Letters To The Editor:

Dear Kappa,

The Key's convention issue, just carefully read from beautiful cover to contest, is stunning in format and content.

But - WHERE was Convention? and WHEN? I'm an old girl, a reporter retired (former Society Editor San Francisco News) and I really don't know. The three other required W's - who, what and why - are ably answered.

Blanche Troutman Burnett
BII-Univ. of Washington

Editor's reply:

Convention was held June 20-25, 1974 in the Sheraton-Columbus in Columbus, Ohio. Color me red! I live here, was much a part of Convention, and had written these facts so often I just assumed every-one knew! Summer issue 1974 carried complete coverage of date and site (as did Fall 1973, Winter 1973, Spring 1974), but 'tis my mistake at its omission from the Fall 1974 issue.

Dear Mrs. Selby,

Having just finished reading the Fall issue of The Key, the message comes through loud clear! WOMEN ARE WONDERFUL! Kappa continues to challenge young women to reach for the stars!

However, throughout the entire issue, the question of woman's equality in today's society was only alluded to in an oblique way. Dr. Seward's most challenging speech understandably did not dwell on it, as the Candlelight Banquet is not the place to deal with controversial issues.

My question to all Kappas is: where is the appropriate place, if not at a national convention? Perhaps this most serious question was the topic in the many informal "bull sessions", but my reading of The Key gave no strong indication that the fraternity leadership is wrestling with it. I hope I am in error. Will this be the thrust in two years?

Kappa women are a privileged group in this nation. Endowed with brains, beauty, education, economic advantage. These very qualities are the resources needed to research the real status of all women in this country, and if injustices are discovered, to work for the alleviation of those injustices.

As a small, symbolic step, I would like to request that my Key address label be changed to reflect MY NAME, not my husband's. I would also urge you to adopt a consistent editorial policy of using the Kappa's name, not her husband's.

Congratulations on a fine issue and magazine!

Kit Reynolds Heiam
 $\Delta A$ -Penn State

Editor's response:

Many letters have been received asking about "women's lib" and equality of rights. An article is being researched and surely of interest to all will be the published History of the Fraternity where you will find Kappas from 1870s through 1970s engaged in developing the nobler qualities of the mind and the finer feelings of the heart for mutual helpfulness in the attainment of individual and social excellence in the society of the day. Each woman doing her own bit a day at a time - not for the cause but "be-cause" she cares and shares of herself.

As far as a name goes, I personally am proud of my husband and happy for the privilege of bearing his name as well as his children. However, I respect your right as an individual to use the name of your choice. It is the policy of The Key to identify all members by maiden name and married name in the text of the issue. The directory section is prepared for use in locating people either by letter or by phone, thus the use of the husband's name.

"A big thank you note to all the Epsilon Zeta Kappas for helping me to get their records straight for their chapter."

Dear Diane, July, 1974

My family is getting worried as I still am walking around the house smiling! So many treasured memories of last week drift in and out of my thoughts as I return to the duties of wife and mother.

I shall duly report all the facts and figures of Convention to my South Bay Alumnae. More important I hope to introduce them to the outstanding Kappas who make up our Council, Associate Council and staff. I came home so very impressed by the wonderful people I met and the rapidness with which names became friends.

Epsilon Xi Chapter Installed At Northridge, California

By Nancy Essenpreis Hooker
ΔH-Utah

"There is nothing else I can give you that you do not already possess, but there is a great deal that I have that you may take," concluded Fraternity President Marian Schroeder Graham as she addressed the newly initiated actives, alumnae and pledges of Kappa's 93rd chapter located at California State University at Northridge, California. During the weekend of November 15, 16, and 17 thirty one actives and thirty seven alumnae were initiated at the Gamma Xi house at UCLA. That evening sixteen pledges exchanged their tiny golden owls, that had pledged them to the colony, for the blue Sigma within the Delta, and thus did Epsilon Xi come to the San Fernando Valley.

Under the capable and steady hand of Installation Marshall Janey Binda Walker, Gamma Zeta, University of Arizona, the San Fernando Valley Alumnae Association threw themselves into the task of installing a Kappa chapter at Northridge. Denise (Denney) Donmoyer Huddle, Delta Gamma, Michigan State, as President of the Valley Alumnae Association, was in charge of the installation banquet on Saturday evening at the Sportsmen's Lodge, and the reception held the following afternoon at the University Faculty Center. As the events of the weekend flowed smoothly Denney Huddle announced in a positive voice, "The smartest thing I have ever done in my life was to ask Janey Walker to be Marshall!"

[To be sure, there were a few close calls: the Keys arrived an hour and a half AFTER the actives' installation; and the philosophical discussion following the initiation of the new alumnae on the possible fraternity status of the baby, had a very pregnant initiate chosen to deliver during initiation, . . . pledge, or active?]

Lending great dignity and solemnity to the occasion were the installing officers; Marian Schroeder Graham BΦ, fraternity president; Kay Smith Larson BΠ, director of field representatives; Betsy Molsberry Prior BN, director of alumnae, and Elizabeth Hawkins Pickett ΔT, province director of chapters. The occasion was perhaps all the more meaningful since Marian Graham had been a long-time resident of the Valley and a member of the San Fernando Valley Alumnae Association. She reminisced that about 14 years ago a Kappa alumna, whose daughter had just pledged the local Alpha Omega sorority at Northridge, contacted her to suggest that Kappa might be interested in colonizing the Alphas, but, Marian explained, Kappa was not expanding in California at that time . . . maybe later.

One of the most touching moments of the weekend came as Betsy Prior presented Roseanne Horn, Epsilon Xi president, with a particularly unique old president's key which had been salvaged several years ago from a Los Angeles antique shop by an alert Valley alum. Carefully restored by Betsy's husband Jim, the lovely old turquoise and seed pearl key seemed to form a tangible link between Kappa's great tradition and her youngest chapter.

Meanwhile, the scene on the 24,000 student Northridge campus is an ever changing one. Whereas, when the Kappas colonized last March there were only three national sororities and three locals on campus, now all of the sororities have become national, and include; Alpha Omicron Pi, Alpha Phi, Alpha Xi Delta, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Sigma Kappa. With the advent of all national sororities, the university now has National Panhellenic.

During the eight months following the colonization the members worked with their chapter advisor, Elinor Johnson Groom, Delta, Indiana, and Elizabeth Pickett, Delta Tau, Southern California, the Kappa Province director of chapters, struggling to assimilate the traditions and policies of their new group. During the hot summer evenings with the temperature at the house hovering in the mid 90's they agonized learning Kappa songs for rushing and even included one created by Roseanne Horn, president and Karen Kuhn, membership chairman.

In mid September the Northridge campus was deluged by well over twice the number of rushees than had ever gone through before. Taking time only for a quick gulp and doubling the punch recipe, they plunged into Rush, emerging a week later with 15 marvelous pledges including their first Kappa legacy.

As momentous an occasion as was the initiation and installation, there was no time to relax, for the following weekend was Homecoming, and Roseanne, who apparently had nothing else to do, was Homecoming Chairman. At the end of the week the Kappas claimed not only first prize for their homecoming float built with the engineering department, but Homecoming Queen Maureen Moran as well.

As this is written, Epsilon Xi chapter has just concluded its first election of officers, and Nancy Simon, a Sociology major from Sherman Oaks, California has been named president. It seems fitting that in an area that once was exclusively orange groves and horse ranches now stands a community of 1,200,000 residents, and within this growing community grows the newest of the Kappa blue flower gardens - Epsilon Xi.

Paradise Lost?

*By Anna D. Sophocles
BA - University of Pennsylvania
1974 Fellowship Recipient*

Monday morning we had risen at 4:00 a.m. as usual. I and a team of fellow archaeologists, students and Cypriot workmen had been excavating but three weeks at the ancient site of Idalion, just 10 miles southeast of Nicosia, the capital of the island of Cyprus. Digging commenced at 5:00 a.m., after a somewhat hurried cup of coffee and a container of homemade yogurt. The sun was hot even at this early hour, but it was soon to seem much hotter than any of the previous days. The time went by especially quickly on this day, July 15, 1974, because we were uncovering a section of what appeared to be an archaic wall.

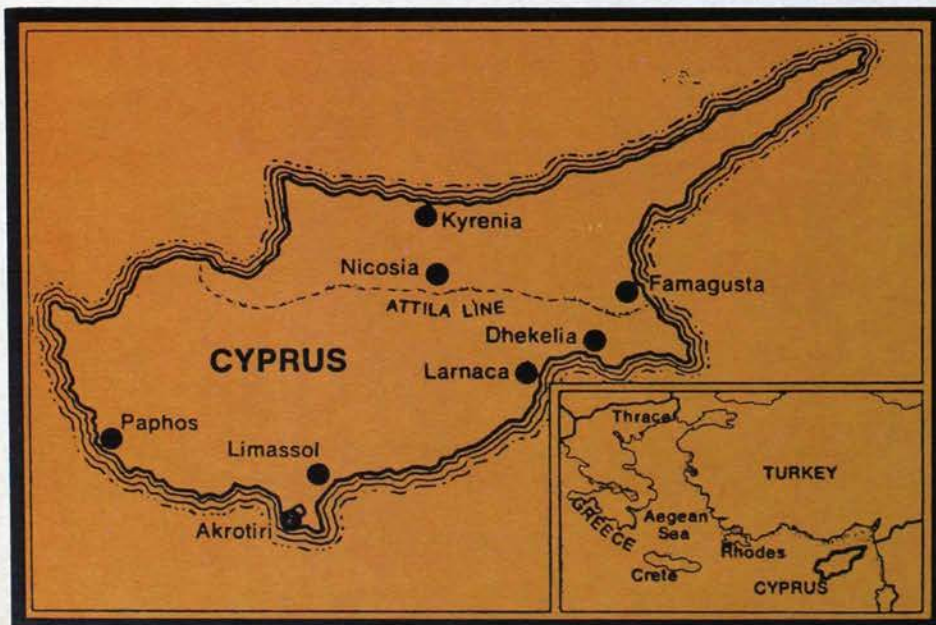

Before we had an opportunity to fully uncover the face of a well-preserved wall block, we had to discontinue work for second breakfast. Of all meals, this was my favorite. It consisted of such delicacies as, fresh ripe tomatoes, cucumbers and Cypriot goats milk cheese which was fried until golden brown on the outside. The conversation at this meal usually entailed a rapid description of the early morning finds. On Monday's the descriptions tended to be briefer than normal simply because our bodies had not acclimated to the strenuous physical routine after a relaxing weekend, basking in the Mediterranean sun while floating on the turquoise blue waters off the Cypriot coast.

Returning to our respective trenches at 9:00 a.m., I found my Cypriot workmen engaged in conversation, gestulating with their hands with more animation than normal. As I approached the top of the western terrace where I was supervising three trenches, some of the younger workmen came running toward me, screaming in Greek that Archbishop Makarios was dead and that the Greeks had come to unite Cyprus with the Greek mainland. The news of the coup stunned me, but not nearly as much as my workmen's reaction to Sampson's takeover. They were overjoyed at the prospect of Cyprus being united with Greece.

Ever since Cyprus became a Republic in the early 1960's, and Archbishop Makarios assumed the presidency, the island had achieved something it had not experienced for centuries - its independence. The island's history is one of subjugation by one foreign power or another. The Greeks, Phoenicians, Assyrians, Persians, Egyptians, Romans, Venetians, Ottomans, and most recently, the British, had all at one time conquered and sapped the island of its resources. Independence was finally realized in 1959 and with it came economic prosperity. Unfortunately, independence did not ensure peace.

The population of Cyprus up until a few months ago was comprised of approximately 18% Cypriot-Turk and 72% Cypriot-Greek. The villages tended to be mainly divided along ethnic lines due to the centuries of hatred between Greek and Turk. But, there were numerous villages in which Turk and Greek lived and worked side-by-side. In these villages and in Dhali the modern-day Idalion where we were excavating, the traditional animosities seemed to have been put aside and existence was even amiable. Of the 3,000 inhabitants of the village of Dhali, close to 200 were Turkish.

Editor's Note:

Adrift in the Middle East, Cyprus is a flammable isle standing alone - warning to the reality of gunboat diplomacy. An island of archaeological treasure yet with new districts lined with sparkling hotels and restaurants rimming the sea like an aspiring Miami Beach. The question unanswered is the fate of Cyprus as an independent nation - or one of partition . . . Greek or Turkish.

Anna Sophocles, BA-University of Pennsylvania, is a 1974 Kappa Fellowship Recipient who was studying in Cyprus when war broke out and she was evacuated. Her first-hand account and opinions add a personal touch to the daily news coverage of the mass media. This article is printed for its human interest and educational value. It is in no way intended as a political view point of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Turk and Greek alike had come to respect the able leadership of Archbishop Makarios. No one was starving and all who were willing to work had jobs or land to till. There were of course, those who were not satisfied, especially among the Greek segment of the population. Ever since Makarios had been exiled by the British with three other Greek Cypriot bishops back in the late 1950's, the idea of "Enosis" or union with Greece had taken root in the minds of many Greek Cypriots. Those Greeks who favored uniting Cyprus with Greece had formed an organization known as Eoka B. It was this group and their supporters who rejoiced when news of Makarios' overthrow was broadcast on the radio that fateful Monday morning. Makarios was disliked by the members of Eoka B. because he had not moved toward enosis with Greece, but away from it. He feared that by attempting to unite with Greece, Cyprus would be vulnerable to an attack by Turkey which was but a mere 40 miles away. Makarios' fears were grounded as was proven this past summer.

Once Sampson and his cohorts had assumed control of the island, Makarios fled to Malta and from there to England to try and garner support from his old enemy, the British. How ironic that now he has to turn to the British for assistance in gaining back the leadership of his country! We were forced to discontinue excavating for a few days until the effect of the coup could be digested. It would have been difficult to work on Tuesday and Wednesday anyway, since many of our young Cypriot workmen were now totting rifles and submachine guns. Some were even standing guard at the watchpost, just down the street from the schoolhouse which we had converted into our excavation headquarters.

By Thursday the island had reverted to a somewhat normal state: people returned to their jobs and communications with the isle were reinstated. We looked forward to the resumption of our diggings after two days of sitting glued to the radio, listening to the same BBC news brief. Our relief was shortlived, however.

