A CALL FROM THE FIRING LINE

DOROTHY CANFIELD FISHER

Dorothy Canfield Fisher is not only the best woman writer in America, but she is the best of patriots, and the best of Kappas.

She is now the cook at the new training camp in the war-zone for Americans who volunteer for ambulance service. And she has written us a letter.

We have a "beat" that will make Harper's and Century and Scribner's jealous.

Crouy-sur-Ourcq,
Seine-et-Marne,
July 30th, 1917.

Dear Girls:

I've been asked to write an "article" for THE KEY. I couldn't do that in these days any more than you could thread a needle in the midst of a tornado, but if you'll take just a letter from me, I'll be more than glad to get into touch with you all, and very proud to think that you care to hear from me. Only I warn you I'm writing it a mile-a-minute, and can't stop for revision, so you mustn't be surprised if there are verbs and nouns without their usual accompaniments of subjects and predicates. If anybody is going to be shocked by bad grammar, she must stop right now and go and read some De Quincy! I'm too busy to be bothered with such trifles!

You see I have a new job, and it's quite a big one, and a very interesting one, and it doesn't leave me a great deal of time to look after the two children who are very bouncing and lively and need considerable looking after. But first, let me tell you a little bit about how we Fishers came to be over here at all.

You know I was partly brought up in France, and have lived here off and on a good deal, so that it's a second home. The outbreak of the war seemed like the end of the world to me. I had loved Germany too, and had lived there, and for that reason there was an added bitterness to the horror for me. I'll never forget the day I stood on our front porch at Arlington, on the slope of the big mountain, and read in the headlines that Belgium had been invaded. The very ground seemed to drop away from under my feet and when I looked up, I remember how like a mirage our peaceful, green valley looked, so unchanged by what had changed all the world to me. But my little boy was only a few months old then, it was out of the question to leave him or to take him along. My husband (who felt quite as I did) and I worried along as best we could, through many painful months of "neutrality" until we couldn't stand it any longer. Little Jimmy by that time had grown into a big, hearty, healthy child who didn't look as though he could be hurt by traveling . . . and so we came. Mr. Fisher went into the American Ambulance Field Service, and went out to the front near Verdun. It was the very first separation since our marriage eight years ago, and I can tell you, it was a very dismal time for me; although I was ashamed to confess it because it was nothing compared to what my friends were suffering all round me here. It is true my husband was in danger, was replacing tires under shell-fire, and all the other trying circumstances possible, was spending whole days in the "abris" with German shells falling all around it, and was driving night after night over shell-ruined roads, without any lights at all, to and from the front . . . but he wasn't in the front-line trenches liable to be sent over the top at any moment; so I said nothing about my anxieties to any Frenchwoman.

I established myself with the children in an apartment in Paris, and went to see Miss Winifred Holt, who has done so much for the blind in New York. Her father is Mr. Henry Holt, my publisher and also my good old friend. He had said to me when I left New York, "Now go and see Winifred," so I did.

I found her beset with difficulties of all kinds, too long to mention and anyhow the Censor wouldn't let them pass. She wanted help badly, and especially she wanted it for the organizing and directing of a Braille printing-press to give the war-blind the kind of reading they ought to have. You see, their case is quite different from the usual blind. They are men who have always had the use of their eyes; active, forward-looking young men, who were perhaps planning to be lawyers; or were half-way through their course in architecture; or had started in to fit themselves to be professors, when the war broke out. Miss Holt's establishment, which is called "Le Phare de France," "The French Lighthouse," is especially for cases of men who had had a good education and who did not want to learn how to make baskets or scrubbing-brushes . . . which are the industries usually taught to the war-blind of the working classes. Miss Holt left for New York shortly after this, to gather funds for the Lighthouse in Paris, and if she ever comes your way, please be good to her. She's doing a great work.

