia.

In Westchester

Una Tuthill Swertfager, B B^A-St. Lawrence, Elizabeth Hoover Lincoln, Υ -Northwestern, and Emily Mount Ashcroft, B Σ -Adelphi, were given the fleur-de-lis pin by the Westchester County Association at their Founders' Day celebration.

In Texas

Dallas and Richardson Associations, together with Gamma Phi members at Southern Methodist met together to celebrate Founders' Day and special alumnae awards. Jane Tournier Curry, Δ -Indiana, Theta Province Director of Alumnae, was guest speaker and Gamma Phi's Kappa Pickers entertained the audience.

The Outstanding Alumnae Award pin was presented to Nellie Harris Matthews, $\Gamma \Phi$ -Southern Methodist, who had been active in civic, religious, cultural, and fraternity life in Dallas for many years. Mary Holden Dunham, $B \Xi$ -Texas, received her 50 year pin. Mrs. Dunham has been fashion artist, home designer and book illustrator. Mother of four children she has held many Fraternity posts throughout her Kappa years.

It was a happy group at the Dallas banquet. Doris Dickey Fehr, ΓA -Kansas State, association president; Jane Tournier Curry, Δ -Indiana, Theta Province Director of Alumnae; Nellie Harris Matthews, $\Gamma \Phi$ -Southern Methodist, Outstanding Alumnae awardee; Mary Helen Holden Dunham, $B \Xi$ -Texas, 50 year member; Sally Delavan, $\Gamma \Phi$ -Southern Methodist, active chapter president.

Gamma Beta celebrates

The annual Founders' Day banquet in Albuquerque, New Mexico last October honored not only Kappa's six founders but also Gamma Beta's charter members and charter initiates of 1918. Presented with 50 year pins by Marie Jensen Hayes and Louise Cox Marron were: Hazel Hawkins Elliott, Rebecca Horner Gass, Myrl Hope Sisk, Margaret McCanna McCaffrey, Evelyn Long VanDeuren, Louise Bell Wigley, Evelyn Trotter Bostic, Margaret Flournoy, Kathleen Long Koch, Helen Wilson Dixon, Ann Earle Harris Counts, Margaret Jane Stanley Gallup, Dorothy Omart Wright, Estelle Harris Rogers, and Frances Baer Kyte. Also receiving the commemorative pins but unable to attend were Katherine Conway White, Wilma Snyder Barnhart, Irene Boldt Curnow, Lois Davis Scott, Katherine Little Casteel, Helen Vincent Sedgwick, and Edith Boellner Turner.

Co-chairmen for this special occasion were Karen Davis Amorous and Linda Bureau Keleher. Patricia McDowell Crist acted as toastmistress for the banquet, which was attended by active members and alumnae from Albuquerque, Los Alamos, Santa Fe, Raton, Hobbs, Artesia, Roswell and Espanola, New Mexico and from Tulsa, Oklahoma and El Paso, Texas. Main speaker was Fraternity Vice-President, Phyllis Brinton Pryor, of Denver. A highlight of the evening was the reading of a verse, written by Karen Davis Amorous, which described the major chapter events since Gamma Beta's installation on the University of New Mexico campus, April, 1918.

Entitled A Heritage Founded, the theme of the banquet, this verse was read by six different members, each representing one decade, or period. The night before the banquet the 50 year olds were guests of honor at a small party given by Myrl Hope Sisk which was preceded by a "Happy Hour" at the home of Millie Marshall Hyder.

Closing the festivities of the gala week-end was a brunch given at the chapter house the morning after the banquet. A gold charm engraved with 1918-1968 was presented to each charter member present. Those missing from the brunch received their gifts at a later time. Chairmen for this final event attended by over 150 alumnae and actives were Louise Cox Marron and Diana Wolf Kinney.

Banquet planners Karen Amorous and Linda Keleher.

It was a happy day for Gamma Betas, active and alumnae.

Panhellenic honors two

Miss Hewitt, Sally Foster, and Mrs. Amey at the luncheon.

The Medford, Oregon Kappas requested permission to honor 75 year member Margaret Hewitt, B T-Syracuse, at the spring Panhellenic luncheon. Liking the idea, nine 50 year sorority women were recognized, including Kappa Muriel Thomas Amey, I I-Whitman.

Miss Hewitt told the 100 odd guests of her 1892 initiation into Kappa, her graduation from Wellesley and her years of teaching English at Wellesley before her retirement.