Our normal workweek consisted of five days of full-scale excavating from 5:00 a.m. till 6:00 p.m. with a three hour rest period from 12:00 till 3:00 when the heat made digging unbearable. Saturday mornings were reserved for drawing bulks which is a term used to designate the sides or walls of our 5m square trenches. On Saturday, 20 July, five days after the coup, we had just set up all the equipment needed to take accurate measurements for drawing these bulks, when the Turkish bombing commenced. Since Dhali was 10 miles outside of Nicosia we could hear and see the initial onslaught of the invasion, but we actually felt more like observers because our village was not immediately attacked. The Turks waited till three hours after we were evacuated before bombing Dhali. Throughout the entire ordeal I never feared for my life, nor for the lives of my fellow excavators because I knew we would get off the isle somehow, but I did fear for those Cypriots that we would be forced to leave behind. Friends, like our cook, Stasis, and his 5 daughters, who on the day of the Turkish invasion went from house to house in order to find bread so he could feed all 65 of us.

We spent Saturday afternoon and most of Sunday cleaning up the schoolhouse, packing pottery sherds and equipment so it could be stored in a house we had rented in the village for just such a purpose. While packing away the sherds, I could not help but wonder if we would ever be able to return to Dhali to continue the uncovering of the temples, houses, palaces and cemetery of ancient Idalion.

Archaeologists, Students, and Cypriot workmen at excavation site at ancient Idalion, Cyprus.

Dhekelia Officers' Club, Cyprus.

The decision to evacuate all foreigners was made on Sunday afternoon, after a temporary ceasefire had been negotiated. The problem was how to get all 65 of us and our gear to the convoy pick-up point which was four miles away, along the Larnaca road. Four miles was not particularly far but it meant passing through two Turkish villages along the way. This was to prove no easy feat since the U.S. Embassy was unable or unwilling to supply us with transportation. After an hour of frantic searchings in Dhali, we finally found a Greek Cypriot bus driver who was willing to risk his life in order to transport two bus loads of people from Dhali to Pyroi, where we were to meet the convoy. Most of the villagers, by this time, had taken enough food and clothes to last a few days seige and gone into the hills for refuge. Very few remained behind.

Our bus driver left us along the Larnaca road and returned to his family in Dhali. We flagged down trucks which had been supplied by the British to pick up people, such as our team, who had no means of transport to the British base at Dhekelia. The base is located along the southeast coast of the island and can accommodate around 20,000 people. Since the Turks invaded, the base has been accommodating more than 150,000 Greek-Cypriot refugees.

We owe the British a great debt of thanks. They housed all 400 Americans in the Officers Club at Dhekelia where their own British citizens were put up in tents in the nearby fields. We may have balked at being served spam stew for all three meals under different circumstances, but when you are hungry and do not know where your next meal is coming from, spam stew tastes an awful lot like steak and vegetables.

Monday, the 22nd, the order was received from the State Department that we were to be evacuated. The 6th Fleet was waiting 60 miles off the coast of Cyprus to take us to Beirut. We were taken off the isle by helicopter in groups of 40 to the U.S. Coranada and from there we sailed to safety.

Our saga did not end in Lebanon. Once we had been given accomodations in the Beirut Holiday Inn we were informed that we had to find our own means of transportation back to the United States. Supposedly the American Embassy could not supply us with a way home. Most of us were students with travel-research grants which left little extra cash for such unforeseen eventualities as a war. Why could not our embassy help us now when we really needed them? Where was the U.S. helping hand?

The helping hand was extended by Pan Am Airways. They agreed to honor all our tickets and fly us home to New York. By Wednesday morning we were flown out of Beirut to Tehran. We had to go East because we could not fly the normal route over Israel or Cyprus. After a lengthy 19 hour flight, we arrived in New York and found relieved relatives and friends anxiously pacing.

Most of us are now engaged in academic endeavors; teaching, writing dissertations and the like. But what of those Cypriots who we left behind? What do they have to look forward to beside a divided island, a winter with little food or clothing, a tent as shelter and home? When we needed their help, Stasis and the others gave us bread that could have been used to feed their own; Manolis, the bus driver, drove through a Turkish village to ensure our safe retreat from the isle of Aphrodite's birth. Now, it is time for us to help the Cypriots. People, such as, Stasis and the rest of the Dhalitites, need aid to reconstruct and reshape their lives.

Anna back home now at the University of Pennsylvania Museum visits an "old friend," Dionysis - god of the grape and wine. Engaged in academic endeavors, Anna wonders the fate of those Cypriots left behind.

ADVICE TO A PROSPECTIVE VOLUNTEER

... From One Who's Been There!

By Mary Durey Poole, X-Minnesota
President
Association of Junior Leagues

How can I have an impact on my society? How can I help bring about needed social change? How can I make a difference in the world? To volunteer or not to volunteer . . . To join a voluntary organization or not to join . . . These are questions facing every college woman, every young alumna, every woman during every year of her life. As you think about these questions, you will be confronted by many who say that voluntary organizations have failed to solve society's problems; others are questioning whether women should volunteer at all because this may prevent women from achieving economic power in our society.

How you respond to these questions will vary, depending on your age, your college or career commitments, your family situation, your interests and your abilities. I will share with you my feelings about the values of volunteering and of voluntary organizations with the hope and expectation that the college Kappa or young alumna of today is not too different from the one that I was a number of years back!

College volunteering is a great opportunity for young women to learn about fields they want to explore. Volunteering in schools or day care centers can give you first hand knowledge of needs in education; volunteering in health clinics or hospitals can tell you if you are cut out for a health career; work as an investigative volunteer in a public interest research group will qualify you in research skills; work for a political candidate will give you first-hand knowledge of political issues and a speaking acquaintance with your representatives in public offices. Volunteering while you are still in college augments your education, increases your skills and employability, and gives you a sense of participation and power in your community even though you are theoretically "in training" for your life's work.

What can volunteering mean to you as you begin your career? Volunteering can offer you an opportunity to expand your knowledge and experience beyond the narrow field of your paid work—if you are a teacher, voluntarism can offer you a taste of politics. If you are a secretary, volunteering can open doors in music and art. If you are a nurse, voluntary opportunities can acquaint you with environmental concerns or criminal justice problems. Or, perhaps merely belonging to a voluntary organization will offer you the friendships and contacts outside your career field that everyone needs to be a fully-functioning, complex, knowledgeable voter and human being!

What can volunteering mean if you choose to marry and have a family? It can be a means for maintaining your professional skills, whether they be as researcher, paraprofessional, advocate, writer, public speaker, etc. Experience as a volunteer can keep you tuned in to problems, needs and resources in your field in case you plan to return to that field as a paid worker after your family is grown. Belonging to a group can give you support in your role as wife and mother at the same time as it offers you an opportunity to be a part-time community participant—it can be fun to volunteer with a group and you can magnify the small amount of time you can give by working as part of a larger group.

Mary Durey Poole, X-Minnesota, is president of the Assoc. of Jr. Leagues—112,000 member volunteer organization of 225 autonomous member leagues throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. Their aim is exclusively educational and charitable.

If you choose to belong to a voluntary organization (such as an alumnae group), how can you be sure you have the ingredients for successful community projects? There is one sine qua non!—whatever is undertaken must be high on the list of community or national priorities. There isn't time or money anymore for dilettantism, if there ever was—and certainly, an organization will not attract the loyalty of today's aware young women if it does not address significant community concerns. You will find, if you seek it, that there is a matrix—where community priorities and membership interests converge and overlap to define an appropriate area for your involvement. These activities will be meaningful to your members and significant for your community—an unbeatable combination!

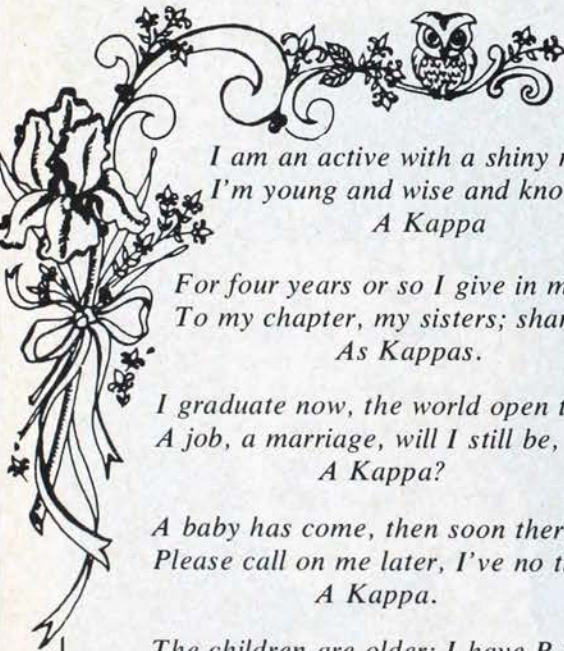

With a bit of age (!) comes the satisfaction of having the necessary experience, knowledge and skill to bring about—or demand—changes in community systems. The volunteer or the voluntary organization—with no vested interest—can be a most effective change agent in a community. Armed with facts, a volunteer can be a formidable ally—or opponent! This is the ultimate benefit of years of volunteering. The time comes when social change is needed—whether it be the school system, the criminal justice system, environmental quality, racial justice, etc.—and the voices of informed, experienced and powerful citizens are needed. This is the time when you will reap the benefits of your years of apprenticeship as a community volunteer.

This progression and growth as a volunteer has been the story of my life!—and I have found it an exciting and challenging one. I wish the same for you and would encourage you to try it.

Editor's Note:

Mary Durey Poole grew up in Minnesota, attended Carleton College for two years then transferred to the University of Minnesota where she joined Chi chapter. She finished her undergraduate degree in a year and half, graduating magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa (Mary says she includes those facts only to show that voluntarism can also be a choice of educated women!) Married to Robert C. Poole, attorney and City Councilman for Albuquerque, N. Mexico, they have four children - three daughters and one son. Mary has belonged to KKG Alumnae groups in Denver and Albuquerque - both were her first significant voluntary involvements after college. She joined the Junior League of Albuquerque in 1960 and has served it as president, 2nd vice president (community vice president in charge of projects), provisional chairman, public relations, newsheet chairman, director of an art exhibition project called "Cubism: Its Impact in the United States". She was elected director of Region XII, Association of Junior Leagues in 1970 (2 yr. term), elected 2nd vice president in 1972 (2 yr. term), and served as chairman of two annual conferences of the Association, as well as public affairs coordinator and chairman of a committee responsible for reorganization of the Association. Elected president in 1974 Mary will serve until May 1976. In Albuquerque, she serves on the Urban Coalition's Youth and the Private Sector Task Force which is designing a Youth Services System for Albuquerque. She has served on the United Fund Board (1st vice president), the YWCA Board, the Phi Beta Kappa Association of New Mexico, National Assn. of Parliamentarians, and many other related activities.

All Kappa groups together - chapters, clubs, and associations - have contributed over 150,000 hours of service and $300,000 to philanthropy in the biennium of 1972-74.

These figures include 344 scholarships totaling $158,055. Of these, 310 were given to members and 34 to qualified non-members.

In addition, alumnae contributed $184,719 to local rehabilitation services and 131,775 volunteer hours.

Chapters raised and gave substantial sums to kidney, cancer, and multiple sclerosis foundations and provided hours, gifts and service to day care centers.

Kappa groups have aided the Student Aid Fund and Rose McGill Fund with $82,080, for scholarships and financial aid to members in need or faced with costs of continuing education.

Philanthropy can be a very real part of the Kappa experience and more than just a super project. It may be that too - but the purpose is concern - "Sharing and Caring" because we want to. "Doing" is a way that is right for each individual group. Philanthropy will and should vary from group to group depending on interests and needs.

Using as resources The Kappa Notebook, The Key, Keystones, Province and Convention material, previous letters to scholarship chairman, Headquarters mailings, and slide programs, why not show your Kappa group philanthropies?

Scholarships Program Idea: In this two year period, every chapter has had at least one girl receive some type of financial aid through the Student Aid Fund or by a Name Award. Do you know the types, eligibility, deadlines, how the money is raised by the alumnae, and how they benefit others? Not everyone who applies receives one - funds are limited but about 150 are given annually. (See Fall 1974 issue The Key for recipients.)

Rehabilitation Services Idea: This is Kappa's philanthropy to the greater community. Our concern is helping those that are physically, mentally, emotionally handicapped, the socially deprived, and the aged. This can be big or little - total alumnae group involvement or individually.

EVALUATE: The talents of the alumnae, entertaining, tutoring, helping services, personal interest and abilities. The time involved and other programming.

RESEARCH: for ideas and projects - volunteer Bureaus, United Way Agencies, Scouts, Clinics, Day Care Centers, Social Services Agencies, Y's, Red Cross, Crisis Centers, Medical Research, Volunteer Action.

PLAN: Include the chapter - plan and carry out the project through PR in local newsletter. Report to Director of Philanthropies.

USE IMAGINATION: The most successful and meaningful projects are yours alone - answering a need in your particular community for your group.

JOIN others - for big projects or special project. Panhel - other groups.

What is the Rose McGill Fund, the history, who receives it, who provides the fund, what does it do?? The sale of each magazine helps - how about a Kappa Kappa Gamma Magazine Sale week to pick up orders for presents, the house, Dad, or a backpacking brother. (Read on for details of the fund).

For more ideas write Mrs. Thomas Long the Rehabilitation Services Chairman. Share ideas at Province Meetings. The satisfaction is in the Doing. The horizon is "unlimited" - the need is around the corner.

The temples of Athena with their strong and supportive columns have been an inspiration to man throughout the ages and is the inspiration for Kappa's philanthropy programs this year. Athena was the Goddess of Wisdom, of infinite understanding and the one who might make life better.

These qualities are expressed in our Rose McGill Fund. This fund was established over 52 years ago as a confidential aid to members in financial distress. It has been built on the strong and faithful support of members and friends through gifts, memorials, bequests and contributions from alumnae projects and magazine proceeds.

Rose McGill is more than financial help given to members by our Kappas past and present - it is, that, someone cared what happened to them. It is the faithfulness of friends and the Greek value of "infinite understanding." It is a method of giving that maintains personal dignity. It is sharing concern and grateful appreciation.

Each year brings changes in the Rose McGill "family", but the demands on the fund remain heavy. Monthly aid is given to some, emergency help to others, and educational grants for special courses to a few graduate or older members. The amount of aid is limited by the funds available. Because of the awareness and generous support of our members through the various ways of contributing, most of the needs of the Rose McGill members are being met or aided.