So there I was, with a few machines, no experience, and no experienced help. It would take me from now till Christmas to tell you of all the ups and downs of that winter's work . . . by far the hardest I ever put in. Sometimes I thought it was all going straight to destruction, that I never would be able to get it in shape. Sometimes I was quite encouraged and thought, maybe, if I killed myself with working at it, I could get something accomplished. I didn't kill myself, because here I am, but I certainly did get a lot of new gray hairs and fresh crops of wrinkles in my face. But it was worth it. For the printing department now is zooning along, with a staff of workers who have learned their trade; a monthly magazine in Braille is being issued, which is having a fine success; about three books a month are being published; and a good many readers say that we are producing as good Braille (if not better) as almost anybody else in France. You can just imagine how well paid I feel for the work I put into that cussed machine-shop. (Pardon the adjective, but I did have such a time wrestling with machinery, about which I know very little and was never taught a thing! If I had my education to do over again, I'd certainly take a course in shop-work.) Of course I didn't begin to do all that alone! I had the best encouragement and help from the Directress of the main part of the Phare; but she was just as busy and wild over the complications of her job, which involved direct contact with the blinded men, as I was over the endless complications of mine. We could, for the most part, only wave a friendly greeting at each other as we rushed around; and meet for an occasional council of war, as to ways and means. Beside Mlle. de Villedon, the Directress, I had lots of good help, too, from volunteer workers, some Americans but mostly French, for of course it was work where Americans couldn't be as useful as French people, on account of the language. When you take into consideration that in addition to having a very good knowledge of French, good enough to be sure about spelling, punctuation, etc., most of the workers had to have a knowledge of the raised-type alphabet, Braille, you can see why I couldn't send over to a group of you and beg you to come and help me out.

I felt so keenly that the work ought to be entirely in the hands of French people, who would know French tastes in reading matter and all the finesse of French printing, that for some time I have been casting about to see whom I could get to replace me when I went back to the States. It was hard to do, but finally I had the good luck to persuade my friend, Mme. Fischbacher, the daughter-in-law of the Paris publisher of that name, to become Directress of the Printing Department in my place. She is a very clever, highly educated woman (who by the way has done the translations of those books of mine which have appeared in France). She was to have taken the work over gradually, but the middle of last June, my husband came home from a trip to the front in the Vosges Mountains, and was told at the headquarters of the American Ambulance Field Service, that they wanted him to go out into the war-zone, organize and direct the new training camp for the American volunteers who come over for the ambulance service. At the same time they asked me if I would take charge of the "Ravitaillement" . . . which means in English "getting the boys enough to eat." I rushed out to see Mme. Fischbacher to see if she would take charge at once of the direction of the printing department; she gasped and caught her breath at the suddenness of it . . . but in war times you get used to assuming suddenly responsibilities you wouldn't have dared to look at, in ordinary days. She said she would, and I started her in on an intensive course of learning in two weeks everything it had taken me months and months to learn. At the same time I set in motion all the ponderous machinery for getting the "sauf-conduit" which would let me come with the children out into the war-zone. In about two weeks that arrived, I left Mme. Fischbacher somewhat alarmed over her new responsibilities but very gamely standing up to them, and packed hastily for a family of two children, three grown-ups and two birds. . . yes, I traveled with a bird-cage . . . Shades of my ancient scorn for people who made such a spectacle of themselves.

You see, it's this way. Everybody thought we were crazy to bring young children to a war-ridden land, and there was, in fact, some danger that they might be saddened by being in the midst of such sorely tried people as these heroic French. So I have just laid myself out to keep their home-life entirely normal and sunny. If they like canaries (I loathe birds in cages myself), I let them have canaries. We now have two rabbits, three birds, three cats, ten hens . . . and a mixed assortment of all the children of the neighborhood playing all over the house all day long. BUT my two chicks are as rosy and hearty and exuberant as though we had stayed all this weary time in Vermont; and in addition they have learned to speak French just like English. So I don't think anybody need accuse their parents of sacrificing them to an exaggerated notion of duty, do you?

We came out to this quiet little country town, into an old, old house with a big walled garden. Nobody had lived in the house for some years and it needed some energetic arrangements to make it habitable. But it is a nice old place, facing south, with a tangled, lovely garden where the children and their little friends play all day long happily, their cheerful chatter mingling with the far-distant boom of the heavy guns on the horizon. They never hear it, but I do. . . and I have to work hard to make myself tired enough to sleep at night. When the guns sound, that means such unimaginable suffering for the men in the trenches. . . on both sides!

