San Diego Area Kappas Welcome You To Convention June 24-30

Judy Reamer Cox, Ψ-Cornell Convention Committee, San Diego Liason

A most cordial welcome is extended to all delegates to the 1976 National Convention from all the Kappas in the San Diego area. Because we have such a large military population, many Kappas are brought here from all over the country, and many of you will see some old friends here. On the other hand, because San Diego offers its residents such a fine quality of life, many Kappas and their families have settled here and you will see many of the same wonderful faces you saw in 1960 when the convention was at the Hotel del Coronado.

The San Diego Alumnae Association began in 1927 and covered a geographical area the size of Connecticut. Eventually the association grew so large that it was decided to form two groups, one from San Diego city and one from La Jolla. Geographically the associations are close together and many Kappas are dual members. The San Diego Kappas generally meet in the evenings, and the La Jollans in the daytime, so an alum has a choice as to meeting time. There is a third alumnae group, the newly formed North San Diego County Alumnae Club.

The major fund raising effort for the San Diego and La Jolla alums centers around an annual fashion show and luncheon. Through the determination of a few hard-working members, we have grown from the point of making a few hundred dollars our first year, to the point where we now make donations in the thousands of dollars to the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and to Kappa philanthropies. This year's show was a wildly innovative and imaginative production held in the Coast Guard Hanger, complete with helicopters, fire trucks, a staged air-sea rescue and the attendance of Pete Wilson, Mayor of San Diego.

The San Diego and La Jolla Associations recently 'adopted' the McGill and Iowa State chapters, respectively as part of the Alumnae-Active Interaction plan. This is particularly exciting to local alums who for years have missed the contact with actives that so many alums enjoy.

San Diego and La Jolla Kappas are very active in the community, serving on the boards of the Junior League, Girl Scouts of America, Bobby Sox Area alumnae pose in appropriate clothing for convention. Left to right is Mary Jean Bahr Wolf, ΓΨ-Maryland in daytime pants suit; Carol Van Karsen Lockwood, ΠΔ-Ohio Wesleyan in "Beach Grubbies"; Ruth Wortman Hein, ΓΒ-New Mexico in an evening formal; and Jane Anglemeyer Rapps, ΔΩ-Fresno State in required white convention dress. (Seated) Jean Handley Talbott, ΒΛ-Illinois in sports attire.

Softball, the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, the San Diego Historical Society, the Metropolitan Opera Audition, the Women's Association of the Salk Institute and the San Diego Symphony, to name just a few. Vocationally, we find Kappas as fashion models, assistants to deans of a state university, probation officers, university professors, intensive care nurses, optometrists and realtors.

We are all looking forward to convention with great enthusiasm. Many of us will be working in the Convention Headquarters Office, behind the scenes at the show for the Heritage Dinner, building fires for the beach party, and of course, greeting you at the airport. Look us up; you may see an old friend who's been living the good life in San Diego, America's Finest City!!!

Seeing Is Believing!

Conventions are always memorable! Probably none stands out more vividly than the convention of 1960 at the Hotel del Coronado! There are those who believe that it is impossible to repeat a fond memory. Your convention committee, however, with the very able and enthusiastic help of the San Diego and LaJolla Associations, serving as the hostess groups, is doing its very best to make this 1976 convention another truly great experience for all who attend. The Council has planned an inspirational and thought-provoking program while the convention committee fills in with well spaced relaxation, entertainment, and a variety of "happenings" which will linger through the years as you think back to Convention 1976!

What more perfect setting than the Hotel del Coronado to carry forward our theme: HERITAGE. Present day Coronado is a lovely, modern small city with the world's largest Naval Air Station adjoining the community. This quiet little city of beautiful streets and homes has become widely known as the favorite retirement spot for ex-Naval and Marine Corps officers. Although Coronado was a part of the general surroundings when San Diego was first visited by Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo in 1542, it was not until 1846 that it was recorded in history. Then known as the peninsula of San Diego, it was described in the land grant papers as "big enough for grazing lots." E. S. Babcock bought the peninsula in 1885 for real estate development, subdivided the land and built the Hotel del Coronado. Visitors, presidents and royalty from all over the world have been attracted to the spacious, gracious hotel.