The Christmas Sharing program continues to be of interest to the alumnae clubs and associations. In this, they "adopt" a Rose McGill "family member" and prepare a Christmas box with much needed items for that member and in some instances, her family. Other groups may provide a special monetary gift and combine with others - such as Pittsburgh-South Hills and Manhattan, Kansas did to provide maintenance on equipment essential to a paralyzed member. The groups involved have given useful and imaginative gifts and ideas. Ft. Lauderdale, Florida and Ft. Wayne, Indiana used the "Twelve Days of Christmas" theme - sending a small gift for each of the twelve days to a member in a nursing home and another, Beta Lambda Chapter and Champaign-Urbana, Illinois joined in sharing Christmas with a young member studying law who has been very ill. Her appreciation and joy was expressed in a legal Order for Thanks. Not all wish to participate, but those who do have felt a closer personal relationship with the program.

The stories in Rose McGill are many and will continue to be for fate is not always kind. The values that are Kappas are the reflection of Greek thought that was symbolized in magnificent supporting columns and temples in an ancient age and are symbolized today in our philanthropy programs of concern and care, our Rose McGill.

Magazine Agency Contributes Over $11,000 to Rose McGill Fund

By Gwendolyn Dorey Spaid
M-Butler, Chrm. Mag. Agency

It is a joy to report another successful year of Kappa Kappa Gamma Magazine Agency with subscriptions earning $11,190.70. A total of 208 alumnae associations and clubs sent one or more subscriptions, of which 80 made the per capita of $5.00 per member. Of these alum groups 120 showed gains over last year in dollars sent. It is this increase of Kappas sending subscriptions that earned more money for the Rose McGill Fund.

About 12,000 subscriptions were processed during 1973-74 and less than 200 of them had to be traced for slow delivery. Only 39 refunds were made on subscriptions, many of which were not for non-delivery but were courtesy refunds to subscribers who had made an error of ordering twice or a gift sent which was a duplicate of another.

Records are kept for five years, as an additional service, and we are able to document any complaint with the subscriber receiving the full subscription without difficulty.

Our Rose McGill Fund is a philanthropy of true, loyal sisterhood. Any Kappa can help or request help. In every issue of The Key, there is an order blank. Simply cut it out and mail it with your order or renewal. If you are not a member of an association or club be sure to stipulate a group you would like to receive credit for your order, otherwise the order is considered miscellaneous.

Publishers ask 90 days grace to activate a subscription. Please do not ask that a tracer be sent before the time has elapsed. The time of 60-90 days is critical and a tracer causes more delay than it helps.

To the right are the award winning groups honored at convention. Please note that no matter how small or how large, every group can win.

PLEASE, EVERY KAPPA MAKE YOUR SUBSCRIPTIONS HELP!

Colorado Springs Decorators' Home Show Produces Funds For Philanthropy

By Lee Clarke Clement
*ΔZ-Colorado College
Co-Chairman Project*

Colorado Springs Alumnae held a most successful Decorators' Home Show and would like to share this project as a sample - from beginning to end - and with all the pitfalls!

The White House Ranch, a building of early Colorado, was opened to the public from September 21 to 29 at varying times including some evenings. Tickets at $1.50 were available from members or at the door.

Several top interior designers from the Pikes Peak region joined in refurbishing the old house for the special Kappa-sponsored fund-raising tour.

Homesteaded in 1867, the property next to the Garden of the Gods was purchased by General William J. Palmer. It has had several owners until 1969, when the city of Colorado Springs purchased it; the park and recreation department is contemplating plans to use the White House as an environmental awareness center.

The White House Ranch project was in the planning stage over two years. A large, old, interesting house in a lovely part of Colorado Springs originally was to be used in the same manner. Shortly before a contract was to be signed for its use, the owner changed her mind and decided not to follow through. The former co-chairmen again began their search for a suitable location and through many hours of hard work and ingenuity located the White House Ranch. This was complicated as it is owned by the City of Colorado Springs and directly controlled by the Park and Recreation Board. It was ideal from all angles, but did involve a great deal of red tape the entire time. The true joy in our success resulted in $2900 profit to donate to our philanthropies and the city having an old, historic, badly damaged house in beautiful condition!

We have an alumnae association of 137 paid members and almost 300 alumnae in the Colorado Springs area.

The White House Ranch, homesteaded 1867 next door to the Garden of the Gods, was the scene of the Decorators' Home Show for Colorado Springs. Owned by the City, this newly decorated home may be used as an environmental awareness center.

During the 9 day show 145 Kappas served as hostesses, including 15 actives from Delta Zeta. The Co-Chairmen were Mary Dau Lindh, ΓΘ-Drake, and Lee Clarke Clement, ΔZ-Colorado College. Twelve committees handled the project: hostess, finance, advertising, publicity, cookbook, preview party, maintenance, program, signs, tickets, posters, and insurance.

Advertising was our weakest link in the project plus the fact advertising is getting more difficult to "sell". We had hoped to receive enough to cover the cost of our program, but this did not materialize.

Publicity was fantastic with all papers covered with in-depth stories. A Kappa alum took every room of the house from a couple of angles in "before" pictures. She again took the rooms from several angles in "after" photos. All these photographs and newspaper publicity have been placed in a special scrapbook.

A preview party was held the night before the show opened. Co-chairmen, three Kappa hostesses and one Kappa decorator plus City Council, Park and Recreation Board, decorators and spouse (or guest) were invited for a champagne and hors d'oeuvres reception. (18 Kappa alums made all the hors d'oeuvres). Invitations were issued to 92 and 55 actually attended our super party!

The mechanics of running the show seemed to work fine! Since we were open to the public nine days we needed all the help we could get. Kappas entered from a rear door where a complete wall chart showed the house plan, each room marked plainly, the schedule by day and hour detailed. All dues paying Kappas plus many, many more were called well in advance and asked to give as many as three shifts . . . some could give but one or two, many gave as much as five . . . shifts consisted of three hours. The actives of Delta Zeta chapter were also contacted and 15 actives donated hours. A Kappa was in every room to answer questions about the decorations decor, the price of furniture, paintings, objects d'art, and of course, the main purpose was security! We did carry insurance, but fortunately, nothing was stolen nor any accident! Kappas dressed in long skirts or long dresses and the effect was most complete.

The price of the tickets at $1.50 we felt was 100% perfect! The committee debated between $5 and $1 and we were pleased with our choice of price. With inflation and cost of living so high, and a first time project, this seemed a wise decision. All dues-paying Kappas were asked to sell 10 tickets, (but no pressure) and tickets were available at the door.

A Kappa alum in the insurance business wrote our policy for the actual cost and charged no commission.

The Colorado Springs Alumnae Association published a very successful cookbook in 1964. The plates were lost and could not be replaced. It was voted in early 1974 to revise and reprint the cookbook with many additional, tested recipes. The new cookbook was ready for the Decorators' Home Show, placed in the scullery with the decorator's permission. We used strictly low-keyed salesmanship, sold 256 at $4.15 per book equalling $1062.40.

The kitchen and scullery as done by Tanner Interiors. (Harold Tanner served as coordinator of professionals for the entire project.) Mr. Tanner tried to recreate the atmosphere of the time when the gourmet cooks prepared for the social event of the season. The wallpaper is reminiscent of the pantry where food was stored in abundance from the harvest. Brown and white checker print accent depicts the updating of that exciting era. Rich gold and natural colors accent the charming wood and coal stove.

LYNDALL WORTHAM: YOU ARE SOMETHING ELSE!

Louise Little Barbeck, ΓΦ-Southern Methodist, former Fraternity President, gives award to Lyndall Finley Wortham, ΒΞ-Texas. Engraved on sterling silver tray is: "Kappa Kappa Gamma honors Lyndall Finley Wortham for love and devotion to her Fraternity, 1974."

By Carol Cheney Williamson, ΓΨ

"This kind of award has never been presented before—and may never be presented again." The highlight of the Founders' Day luncheon for the Houston Alumni Association was the presentation of a special national award to Lyndall Finley Wortham, Beta Xi, by former Kappa National President Louise Barbeck. Louise continued, "to Lyndall Wortham from Kappa and the Fraternity Council for her years of love and service to the Fraternity. This silver tray is being presented to you, Lyndall, no more for what you've DONE, than for what you ARE. And, you ARE something else."

In accepting the tray, Mrs. Wortham, donor of the cherished Standards Ware Cup, responded, "Everything I've given, Kappa has given back to me. It's put EVERYTHING into my life. When I try to talk to these young things who don't want to join, I just say, 'Well, maybe I thought it didn't mean much when I was on the campus, but I use it every day of my life now'."

Taking a step back in time, here is this remarkable and inspiring Kappa woman when she was "a young thing."

Just as the streetcar was passing by a fraternity house, a gust of wind caught her long skirt and blew it over her head. The fraternity was appreciative of the fact that Lyndall Finley had arrived at the University of Texas.

From her hometown of Sherman, Texas, Lyndall had travelled by train to Austin. Many of the girls from Sherman were Pi Phi's, and she thought she probably would be, too. We have to thank Mark Lemmon, a Sigma Chi Fraternity man, for leading her to Kappa. Mark was a Sherman friend, like a brother to Lyndall, and he told her that Kappa was the ONLY ONE.

During Rush, she confided in Mark, "They don't seem to be interested in me." He had a talk with his Kappa friends and they invited Lyndall over to the Kappa house. Helen Grant, a Beta Xi active, cornered her and got her to pledge right there in the powder room. The Kappas had wanted her to pledge all along, but Lyndall hadn't yet completed the University registration, a requirement for pledging.

Now that she was a pledge, Lyndall didn't merit the horse and buggy rides Kappa was having for Rushees. That didn't stop her from accepting Dudley Tarleton's offer to ride in HIS horse and buggy. (He was the father of Texas gubernatorial candidate, Sissy Farenthold).

Lyndall was always popular with the boys. A favorite meeting place at the University of Texas was the Promenade of the Rotunda where undergraduates congregated to snag a date. Lyndall would be treated to eight cokes an hour, each from eight different boys.

Her popularity with the boys did not sit well with one of her professors. In order to be initiated into a sorority each pledge had to maintain a C-average. Lyndall was also taking extra courses so that she could graduate in three years. A Greek art course was giving her trouble and she went to talk to her professor, who said, "I'll fail you if I can." According to him, she spent more time dating than studying. Lyndall did work harder and the grades were made.

In 1968 she was honored as one of the University of Texas' distinguished graduates. An autographing party was held to celebrate the publishing by the University Press of her book, AROUND THE WORLD ON A FRAYED SHOESTRING: TRAVEL TALES FOR ARMCHAIR HOURS. The exuberant acceptance of her book necessitated three printings less than six months after its publication. Worked in between more autographing parties, Lyndall did three television appearances, two radio programs, attended the glamorous international balls in Portugal, and with Mr. Wortham, entertained Princess Grace and Prince Rainier, and took part in the Apollo VIII moonshot as especially invited guests of Frank Borman. This winter, the March of Dimes is honoring Lyndall Wortham at their Charity Ball, to be named, "The Around the World Ball" from her book title.

Truly Lyndall Finley Wortham is, in her own words, "one who has rarely had a passive experience." Her biography in WHO'S WHO IN THE SOUTH and SOUTHWEST and OF AMERICAN WOMEN lists many cultural, civic, and philanthropic associations: secretary and the only woman member of the Board of Regents, University of Houston; president of the Board of Directors, Girlstown U.S.A.; recording secretary, Harris County Cancer Society; member of Colonial Dames of America; sponsor and director, Beta Sigma Phi for 39 years; 1964 Matrix Award, Theta Sigma Phi; member of the Board, Ballet Foundation of Houston; vice president, Ben Taub Charity Hospital Auxiliary; teacher, Scoville School, New York City; recording secretary, Y.W.C.A., Houston, 1931-1934; vice president, Women in Yellow, Jefferson Davis City-County Charity Hospital; board of directors, Houston Grand Opera; Houston Symphony; Cultural Affairs Committee of Houston Chamber of Commerce; English Speaking Union; vice president, Houston Speech and Hearing Society; charter member Board of Governors, American Foundation Religion and Psychiatry of New York City; trustee, Wortham Foundation.

Spotlight on Kappa Artists

Ruth Reed Cummings, BT-Syracuse, starts a painting, working on her dining room table in cold weather, and on a south sunporch in summers. She sometimes copies her own work. There are four versions of her grandfather Caboll's farm at Memphis, and two of the old feed mill at Marcellus. One of the latter is now in the American embassy in London.—Photo by Anestis Diakopoulos

RUTH REED CUMMINGS, BT-Syracuse, is a self-taught primitive painter, who has been painting only 10 years, and has sold 465 paintings to date. She lives in Marcellus, New York, in the 121-year-old house where she was born. The town is close to Syracuse, and her grandfather Hiram Reed founded the town's first newspaper in 1877. Before she began to record local history on canvas, Mrs. Cummings and her husband, Lloyd, ran the town's antique shop. In 1923, Ruth and her sister, Martha Reed Parkenson, BT-Syracuse, started a candy business after buying a $5.00 candymaking kit for fun. The candy shop is doing fine, with her son, Jack, running both the candy shop and the antique business.

Ruth's flair for art was useful when she did small drawings of antique furniture pieces and dishes for dealers in other parts of the country. Her flyers, hand-colored pen and ink drawings, were used for holiday promotions to candy customers. When she started to take art seriously, she copied a small reproduction of a Joseph F. Davis primitive in water color. Her family and friends were so enthusiastic, she began to paint steadily.

When an article about Mrs. Cummings and her primitive paintings appeared in the June 17, 1974, issue of The Christian Science Monitor, some network people of CBS saw it. They were looking for a "slice of Americana" for their July 4 broadcast, and after a phone call to Mrs. Cummings decided she was right for the broadcast. Charles Osgood, newsman for CBS, interviewed her in her Marcellus home on the fourth of July, Channel 5, from seven to eight A.M., and discussed life in small towns and primitive painting.