Five reach fifty

The Detroit Association presented five new 50 year pins during the past year to Norma Wight Lee, Ruth Jennings, Marguerite Chapin Maire, Rose Sturmer Swanson, all B Δ-Michigan, and Helen Linnard Osband, B P⁴-Cincinnati.

Vancouver awards fleur-de-lis

Miriam Smith Gaiser, I I-Whitman, was awarded the fifty year pin by the Vancouver Alumnae Club. Present at the ceremony were two Kappa relatives of Mrs. Gaiser's, Hulda Gaiser Gilmore, I I-Whitman, and daughter-in-law Nadine Willard Gaiser, B II-Washington. Mrs. Gaiser, charter member of Gamma Gamma, told of the early years of the chapter.

Roswell honors Mrs. Kyte

Frances Bear Kyte, I B-New Mexico, was presented her 50 year pin by the Roswell, New Mexico Alumnae last spring.

Indiana State Day honors six

1893 initiate honored

Columbus aids orphanage

The Columbus, Ohio, alumnae have answered a plea from Vietnam. Lt. Millard B. Byrne, son of Nancy Weyrick Byrne, B X-Kentucky, asked his mother if she would contact anyone who would be interested in helping the refugee program in Vietnam. The Columbus Kappas have responded with many items of clothing and cash contributions. Mrs. Byrne has shipped 157 pounds to the St. Elizabeth Orphanage which writes of its deep gratitude. Lt. Byrne must travel through territory that is partially held by the Viet Cong to deliver the packages.

Oregon's first lady speaks

Audrey Owen McCall, Γ H-Washington State, and wife of Governor Thomas McCall spoke on her interesting life as Oregon's First Lady before alumnae gathered for State Day. One hundred Kappas from Portland, Eugene, Corvallis and Salem attended the luncheon.

Husbands surprised with night out

"Chartered—KKG Husbands Party," read the sign on the racing bus which took Hutchinson Kappas and husbands to a gala dinner. Surprising their husbands with a night out proved to be one of the group's most successful parties.

Pi Phi alumnae were also lucky enough to be feted at a Kappa dinner. Festivities included Kappa songs and blue key decorations.

In between parties, the alumnae put in many hours sewing, cooking and creating for their Boutique. Items included a variety of goodies from the Kappa Kitchens, children's handmade clothes, decorative felt items and a doll house made and furnished by the alumnae.

Dallas aids blind

Thanks to scholarships from the Dallas Association three blind students may continue their education this year. Last year Kappas gave more than 300 volunteer hours at the Dallas Services for the Blind Children, binding 5,000 braille volumes and duplicating them on thermoform machines. Junior alumnae group members spent additional hours working with the pre-school children's program.

Careers in the sky

World resident Margaret Ann Hoffman (top left), B Δ-Michigan State is aboard Clipper flights to Hawaii, Tokyo, and to Latin America and to Europe. Before her training she lived in Europe and Australia. Her fluent Spanish serves her well on her overseas flights. Karen Lee Schrieber, E Δ-Arizona State (center left), was a member of the Neiman-Marcus sales staff before joining Pan American airlines. She is jetting to London, Paris and Frankfurt. Caribbean, Africa and flights to the Middle East are served by Monita Lee Calhoun, B Δ-Michigan (center right). Domestic flights from Los Angeles are the flight pattern for Jeannette Walmsley, Γ Z-Arizona (top right). At the side is Martha Elizabeth Davis, Δ A-Penn State, who is also commuting across the Atlantic aboard Pan American. She was valedictorian of her class at the International Stewardess College. Ceci Nowack, E B-Colorado State (below) is hostess with the TWA airlines, based in New York City.

Historic home sold by Bennetts

The historic "White Hall," home of the Civil War abolitionist Cassius Marcellus Clay, has been sold to the Commonwealth of Kentucky. The estate and surrounding acreage was sold for a token sum by the Clay heirs, Esther B. Bennett, B X-Kentucky, and her brother Warfield Bennett, Jr. It is hoped that restoration towards a historic shrine will be made possible by the Department of Parks.

Two chosen state mothers

An Eastern and Western state have chosen Kappa alumnae to receive the award of State Mother. Oklahoma selected Margaret Vessels Love, B Θ-Oklahoma, while New York chose Lucile Leonard LeSourd, P^A-Ohio Wesleyan.