But I have to work hard, which is a very good thing. In the American Ambulance training camp the numbers vary from thirty to a hundred and sixty, vary suddenly and without warning. If you think it is easy to housekeep for that number . . . under those conditions. . . and being seventeen miles from the nearest big town. . .and with war-prices going higher every minute. . .and with American tastes in food differing so from French tastes—well, you're mistaken. But it is such easy work compared to the trying, nervous strain of the work for the blind. These hearty, healthy American boys just rest me to look at them, after the mutilated, disheartened, blinded men, in spite of all their indomitable courage! We have five cooks at the camps, nice French country-women who are all good friends of mine, and we have a fixed sum per man to spend. You would laugh to see us putting our heads together, to see me in a big apron, before a much interested audience of cooks, making some hearty, inexpensive American dish, like salmon loaf, or scalloped potatoes, or rice pudding. We make it, counting exactly the ingredients, see how many men can be served, and figure out the exact cost to a centime of serving any given dish. Already we have found ever so many changes to ring on the everlasting beef, BEEF, BEEF which is the usual army food everywhere. Why don't they have women for army cooks anyhow I wonder? So far as I know, my staff and I are the only women cooking for a military organization in France. . .but that may not be exact. One knows little of what is going on outside of one's own regular routine in one's own little corner. But I've heard of women ambulance drivers and women carpenters, and women orderlies, but not of women military cooks. It sounds like the foolish way things are generally run in this world, doesn't it?

Now please, will you do something for me? I appeal to you as members of my own family. This is the case. Mme. Fischbacher (the one who is taking my place at the Phare) lives in Bellevue-Meudon, a suburb of Paris. She has been terribly impressed by the sufferings of the children there, due to war-conditions. . .no, not war-orphans, everybody is helping them. . .nor yet refugees, who are getting help from many and many an organization; but just children, children who are always inexpressibly precious to every nation, but who to France are the only hope she has for the future. Their fathers are at the front and have been for three years. Just think of that. That means that a little baby of three, has now become a school-child of six without seeing his father more than three or four times, without ever having had any help from his father in the family life. Their mothers work themselves into shadows trying to be father and mother both, and to be wage-earners into the bargain but they can't do it. Nobody could! And they aren't "helped" because their case is the normal, usual one in France. . . think of that!

Now Mme. Fischbacher wants to start a little work for the children in her own town, and she is partly laying that aside because I have pounced on her for the work at the Phare Printing Department. Won't you help me make it up to her and to the children of Bellevue. Why shouldn't all Kappas, if they want to have a special war work of their own, just "adopt" the little children among the poor of Bellevue. Mme. Fischbacher wants to start a place where clothes may be distributed. You must have lots of clothes that would do to make over for children; there must be (even after all the calls for refugees during the last three years and the splendid responses my dear country has made to those calls) there must be some shoes left over which little children could wear. There must be some of you who could send a little money. . . and if a lot of you sent ever so little it would make enough to pay a small wage to the women who would "make over" the clothes . . . thus getting the clothes for the children and giving work to the women, too. Aren't there some old playthings left in your attics, that would be better in some child's hands, making a little girl forget her father's danger? Can't you send some picture-books? And above all . . . of course . . . there's the need for money. But a little would go so far there. It would all every bit go to the children and their mothers, Mme. Fischbacher would see that every cent of it was spent with the utmost economy. It would just give the "margin" which means the differences between under nourishment and lowered vitality, and the sound health which means that France will have vigorous citizens to help repair the terrible damage wrought by this war.

Are some of you asking yourselves, I wonder, "Why should we give to far-away French children instead of to our own, who never have conditions exactly right." I don't mean to give "instead." Not for a moment. Do both! It is as though we should see a neighbor's family stricken down with some awful calamity, a long lingering sickness of the father for instance. We see the children neglected perforce, with not enough to eat, nor enough clothes to wear, and with never a moment of relaxation, or the joy without which children cannot grow strong. We do not neglect our own children, no, but we stretch a point or two, go without certain things, let the children wear old hair-ribbons and darn the stockings a little longer. . . and we take the children of our neighbor into our own family. We give them what we can spare, and above all we try to give them what good times we can manage. We invite them in to share in the small joys of our own little people.