Mrs. Cummings is used to television coverage, having in 1972 been featured following her exhibit at the Canal Museum. Her painting methods begin with a simple pencil sketch, either on paper or directly on wood. She likes to paint on breadboards and good solid cured woods. Her first paintings on paper buckled under the heavy strokes of polymer paint she used. She often paints off the edges of her boards to give the effect of a completely self-contained work. She strives for precision in detail, stopping for a long time on paintings and returning to them later, insisting on "getting things just right before she finishes." She makes notes on the site, remembering colors, but inspiration may come from old postcards, or a Polaroid shot of a landscape taken by her son, Jack, to refresh her memory.

Mrs. Cummings records her hometown, Marcellus, from "Old Folk's Day," in 1916, when she was also 16 years old. This painting shows part of a parade, a model-T Ford, and four Civil-War veterans riding in it. "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," resulted from children caroling at her door last Christmas.

Everything she paints deals with small-town pleasure, past or present. Her own style of living is preserved from another era. She has a Franklin stove, and scoops coal into it when the heat in her room goes down. Marcellus is an early settlement, which had a plaster works, flour mills, a chair factory, and a clock factory, making Philip Smith clocks, which are now collector's items.

Mrs. Cummings is one of the valuable artists who remembers sun hats, steam engines, and cracker barrels, and can document every precious memory of another era in a small town.

Of herself, she says, "I'm not an artist. I am a primitive artist. Artists can do anything they want to, and I can't."

CELIA GRAY CARTER, ΔΥ-University of Georgia, is a commercial design major with a BFA, who is living in New York City and designing for Avon Products. She creates new products and the cartons that accompany them. At first, she worked in the children's cosmetic area, planning bubble bath decanters, soaps, whimsical stuffed animals and jewelry. Her latest designs are aimed toward an older and more sophisticated market, men as well as women, in the bath and fragrance areas, including gift sets, candles, pomanders and creams.

Celia began her career as a toy designer in September, 1969, with Mattel, Inc., Plainfield, New Jersey, where for a year and a half she created dolls, doll houses and pre-school games. Her most successful design for Mattel was "Fishamajigger," a fishing and color coordination game for young children, inspired by stories of Dr. Seuss.

In May, 1970, she took a job with Hasbro Industries in Providence, Rhode Island, where she worked with a child psychologist in creating and developing "Your Baby" line of infant toys and the "Captain Kangaroo" line of wooden toys. She was responsible for sketching original concepts for these two lines, after which she worked with the engineers and model makers until the toys were in a completed three-dimensional form. The "Your Baby" line was a series of 18 developmental playthings, designed to teach an infant as he played through the various stages of development from birth to the age of two years. "Captain Kangaroo" consisted of 17 "all wooden" toys that were brightly colored and highly stylized in design. Since the entire line was manufactured in Vermont, she lived in that state during early development stages, sketching concepts for the toy makers until the three-dimensional toys were completed.

Back in New York, in addition to her work for Avon Products, Celia is also a free-lance children's illustrator, using water color and magic markers. She says "she has a simple, and loose technique, with a primitive yet whimsical style."

Each picture she makes is complete with a fabric-wrapped frame, which in all cases ties into the design for that particular illustration. Her designs have been exhibited in craft festivals in Boston and are now being sold in gift shops throughout New York City. Her workshop contains magic markers, clay, Dr. Martin's Dyes, and a camera, with which she manages to produce sachet jars in animal shapes, bubble bath decanters, soaps, and colorful packages, and toy designs and their cartons—all colorful, some simple, some sophisticated, but wonderfully appealing.

MARJORIE FANT BILLING, ΓΔ-Purdue University, a home economics major, has become well known in Florida as an artist and teacher of Decoupage, an older than 18th-century form of furniture decorating. Historically, master artists who hand-painted furniture and walls could not keep up with demands for panels and cabinets. They solved the problem by having their designs duplicated by print makers. They gave these to apprentices who colored them and applied the pieces to furniture or panels. With many coats of varnish, the effect was close to the original master's hand-done paintings. The technique caught on, and the masters whose originals were no longer so valuable referred to the method as l'arte del povero (or art of the poor). The term stuck, and when the skill reached France, it became in French "decoupage."

Marjorie Billing has had a store for 20 years, and her present one, Boca Bazaar, in Boca Raton, Florida, is 15 years old, and has some of her decoupage items for sale. She teaches the skill and is a consultant. She is a member of the National Guild of Decoupeurs, so selective it is one of the hardest art organizations in the country to join. Such status of master decoupeur means that a guild member must show work in each of three categories: decoupage under glass; decoupage on mirror; a box with hand-colored prints; and/or another box with repousse and elevation (vue d'optique).

Her furniture pieces are exquisite, ranging from a pair of Martha Washington sewing chests in pale yellow with birds and flowers all over them to a Queen Anne chest finished in elaborate silver leaf. She prefers 18th-century furniture pieces and frames, and likes gold leafing.

Before art work comes the search for old furniture, at reasonable prices, in flea markets, auctions and antique shops. Next begins preparing the surface, stripping old paint, sanding, sealing, gessoing, sanding and gessoing again, then painting with the base color or colors, decorating with cuttings of birds, flowers, scrolls, cupids or whatever pictures are chosen. Then the piece must be varnished, and varnished, and varnished. When varnish has built up to the point that pasted-on pictures are submerged (20 coats of varnish are usual for this) the wood is wet-sanded and polished with a fine steel wool and wax. The result is a glowing, glass-like finish, which is not shiny, and is exquisite to touch.

As a professional of long standing, Marjorie Billing is concerned with elevating the standards of this exacting craft. When it reaches a high level, it is a fine art dating back to Jean Pillement when, French ladies found that poorly-made pieces of furniture could be disguised by beautiful designs and superb craftsmanship of gifted decoupeurs. The art requires great patience, and she stresses the fact that "she gets a great deal of pleasure out of making something wonderful out of nothing much to start with, and if time is no consideration, there is no limit to the achievements possible with the art form."

Marjorie's husband is Fred Billing, who was graduated from Capitol College in Ohio. Their son, Steven, a Beta at the University of Florida, finished law school in June, 1974. The family home is in Pompano, Florida.

FAY GUNDERSON PECK, ΔK-U. of Miami, has continued her significant exhibitions, and added two new ones during the last year. The van Straaten Gallery, in Chicago opened on September 26, 1973, with her collection of serigraphs, monoprints and oils. A similar group of paintings and prints opened at the Eileen Kuhlik Gallery, 23 East 67th Street, New York City, on December 4 and continued through the month of December, 1973.

Her shows have been in many parts of Europe and the United States, including London's Cassel Gallery (March, 1966), Zodiaque Gallery, Geneva, Switzerland, University Club of Chicago (fall, 1966), Evanston Public Library (September 1965), and are sold at Art Rental of the Chicago Art Institute. Fay studied at the University of Wisconsin, and at the University of Oslo, Norway. Her subjects are land, sea, flowers, and figures. Arnold Kohler, writing for La Tribune of Genève, Switzerland, commented: "She has a beautifully worked, studied and complex style. The paintings have a vigor and violence of form and color which strike you like a sound of a gong, or better yet, a shrill cry. The drawings in black and white are undoubtedly beautiful works—strong and intense which come from a firm hand, but also a mind of original and vigorous temperament."

Seattle's Post-Intelligencer Book World reviewed her as "... wildly colorful, alive, strange and satisfying." She has four children, and her husband is a  $\Delta$ KE from Trinity College.

Metal plaque by Cleora Wheeler, X-Minnesota, in active chapter room.

MARY KAY WOLF WALKER,  $\Gamma\Delta$ -Purdue, is an artist who combines sharply defined geometric shapes with painted areas. For several years, she worked in abstract designs in fabric collage, and experimented with multi-layer works on sheets of plexiglass. After some design and drawing classes at Purdue, she studied under Ed Paschke at Barat College and the Silvermine Guild with Robert Reed, both in Connecticut. She made large banners and smaller works under glass, and was accepted in regional shows including exhibitions in Bridgeport, Connecticut, Museum of Art, Science and Industry; Mid-Fairfield County Youth Museum (Connecticut); Audubon Artists Annual, New York City; Silvermine Guild Guest Gallery; and was affiliated with Gala Art Gallery, 35 W. 53rd Street, New York.

In analyzing her own work, she feels its chief appeal is her combining simple compositions with complex surface textures. She has had three one-woman shows, all in Connecticut at Weston Library, Westport Woman's Club, and Stanford Research Institute.

She and her husband, William Walker,  $\Delta\Gamma\Delta$ -Purdue, and daughter, Kathy, seven, recently moved to a new home in Deerfield, Illinois, where she plans to enter paintings in the Chicago area. She is coordinator in Deerfield for "Picture Ladies," who are volunteers working in elementary schools for a national art appreciation program designed to acquaint young people with the work of recognized artists.

Mary Kay has a Kappa mother, two Kappa sisters from Purdue, and another sister, a Kappa at Ohio Wesleyan.

CLEORA WHEELER, X-Minnesota, was honored by St. Paul Alumnae Association and Chi Chapter in April 1973, when Chi named their chapter room in her honor and the alumnae commissioned a plaque for the room. The coat of arms on the plaque is an exact replica of the first true copy of the original, adopted in 1912 by the Fraternity. It has been used on the covers of the 1904, 1922 and 1926 convention brochures, "Song and Information Booklets."

Cleora Wheeler has a busy life. Her skill as an etcher, illuminator, and engraver continues to gain worldwide notice. After an article featuring her bookplates appeared in The Christian Science Monitor in July 17, 1973, she received a long-distance call from a Baltimore customer enquiring prices. Another distinguished honor comes from Parsons School of Design in New York City. She has supplied their archives with unique historical material of rare value. As a student at Parsons (then called School of Fine and Applied Art), she kept a notebook listening to lectures on color harmony by Frank Alvah Parsons. These lectures were given in the assembly room of a bank on Fifth Avenue across from Altmans, and were attended by wealthy New York matrons, who came to hear his advice on interior decoration and period furniture. Miss Wheeler's notes document this early period of the Parsons School and its founder, and in the words of the librarian and the present Dean "they are thrilled to have the material."

LOUISE MILLER HART, BT-Syracuse, first reviewed in 1969, is gaining important recognition in graphics. Her rare qualities are extreme originality in style and exquisite workmanship. A single drawing may take from 150 to 200 hours to complete. She likes to begin a sketch on location; trace just the beginning of this; then, transfer to illustration board. "Then," she says, "I start all over again." Details are so fine and so varied as to create textures unbelievably marvelous. She is frank and modest concerning her achievements. She began by following bulletin boards in art magazines where shows are listed. She submitted work, receiving acceptances and rejections. Recently, she was shown in the Audubon Society at National Academy Galleries, New York; and at the National Arts Club with Catharine Lorillard Wolfe Art Club. In addition, she has been in group shows at Newark Museum, Montclair Museum, Philadelphia Museum, New Jersey State Museum, Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, and Monmouth College.

In 1969, two drawings at the Philadelphia Art Museum attracted the attention of Philip Desind, director of Capricorn Galleries in Bethesda, Maryland, who realized he had found a new and exciting talent. He offered her a one-man show, kept her as one of his gallery artists, and purchased her exceptional pencil rendition of the 100-year-old Meyer's Post Office, which she drew outside Ithaca, New York, when her daughter was attending Cornell. Another landscape, "At Ludlowville," won the James R. Marsh Memorial Award in fall of 1973, one of four awards given by the Hunterdon County Landscape Exhibition of Clinton, New York, to artists who depict Colonial structures before they are torn down or in any way restored.

Mrs. Hart is known as "Betty" and she spent three years at Syracuse University School of Fine Arts. She has had four one-man shows, all in New Jersey, and is preparing now for her fifth to be from March 28 to April 20, 1975, at Capricorn Galleries, Bethesda, Maryland. Philip Desind, the Director who discovered her, says with conviction, "I believe that when the curtain comes down on the twentieth century, Betty Hart will be one of the stars of American art to be loudly applauded." In addition to Capricorn, Betty is permanently represented by New Jersey State Museum Art Lease and Sale Gallery.

Her husband is Harold H. Hart, Jr., Villanova University, and they have four children: John D., Harold H. III, Judith and Mary Beth, and a home in Little Silver, New Jersey, where she likes to draw on a warm sunporch near trees, birds, and squirrels. She takes young people of the area for art lessons, remembering that as an only child, she drew and drew, and had one class lesson a week for 10 years. When she was 13, her art teacher put her in a life class with adults, and turned over the art room of her local high school to her. She keeps her drawing pencils so long and sharp they resemble etching tools, and she has been advised by Michael Lenson, art critic for the Newark News, to try silverpoint etching, and this she plans to do.

Mary Cooper Scott, ΔK-Miami University, beside painting of moral realism from "Eve Is Ill" series.

At present, her pencil descriptions of natural wonders and old buildings (landscapes are her favorite subject material) are a rare combination of accuracy and poetry, and that is the marvel of them.

MARY COOPER SCOTT, ΔK-University of Miami, has attended Columbia University, Ohio State, and taken extension work at U.C.L.A. She was a dancer and choreographed her own dances, until an injury prevented her continuing. She has written short stories, but her real interest is in art and expressing in art what she calls "moral realism," which must be distinguished from social realism.

Her exhibitions have been at Raymond Duncan Gallery, Paris, France; Lecoque and Bogner, LaCienega, California; Ligoa Duncan Gallery and Women's Interart Gallery, New York; MacDonald Art Gallery, Palm Springs, California, and Winchester, Virginia, where she received first prize in a city-wide show.

Her last exhibition was at Guild House, Bakersfield, California, in April, 1974. She uses oil, some acrylics, pastels, and once-in-a-while, collage techniques. All of her paintings are portraits or figure studies. The theme for her first one-man show at Lecoque Gallery, La Cienega, at Christmas 1970, consisted of twelve 30 x 30-inch canvasses, which depicted "The Starvation and Suffering of Peoples of the World." She feels she brings out a woman's concern for suffering people, especially children.

Her next series of moral realism paintings was called "The Crazy World." One painting titled "The Debator" showed a man hanging by his ankles to die a slow and agonizing death in Uganda. In this she tried to question the morality of cruelty in a world that is rapidly shrinking and interdependent.

"Eve Is Ill" is another series, which questions women's freedoms in dress and morals. All of her work seeks to influence the public for good, or to call attention to thought-provoking moral topics. A poster called "Child of the World," advertised the plight of children who need help, and was done recently for Missionhurst, Arlington, Virginia.