With the stately and beautiful Hotel del Coronado as our convention site, a setting conducive to a pleasant five days and six nights is already assured. Everything needed to provide an enjoyable background is afforded by the Hotel and its staff. The Grande Ballroom, with its majestic view of the beach and Pacific ocean, will house the business sessions. A large percentage of the bedrooms have a spectacular view of the ocean, bay or gardens, and some even have glassed in porches and sitting rooms. One can envision the families who "summered" at the hotel in its earlier days, complete with their youngsters, "nannies," and entourage—for, alas, there are also those rooms which are not so spacious, though all are very adequate. The dining room, the famous "Crown Room," has changed very little in appearance from the day it was built. It's arched ceiling was made of natural-finished sugar pine, fitted together with pegs (no nails), with a unique support system so that no posts or other interior supports were required. The damask on the walls exactly matches the room's carpeting. And, the Crown Room's elaborate light fixtures are famous throughout the world (Thomas Edison supervised the installation!) What lovelier setting could there be for our opening Presidents' Dinner and through the week to our closing, traditional Candlelight Banquet! Seeing is believing—and you'll just have to come to believe it's really true!

Convention officially convenes with an orientation session Thursday evening, June 24th—complete with parliamentary suggestions for keeping things orderly, a drawing for the nominating committee, followed by Province gatherings. Probably no one who has ever been to a Kappa convention will forget the inspiration of the Procession and formal opening of Convention, which will be Friday morning. It will be during this opening, formal session that we shall have our Keynote speaker. Friday evening promises to be a gala event with past Fraternity Presidents honored at a formal dinner and reception following in the Garden Patio. Saturday will be a memorable day honoring Alumnae, associations and clubs, with special awards for outstanding endeavors throughout the biennium. Another highlight of that morning session is the recognition of our Achievement Award winners, honoring those Kappas who are particularly outstanding in their special field—really Kappa's highest honor. For those who have attended five (or more) Biennial Conventions, there will be a Habiteer's luncheon—a highly secretive "inside" organization! Saturday evening will be the Philanthropy Dinner and an opportunity following it to visit with those famous Kappas who have been honored and to discuss your "dreams" of success in their given fields. There will be opportunity to discuss "careers" in Kappa for any interested in becoming a graduate counselor or field secretary, and advisers can visit all evening and into the wee small hours, if desired, at a workshop designed to answer any and all questions.

The beautiful "Crown Room" is all set for dining elegance.

Sunday is planned for seriousness, fun, and laughter. We will meet at 10:00 a.m. for our traditional Memorial Service, followed by the famous Coronado "brunch" at 11:00 a.m. which will be held in the Grande Hall, the new convention facility built in 1973. And what an exciting afternoon! The Alumnae Boutique will be open for shoppers remaining at the Hotel during the afternoon and for those wishing to tour we offer the following: shuttle buses throughout the afternoon to and from "Old Town" (the renovation of the Old San Diego), and the world famous San Diego Zoo. Another tour to Tijuana, Mexico (an additional $7.50) will feature an excursion bus with bi-lingual guides for a sight seeing and a shopping tour of the famous little town. This lovely day will culminate with an outdoor, hamburger barbeque in the Garden Patio, complete with strolling mariachi band in the background. Entertainment will follow and for hardier souls, beach fires have been planned with lots of singing and jollity. "Grubbies" are in order, and warm coats or sweaters, for the evening breezes from the ocean are often quite chilly.

Monday will be highlighted by our speaker, Mary Poole, X-Minnesota, speaking on voluntarism following the morning business session. For those who haven't witnessed an initiation in some time (and for some of us that could be some time!) we will all have the thrill and inspiration of watching an initiation—not done at convention since the Swampscott convention at the New Ocean House in 1956. The Heritage Dinner that evening promises to be absolutely outstanding with the multi-media fashion show presentation of "Bustles to Blue Jeans" presented by Diane Selby, BN-Ohio State, editor of The Key, tracing the history and traditions of the Fraternity system from its origin at William and Mary with the establishment of Phi Beta Kappa two hundred years ago.