Of course Bellevue is a small part of France, and France is a small part of the world where there is just now so much more even than the usual awful sum of suffering. But we are a group of women who know each other, who can act together, and here is a definite need which we can meet, a beginning of much-needed help which we can make. I do hope you're not all so tired with much giving that this will seem like one more trial. Give your imaginations full swing. Think of the little boy in Bellevue who, in order to get bread for his own breakfast, had to deliver bread all around the town at unearthly early hours in the morning. One morning when he was stumbling along in the fog, half-blinded by sleepiness and chilled to the marrow with insufficient food and clothing he was run over by a big cart and killed . . . he's just one. Think of the utter change it makes in children's lives not to have any father. Think of yourselves as their far-away aunts, why don't you . . . there, that's just the thing. Let's call ourselves the "Kappa Aunts of Bellevue"!

With affectionate greetings to you all.

DOROTHY CANFIELD FISHER.

All money contributions from "Kappa Aunts of Bellevue" will be gladly received and forwarded to Mme. Fischbacher by the Grand Vice-president, Sarah B. Harris, care Northwestern University School of Oratory, Evanston, Illinois. Since Dorothy Canfield Fisher is a member of Beta Nu Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma, that chapter has asked that they be allowed to take a special part in this work. Therefore, any children's shoes, toys, books, or clothing that might be made over for children may be sent to Columbus, Ohio, in care of Beta Nu Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma. The girls will see that all material is properly boxed and shipped to Mme. Fischbacher.

SARAH B. HARRIS.

Toronto (Beta Psi)

"This is Beta Psi's first opportunity to speak of the new bond of sympathy which has lately sprung up to unite us more closely than ever with our American sisters. The experience of war fought against a common enemy certainly has a great fraternizing influence. We feel the same pride and reverence for comrades whose quiet answer to the call of duty awakens in us a consciousness of some elemental trait more noble than we have hitherto conceived. Their matchless self-sacrifice opens before our eyes a broader vision and we realize more fully than ever before the power of 'a divinity that moves within.' To us is given the lighter task of 'carrying on' in the old order but a subtle change has come in our outlook on life and the purpose of education. The pride we feel and the pain we suffer all tend to establish a ground of common understanding and in these hours of tragedy the sacred feeling of friendship binding us is strengthened."

STAY AT COLLEGE

LETTER TO STUDENTS FROM THE BUREAU OF EDUCATION DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

To Women in Colleges, Universities, Normal Schools, and Technical Schools

It has been reported to me that many young women now in the colleges, universities, and normal schools of the United States may not return to continue their work at the beginning of the next school year, either because of their desire to serve their country in some capacity while it is in war or because of lack of money to pay expenses.

The country will need the services of many women of good native ability and education in the Red Cross and to take the places in the trades, industries, and professions made vacant by the volunteering or drafting of men for the army; and it is good to see the readiness and the willingness with which women are offering their services by thousands. Fortunately for us the rapid growth of our high schools and our liberal policy of higher education for women in the last two decades have given us something like two millions of women with high school education and several hundreds of thousands with the training of the colleges and normal schools. In this time of need they will more than repay the country for all the cost of their education.

For this very reason it should not now be necessary for any young woman to leave school, shorten the time and lessen the amount of her education that she may enter the immediate service of the country. For every one of the 190,000 young women in colleges, universities, and normal schools (approximately 100,000 in colleges and universities and 90,000 in normal schools) there must be two or three women having no less preparation who could enter the services of the country without breaking up homes or leaving more important work undone. It will be far better for the country that these go and that the supply of educated and trained women shall not be cut off in the earlier years of the war. If the war is long there will be need before it is ended for all the trained women our schools can turn out. Even if all are continued at their full capacity there will be need for them in fields of service where as yet there is little or no need.

When the war is over the world must be rebuilt with greater wisdom and more skill than have gone into the building of the world that is now passing away in the horrors of war. In the new world women will play new rôles; they will take a more important part in industrial and professional life than they have taken in the past, and will have much greater and much more direct influence on the public policies of city, state, and nation. In our own country there will be need for a much higher level of general intelligence than we have yet attained, and to our country will come from all the world greater demands for both men and women of education and training than has ever come to any country at any time. Therefore, all young women who would serve their country and the world most effectively in this time of their greatest need should take advantage of every possible opportunity to gain preparation for it. No one should leave school or college for any service which can be given as well by another whose preparation for greater service will not be prevented thereby. To prevent any having to leave because of lack of means to pay expenses, colleges should reduce their expenses and the cost of living as much as possible, and societies and individuals should endow temporary scholarships or lend money to students at low rates of interest until they can repay it.