Mrs. Love, mother of seven children, says she has just one hard and fast rule for raising children, "Don't make hard and fast rules." Basic principles should be understood but Mrs. Love feels each child is an individual and parents must understand each one. An outstanding Catholic lay leader, Margaret Love received the papal decoration "Lady of the Holy Sepulchre" in 1967. When a measles epidemic struck Guatemala last year Mrs. Love made a trip to that country with Mrs. Dewey Bartlet, wife of the Governor of Oklahoma. On returning they sponsored a successful drive to raise funds for additional medical facilities for the people of Guatemala.

Born in Iowa and educated in Ohio, Mrs. LeSourd, has spent much of her time working for her church and in the field of education. She is the author of several Missionary program books and has received three important honors: the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters by Nasson College, a special citation by the Women of Korea for "The Church and Club Woman who has done the most to promote better relations between the women of Korea and America," and a citation from Madame Chiang Kai Shek "for her Humanitarian effort on behalf of the colleges of China." Lucile LeSourd established Kappa Phi, National Methodist Girl's Club, and served as president of the New England Methodist Women. Mrs. LeSourd is also on Governor Rockefeller's Committee on the Status of Women.

State DAR elects Kappas

Three alumnae have been elected to the Executive Board of the Florida State Society, Daughters of the American Revolution. Helen Frankenberg, Γ Ω-Denison, Katherine Farber Futch, Γ Θ-Drake, and Marjorie Meggs Gowin, Δ K-U. of Miami, have held many top positions in the DAR as well as in Kappa alumnae work.

Recognition for prison work

In her 51 years of working with young people, Eleanor Runk Reppert, B I-Swarthmore, has totaled up an impressive list of accomplishments. As Director of Education at the Clinton Farms, the New Jersey State Reformatory for women, Mrs. Reppert established an extensive education program which allowed the girls to complete a high school education. The Pennsylvania Association of Women's Deans and Counselors awarded her a citation in 1967 for her work in education. She has been a long time worker in the Girl Scout program (Mrs. Reppert has six daughters) and is now on the Philadelphia council. Mrs. Reppert was also a former Dean of Women at Bucknell University. Now recently retired, she will serve as alumnae secretary for the Abington Friends School.

With a little bit of luck

Emma Fisher Hawes, Ψ-Cornell, gives lady luck a share of the credit for her trip to Deauville, France this past year. Mrs. Hawes was one of the four members on the United States Bridge team who competed in the Bridge Olympiad held in Deauville. She says that luck as well as skill enters into the winning of a game. The Ft. Worth alumna began playing bridge when she was a child. The American team came in third, winning a bronze medal which was presented in Olympic tradition. The players were called to a platform where the medal was awarded and they remained standing during the playing of The Star Spangled Banner.

Emma Fisher Hawes, bridge whiz

Marjorie Crume Bynum, Ω-Kansas, is the new president of the Ft. Worth Mothers Club. An enthusiastic worker for Kappa, Mrs. Bynum has served as president of the Alumnae association and also as adviser to Epsilon Alpha chapter at Texas Christian. Daughter Karen is a member of Beta Xi chapter at Texas.

Mrs. Sand

Mrs. Knepper

Mrs. McCanse

Mrs. Brown

Margaret Cole Sand, B M-Colorado, has received two high honors in the field of education. Dr. Sand was tapped for honorary membership in Mortar Board, and received one of the ten Distinguished Teaching Awards given by the graduating seniors of the San Diego State College, where she is assistant professor of Psychology. Past president of the San Diego Alumnae association, Dr. Sand is at present chairman of the Centennial Fund committee of San Diego and a sponsor of the Opera and Symphony Guilds. She is a recipient of a Research Grant from San Diego State Foundation.

An outstanding Kappa alumna, Blanche Fishback Galey, Δ E-Rollins, daughter of Lillian Wilcott Fishback, Δ E-Rollins, has been named a Distinguished Daughter of Pennsylvania. This high honor is presented annually to a few women whose contributions to their State have been of great value. "Bege" Galey's goal of service has resulted in numerous significant contributions to Pittsburgh. President of the Junior League from 1951-1954, she initiated members as volunteers to visit Mayview State Hospital. She became the first President of the Board of the Information and Volunteers Agency.

She was appointed a member of DACOWITS (Defense Advisory Committee of Women in Service) by then Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson. Mrs. Galey is an artist as well as an executive, and has won numerous prizes for her paintings and sculptures. She promoted both the Pittsburgh Plan for Art, as well as the Art Caravan, a school lending program and has been President of the Women's Committee of the Museum of Art at Carnegie Institute.