Tuesday, our last day, seems to be a recapitulation of everything that has transpired during the convention . . . a day filled with inspiration, a new meaning and understanding of the name sister and Fraternity, the parting of new friends made for a lifetime, perhaps, and as the coveted chapter awards are made surely vows will be made by all to help our chapter, our association or club, and Kappa become even stronger and more meaningful. The very last memory, before departing on Wednesday morning, will be the thrilling Candlelight Banquet, the "passing of the light" from the oldest chapter to the newest, and then the closing ritual . . . the Crown Dining Room the perfect setting!

It wouldn't surprise me if you would keep coming back and some day even become a Habiteer yourself—conventions are always memorable!

Send a Mouse to College

Vickie Erickson, ΔB-Duke, announcing the winner of "Send a Mouse to College," with Barb Counts, ΔB-Duke, looking on.

It was after combing through many possible projects and studying their area that two Delta Beta Kappas came up with a new philanthropical project for their chapter. The chapter decided to raise funds for the American Cancer Society. Vickie Erickson and Barb Counts, ΔB-Duke, described a way to "Send a Mouse to College" and offer to those people who did so a chance for a trip.

Adopting the Cancer Society's theme of sending a mouse to college, Vickie and Barb organized the project and soon posters were made, tickets were printed, and the prize was obtained. For one dollar, a person could purchase two mice for cancer research and possibly be the winner of a trip for two to New Orleans, including airfare, limousine fare, spending money, and hotel accommodations.

They arranged for the winning ticket to be drawn during halftime of Duke's Homecoming game. Two weeks before the game, 20 tickets were given to each of the Delta Beta Kappas. The response was so great that many sold out within hours after receiving them. A total of $1,400 was realized for cancer research. Since Duke University is a major recipient of cancer research grants, the Kappas felt everything fit together perfectly!

CAMPUS HIGHLIGHTS

Seeing that philanthropies are the backbone of Kappa, Epsilon Zeta chapter took a hint from the Clemson Kappas and sponsored a volleyball marathon last November. Lara Watkins, EZ-Florida State, organized the tournament and the chapter helped by going to businesses in Tallahassee to seek support for the marathon. The pledges-donations obtained were purchased through the use of advertising the name of the business on a printed T-shirt. The shirts were worn throughout the marathon. Their efforts paid off greater than hoped for and produced a net total of $1,000 to award the Florida Sheriff's Boy's Ranch and Girl's Villa in Bartow, Florida.

Fraternities on the campus also helped. Faculty members played for an hour slot, too, as did several groups of additional friends. The players particularly appreciated the support of the Parkway Baptist Church during the ridiculous hours from 2 to 4 a.m.! And all 89 Epsilon Zetas felt they could not have made it in full force without the help of their housemother, Mrs. Harriet Ross, who kept their spirits up with her cheering and supply of goodies.

These Kappas have written that "the greatest part of our having the volleyball marathon was the help and suggestions that we received from the Clemson Kappas. They wrote us hints and good points and best of all, sent us our first donation. This gave all of us a better

Kappas Season Holidays With Happiness —

Beta Kappa chapter (Idaho) took advantage of Halloween to have a party for the "special children" with whom they had been working all year. They helped to teach these special children to bowl on Saturday afternoons. And as the children prepared for the Special Olympics, Beta Kappa prepared, too, by making a banner representing their groups and by sewing letters on their uniforms. Currently, the Kappas are providing transportation on week nights to allow the special children to attend various activities.

Halloween at Florida State finds the fraternities on campus with special pumpkins. An annual tradition and project for the fall pledge class of Epsilon Zeta is to carve jack-o-lanterns for all the Florida State fraternities. The pumpkin's eyes are K's and his nose is a Γ, and his ghostly grin becomes the shape of a key. Each pumpkin is personalized on the back with the carving of the Greek letters of the fraternity recipient.