I do not forget, nor would I have anyone forget, that necessary immediate service to the country must have precedence over all else. But when the immediate service can be rendered by others, those who are preparing for such services as cannot be rendered by most should continue their preparation with as little interruption as possible.

Therefore, I make this appeal to all young women in college, university, normal school, and technical school who can do so to continue their studies to graduation so that they may be prepared to render the fullest and best service in the years of war if they continue and in the years of peace which will surely come.

Yours sincerely,

P. P. CLAXTON,
Commissioner of Education.

A message of greeting from Eva Powell, Grand President 1912-1916, was read.

The Grand President gave the following report:

REPORT OF THE GRAND PRESIDENT

Greeting:

This year of 1916-17 has seen the establishment of a new chapter; the formation of several new alumnae associations; the completion of the Songbook; the issue of a Kappa Calendar; four issues of THE KEY and a goodly number of $5 payments on life subscriptions to THE KEY; twenty-three chapters and fifteen alumnae associations visited by some member of the Grand Council, also four petitioning groups; the appointment of six Province Presidents and a Director of Catalogue; forty-seven Grand Council votes and two chapter votes; three dismissals and six local Panhellenic difficulties—in three of these Kappa Kappa Gamma was the offender and had to suffer penalty for breaking rushing rules.

Through the reports of the Province Presidents, sent to the Grand Council twice a year, and through our own visits we feel that we have come very close to the chapters during the year.

A History of Kappa Kappa Gamma is in the making.

We need a new catalogue—our present one is already out of date. I hope the 1918 convention will see fit to order that one be published.

Chapter scholarship reports range from highest to lowest among the fraternities in the respective colleges, but most of the chapters hold second or third place. I wish Kappa might always be among those at the top if not at the very top. Several Phi Beta Kappas have been reported—one was awarded during the girl's junior year.

It is really wonderful how many Kappas have made use of the Students' Aid Fund this year. The fund has grown, but not as rapidly as we should like to have it if it is to be $10,000 by 1920. Let us all get behind it and give it a boost with our dollars and cents!!

Respectfully submitted,

LYDIA VORIS KOLBE.

It was moved and seconded to accept the report.

The Grand Registrar gave the following report:

REPORT OF THE GRAND REGISTRAR

During the fall of 1916 every chapter of the fraternity was sent all corrections made in the Book of Ritual at the 1916 convention, all corrections in Constitution and Standing Rules, and each chapter was supplied the part or parts lacking in the respective rituals. Several chapters were sent complete rituals.

At the request of the Grand President, the Grand Registrar acted as chairman of a Panhellenic Alumnae Board at the University of Missouri to investigate the antifraternity bill which was to be brought up in the legislature. This bill was killed in the committee.

Spring examinations and archive report blanks were sent and returned on time.

The necessary archives and materials for Book of Ritual were sent to the Gamma Alpha Chapter at the time of installation.

The material for Book of Ritual (or Province President archives) was sent to the President of Gamma Province. After being advised by the Grand President, the Grand Registrar gave the order for the Editor's Book of Ritual to Maybelle McCandless, Beta Mu, at the price of thirty ($30) dollars. This book will be completed by fall.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY RODES LEAPHART,

Grand Registrar.

It was moved and seconded to accept the report.

Motion to adjourn.

TUESDAY, JULY 3, 1917

Session was called to order by the Grand President at 9 A. M.

Roll call showed the following members of the Grand Council present: Grand President, Grand Vice-president, Grand Treasurer pro tem, Grand Registrar, Editor, and Grand Secretary.

The report of the Grand Treasurer was read by the Grand Treasurer pro tem.