She teaches oil painting to classes at the Y.W.C.A. in Bakersfield, California. She is a great admirer of John Barrymore, Sr., and is currently doing a portrait of his oldest son, John Perkins Barrymore, and writing a book that will be about him and his relationship with his father. She has been asked to exhibit again in Paris, where she received favorable reviews, and she is preparing for this. Her husband is Dr. Ralph Scott, Iowa State, and their sons are John, 20, and Redge, 28, a Psychologist, living in Roanoke, Virginia.

NANCY KELLER PANSING, H-University of Wisconsin, has a minor in fine arts, and attended Dayton Art Institute. She is a potter specializing in stoneware, and many of her productions are garden objects, including fountains and lights.

Her touch is modern, and she sells at the Columbus Art Institute Gallery Shop. She held her first one-man show at Yellowsprings, Ohio, and was recently accepted in the Beaux Arts Columbus Show.

She taught at Riverhead Art Center, and worked at Cox Arboretum, where she presently remains as a volunteer, and teaches at the YWCA in Dayton. Her husband is Roger D. Pansing, an ATO, from Wittenberg. Their four children are Chris, 24; Melissa, 22; Robin 19; and David 16. She is described by one of her friends as a very shy artist, who makes lovely things and is considered by Dayton Kappas to be very special.

SHERYL SHEPHERD BOYLE, M-Butler, received in 1974 the designation of "State Art Teacher of the Year" in Indiana, at ceremonies at Herron School of Art, now part of Indiana and Purdue University combined Indianapolis campuses. The annual award was inaugurated in 1966 to stimulate excellence in teaching art as a subject, and can be given to teachers in junior or senior high schools, consultants or supervisors.

Sheryl earned her bachelor's degree from Butler University, a master's degree from Butler, and a bachelors in education at John Herron art school. In 1973, she served as state youth art chairman, and has been secretary and president of the central art division for Indiana State Teachers Association.

She uses acrylics, water color, oils, and works with metals in riveted sculptures and metal enameling. Her preferred subjects are landscapes and still life, and most of her recent work are in mixed media, water color with pen and ink. Her first one-man show was at the Indiana Medical Center in Indianapolis, and her group shows include Instructor's Show at the Indianapolis Art League, Alumni Show John Herron—Indiana University Art School, Alpha Delta Kappa shows, and State of Indiana Church Festival Shows.

Sheryl is very much an organization person, holding memberships in A.E.A.I., N.A.E.A., W.T.E.A., and I.S.T.A. (all teaching organizations). In March 1975, she will become Worthy Matron of her Eastern Star Chapter. She has been president of the Kappa Butler University Club, and is now an advisor to Mu Chapter.

She has taught at the Indianapolis Museum of Art and now teaches Saturday classes at the Indianapolis Art League. For seven years and at present she teaches full-time art classes at Nora Elementary School in Washington Township, Indiana. In addition, she has one night adult class and two evening classes at Jewish Community Center.

Sheryl has bubbling enthusiasm, and writes, "I do so love my Kappa days, and I really enjoy being an advisor, helping with rush parties, taking cookies . . . and I do love teaching children. The fresh expressions they create are wonderful." In addition to collecting honors, she claims what she says is the biggest collection of owls around. Her husband is KΣ from Butler, William G. Boyle.

It Was Started By A Kappa

Editor's note: This excerpt is taken from the fall 1974 issue of The Lyre of Alpha Chi Omega. Rumor has it that "Jean" is really Jane Emig Ford, BN-Ohio state. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the Kappa Alum Group in Naples, Florida . . . do let the editor know!

Here on the southwest coast of Florida, laced with waterways, naturally endowed with long stretches of white sugar beach, and dotted with tall pines and feather duster palms—here is the setting for Alpha Chi's newest alumnae club.

The club is, at present, a joint organization of 29 active alumnae from Naples and 27 from Fort Myers, Cape Coral and lovely Sanibel Island.

It was started by a Kappa! (Don't gasp!) Her name was Jean, and she was a clever, brainy girl, who was Education Chairman of the Greater Naples City Panhellenic Council. Jean was interested in Panhel membership, and a little disturbed that although there was a profusion of Pi Phis, lots of Chi Os, a very good representation of Alpha Chis, Thetas, D.G.s, etc., there were just practically no Kappas at all. Two, in fact. So Jean wrote to her Central Office, and asked for a list of Kappas in the Naples area, and news came whizzing back that there were a rousing fifty-three! Jean made this part of her report at the next Panhellenic meeting, with the suggestion that perhaps some of the other Panhel members would like to write their central office for similar lists.

So . . . a club was born this Spring on Florida's lovely South Gulf coast—born because a Kappa inspired it, and an energetic Alpha Chi brought it into being.

KAPPA CREST IN NEEDLEPOINT

Your Accents

Dayton, Ohio

The Kappa crest beautifully detailed in needlepoint. Kit includes: white #10 interlocking mono canvas, Paternayan Persian yarn, needle, and complete instructions. Finished size 14x14. Specify celery or off white background. Only $15.75, includes postage and handling. Ohio residents add 68¢ sales tax.

Just for comparison of projects in our association I checked the following information: In 1969 a Flaming Festival (primarily candles) netted $467 and the same project in 1970 raised $645. In 1973 a Tasting Feast was held which realized $525. As for the future of our decorator home tour, the membership voted at the October meeting to appoint a committee to be looking for a home for 1976. This vote is not binding so that should the economy not warrant it or the membership not feel in support of it in two years, we do not have to follow this project. But, all indications show at this moment an enthusiastic response!

The Rocky Mountain Rehabilitation Center is our local philanthropy. We give four parties throughout the year which entails three alums per party bringing cookies, drink and possibly candy. Two classrooms are generally grouped per party. In addition, one Kappa alum every week of the year bakes six dozen cookies and takes them to the center where teachers use them as "rewards" or simply treats for a classroom. Both of these activities have been done for many years by our group.

As a result of the proceeds received from the 1974 Decorators' Home Show, The Colorado Springs Alumnae of Kappa Kappa Gamma were able to present $1000 to the Rocky Mountain Rehabilitation Center, $500 to the District 11 Principals' Emergency Welfare Fund, $800 to the Rose McGill Fund, $300 to the Fraternity's Scholarship Fund, and $300 to the Colorado Springs Alumnae Association Scholarship Fund. A total of $2900 has now been distributed because we care and share with others.

The house that 'Perk' built—

Not merely by chance was Beta Upsilon Chapter at West Virginia University the first women's fraternity to rent a chapter house on campus, or the first to own a house, or the first to build its very own house. All three "firsts" came about largely because of Kathryn 'Perk' Alger Rogers. In 1916, 'Perk' and several other Kappa actives "deviously" maneuvered around their university president and gained permission from the Board of Regents to rent a chapter house. In 1930, realizing how much was being "wasted" on rent, 'Perk' and two other Kappas, Evelyn Pratt Hite and Margaret Buchanan Cole, decided to purchase a home for Beta Upsilon. During the worst days of the Depression these three women took a personal liability for the venture and signed their own names to the loan. By 1938, as times improved, the decision was made to build a house designed especially for chapter life. 'Perk' was the natural overseer for the job and even took a course in stone masonry to better prepare herself for the task! On Founders' Day 1974, Morgantown alumnae presented the chapter with a lovely painting of their house in Mrs. Rogers' honor. The painting was the work of the talented Betty McClain (who was featured in the Spring 1971 issue of The Key). Dorothea Morris Morgan, BY-West Virginia, presented a program on the honoree's long and colorful life, describing her days as a suffragette, the first woman graduate of the WVU College of Agriculture, a pioneer advocate of equal wages for women, devoted helpmate to her late husband in the family business, mother of two children, adoptive mother of several young people from other countries, and enthusiastic world-traveling grandmother.

Columbus

The sale of Christmas greenery fills the coffers for the Columbus, Ohio Alumnae Association's philanthropic projects. From left, sale chairman Pam O'Roke von Schoeler, IZ-Arizona, and Kathy Press Sheehan, BN-Ohio State. Part of the proceeds go to Huckleberry House, a home for young runaways which last year served 545 youths.

Tulsa

Philadelphia

Everything is perking in Philadelphia, thanks to Catherine Gardner Lucard, ΓP-Allegheny. If she looks a little weary these days, it's because she just completed an eight-month project of collecting coffee can tops to win a giant coffee maker from the Maxwell House Company for the Philadelphia Alumnae Association. Now alumnae will have all the liquid sustenance they need to move along with their fund raising projects, a large luncheon and fashion show with Kappa Alpha Theta and a Christmas bazaar featuring handcrafted items. Proceeds help support the Child Development Center in Norristown, Pa., and the Pathway School for brain damaged children in Jeffersonville, Pa.

South Bay

Getting into the spirit for an art auction are, from left, Barbara Egy Carpenter, ΔY-Georgia, and Mrs. James Ronk, Kappa Alpha Theta. The South Bay (California) Alumnae Association joined with Theta alumnae to sponsor the project, which raised more than $2,600 for Torrance Memorial Hospital.

Arlington Heights

Alumnae handcrafted more than 700 items for sale at the Arlington Heights, Ill. Alumnae Association's annual boutique. Among the workers were, from left, Jane Althaus Bube, E-Illinois Wesleyan, and Nancy Riggs Stautzenbach, BN-Ohio State. The profit of more than $1,500 enabled alumnae to purchase a whirlpool bath for use in rehabilitation work at Northwest Community Hospital and to boost Fraternity philanthropy and scholarship funds.

Others who care and share: The Spirit of Philanthropy

Seattle

Seattle alumnae are supporting a pilot program in their community to help "latch-key" children who have no place to go after school except an empty house while parents are still away at work. Under the program, children may stay at school and receive special care until their parents pick them up at the end of the working day. The children are provided a healthy snack, organized activities, plus friends to play with. Alumnae are donating toys, clothing and other supplies for the program as well as volunteering as tutors and play supervisors.

Minneapolis-St. Paul

The Minneapolis-St. Paul junior alumnae group recently donated more than $650 to General Hospital after staging a successful Taste Test Dinner to raise funds. Patrons were entitled to sample 50 to 60 dishes, all prepared by alumnae, and each received a cookbook including all the recipes. Additional cookbooks were offered for sale and door prizes were awarded. Previous donations to the hospital from the group provided equipment for the newborn intensive care unit and television sets for patients.

In addition, the junior group has made draperies, layettes and puppets for the hospital and has even helped paint and carpet various areas.

St. Louis

A tour of six beautiful century-old homes was sponsored by the St. Louis Alumnae Association to raise funds for the Edgewood Children's Center. To encourage interest in the Center, and show where proceeds were going, alumnae offered a box lunch to patrons on the grounds of the Center the day of the tour.

Detroit

The Volunteer Action Center of United Community Services in Detroit has awarded a Volunteer Group of the Month plaque to the Detroit Alumnae Association. The alumnae's work at the city's Rehabilitation Institute earned them the honor. Since 1954, alumnae have "adopted" the Institute and supported it with proceeds from fund raising projects. Donations have included a transportation van, kitchen equipment and a piano. Every Monday a "Kappa Karload" of in-service volunteers arrives at the Institute. Alumnae circulate a shoppers cart, type a newsletter for patients, maintain a bulletin board and work on any special assignments which might come up. Four times a year patients are treated to gigantic birthday parties.

Lincoln

The Sigma chapter house at the University of Nebraska was the scene of a successful Holiday Bazaar sponsored by the Lincoln Alumnae Association. In preparation the alumnae attended numerous workshops to learn how to make various specialty items to be sold. In addition, baked goods and traditional handicrafts were offered. Proceeds enabled the alumnae to donate about $600 to the Youth Service Center in Lincoln. During the year alumnae help transport children from the Center to the Speech and Hearing Clinic on the University campus. One member, an interior decorator, has donated time to planning a new decor for the building. A painting and wallpapering party for alumnae and their husbands is being planned to help refurbish the Center.

75 Years For Cleora Wheeler

Cleora Wheeler, X-Minnesota (right), receives her 75 year pin from Caroline Hornor Wilson, BY-West Virginia, Omicron PDA. The ceremony took place at the Founders' Day celebration of the Twin Cities Alumnae Association. The honoree was a Fraternity Achievement Award winner in 1952. She is a life-long resident of St. Paul, Minn., and has had a distinguished career in the field of design. Her bookplates and Christmas cards have been recognized in national and international exhibitions and publications. She has been a loyal member of the Fraternity since she was pledged in December, 1898, while still a senior in high school!

From 1904 to 1906 she was Grand Registrar, setting up the card catalog system of members still in use nationally. From 1911 to 1918 she was Custodian of the Badge, and she has gathered a large collection of early badges. She wrote the sections on badges and Chi Chapter for the 1930 History of Kappa Kappa Gamma. She has also written histories of individuals, gathered in volumes called "Kappas I Have Known." Thanks to her, Chi Chapter has the only complete collection of The Key outside of Fraternity Headquarters.

Campus Sights and Sounds

—Prepared by the Operation Brass Tacks Committee of the National Panhellenic Editors Conference.

THE NEW PRAGMATISM: The Arizona Statesman sums up fall, 1974, in a way which reflects East as truly as West, North as well as South. "An emerging trend among today's undergraduate population seems to be a down-to-earth, calculated compulsion to consider practicalities and future life comforts . . . cause orientation and come-what-may perspectives have receded in the face of a tight job market and escalating enrollment in professional schools."

FOR SALE signs have followed bankruptcy notices as a sizeable group of private schools have decided to call it quits in the face of rising costs, dwindling funds and enrollment. The buyers? Maharishi International University has purchased Parsons College in Fairfield, Iowa; the University of Houston bought the Parsons library and that of closed St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, Md.; Baptist-owned University of Corpus Christi folded, but the city bought the island campus and gave it to the state to be used as a new campus for Texas Arts and Industries University. These are a few; the list is a lengthy one and includes mergers with other schools as well as outright sales.

SEMI-LITERACY TO ILLITERACY—this is the way educators are beginning to describe today's super-educated college student, a fact parents and employers have been aware of for some time. As English departments in both high schools and colleges have continued to weigh literature in greater and greater proportion to offerings (or requirements) in "composition," students are less and less able to express themselves adequately. The Chronicle of Higher Education (Sept. 23) headlines the situation "Crisis in English Writing," and Modern Language Association's executive secretary, William D. Schaefer is quoted, "On a national level we have failed to meet the challenge of illiteracy among college level students."