It is the underprivileged children in Champaign-Urbana (Illinois) who delight in Kappa Christmas happenings. With Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity, the Beta Lambda (Illinois) Kappas held a Christmas party for these children. Highlights were the appearance of Santa Claus and the presentation of the 12 days of Christmas.

Santa Claus also made an appearance at Bucknell University when he came to the Christmas party co-hosted by Delta Phi chapter and Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity for the professors' children. Each child at the party received a stocking full of candy made by the Kappas.

Children of the Denver and Boulder (Colorado) alumnae enjoyed the Easter party given them by Beta Mu chapter last spring. Cindy Estes, BM-Colorado, appeared as Mr. Easter Bunny and the Beta Mu Pickers provided musical entertainment.

The night that Delta Gamma chapter (Michigan State) entertained the girls from the Lansing Community

Mental Health Center seemed like a holiday time for them. Dinner and talking about so many subjects were followed by Pickers singing and a tour of the house. They felt that these "guests were a delight to meet and provided the Kappas with a wonderful feeling. They were terrific people who are striving for independence and a responsible role in society." The 14 girls who attended were from 23 to 42 years of age and have lived together for three years in a special residential home. Besides learning to run their own household, they go to school and work with each other. Some who have made accelerated learning progress now hold community jobs.

Delta Phi Kappas and Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity men at Bucknell enjoy watching games at their joint Christmas party for the professors' children.

Sue Ausbrooks, ΔΔ-Miami U., the only Miami U. student selected to attend the University of London Summer School last year, was one of only 15 undergraduates in the 120 people from the entire world who attended.

The opportunity to study abroad has attracted several Kappas. Candy Coberly, BM-Colorado, lived with a family in Costa Rica for 11 months while she attended the University of Costa Rica. Cynthia Fulstone, BM-Colorado, spent one semester studying at the London (England) School of Economics and one semester living with a family in Vienna, Austria, where she studied music, art, and economics. Lori DeSoto and Marylee Serventi, BM-Colorado, are now in Siena, Italy, through the University's study-abroad program. And Carrie Kramlich, BM-Colorado has followed Cynthia to Vienna to live with a family as she is sponsored by the Institute of European Studies.

Bonnie Anderson, Y-Northwestern, studied at the University of Barcelona, Spain, last year. She is a journalism major.

Beauty Is

Vicky Adams, BK-Idaho, Miss University of Idaho, reigned over the 1975 Homecoming. Vicky is the third Kappa in the past four pageants held to win the title. She has also been named Miss Elmore County, Outstanding Senior Girl, Girl's State, and in Who's Who Among American Music Students.

Debbie Dacey, ΓΨ-Maryland, is a state finalist in the 1976 Miss Maryland beauty pageant, as well as a finalist in the 1976 Miss Metro beauty pageant.

Karla Graue, BII-Washington, was crowned last summer the 1975 Seattle Seafair Queen.

Erin McInerney, Y-Northwestern, was Navy Ball Empress Candidate.

Carolyn Kuhn, BΘ-Okla-homa, was a finalist for ROTC Queen.

Nancy Paulus, BΛ-Illinois, was along with Kathie Danielson, Y-Northwestern, one of the 10 finalists for the 1975 College All-Star Queen. Kathie has served as an intern in Washington, D.C. Nancy has many Panhellenic and chapter contributions to her name, the latest being her election as chapter president.

Panhellenic Presidents

Therese Cleary, BΩ-Oregon.

One of the outstanding services Panhellenics offer is the awarding of scholarships. The 1975-76 Portland (Oregon) Panhellenic scholarship for the University of Oregon campus was given to Therese Cleary, BΩ-Oregon. She is the first Kappa to receive this honor in many years.

Therese has received an Associate Degree in philosophy and economics from the Mt. Hood Community College. Upon graduation from that college, she was placed in the Who's Who in American Junior Colleges. Since she has been at Oregon she has worked with Phi Chi Theta (business), with a senior citizen companionship program, and as chapter registrar and Panhellenic delegate.