The Editor of THE KEY reported her visits to Phi Chapter and to Beta Sigma. The following report was given:

REPORT OF THE EDITOR OF THE KEY

THE KEY has had no special changes in the editorial policy this year. The Alumnae Number published in February was an innovation. Lalah Randle Warner, who has conducted the "Kappas Known to Fame" department, was put on the title page of THE KEY as a member of the staff as "Department Editor" because it was felt that her work has been well done for three years and she was the only editor of a continued feature that was not designated as a member of the staff. Agnes England, the Editor's new deputy, writes the college notes.

The quality of paper in THE KEY has not been so good in the last three numbers, because the price of the former grade is prohibitive. The $5 KEY subscriptions of freshmen have proved a successful change.

KATHERINE TOBIN MULLIN,
Editor of THE KEY.

It was moved and seconded to accept the report.

The Grand Vice-president reported her visit to Delta Chapter.

The Grand Vice-president submitted the following report:

REPORT OF THE CUSTODIAN OF THE BADGE

During the year from June 15, 1916, to June 1, 1917, six hundred and twenty-four badge orders have been countersigned and forwarded. The coöperation which has been received from chapter secretaries, from active and alumnae members, and from their friends, has been a real stimulus. The one policy which I wish to call attention to most clearly is that badges for pledged members should be ordered delivered to the corresponding secretary of the chapter, to be received and held by her as the representative of the fraternity until the night of initiation. Remember that this is the only correct as well as the only dignified way.

CLEORA WHEELER,
Custodian.

It was moved and seconded to accept the report as amended.

Roll Call.

Minutes of the previous meetings were read and after minor corrections, were approved.

The report of the Finance Committee was given by the chairman, the Grand Treasurer pro tem.

REPORT OF THE FINANCE COMMITTEE

The Finance Committee recommends:

1. That we adopt the policy of strictest economy for the coming year—ordering as few things as possible, buying from one source when possible, so that we may secure the best rates and that we be particularly careful to preserve receipts for every article purchased.

2. That we use government stamped envelopes whenever possible.

3. That the Grand Treasurer be asked to thoroughly investigate the matter of sole jewelership and report to the Grand Council during March, 1918, what she finds relative to the matter.

4. That the minutes of this Council Session be printed in the October, 1917, KEY.

5. That we instruct the Director of the Catalogue to request chapters to submit a complete list of their alumnae—both names and addresses—preparatory to getting out a new directory during the next administration.

6. That the installation fee be $15 per capita for each charter member, but that the minimum fee be $150.

7. That the Grand Registrar be instructed to complete the files of the Province President's archives.

8. That the Director of the Catalogue be allowed to purchase a second-hand typewriter, the cost not to exceed $25.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ALUMNAE

The Committee on Alumnae presents the following recommendations:

1. That a charter be given to alumnae associations upon organization, the charter fee to be $1.

2. That a province alumnae officer be appointed for each province, said officers to be appointed in the same way and for the same term as province presidents. (See Standing Rule 35a.)

Duties of province alumnae officers shall be:

(a) To keep a card catalogue of all alumnae in her province.

(b) To collect alumnae annual tax and send to the Grand Treasurer.

* (c) To keep in touch with alumnae associations through letters and visits when authorized by the Grand President.

(d) To coöperate with the Grand Vice-president in organizing new associations in her province.

4. That a committee be appointed to make definite arrangements for our Fiftieth Anniversary Convention and report at the convention of 1918.

Upon motion, duly seconded, the report was accepted.

Session was called to order by the Grand President at 2:10 P. M.

The report of the Committee on Key Policy was read by the Editor.

REPORT OF THE KEY POLICY COMMITTEE

On account of the increased cost of everything in connection with the publication of THE KEY, it is necessary to reduce the size of the next volume, therefore it was decided that the October number omit all special articles, feature departments and chapter letters, and print only the minutes of this Council Session. The later KEYS of 1917-1918 will be of regulation size.

We have been for several years considering the advisability of having an advertising agent, and have now decided to adopt Mr. George Banta's offer.

It was moved, seconded, and carried to accept the report.

The Grand Treasurer pro tem read the report of the Committee on Convention.

REPORT OF THE CONVENTION COMMITTEE

The Committee recommends:

1. That on account of the unsettled condition of the country and because of the desire of the administration to be economical, that convention be held in the Middle West and that the Grand Treasurer be appointed to look up a place and secure rates.