A.C.T. AND S.A.T. have been formidable initials to students and parents in recent years so that a recent release from American College Testing Program comes as somewhat of a surprise: "We conclude that academic talent as measured by test scores, high school grades, and college grades is not related to significant adult accomplishments." Such conclusions are reached by academic due process, by the keeping of records, tabulating, etc., but it is more than likely that the non-academic world had long ago reached the same conclusion by a somewhat shorter route.

DORMITORIES, some eerily vacant or sparsely populated within the last few years, are once more in demand as campus housing. The students who opted for apartments learned what the rest of the country could have told them—that soaring living costs affect the individual consumer with a greater jar than the multiple dwelling operator (the university) who runs on quantity service and wholesale supplies, not to mention planning know-how. Some schools are even reporting waiting lists for their dormitories, experiencing greater demand than anticipated in allotting space for the 1974-75 school year.

DONATING BLOOD to the growing number of plasma labs, many in college towns, is a currently popular way for students to earn from $50 to $60 per month, says National On-Campus Report. The pharmaceutical companies operating the increasing number of labs need more blood because many medicines have recently switched from horse plasma to human plasma as a base.

CRIME, as a major topic for discussion, survey, and study, appears in most college-related publications, all the way from the Chronicle of Higher Education to individual alumni publications. The Chronicle reports one survey which reflects somewhat the way it is: up some places, down at others. Crime prevention has been adopted on some campuses not only as a matter for student study but as a challenge to student government groups.

THIS YEAR'S FRESHMEN reflect a leveling off in academic motivation, according to recently released S.A.T. scores for 1974 high school graduates. This the College Entrance Examination Board sees as a possible halt to the drop recorded between 1972 and 1973, a steady descent, in fact, over a decade. One point worth noting is that for the first time there were as many women as men taking S.A.T.

CAMPUS ALCOHOLISM is being observed critically from points which have shifted in the past ten years. With many states affirming 18-year old majority, drinking privileges included, and even traditionally dry campuses ignoring enforcement of no booze rules, it now remains for the individual to take a good look at himself. An article in the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Record ("Chug-a-lug," May, 1974) sees drinking induced by fraternity good fellowship as a producer of abusive drinkers who have a good probability of continuing the practice in later life as an answer to stress—even to the point of becoming alcoholics. In many cases, the author says, to participate one must drink simply because nothing else is offered in the way of refreshment.

DRUGS as a campus problem have declined to the point where they are not considered among major campus troubles by most administrators, but the FBI tells us that more than 400,000 marijuana arrests were made in 1973, an increase of more than 100,000 over the previous year. Marijuana currently accounts for 70% of all drug arrests in the United States. Groups promoting decriminalization of marijuana point to the financial cost as well as the cost in terms of wrecked lives and careers as reason to legalize marijuana.

PANTY HOSE topped blue jeans in female pre-college purchases for fall, 1974, according to a marketing survey of first-year college women. Details of this survey are available from Seventeen.

DIAL-A-COURSE: Indiana University offered students a toll-free number by which they could pre-register for fall classes, accepting up to three courses per student through 14 operators on duty to handle calls.

NO SMOKING: Smoking in most indoor public areas of the University of Oregon campus has been banned. Reasons: health hazards both to smokers and non-smokers in immediate area, safety hazards, and attitudes favoring the ban expressed at public hearing.

COMMERCE/INDUSTRY Programmatic College which will "focus on the study of business, commerce, and industry as institutions which have profound effects on our lives" is available to 100 Northwestern University undergraduates. The program is sponsored by Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils to "fill a need that students feel from all schools of the University" since the University's professional business school is not open to undergraduates.

Fraternities Must Go? . . .

Editor's note: Mr. Victor J. Chapman reports that at a recent senior citizen course in writing which he attends, one subject suggested was, "Fraternities Must Go!" He prepared the following answer to that proposal: (This is reprinted from the November 1974 IRAC Bulletin)

Enough of Fraternities! Disband and eradicate those symbols of social ambition and economic togetherness. Eliminate from the campus community those homes away from home of students able and willing to band together to strive for their own improvement and that of their fellowmen.

Fraternities derive from and are perpetuated by men from many places and backgrounds seeking to solve their common problems in the company of congenial companions necessarily well-recommended by their fellowmen.

The "brothers" pledge themselves to strive for the glory of the chapter in all that is good and honorable. In the attainment of this goal the "brothers" encourage one another to excel in studies, athletics and other activities on and off the campus.

Of course there is competition between members of one fraternity and another and between them and independents in sports, in campus politics, and socially. THIS IS BAD?

The fraternity functions in recruitment and encouragement of students. It serves as a center in which the members may exchange ideas and learn to live in relative harmony with others though not always in agreement.

Should a member shirk or stray, he is usually straightened out by his "brothers." Bonds of lasting friendship are forged in the process of mutual enlightenment. Fraternities must go! Why, "Brother"?

The article on page 4 (Summer 1974) "Tourist in China" has been read and re-read and frankly I am surprised and very upset. I agree with the author's comment "we learned only the tiniest bit of all there is to know". It's nice that she mentions that, "certain excesses happened during the revolution, and individuals do not have much freedoms." Fifty million dead bodies and thousands of people risking their lives to flee a country hardly seems a basis for enthusiasm to apply such a system in any part to any other country. Certainly we have problems in our society but they won't be solved by "somehow there must be a way to apply to our society some of the good things we saw being accomplished in China." Any system that accomplishes good with the aid of Red Guards or Secret Police we don't need in any part.

Perhaps the title of your article in The Key about Barby Bauer should have been "Cancer Victim's Fight Inspires Many" instead of ". . . Inspired Many." for I found this young woman's magnificent life and death very inspiring. She accomplished more in her brief 24 years than most of us do in three times that many.

She has even inspired this 57 year-old Kappa to paste the poem "Salutation To The Dawn" on my mirror to remind me to put my very best into each day.

Could you please forward this letter to her parents so that they may know that the impact of their daughter's beautiful life has reached very far indeed.

Jeane M. Seeley,

Dear Mrs. Selby,

I heard from Mrs. Bauer that the reaction to the story (The KEY, Spring '74 "Cancer Victim's Fight Inspired Many") had been very favorable. It might interest you that it won first place in the college feature 1973 contest sponsored by the Kansas Press Women.

Mortgage Burning Celebration Held at Beta Delta

*By Beth O'Roke Reading
BA-University of Michigan*

A problem? How to burn a mortgage without setting fire to anything else? Solved by Kay Walz as she put the mortgage in a stoneware bowl and lighted the owl candle from the Hearthstone.

These three lovely ladies received their 50 year pins at the celebration: Left, Catherine Kelder Walz was chairman of Fraternity Chapter Housing Committee for 30 years, finance adviser to Beta Delta for 35 years, and is now serving her 44th year as treasurer of the Beta Delta Association. (Pinned by Esther Tuttle Bailey). In center Irene Field Whittingham received her 50 year pin from Frances Sutton Schmitz. Irene is former president of Beta Delta Association. On the right Virginia Spain Tower, former member of the Beta Delta Association, was pinned by Aletha Yerkes Smith.

October 19, 1974 was truly Kay Walz Day as the mortgage on the "house that Kay built" was burned with loving ceremony. Seventy alumnae returned to mark this "red hot" celebration and total satisfaction was felt as the $110,000 mortgage taken in 1959 went up in flames.

To start the annual meeting of Beta Delta Association, alumnae modeled dresses from the decades since Beta Delta's founding in 1890. There were dresses long and short, middie blouse and bloomers, evening dresses of velvet or chiffon, and 1900 was represented by the dear and now cream colored wedding dress of Kay Walz's mother-in-law.

Introductions included five former treasurers of the chapter who had worked with Kay during her 35 years as finance adviser - Mary Elliott Pence, Gay Thurston Koetzle, Betty Jean Kafka Murray, Wendy Wistert Peterson, and Patricia Johnston Ehrnstrom. Even Debby Cocoros Coskey, a recent treasurer, took her bow. Former chapter presidents and former presidents and members of the Beta Delta Board were introduced. Frances Sutton Schmitz, National Consulting Architect, who with her husband, Herbert, designed Beta Delta's last two additions, was introduced.

Gifts of crystal owls were given to Gurtha Williams McMullan and Madge Brook DeJong, who together have served a total of more than thirty years on the Board. To Kay - on her day - went a miniature painting of the house at 1204 Hill, perfect in every detail, and mounted on a gold easel, a reminder of her 44 years on the board.

Enjoying Kopus Kappa Kanapés are from left, Frances Sutton Schmitz, Fraternity Consulting Architect, and a former 50 year pin recipient, active Sally Stone (chapter registrar) in center, and Catherine Kelder Walz. In the background is Sue Jones Russell, house board president with only the back visible of the lovely white dress from the year 1900 that she is modeling.

Beta Delta today, as shown in a lovely miniature. This tiny painting was a gift to Kay Walz at the Mortgage Burning Celebration. Shown beside it, for scale, is the Catherine Kelder Walz Diamond Key. This key is awarded each year to the active who most exemplifies the devotion and the service that Kay has shown to the Beta Delta chapter. Clare Canham, chapter president, received the award in November 1974.

In presenting the key to Kay in 1965 on the 75th anniversary of Beta Delta's founding, the Association honored Kay "for the great gift of herself to the Beta Delta chapter."

Those receiving the coveted fifty year pins were Irene Field Whittingham, who was pinned by Frances Sutton Schmitz, Catherine Kelder Walz, pinned by Esther Tuttle Bailey, and Virginia Spain Tower, pinned by Aletha Yerkes Smith. Elizabeth Humphreys Hubach and Louise Humphreys Wheeler were unavoidably detained from attending and will receive their pins later. Esther Bailey and the five receiving pins were in the chapter together, at a time when the house held only 22.

The original house, built for 22 girls in 1910, was built as a chapter house, an unusual thing in those days. Subsequent additions in 1941 and 1954 (and subsequent mortgages) had raised the capacity to 54 girls—still not enough to meet the growing demands of membership. So in 1959, a final addition made it the complete and beautiful house it is today, one housing 64 girls. Interesting figures given by Kay before the flame was lighted show "how it was done" in the 15 years allotted for paying off the mortgage - 407 girls initiated, more than had been initiated by the time of her own initiation in 1924, income totaling more than a third of a million dollars from rent and Building Fund Fees. Approximate totals show $78,000 paid in taxes, $48,000 paid in interest (5½%!) and paid for upkeep, repairs and improvements to house and furnishings through those fifteen years, more than $100,000! Disclaiming any magic formula, but giving proper recognition to the value of her 44 years of dogged continuity, Kay said that all this could only have been accomplished by having a successful chapter with a constantly fine standing, a chapter that cared about Kappa.

Then came the exciting moment, flames lighting up the mortgage as Kay held it to a lighted candle set in an owl lantern which had come from the Hearthstone.

The chapter closed the meeting with a recitation of its ceremony used at final desserts during rush - a lovely statement of friendship and fraternity. A champagne luncheon followed, with tours of the house, inspection of the clever and educational archives display in the chapter room, and many happy reminiscences. All in all, an inspiring, beautiful day.

Recipient of the Kay Walz Diamond Key is Clare Canham—daughter of Michigan Director of Athletics and chapter president.

A Capitol Idea

A summer in our nation's Capitol is fascinating and stimulating. Numerous Kappas were fortunate in being chosen by their respective congressmen and senators for a summer internship on Capitol Hill—one they will never forget!

The United States Congress provides college students with one of our nation's best educational means, the Summer Intern Program. Each congressman hires between three and 30 interns for part-time work in his or her office. These jobs may be obtained by a letter of application with a short resume. The pay is minimal and in many instances, depending upon the college, a student may receive credits for his internship.

What are the advantages of a summer internship in Washington? Of course, the cultural advantage is obvious—that of living in a large, dynamic city, especially if one is from a small community or a different segment of the country. If not, the cultural advantage still prevails, since the nation's Capitol is a focal point of current events and ideas.

To an intern in a congressional office, a number of special privileges are granted that could not otherwise be obtained. They include: a special pass to both the Senate

by Deb Raymer

President, Beta Kappa-Idaho

and House Galleries, invitations to numerous receptions, general and specific seminars on current issues in government and opportunities to meet and talk to the decision-makers and legislators of our country.

In addition to these extra-curricular activities, there is the actual office work. Being a member of a congressional office is a rare privilege and experience—for here is where legislation is initiated, debated, researched, and written. When working with a congressional staff, one fully perceives the intricacy of the nation's politics. Underlying this, and perhaps most important are the comradeships and knowledge obtained by these congressional personnel.

What a Relief!

The news release began, "Through the efforts of a pair of DePauw University coeds there will be an additional $1,036 available for relief work in hurricane-ravaged Honduras." It all began last October the Sunday after the hurricane had hit Honduras. Gay Reese and Dana Siler, I-DePauw, sat in the Kappa dining room reading the news accounts about the hurricane and were horrified. Two of Gay's best friends from her junior year in Spain are from Honduras and were in the two worst-hit areas at the time of the disaster. (She has not yet received news about them.) The decision that Gay and Dana made then to ask for a donation at chapter meeting soon blossomed into an entire campus campaign.

The two Kappas recruited representatives of each DePauw living unit, supplied them with information describing the plight of Honduras, and encouraged them to conduct a solicitation in the campus community. In their letter to the editor of the campus newspaper, Gay and Dana wrote, "Collecting donations for the Hurricane Fifi victims in Honduras has been one of the most exciting and beautiful experiences that we have had at DePauw. Last Sunday we contacted one person in each living unit, explained the situation in Honduras and asked that each one make his living unit aware of the tragedy. At that point we had no idea how each student would react to such an appeal. In almost all cases, the response was one of most sincere concern and desire for some form of personal involvement. This concern extended from the representatives to every individual in the living unit. This has not been a hard-sell campaign for funds, but rather individual responses to real human need. We thank you; we are so proud to be a part of this community."

Within a week, their DePauw Honduras Relief Committee had collected the amount in excess of $1,000, which was turned over to the American Friends' Service whose representatives were on the spot in Honduras.

Just as Gay and Dana thanked the DePauw community for their genuine concern, so do we thank these two Kappas for their fine work. And congratulations to Iota chapter for supporting them in being the living unit with the largest donation for the fund.