Lynne Collins, BK-Idaho, has served as both vice president and president of her university's Panhellenic. Her service to both the university and to her chapter have brought her many honors. She has been chapter president, recipient of the Ella Wood key, and was named 1975 Greek Woman of the Year. She has been chosen to membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Kappa Phi, Mortar Board and Tau Beta Phi (engineering honorary).

Planning to graduate this spring with a Bachelor of Science in engineering, Lynne placed first in the freshman engineering design competition at the university.

Ann Shipe, EM-Clemson (affiliated now with Gamma Psi, Maryland)

has been given the Panhellenic gavel by a chapter sister, Jan Schultz, ΓΨ-Maryland, who was the 1975 Panhellenic president. While president of the Maryland Panhellenic, Jan led Greek women to a high point of respect throughout the campus. In becoming acquainted with the Maryland campus, Ann organized the Gamma Psi chapter in a most exciting and profitable competition during Greek Week. She went on to become co-chairman of Homecoming—in its second year comeback. Then Ann coordinated the "Stray Greek" program, designed to locate and integrate Greeks who transferred to the Maryland campus and do not have active chapters there.

As PR director of Panhellenic, she represented them as a lobbyist for a property tax bill before the state legislature. Pat is also active with the Terrapin Ski Club, the women's rugby team, in Mortar Board, Omicron Delta Kappa, Diamond, Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Kappa Phi, and Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Pat will represent the state of Maryland in the 1976 Cherry Blossom Festival.

COWBOY COEDS

A newly formed group at Oklahoma State helps in the recruiting of football players for the university. Eight Delta Sigma Kappas were chosen for the "Cowboy Coeds" through interviews with coaches and football players. They are Peggy Parks, Susan Austin, Gloria Jennings, Cathy Cooper, Diana Ledlie, Debbie Adams, Katherine Daniel, and Kathy Malchar. Katherine has been elected president.

At the University of Alabama, Stephanie Teel, $\Gamma\Pi$ -Alabama, has been selected as a "Bear Girl." Her duties will be to serve as a hostess to prospective recruits for the Alabama Athletic Department. This honor also includes a scholarship.

Kappa Serves on Youth Commission

Melissa Pratka, $\text{B}\Xi$ -Texas, has been selected by the governor of Texas to serve on the Texas Commission on Services to Children and Youth. Three of the 18 appointed members are University of Texas students. Melissa will serve a six-year term. The Commission was created by the 62nd Legislature of Texas to conduct research projects on subjects of concern to children and youth, coordinate available services, and make periodic recommendations for needed changes to the governor and legislature.

Recently elected to Phi Kappa Phi, Melissa is also in Orange Jackets (university service organization honorary), Mortar Board, Alpha Lambda Delta, and the Social and Behavioral Sciences College Council. Her other credits include university orientation adviser, aide to Southern Governors' Conference in 1974, and Dean's List.

Anne Mason, H-Wisconsin, delegate to the Society of Professional Journalists National Convention last fall. She is presently secretary of the campus chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the Society of Professional Journalists. And she has been appointed to edit the feature section of the Wisconsin yearbook this year.

KAPPAS SUPPORT SPORTS

WITH PLAYERS

Epsilon Zeta Kappas have had a very strong influence on the Florida State University tennis team for the past few years with nine Kappas playing or having played on the team. They are seeded in this order for the 1975-76 season: #1 Sally Schweppe, #2 Janet Haworth, #3 Leah Homeyer, #4 Mary Ellen Wilkerson, and Edith Huntly as a new team member. The FSU team has won the Middle Atlantic Lawn Tennis Association Tournament and has placed in the top five in other local and regional championships.

Involved in a variety of sports activities is Karen Hunt, ΓΨ-Maryland. She has been a member of the women's lacrosse team for three years and of the women's volleyball team for two, and she is in the Women's Recreational Association. But participation is not enough for Karen—for she is also a basketball official. As director of swimming and cross-country intramurals, she encouraged more women to participate in the coed programs. Karen is also an umpire and coach for a lassie league softball team. And she has been in the University of Maryland Chapel Choir for two years.