Sarah Minton Knepper, Γ I-Washington U., a member of the St. Joseph, Missouri, School Board for over 20 years has been elected president of the Board for the third time. She has also been on the Library Board for the past four years.

Mrs. Hosteller

Mrs. Howard

Martha Thomson Barclay, B Θ-Oklahoma, has received her Doctorate degree in Speech and Theatre from the University of Minnesota.

Believing in the importance of teaching gifted children while they are young, Mary Jean Koritz Greenwood, B A-Illinois, founded the Greenwood Country Day School with special classes for children with exceptional intelligence. Located in Peoria, Illinois, the Greenwood school has an enrollment of between 80 and 90 children and offers an accelerated program of study. Mrs. Greenwood is also working on her Doctorate in Education and does volunteer work for cerebral palsied adults.

Hobbies can lead quite naturally into volunteer jobs and then to work on a professional basis. For Jessie Hill McCanse, Θ-Missouri, an interest in writing and radio has meant better programming for a Madison radio station. Mrs. McCanse has been in charge of a fifteen minute weekly program assigned to the Wisconsin Association for Better Broadcasts.

As the daughter of A. Ross Hill, president of the University of Missouri while she was growing up, Mrs. McCanse has held an interest in education. She has written correspondence courses for USAFI and still writes courses in history and government for the University of Wisconsin Extension. Mrs. McCanse has served on the national board of the YWCA since 1956 and is now national vice-president.

Three Ft. Worth Kappas have been spotlighted by local papers for their civic duties and activities.

Betty McPherson Brown, B E-Texas, was featured in an article in the Press which told of her work for preservation of historical Texas buildings. As chairman of the Markers committee she spoke before the Commissioners Court and was allotted $1,000 to mark historical sites. Mrs. Brown is also president of the Junior League.

President of the Ft. Worth Junior Woman's Club is former Kappa alumnae president Patricia Dean Boswell, I Φ-Southern Methodist. The Star-Telegram reported Mrs. Boswell's interest and work with the mentally retarded children in Ft. Worth and other cities.

Carolyn Culver Munn, B E-Texas, was also featured in the Press as treasurer of the Ft. Worth Junior League.

Jonelle G. Goss, B T-Syracuse, has received her Doctor of Medicine degree from the State University of New York, Upstate Medical Center College of Medicine. As a medical student she was awarded a Kappa Fellowship, was selected for the Grace Legendre Fellowship by the Business and Professional Women and received the Samon Foundation Fellowship for research in the field of endocrinology while a medical student. As a senior she was selected to attend the National Convention of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. She was commended by the Medical School Academic Committee for her outstanding work during her clinical years of study. Dr. Goss is currently a member of the house staff at St. Joseph's hospital in Syracuse. She will begin a residency program in July at The Johns Hopkins Hospital of The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine in Baltimore Maryland.

A university elementary school teacher, Beverly Brenner Strong, Δ-Indiana, will be watching her "pounds" during the next year when she goes to England as part of a teacher exchange program sponsored by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. A preschool teacher, Mrs. Strong is teaching 5 year olds at Cockington County Primary School in Torquay, about 200 miles southwest of London.

Bexley, a Columbus, Ohio suburb, chose the family of Edith Mae Hamilton Herrel, B N-Ohio State, as the Outstanding Bexley Family of the Year, an award presented annually by the Woman's Club. The award is based on the family's participation in civic, church, school and cultural activities and the stress is on "togetherness." The Herrel family includes father, Mike, Dan, 16, Mike Jr., 15, and Nancy Sue, 14.

Two B T-Syracuse members, Jeanette Ross Howard, and Kay Walker Rossman, were among the 11 Syracuse women honored as 1968 Women of Achievement by The Post-Standard. Mrs. Howard was cited in the Career field for her excellent work in organizing and conducting the Volunteer Service department of Syracuse Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Howard has worked with the Red Cross blood donor service, and Planned Parenthood, in addition to her many services at Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Rossman received her award in the field of Volunteer Service. It was through her foresight and executive training that the Literacy Volunteers Inc. became a viable project. She is a trustee of Syracuse Memorial hospital, a board member of Irwin Methodist Church, active in the Volunteer Center and the Girl Scouts junior leadership program.