2. That we recommend to the Committee on Recommendations to Chapters to embody in their letter to chapters, the following: That in view of the war, should there be no convention during this administration, what would be the desire of the chapters concerning the governing body of the 1918-1920 administration?

3. That we tentatively adopt the slogan "ON TIME" for the 1918 convention.

4. That in place of chapter reports we have the carrying out of the slogan in some manner planned by the Grand President and the Province Presidents.

5. That each Council officer act as hostess on some one day.

6. That the Grand Registrar take charge of Stunt Night at the 1918 convention.

The results of a study made as to what other fraternities do in regard to chapter reports at convention, was read by the Grand Registrar.

It was moved and seconded to accept the report as amended.

The Grand Registrar read the report of the Committee on Recommendations to Chapters. The report was amended, and upon motion was accepted as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON RECOMMENDATIONS TO CHAPTERS

The Committee recommends to chapters that:

1. They elect efficient chapter officers.
2. They impeach chapter officers who are delinquent in their respective offices.
3. The chapter registrar send to the Business Manager of THE KEY the names and addresses of all active members.
4. Read Standing Rule 40; 3a, 4, 5.
5. Each active member shall be required to have the same number of study hours as recitation hours each week.
6. They try to embody in the local Panhellenic rules the discouragement of sisters to fraternity members in rushing.
7. They try to adhere to Standing Rule 45.
8. Each chapter have a scholarship requirement for initiation.
9. Each chapter have an auditing committee which shall audit both the chapter and house books, this committee to report to the chapter once every month.
10. When looking for fraternity material look to the upper-classmen as well as the freshmen.
11. Encourage patriotism by doing something for your country.
12. Read Mr. P. P. Claxton's letter in the October, 1917, KEY.
13. That in view of the war, should there be no convention during the present administration, what will be the pleasure of the chapters concerning the executive body of the fraternity for 1918-1920?
14. The active chapters send to the alumnae chapters the names of all girls leaving school and going to the town of an association.
15. To live in spirit as well as letter the law in Panhellenic.
16. Members be careful not to divulge secret matter of the fraternity.
17. That the letter of instruction and ideals, to be written by the Grand President to the chapters, embody these recommendations and be sent the first of the college year, 1917.

Motion to adjourn.

THURSDAY, JULY 5, 1917

Session called to order by the Grand President at 7:20 A. M.

Roll call.

Minutes of the previous session were read and approved.

The report of the Panhellenic Committee was read by the Grand Vice-president. It was moved and seconded to accept the report as amended.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF PANHELLENIC POLICY

The Committee recommends:

1. That Kappa Kappa Gamma favors open rushing, but in colleges where conditions are such that the majority favor closed rushing, our chapters abide by the decision of local Panhellenic. Kappa Kappa Gamma is opposed to withdrawing from Panhellenic.

2. That to the Panhellenic ruling, "No girl who has broken her pledge or resigned from one fraternity shall be asked to join another for one calendar year from date of request for release" be added the following: When a girl is pledged to a fraternity and leaves college before she is initiated, her pledge shall become void upon her matriculation in another college.

3. That in order to have closer supervision of local Panhellenics, the National Panhellenic Congress adopt the province system of government and have province officers so that difficulties may be more quickly and easily settled.

4. That local alumnae must abide by the rules laid down by Panhellenics.

5. That Kappa Kappa Gamma favors a short rushing season but does not oppose sophomore pledging where it has been found successful.

6. That nonfraternity sisters of fraternity women be not allowed to rush.

7. That the N. P. C. Policy in regard to the rushing of high school girls be adopted as a definite ruling.

Session adjourned at 9 A. M. to have breakfast with the Grand President and Grand Vice-president of Pi Beta Phi.

FRIDAY, JULY 6, 1917

Session was called to order by the Grand President at 9 A. M.
Roll call.

The report of the Extension Committee was read by the Editor.
Upon motion the report was amended and was accepted as follows:

REPORT OF THE EXTENSION COMMITTEE

The Committee recommends:

1. That the fraternity have an extension committee consisting of the Grand Secretary as chairman, the President and Vice-president of the province in which the petitioning group is located, and an active member of the nearest chapter. The duties of the committee shall be: first, to send a list of instructions to petitioners; second, to investigate the standing of the college, and to investigate the personnel of the student body by visits and letters. After the unanimous vote of this committee the fraternity proceeds as follows: (Then follows Standing Rule 26.)