Another Kappa of special sports note is Debbie Thorpe, BY-West Virginia, one of the first four women at her university to receive a scholarship in women's volleyball. Sara Palmer, BY-West Virginia, held the number two spot on the women's tennis team there.

AND WITH SPIRIT!

The 1975 Mountaineer Spirit Trophy was awarded to Beta Upsilon at West Virginia University for their part in cheering their Mountaineers through winning football season and on to a Peach Bowl victory. Points were given for banners, attendance, pep, and special events by judges who awarded the Spirit Trophy based on the total number of points earned.

Cathy Hanger, ΓΨ-Maryland, is active in many intramural activities as well as being on the pom pom squad. She is also a member of Alpha Lambda Delta.

Kim Chavalas, currently a member of songleading squad for USC, is pictured receiving affection from football coach John McKay, Kim's future father-in-law. She is to marry John McKay, Jr. this spring.

Jennifer Booty, ΔT -USC, was selected first runner up in Sigma Chi International Sweetheart Contest. 168 chapters in the US and Canada submitted their individual sweethearts in the contest. Portfolios and resumes were reviewed by a selected judging board from which three Sweethearts were chosen to attend the Sigma Chi Convention in St. Louis during the summer.

Claudia Lemon, Niagara-on-Lake, Ontario, Canada, is the recipient of the $3,000 scholarship presented by the Fraternity to Indiana University to commemorate the centennial of Delta Chapter, Kappa's oldest continuous chapter. Claudia is studying for the Ph.D. in speech and hearing therapy. Bo Peep McMillan Benckart (Delta) Delta Chapter Advisor, and Dr. Kennon Shank, director of the Indiana University Speech and Hearing Clinic, are watching Claudia operate equipment which records diagnostic tests of middle ear hearing loss. The Indiana University clinic has begun a program of screening pre-school children to determine such middle ear loss. This equipment was presented to the Speech and Hearing Clinic by Delta Chapter as one of their centennial gifts to Indiana University.

Sports, Spirit Unite People

At a time when most students at the University of Southern California were taking finals, USC's Song Girls were in Japan! Kim Chavalas, ΔT -USC, is in her second year as a member of the squad which was named the top Song Girl group of 1975-76 by the International Cheerleading Foundation, and as such were given the honor to perform in Japan by the Japan Bowl Commission. (The football game performed in Tokyo featured college all-stars from the U.S.)

During their stay, the girls had dinner with Japan's prime minister (a USC alumnus), had their picture taken with giant Sumo wrestlers, did lots of sightseeing and met the members of the Tokyo USC Alumni Association. The girls won't be quickly forgotten over there because they made commercials to be shown soon in Japan for Coca-Cola and Suntory International.

Visiting another culture brought about its share of eye-opening experiences. The girls were amazed at the high prices of food. Big Macs from McDonald's cost $5 and a can of cola was $1.

Lori Anderson, ΓH -University of Washington, Queen of the Pendleton Round-up in Pendleton, Oregon for 1975. She is shown with Domonique the horse she raised and trained herself. She was selected on the basis of horsemanship, poise and appearance.

ΓH 's Mother of the Year finalist, Mrs. Natalie Anderson also happens to be their Round-up Queen's mother! Each living group sponsored an alumna for the competition, which totaled 25 mothers. Five finalists were selected, and then mother of the year. Mrs. Anderson has been active in many Cougar activities and Gamma Eta is proud of her. (She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, but Kappa sponsored her).

This fifteenth century "Walking Buddha" bronze from Thailand has been given to the Indiana University Art Museum by Delta Chapter in honor of the chapter's centennial. Left to right are Mrs. Fred Barrett (Helen Hanson), co-chairman of the centennial committee which raised the money from among alumnae of the chapter; Mrs. Norris Chumley (Mary Ellen Buskirk), chairman of the chapter's art selection committee; and Margaret Hewitt, student co-chairman for the centennial.