An honorary Doctor of Laws degree was bestowed on Alice Watts Hostetler, I-DePauw, by Hood College at commencement last June for her contributions to the "civic and political life" of the State of Maryland. Mrs. Hostetler has been a member of her political party's State Central committee, a member of the Maryland House of Delegates, a delegate to the Presidential Nominating convention and president of the Democratic National Woman's club.

Trailblazer award winner for 1968 of the Northern California chapter of the National Home Fashions League is Gladys Miller, I M-Oregon State, a Kappa Alumnae Achievement award holder in the field of interior decoration.

The Sertoma Club's award to a non member for outstanding community service was presented to Helen Overstreet Russell, Σ-Nebraska. She has served more than 19,000 hours as a volunteer at Veteran's Hospital in Lincoln, Nebraska. She is currently supervisor of volunteer activities at the hospital for the American Legion Auxiliary.

Patricia L. Mansfield, I I-Washington U., is the president of the Women's Advertising Club of St. Louis. An account executive of Batz-Hodgson-Neuwœhner, Inc., Miss Mansfield has been twice named Advertising Woman of the Year in St. Louis. She is a charter member and board of governors member of the St. Louis Chapter of Academy of Television Arts and Sciences; past president and current board member of the Adult Education Council; secretary of the Girl Scouts of Greater St. Louis and member of two hospital and church promotional committees.

The new president of San Diego College for women is Sister Nancy Morris, II^A-California. The Los Angeles Times carried an article on Sister Morris and the work she is doing at the college which is operated by the Religious of the Sacred Heart. Student freedom has been increased, and student discipline has been turned back to the girls, resulting in a strong, effective student government. She is working on an article, "There Was Light: Autobiography of a University" to be published by 1970.

The temporary job of "helping her husband" led to a full time career and now election to the highest office in her field. Elizabeth Swift Brown, B E-Texas, has been elected the new president of the National Home Fashions League, an organization of 1500 women devoted to promote good taste, design and fashion in the home furnishings field. Mother of three sons, Mrs. Brown studied art, design and interior decoration in night school to catch up in courses related to her husband's flooring company. Her ideas for unusual floors may come to her when she is "washing dishes or camping with the family."

Frances Ann Kunkle, Δ Δ-Miami U., has been appointed Assistant Dean of Women and Panhellenic Adviser at the University of Arizona.

Joanne Kelly, II^A-California is the president of the Alameda County Mental Health Guild.

The new public relations manager of the U.S. Consumer Products of the Singer Company's North Atlantic Consumer Products Group is Pamela Johnson, Δ M-Connecticut. Miss Johnston will be responsible for the publicity program of the company's sewing, home entertainment, floor care and home office equipment. She is vice-president of the women's division of the New York City Jaycees.

Kentucky's "Mother of the Year" is Beta Chi's Minnie Peterson Swinford, mother of five children and wife of Judge Mac Swinford, chief judge of the U.S. District Court in Eastern and Western Kentucky. Mrs. Swinford practiced law before her marriage, is known for her warm and gracious manner and is active in many civic organizations.

"When you volunteer, don't be bashful about your talents" is the word UCLA Alumna of the Year, Alis Wheaton Alshuler, I E-California at Susan Eileen Romans, performing in The Owl and the Pussycat.

Susan Clark, B A-Pennsylvania, works in the public relations department of the Philadelphia Museum of Art. She is shown here with Charles Willson Peale's, "The Staircase Group."

Los Angeles, gives to women searching for meaningful volunteer service. Named for the alumnae award along with comedienne Carol Burnett, Mrs. Alshuler has used her talents in many phases of community service, not only serving on boards of organizations but founding others to fill a need. She is the recipient of the Gold Key and Hourglass awards, a founding member of the Volunteer League of the San Fernando Valley and the Mary Duque Guild of Children's Hospital of Los Angeles, past president of UCLA Gold Shield.

Pauline Vonnegut Eck, Δ-Indiana, is professor at the St. Petersburg Junior College. She has developed a hobby of giving travelogues from her world travels.

Susan Eileen Romans, Γ K-William and Mary, has played in many theatrical productions in the Richmond, Virginia area. At the Barksdale Theatre she starred in The Owl and the Pussycat and danced at the Virginia Museum Theatre in Dark of the Moon. She has also been in several productions at the Swift Creek Mill Playhouse. Miss Romans has made an educational film for Coronet Films and has taught English and drama in high school. She is now completing an assistantship in the Graduate School of Speech and Drama at the University of Maryland.