MARATHONS MAKE MONEY

For the second year in a row, Beta Sigma Psi Fraternity at the University of Illinois sponsored a bike marathon, "Cruisin' for Cancer." And for the second year in a row, Beta Lambda Kappas cruised right into first place. Each of nine teams, composed of up to five cyclists, had to ride for four hours straight (stopping only to change cyclists), and each team was responsible for accumulating their own monetary pledges for each mile. The Kappas, the only Greek and the only female organization in the marathon, peddled a third place 77 miles, but they collected a first place $219.56 in pledges. This amount was over one-third of the total netted for the Champaign-Urbana Cancer Society for research.

Other Kappas joining in marathons to benefit charities include Gamma Zetas who participated in a dance marathon to raise money for muscular dystrophy. Pictured above are two who were in the final day of the "Dance for Those Who Can't" during the University of Arizona's Greek Week Spring '74.

(Left to right) Vicki Coultas, Susan Johnson, Connie Headlee, and Carol Headlee, BN-Ohio State, are also gathering community support—theirs being in the spirit of backing the Ohio State football team in its Rose Bowl bid this year. Vicki, Connie, and Carol are varsity cheerleaders; and Susan plays the drums in the all-brass marching band, having had the honor last year of being the first female member of this band.

An Education in Itself

Two weeks in Durango, Mexico, proved to be more of an education than a vacation for Mary Ann Byrd and Becky Cardwell, ΔΨ-Texas Tech, who were among 17 students in the Texas Tech College of Education participating in "Project Durango," a new concept in preparation for careers as educators. Mary Ann and Becky have expressed interest in the southwestern United States where they will work with pupils from backgrounds and cultural heritages different from their own. By enrolling in special project courses and participating in Project Durango, the group took a close look at the background and heritage of Mexican-American pupils.

"This experience helped us to better relate to the different backgrounds of the Mexican-American students we will teach," writes Mary Ann. Also, "we saw the different styles of teaching they use in Mexico."

These 17 participants were chosen from applications by the Faculty Durango Field Trip Committee. Prior to their field experience, the students had the option of registering for one to three hours of academic credit. To receive the credit, the students attended weekly seminars and worked as teacher's aids in Lubbock (Texas) elementary schools with large Mexican-American enrollments.

According to Debbie Morauer, ΓΨ-Maryland, her work last summer was "very interesting." As an operating engineer on the Metro C-7 job which is part of the subway system being built in Washington, D.C., Debbie had to join the local union of the operating engineers and pay union dues. She said her co-workers accepted her presence with enthusiasm. In fact, most of them expressed the desire to see more females working in construction because "it improves the scenery." Debbie plans to work in the construction field again.

Delta Lambda (Miami U.) won first place the second consecutive time for Greek Week 1974. The contests included trivia bowl, window painting, trike race, service project, bridge tournament, and Homecoming decorations.

St. Lawrence University Vice-President and Mrs. D. K. Baker at Kappa Strawberry Breakfast. (Drawing and article by Lucretia Romey, BB<sup>A</sup>-St. Lawrence.)

STRAWBERRY BREAKFAST

The Strawberry Breakfast is a tradition of long-standing at St. Lawrence University. Alice Manley, class of 1915, BB<sup>A</sup>-St. Lawrence, says that when she was an undergraduate it was the custom for the pledges to make breakfast for the active chapter before the all-campus honors service in the chapel. Here, the faculty was ribbed in various class skits, and honors were awarded to undergraduates. This has now evolved into a moving-up day ceremony in which various honoraries tap new members.

A number of the Greek houses and dorms have special breakfasts before the 10 a.m. chapel service. Beta Beta Deuteron Kappas invite members of the administration and student services as guests to the breakfast. Strawberries are a featured part of the menu. This year's guests included University President Piskor and Mrs. Piskor, as well as the university vice-presidents and their wives.

Crowns Keep Coming to Kappas . . .

Debbie Drury, ΔP-Mississippi, was selected 1974 University of Mississippi Homecoming Queen in a campus-wide vote. Serving as one of the three Junior Maids during Homecoming festivities was another Delta Rho Kappa, Terre Blanton. Terre was also recently elected one of three senators for Sorority Row. Debbie's honors include Mortar Board and Top Ten Beauty.

(Left to right) Terre Blanton and Debbie Drury, ΔP-Mississippi.

Floria Giopulos, ΓP Allegheny.

Debra Patterson, ΓP-Allegheny.

At Allegheny College, for at least nine years, and maybe longer, Gamma Rho has repeatedly captured the Homecoming Queen title. Debra Patterson is the current crownbearer; Floria Giopulos was the 1973 Queen; Sandi Hucko, 1972; and Jackie Shaffer, 1971.

Sun Bowl Queen Debbie Finger, EA-Texas Christian. Representing El Paso's Women's Department of the Chamber of Commerce, Debbie was selected from 16 contestants. The Sun Bowl is one of the many highlights of the Sun Carnival, in its 40th year at El Paso. The largest part is the coronation ceremony. Debbie's one-year reign includes several weekends attending activities to represent her honor.

Most Outstanding—

There are two of several Kappas who have been titled "outstanding" on their respective campuses who deserve special mention. Carolyn Elaine Smith,  $\Delta\Psi$ -Texas Tech, was named the most outstanding student in the Tech College of Education for 1973-74; and Susan Michele Traub,  $\Delta$ -Akron, was named Outstanding Woman on Campus. Both Susan and Carolyn served their chapters as president and both are members of Mortar Board and appear in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Susan has also been elected to the Associated Student Government for four years, being on the executive board for three years; and she is the only woman student to ever hold a position on the University Council of faculty, administrators and three students. Both girls were also given university recognition for high scholastic standing and campus involvement over a four-year period.

Carolyn Elaine Smith,  $\Delta\Psi$ -Texas Tech, Most Outstanding Student in College of Education, Texas Tech Dads' Association, Scholarship, Leadership, Citizenship Award, Kappa Pickers, Angel Flight, President's Hostesses, Phi Kappa Phi, Opal Key (highest grades in the chapter), honorary Jean Jenkins Award (outstanding member), one of the speakers for the graduation ceremony for the College of Education.

Any Way You Look at It...

Beta Nu president Debby Dyer pins the Kappa spirit award key on Birdie Cross, BN-Ohio State.

Kappa is not just pledges, just actives or just alumnae—It is all together, intertwined and intermingled. Thus "Campus Highlights" becomes not just a picture of actives—but one of actives with alumnae, pledges with actives, and active chapters with other chapters.

It is . . . alumnae presenting award keys to chapters, such as the Florence Burton Roth key given to the Gamma Rho senior who has most closely represented "the ideals of Kappa that Florence Burton Roth exhibited during her lifetime." Given to Gamma Rho by the Erie Alumnae Association, the award was presented this year to Diane Owen, ΓP—Allegheny.

It is . . . actives and alumnae celebrating Founders' Day together, such as Beta Nu (Ohio State) and Rho Deuteron (Ohio Wesleyan) at their dinner last October. Chapter awards were given and the new pledges were on hand to share in the presentation of nine 50-year Kappas.

It is . . . studying hard together in Gamma Alpha's Owl-Pal program, where a pledge is paired with an active according to major; and it is scholarship contests between classes.

It is . . . the pledge skit at Gamma Alpha's Founders' Day being their very successful "disappearing act," when the actives found instead of a skit, there was a sign, "The KEY to a good sneak . . . Only the FLUER-DE-LEAVES know for sure."

It is . . . retreats with "What's My Line?" games and feelings of Kappa exchanged.

It is . . . special Homecoming, football and parents' week-ends—a buffet for 300 guests at Gamma Alpha after a football game, to meet parents and families; Allegheny's Homecoming Alumnae Registration, where Gamma Rho Kappas had a hospitality table at which Kappa alumnae were invited to register and were given a Kappa badge to wear with their Homecoming badge.

It is . . . generations of Kappas generating love.

Kappa Overlaps any Generation Gaps

GREAT BEGINNINGS

Of a First Century . . .

Epsilon Omicron Colony of Kappa Kappa Gamma participated in its first rush last fall and pledged 13 girls. The rush week was the first formal rush at the University of California's Davis campus.

U.C. Davis accepted its first sororities one year ago—Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Phi, Phi Mu, and Delta Gamma. Rushing for the first time with Kappa were Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Omicron Pi, and Chi Omega. Actives from Delta Omega Chapter of Kappa at California State University at Fresno helped with rush for two days, and actives from Kappa's Pi Chapter at the University of California, Berkeley, rushed during the final two days. Assisting them were local alumnae, who had attended workshops and planned for the colonization during the summer.

Formal pledging was combined with the celebration of Founders' Day. Members of the Sacramento Valley Alumnae Association attended the ceremony before

Of a Second Century . . .

As Epsilon Omicron embarks upon its first century, Theta Chapter (Missouri) is making plans for the celebration of the end of one century and the beginning of a second century.

Betty Cochran, Θ-Missouri, describes the thrill of a centennial: "A chapter's centennial is a neat reason for good friends to come back to see each other after decades apart. Alumnae come to see the present actives, too, and the old scarpbooks, and to say, 'Oh, look what's happened to my old room'." Mrs. Cochran took part in Theta's 75th anniversary and has been the catalog adviser for Columbia for over 20 years. She is compiling alumnae recollections into a chapter history to be ready at Theta's centennial April 5th and 6th.

The festivities of the celebration, called "From Bustles to Blue Jeans," will feature a candlelight reception, tours of the remodeled chapter house and of the Missouri campus (renowned for its beauty in springtime!), skits by the actives, presentation of 50-year pins, a look at the Howard Rusk Rehabilitation Center (Mrs. Rusk is a Theta Kappa), candlelight banquet, and, of course, ample free time in the rooms at the new Hilton Inn for alumnae reunions, according to Susan Darst, Theta Chapter PR co-chairman.

going to a reception and dinner, honoring Kay Smith Larson, National Director of Field Representatives, and the new pledges.

Epsilon Omicron pledges are already working with local alumnae to build their new chapter, have an active football team, and plan to entertain pediatric patients at the university's medical center.

Susan also reports that the 115 members of Theta Chapter are implementing an extensive fraternity appreciation program, recognizing the privilege of taking part in this once-in-a-lifetime experience.

Kappas formed the first sorority at Missouri. And Theta Chapter called the first Panhellenic meeting, arranged and used a pledge service later adopted by the national fraternity as official, hosted national convention in 1904 (when the World's Fair was in St. Louis), and today Theta boasts many honors as a chapter and for its individual members.

Susan writes, "It's an exciting time, a time which strengthens our love for each other and for Kappa, and we want to share our feelings with our sisters worldwide. A centennial discloses a profound joy of Kappa: the knowledge that things change, the world changes, but when you come right down to it, Kappa will always be 'where it's at'."

Attention Alumnae of Theta Chapter!

Please write to Mrs. James C. O'Gara, 207 Manor Drive, Columbia, Missouri 65201, for your reservation for Theta's Centennial Celebration "From Bustles to Blue Jeans" on April 5th and 6th.

Picture a huge auditorium filled with seven hundred Kappas, quietly listening to the "Big Blue Owls" sitting in front, talking about Kappa! It is a warm and rather unique feeling to be a part of this Kappa sisterhood. Many of us experienced this when we worked and played together this summer at convention. We all left Columbus with new ideas, hopes, and many new friends. Fortunately the exchange of ideas did not end as we flew home. Thanks to the 1971 Fraternity Council, the Undergraduate Council (UGC) was formed as a "hotline" of communication between the Council and the Chapters. Now, four years later, the UGC is going strong.

Last year the UGC worked on the alcohol and visitation policies. These policies were discussed at convention, and a recommendation was made to the Council to change our current policy. We will have to wait and see what happens.

This summer at convention many chapters expressed a desire and need to improve their Panhellenic system. So, this year the UGC is focusing on Panhellenic! We need every Kappa's suggestions. Any helpful ideas will be published in "Speak Up", the UGC newsletter.

Each chapter should send their ideas to their province representatives who will in turn send them on to me. I will compile the information, and it will be published in "our" newsletter. I am Jane Robison, ΔΠ-University of Tulsa, and a senior, majoring in special education in the field of Mental Retardation. This fall I am student teaching, and have 15 cute first and second graders. After dismissing my class, I rush out to the tennis courts. TU has a new girls tennis team this year, and I was "Lucky" to get to play.

This year there are 16 willing and exciting Kappas eager to hear your ideas and suggestions. So—"Speak Up"—they are listening.

The Undergraduate Council Is Listening!

Alpha: Donna Swedin is a sophomore at the University of Connecticut, majoring in English. She is social chairman and also active in Greek Council. The council is working towards a Greek revival, as Delta Mu is one of two sororities left on the campus. Donna should be great working on this council since she has a lot of enthusiasm and Kappa spirit!

Beta: Deb Shiffer, a junior at Penn State, is working on her B.S. in Nutrition. She is very active in her Kappa chapter, and has served as House and Membership Chairman. Deb has quite a variety of interests including politics, swimming, sewing and reading. She now has discovered her green thumb - and is "trying" to grow plants!

Gamma: Jo Nowels is a sophomore at Ohio State University. She is majoring in retailing in the school of home economics. Jo did not have to travel far to get to convention this summer, since she is at home in Columbus. Needless to say, she enjoyed the meetings, hearing new ideas, and meeting new Kappa friends.

Delta: Jeanne Hambidge, a sophomore from Butler University, is a special education major in the field of Mental Retardation. She loves the outdoors, and can be found lifeguarding, playing tennis, bicycling, and even painting fire hydrants!

Epsilon: Emily Johnson is a junior at Monmouth College. She stays busy working on the dorm council, and is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, an honorary society. Emily also enjoys playing the piano.

Zeta: Bonita Wenig, Corresponding Secretary of her chapter at the University of Missouri, has found this a busy job in such a large chapter. Bonita is a French education major. Her interests vary from sports such as ballet and swimming to reading.

Eta: Sandy Campbell, BM-Colorado, is a senior majoring in real estate. She is outgoing 2nd vice president and leads the Pickers singing group. Sandy has been intramurals chairman, scholarship chairman and registrar. Her interests are piano, horseback riding, and football. Sandy has lived in Switzerland, Italy, Mexico City, and calls Puerto Rico "home".

Theta: Brenda Farrell, is a junior majoring in elementary education. She enjoys photography, reading and needlepoint. Brenda loves to travel, and spent this past summer traveling through Europe!