History Is A Hit!

The following letters (sent to various members of the History Committee) are just a very few of the many wonderful ones received. The committee and editors are gratified by the response and trust you will let us know of other mistakes or corrections to be noted for posterity.

The history issue of The Key came today! How absolutely terrific! What a marvelous result of a gargantuan undertaking! I am overwhelmed with admiration and fascinated by the wonder of our very dear fraternity. Of course, I have spent the day with the history in my hands.

The organization of the material is so beautiful it shows the years of careful work and planning that you all have invested.

Naturally, I read my own chapters' history first. It reminded me that when I was an active in the early 1920s there was a time when a town "alum" attended our meetings. She used to read some of our chapter history to us. I was always interested in the "other times and other customs." I was a proud and happy Kappa in my college years. I am perhaps even more proud today.

"Well done, Kappas!"

Some comments collected by Fraternity President Marian S. Graham: One Kappa lady said, "Will I be billed for this? You mean it is free?" Another who resigned in her junior year by chance saw her picture in her chapter history and said "if I am in the history I ought to be in the organization, how do I get reinstated?" Another took the magnifying glass and saw it was she alright and said, "Imagine I'm in the Kappa history." There are forty-two chapters represented here in Sun City (Arizona) and I doubt one has failed to read the issue . . . many are seniors of their chapters, one a charter member, and all have found the history accurate as well as enjoyable. It is smashing!

What a wonderful and pleasant surprise to receive Volume I of The Key which is the chapter histories 1870 to 1975 and naturally I turned to Gamma Nu, my chapter.

One error in the history should be corrected. This states "In 1930 when the present site was purchased." The present site of Gamma Nu Chapter was not purchased until after the spring of 1934 at which time I served on the committee for the selection of a permanent location. As I remember, Mrs. MacNaughton and I were the two who held out for the present location. The building was pink stucco . . .

My work on that committee then made me know and appreciate the one important factor in value and that is location. No Greek letter group at the University of Arkansas has a location that will compare to ours and I am still proud of my very first real estate venture or work. Little did I know then that my entire life would be devoted to real estate.

Congratulations on a job well done.

Annie Laurie Spencer

Much as I enjoyed the fall 1975 issue of The Key, I could not help noticing the amount of paper used in that issue. Perhaps the national officers may want to consider the possibility of cutting back in this area, due to rising costs.

Kathleen K. Hatfield

Treasurer—Wheaton Alumnae Club
Editor's note: There was a lot of paper used . . . 224 pages per copy with 80,000 mailed . . . or about three train-car-loadsful of paper. This was the first chapter history edition since 1930s and will surely not be repeated again in the near future! Thank you for your concern—economically speaking the history issue cost about 85c each—try buying any paperback book of equal size for that price!

Mrs. F. V. Rankin (Rebecca Williams) writes asking why, after she drove 60 miles through a blinding snowstorm in February 1944, leaving a six-year-old daughter in bed with measles, she is not included among the charter members of Delta Xi. Is there an explanation? Yes, there is an answer. Alumnae who were initiated on installation day or after were not included on the charter member list.

Nan Kretschmer Boyer, BM-Colorado, decided not to write a note of appreciation for the Chapter Histories issue of The Key. Instead she sent to editor Ruth Branning Molloy, BA-Pennsylvania, what she calls a THING—measuring 28" x 22"—the board is an expanse of appreciative remarks, cut from magazines and newspapers, and looks as if Kappa's Ritualist liked the History!

I think the History of Kappa Kappa Gamma Volume I—Chapter Histories 1870-1975 is tremendous. Thanks to you and all the members responsible for this service to the rest of us.

Everyone I have talked to thinks it is great. I have seen it out on many coffee tables in homes of Kappas when I am attending meetings of various organizations—that alone is a great tribute.

Now for the real reason for this letter (although this gave me an opportunity to say "thank you"). In the Delta Omicron article on page 162, 3rd paragraph on right column, it says Delta Omicron's president (Doris) Jeanne Hudson (McElroy) was . . . all true except for the McElroy—interesting to know where the name came from—but my married name is Bellish!