Virginia Rogers Ferris, Ω-Kansas, has been elected vice-president and president-elect of the Society of Nematologists, an international organization of university and industrial scientists working in nematology (study of nematoid parasites). Dr. Ferris is assistant professor of entomology at Purdue University.

A Miami University alumna has opened a college real estate office in Oxford Ohio. Nancy Saylor Crell Δ Δ-Miami U., plans to specialize in residential properties.

Shelia Murphy Aldrich, E Δ-Arizona State, American Airlines hostess, has been selling some of her art work in San Francisco.

Cathy Suarez Wrightson, E Δ-Arizona State, is the proud wife of a gold medal winner for the three meter spring board diving in the Olympics at Mexico City last summer.

Mary Ainsworth Aikins, Ω-Kansas, placed third in the 1967 Women's Division of the National Aerobatics Competition, and was selected as Women's alternate for the United States Aerobatics team for International competition.

Katherine Evans Whitman, Ψ-Cornell, lives in Norwalk, Connecticut where she helps run the Silvermine Tavern, an old New England Inn.

Tudy Youngberg Stuart, Ω-Kansas, has been working in Lawrence, in a program called "Small World". She and her young daughter help foreign mothers and their pre-school children get adjusted to the American-way-of-life. Teaching them how to shop, how to use money, how to speak English are some of the projects this program includes.

Mary Ann Pulse McCray, Δ-Indiana, has just been appointed to the position of college relations representative for Cummins Engine Company, Inc. of Columbus, Indiana, world's largest independent producer of diesel engines.

Marguerite Wykoff Zapoleon, B P Δ -Cincinnati, one of Kappas Alumnae Achievement Award winners unable to be present at the 1968 General Convention, was presented the award by the Ft. Lauderdale Alumnae Association at the Founders' Day luncheon. Shown with Mrs. Zapoleon are Rosemary Reed Freeze, T II-Alabama, and Ruth Wykoff Grassmuck, B P Δ -Cincinnati, right. In addition Ethel Jamieson O'Brien, B Δ -Illinois, and Katherine Hahn Sanders, Δ -Indiana, were to have received 50 year pins at the meeting. The former was unable to be present because of illness and Mrs. Sanders who is now manufacturing a gadget for folding fitted sheets had to leave. Both have since received them.

Two from Butler

Two Kappas from Mu Chapter have made outstanding contributions to their respective fields.

Butler Kappa, Bette Bannon has spurred her community into building a home for homeless girls. Through her work as attendance officer in Kokomo schools, Miss Bannon realized the need for a home for girls who receive no guidance in their own homes or whose living conditions there make it impossible to stay. Enlisting the support of community leaders, civic groups and the churches, Miss Bannon saw the rise of a lovely home for these girls in just three years. "Friendship Home" in Kokomo is now complete, giving homeless girls in the community a chance to become better citizens.

Another Butler alumna is the recipient of the University's highest honor, the coveted Butler medal for distinguished service to the University was given to Professor Nancy Moore, associate professor of English.

According to the citation given by Mrs. Alexander E. Jones, wife of the president of Butler, and a member of Alpha Phi, Professor Moore is known as a "tough" professor by her students, one that they respect and admire. No stranger to honors, Nancy Moore has been twice named as one of the school's Top Ten Professors and was chosen as Butler's Outstanding Professor in 1963. The faculty honored her with the Baxter Award for Distinguished Teaching. She is chairman of the executive committee of the Board of Directors of Winona Memorial Hospital and a Trustee of St. Richard's School.

Other Honors for Kappas

Chairman of Graduate Counselor Scholarships, Marjorie Matson Converse, T Δ -Purdue, received the Rochester, New York award, "Club Woman of the Year." The award is given by the Times-Union in conjunction with its annual Women's Club guide. Mrs. Converse, as president of the Women's Club of Rochester, will help guide the program of the club this year towards "Focus on Youth." She has been president of both the Rochester City Panhellenic and the Rochester Yacht Club. She also has been active in Girl Scouting and PTA.

Governor Mills E. Godwin, Jr. of Virginia has appointed Daphne Lowell Dailey, T N-Arkansas, vice-president of the Bank of Virginia, to a new nine-member Advisory Committee on Emergency Services. The group will advise the State Board of Health on regulations for the operation of ambulances.