2. It is recommended that for Standing Rule 27b be substituted the following: The Grand Council's report shall include the Extension Committee's report.

3. That all expenses of the inspecting visitors to petitioning groups shall be paid by the National Treasury.

The petitioning locals at Hunter College, New York; University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, N. M.; Florida State College, Tallahassee, Florida; and at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana, were reported on.

The report of the Committee on Constitution and Standing Rules was read by the Grand Secretary. Upon motion, duly seconded, the report as amended was accepted as follows:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CONSTITUTION AND STANDING RULES

The Committee recommends:

1. That at next convention the office of Director of the Catalogue be discontinued and her duties be assigned to the Grand Registrar.

3. That under "Charters and New Chapters" a new section be added as follows: There shall be an extension committee consisting of the Grand Secretary as chairman, the President and Vice-president of the province in which the petitioning group is located, and an active member of the nearest chapter. The duties of this committee shall be: first, to send a list of "instructions to petitioners"; second, to investigate the standing of the college; third, to investigate the personnel of the student body by visits or letters. After a unanimous affirmative vote of this committee, the fraternity proceeds as follows: (Then follows Standing Rule 26.)

8. To Standing Rule 40, 3 (a) add: To send to the Director of Catalogue immediately upon election her name and college and home address.

9. To reword Standing Rule 51 as follows: "No student shall be initiated who has not filled the entrance requirements and who is not taking at least two-thirds ($2/3$) the required amount of work leading to an academic or an advanced degree."

10. That Standing Rule 59 be omitted.

11. That Standing Rule 65 be changed to read as follows: Annually, during March, the girls of the first, second, and third year membership in the fraternity shall be examined by the second, third, and fourth year members, respectively, who shall use questions sent out by the Grand Registrar not later than February first, etc. These papers shall be corrected, graded, and signed by their respective examiners, signed by the President, and sent with all sets of questions to the Grand Registrar for inspection, during the first week of April.

12. That next convention change Standing Rule 75 (d) as follows: Each alumnae association shall pay a per capita tax for each active member of fifty cents, with a minimum tax for each association of five dollars to be sent to the Grand Treasurer and to be taken from the local treasury.

13. To omit Standing Rule 75, 9.

14. That province alumnae officers, to be called Province Vice-presidents, be added to the province government, said officers to be appointed in the same way and for the same term as Province Presidents. (Standing Rule 35 a.)

15. To substitute for Standing Rule 27 b the following: The Grand Council's report shall include the Extension Committee's report.

16. That Standing Rule 56 be changed to read as follows: "The badge shall be secured only from firms authorized by the fraternity, and only upon presentation of an official badge order-blank which has been signed by the corresponding secretary of the member's chapter and countersigned by the Custodian of the Badge. The corresponding secretary must be responsible that name and address for delivery, and name and chapter for engraving are correctly entered before adding her signature. The official badge order-blanks are to be obtained from the Custodian. The Director of Catalogue is to sign instead of the corresponding secretary when a member of an inactive chapter places an order."

17. To Standing Rule 24 b add the following: That an interest of 4% be charged upon all notes held by the Students' Aid Fund after the date of their maturity.

18. That the last sentence of Standing Rule 24 (a) be changed to read as follows: The recommendation of any person acceptable to the committee shall be sufficient in case of application for a loan.

No Bargains— No Price Cutting

The United States Supreme Court in a recent decision, said—"It is [a fallacy] to assume that the price-cutter sustains and pockets the loss. The public makes it up on other purchases.

And it might have been added that as a rule, there is no loss—the buyer simply gets a cheaper article.

Auld badges, jewelry and novelties are one-priced, because the selling price is determined by the actual cost, plus a normal profit. A price determined in this manner does not permit of cutting.

Planning Ahead

Has enabled the L. G. Balfour Company to considerably offset the continued rise in the cost of materials that center into the manufacture of jewelry, by contracting for large quantities previous to to the headlong jump in prices. You may be assured that if our prices are the same as formerly, the quality is also the same—that is the best. If the prices are raised it is because it's the only alternative we have to maintain our quality in face of present conditions.