The History Of Our History

INTRODUCTION

As the scions of some noble and illustrious family might contemplate with just pride the record of the ancient lineage from which they themselves had sprung, so the daughters of Kappa Kappa Gamma, may turn their thoughts backward to pioneer ancestors and review with grateful and glowing hearts the history of the organization which has been such a potent factor in the formation of the character of all who bear the name of Kappa.

It is true those modest founders little realized the great extent the everwidening circle of their influence would attain, but they builded well for they crystallized into enduring form the noble ideals of love and loyalty and honor which constitute all that is good and beautiful in life. And because of the character of the foundation they laid, Kappa Kappa Gamma has endured and extended and multiplied until today her daughters come from colleges a continent apart, from nearly a hundred institutions where the magic spell of Kappahood has woven into thousands of lives the lasting inspiration of noble ideals.

As we trace the development of the Fraternity through the pages of history, we shall note a growing complexity of organization and governing law but it is also significant to note that the principles upon which Kappa Kappa Gamma was founded, have never been altered. The noble ideals of the ritual, now in use throughout her chapters, are the same which our Founders inaugurated in 1870 and which during the century of Kappa existence have held together so sacredly the "Circle of the Golden Key."

As adapted from History of Kappa Kappa Gamma published 1932 By Florence Burton Roth

THE ban placed upon fraternities by Monmouth College in June, 1874, resulted in the decline of Alpha Chapter, a lessening of contact with the other Chapters, and the loss of all records. As early as 1881 there was concern over the early history, for Alpha was designated to present "History" at the next convention at the public "literary entertainment." Mary (Minnie) Moore Stewart, then Mrs. William W. Nelson, one of the founders, was present at the Convention of 1882 and gave an "Address from Alpha Chapter." Mrs. Nelson traced the growth of the Fraternity during its twelve years, spoke of its purposes and influence, but could not present "a complete history" because she was "unable to procure the necessary information."

Two years later the convention minutes record a motion "that some one be appointed to write the legendary history of the Fraternity." The matter was left for the new Grand Council and although there is no further mention of it in the records it was probably not entirely lost sight of. When Charlotte Clement Barrell, Phi, presided over her second Convention in 1888 Mary M. Kingsbury was Phi's delegate. A year later (August 26, 1889) the Grand Council accepted the offer of Miss Kingsbury (Mrs. Vladimir Simkhovitch) to write the history of the Fraternity and she was appointed Historian.

In spite of Miss Kingsbury's ability and zeal, and her position at the time as Editor of The Key she must have encountered difficulties. An editorial in the issue for December, 1890, announces that "the work . . . is well under way" and that "with the hearty co-operation of every Chapter, the History can be published before the Indianapolis Convention." No word of Miss Kingsbury's report to that Convention of 1892 has been preserved but that body placed the work of Historian "for the future" in the hands of the Grand Registrar.

Whatever material Miss Kingsbury may have gathered was taken over by Anna L. Mosemiller, Delta, who two years later passed it on, with additions, no doubt, to Mignon Talbot, Beta Nu. During her six years in office much valuable work was done by her and by the Editor, Mary J. Hull. Of great importance was the article published in The Key, January, 1899, entitled Chiefly Historical.

The Convention of 1900 empowered the Grand Council to appoint an Historian and Minnetta Theodora Taylor, Iota, who had edited the three volumes of The Golden Key was appointed. It is the Fraternity's misfortune that this gifted woman did not write the history of Kappa Kappa Gamma's first thirty years. Her keen mind and literary gifts would have produced an interesting volume. Miss Taylor's report for 1900-02 is published in full. She lists what she received from Miss Talbot who evidently sorted out from the Grand Registrar's archives the things which properly belonged to the Historian, lists what she had added and also what was needed. The following outline for the History she suggested: "Development of the Fraternity; Conventions; The Legislative; The Council; The Key; Other Kappa Publications; the Chapter List; Chapter Histories; Fraternity Symbols; Inter-fraternity Relations; Prominent Kappas." Thus early do chapter histories and prominent Kappas rise to trouble Historians.

So deeply was the Council impressed with the need for a published history, and so apparent was it that one could not be prepared for a number of years, that the Convention of 1902 authorized Minnie Royse-Walker, Iota, to prepare and publish a short history. This she did immediately, Kappa's Record appearing the following year. It was a small, paper-bound book of fewer than seventy pages, containing material intended to make members realize the purposes and high ideals of the Fraternity, to give them important facts in its history, and to show reasons for pride in the achievements of its members individually and in chapter groups.

Miss Taylor resigned just before the Convention of 1904, the Convention which marked the close of my term as Grand President. The new Council saw in the vacant office a place in which an ex-Grand President might continue to serve the Fraternity. I am not at all proud of the fact that after one year, marked by no real advance in the work, I resigned.

Elizabeth Gray, Pi, became Historian in 1905. Her report for Convention the following year shows that the reading of letters from early members had made her familiar with the problems of the first decade, and that already contradictory reports were causing perplexity. The Convention of 1906 elected Elizabeth Gray-Potter Editor of The Key and she served in the dual capacity until her successor was appointed in the spring of 1907. Her final report tells of her success in locating the four Founders and in securing pictures of them, then and now. These were reproduced in The Key, December, 1907, with important historical articles. It was a real calamity which befell the Fraternity when one of the two boxes being shipped to the new Historian was destroyed in an express car fire. One reads with sinking heart of "a complete bound file of The Key, copies of the first catalog and song book, chapter histories, letter books of former Grand Council officers and miscellaneous correspondence," all destroyed.

Katherine S. Doty, Beta Epsilon, was Historian until November, 1910. She did an enormous amount of work in restoring the lost archives and in arranging the material for future use.

Her far-flung correspondence brought much valuable information and her reports for the Conventions of 1908 and 1910 stimulated much interest in historical research. At the Council Session of October, 1911, Miss Doty reported as Historian pro tem, but although her name continued to be carried in The Key there was no report at the Convention of 1912 "inasmuch as the office has been vacant for over a year."

Her term as Grand President just ended, Florence Burton-Roth, Beta Delta, became Historian. The first problem with which she wrestled was that of chapter histories—and it was the last. She was the first Historian who reached the point where she planned to publish a history. Her report of 1918 refers to the interruption in work on the manuscript caused by wartime activities during the past two years but also to her hope that the book may be published before the Golden Jubilee Convention in 1920. "Hope deferred maketh the heart sick" might well have been written of Kappa Historians. In her report for Council Session in 1921 Mrs. Roth wrote, "I am planning to have the history interesting and readable, rather than exhaustively statistical, and therefore it will not be a very large volume." To the Convention of 1922 she reported that the History was rapidly nearing completion and presented the outline of it by chapters. Two years later she reported that the necessity for complete revision of the chapter histories had further delayed publication. At Council Session, 1925, Mrs. Roth's resignation was regretfully accepted. She had done so much—how much only the present Historian knows—but it was impossible for her to do what remained. The chapter histories had triumphed.

With confidence born of ignorance, I, in my last year as National President, offered to finish the work. I even attempted a whirlwind campaign to bring the book to publication before the next Convention. By April, 1926, I admitted defeat but accepted the appointment as Historian after Convention. It was not difficult to persuade myself that since the fiftieth anniversary was far past it would be well to delay publication until sixty years could be included. Mrs. Roth's chapters covering the early years and the dead chapters were ready, also certain special articles. It was my intention to follow Mrs. Roth's general outline but I found myself intensely interested in old pictures. Not satisfied with those of the four Founders and two or three others of Alpha I undertook correspondence with all living members of Alpha in my search for photographs and this led to the accumulation of biographical data. Honorary members offered a field for investigation. By this time the chapter histories had been brought up to date so many times that they again presented a problem. The plan to present certain data in uniform arrangement both before and after each chapter history involved an incredible amount of work. The fact that this has been so difficult to obtain convinces me that publication in this compact form will prove worthwhile.

As the history has developed in my hands it has become increasingly a book for reference. It has seemed necessary to treat some subjects very exhaustively because of the difficulty of securing the information given without long search through many manuscripts and publications. Ten years from now, perhaps, Mrs. Roth's "not . . . very large volume," "interesting and readable" will be written. I dread to think of the errors and omissions which will be discovered in this, the first History of Kappa Kappa Gamma, but I crave for the book such wide reading, especially among the older alumnae, that there will be many criticisms in order that errors may be corrected and the things omitted supplied.

My debt to countless members of the Fraternity I acknowledge. Many of their names appear in the book, but not all by any means. To them, known and unknown, you will join me in gratitude for they have made our History possible.

May Cynthia Whiting-Westermann,
Historian 1925—

From 1932 until the present day no bound volume of history has been printed. The Key has served as the vehicle for recording history. The Diamond Jubilee issue of The Key (Spring 1957, edited by Isabel Hatton Simmons, BN-Ohio State), the Centennial issue of The Key (Fall 1970, edited by Mildred Ann Meuser Ritter, Θ-Missouri), and the condensed "Heritage of The Fraternity" written by Catherine Schroeder Graf, BN-Ohio State, for The Kappa Notebook and reprinted in The Key (Winter 1973) are really the only attempts at updating our history.

However, a new History of Kappa Kappa Gamma will be published by The Key in two volumes - Part I Chapter Histories to be mailed in the Fall of 1975 and Part II General Fraternity History to be mailed Fall 1976. Every member will receive these volumes at no extra charge - a gift of the Fraternity to you!

It was presented to the Fraternity at its Golden Jubilee Celebration and now hangs in the drawing room of Fraternity Headquarters. You will see her again in the coming issues of The History of Kappa Kappa Gamma - a two volume edition presented by The Key.

Why Panhellenic? . .

It's logical. It's fair. It's effective.

It's logical. All fraternities are organized for the purposes of friendship, pursuit of academic and personal development, and service to their fellow man. Greeks recognize the community of interests which draw them together. They are aware that in the areas of campus and community involvement their resources are far more effective when joined in a united effort. It makes sense to have an instrument through which the mechanics of communication and cooperation can function. On campus this body is the Women's Panhellenic Association. At the international level it is the National Panhellenic Conference.

It's fair. An organization which offers the forum for exchange of ideas, resolutions of common problems, and the machinery for joint efforts, must have some guidelines for operation. In NPC those guidelines which have been acceptable to all have been adopted and ratified by each member group. These are the Unanimous Agreements.

The Unanimous Agreements, Policies and Recommended Procedures all have been developed to ensure unbiased and equitable treatment for each member fraternity. They establish an acceptable code of conduct for fraternity officers and members in their dealings with each other. They outline the procedures for organizing a College Panhellenic, define eligibility for rush and commitment of membership, provide for the handling of disputes, and spell out the jurisdiction of a College Panhellenic in order to preserve the autonomy of the individual fraternities in matters of internal operation.

It's effective. For more than seventy years fraternity leaders, on both the college and international level, have known and appreciated the benefits and pleasures to be gained in working with their counterparts in the other fraternities. Respect has been earned and bestowed; confidence, understanding and tolerance have developed; firm and lasting friendships have been formed; belief in the merits of the fraternity system and its contributions to the student members and their host institutions have been formed, affirmed, and reinforced.

We are convinced that the growth and strength of each member fraternity has been promoted and enhanced by the willingness of each organization to cooperate in the joint goals and agreed upon procedures. With such traditions of mutual respect and unity of purpose the women's fraternities can be proud of their achievements and look forward to even greater accomplishments because of this logical, fair, and effective conference.

Editor's note: Helen Boucher Dix was one of a Greek Panel at the June 1974 convention where many Kappas heard her speak. The Undergraduate Council of Kappa will be studying the many projects and programs of individual campuses and the Spring Issue of The Key will carry their report.

VIA EXSULTARE —a devotional from Convention

“Believe, sons and daughters of earth, for it is in believing that we follow the way of joy and become the children of heaven!

“Live life fully, confident in its worth and wonder. Though evil is strong in the world, the power of goodness will prevail.

“Have faith in yourself and in your own abilities. Be glad that you are who you are. But strive to grow. Living is becoming. Life is a journey. . .

“No one can deny your worth unless you yourself doubt your own value. Never confuse self-love with self-respect. Undue love of self turns all other loves away, but self-respect is the cornerstone of virtue.

“Be joyful in your heart. Celebrate the miracle of your being with laughter and music. For good humor is bread to the soul. But amid the confusion of life, never lose sight of the quiet places, the silent harbors. . .

“There are times for solitude and meditation, just as there are times to speak and act . . . Alone, with your thoughts, you can renew your energies and discover the broad pathways that will lead you on.

“All who work are noble, whether the king on his throne or the weaver at his loom. Work is a cure for the ills of the soul that ever beset mankind. Work keeps at bay three great evils—boredom, vice and need. . .

“Work therefore, not for money alone, but for the health of your soul as well. Where your work is, there let your joy be.

“Cling to your memories, dream your dreams, but prize nothing more than the value of each day . . . And as years pass and autumn comes, learn to freely cast aside the trappings of youth. . .

“As outward beauty begins to fade, let the greater beauty flourish within, so that, like the seasons, you may change and mature.

“Choose your friends with greater care than any material thing, for friends well chosen will strengthen you against the changing winds of fortune and the storms of adversity. . .

“Friends will give you companionship and hope during times of trouble; they will double your joys in times of triumph.

“A true friend will open his doors to you when the hour is late. He will give you treasures of the spirit more valuable than gold.

“Treat your fellow man with kindness and respect. Even the humblest among us shares a kinship with the stars.

“All bear the common stamp of humanity. Every man knows failure. Each of us walks through corridors of loneliness and despair. The greatest and the least of our brothers and sisters deserve our compassion.

“Strive for peace! And know that the peace of all the world grows from the serenity of a peaceful heart.

“Remember that all who earnestly seek God shall find Him—whether it be in the village church, the great temples of the city, in a maze of streets or in a pathless wilderness.

“Love! Love always. Love as sons and daughters love. Love as mothers and as fathers. Love as man and woman, without question or doubt. . .

“Love courageously, beyond the instant and across the span of time. Love purefully, faithfully, even as God loves, and you will be part of God.

“Above all, believe. Believe in life. Believe in humankind. Believe in yourself. . .

“Believe in the healing power of time and the strength of nature. Believe in work, in friendship and in love.

“For to place yourself on the side of belief—to affirm life—is to follow the way of joy.”

Kappa wishes you a joyous 1975!