This has confused my friends—thinking I have kept something from them all these years. Thought you would like to have the correction for your records. Thanks so much.

Jeanne Hudson Bellish

I thoroughly enjoyed the finished product—the history edition of The Key. You did a superb job! It is, I feel, too bad that it could not have been issued in hard cover for posterity's sake, as was the 1930 edition. Is it possible that will be done later? I certainly hope so!

Sally Stevenson Ventres
PA-Ohio Wesleyan

Editor's note: It is hoped to provide a binder for both Volume I and Volume II to those wishing to order it. Be sure to save your Fall 1975 issue and the second issue to come in 1977 for inclusion into a binder for the total Kappa history.

Off on the right foot

EPSILON PI IS A CHAPTER

Kappa care through the love and guidance of many has indeed allowed Epsilon Pi to get started on the right foot. The culmination of so much caring was best exemplified in a beautiful initiation and installation the first weekend in February, when 13 pledges of Epsilon Pi Colony were initiated as charter members of Epsilon Pi Chapter, University of California at Riverside.

Installing officer Marian Schroeder Graham, BΦ-Montana, fraternity president, was assisted by other members of the installation team: Phyllis Brinton Pryor, BM-Colorado, National Panhellenic Conference delegate, colonizing officer; Patti Ball Hillyard, ΔX-San Jose, installation chairman and president of the Riverside Alumnae Club; Lyn Conway Madding, ΔΓ-Michigan State, Kappa Province director of alumnae; Kay Reid Tennison, EΔ-Arizona State, Kappa Province director of chapters; and Janeen Gould, BB^A-St. Lawrence, Epsilon Pi graduate counselor. Also, several advisers and graduate counselors to California chapters and alumnae from all over southern California gathered to participate in and to honor the installation of Kappa's 95th chapter.

The setting for the ceremonies was the chapter house of Epsilon Pi's sister chapter, Delta Tau, at the University of Southern California. It was agreed by all and well stated by Phyllis Pryor that "no more perfect arrangements could have been made for an unhoused chapter to be assimilated into a totally Kappa setting where a true feeling of belonging could be imparted. The cooperation and hospitality of those members of Delta Tau who made this possible will long be remembered as a very vital aspect of the happy installation of Epsilon Pi." She also noted that "the beautiful, warm, very adequate facilities of the Delta Tau house accommodated the influx of extra people and activities gracefully and with no evidence of inconvenient disruption." Fern Crane (Delta Tau housemother), Katie Finnegan (chapter president), Kris Kline (chapter coordinator), and chapter members are due many plaudits for their superb planning and for their time and efforts in making installation guests and participants feel welcome and prepared.

It was here that the tone for the entire weekend was so effectively set with the lovely dinner which Mother Fern provided for pledges, actives, and guests preceding the Friday night Fireside Service. Delta Tau members added to the beauty of the dinnertime atmosphere by sharing some of their traditional pre-initiation thoughts and songs.

Everyone present enjoys a lovely dinner at the Delta Tau house, provided by Mother Fern, preceding Fireside Service.

In addition to the caring of those who had helped colonize and install Epsilon Pi, of those who had made special efforts to be on hand for the services, and of those special members of the sister chapter, there was evidence of the Kappa love for Epsilon Pi from all over the nation. Many gifts to the new chapter were recognized at the luncheon banquet, which was held at the University Hilton Hotel following Saturday's installation ceremonies. Two special gifts were award keys for outstanding pledges, one being given to the pledge president, Debbie Dietrich, and one to Robin Rose, rush chairman, for scholarship.

Greetings to the new chapter increased even more when over 150 guests came in heavy rains to a reception Sunday afternoon in Riverside at the home of a recent Delta Tau active. Representatives from the UCR administration, from City Panhellenic, from other fraternities and sororities on campus, and friends and parents of the new chapter members honored Epsilon Pi with their attendance.

Not to be overlooked in the building of a secure footing of love for Epsilon Pi is the loyal devotion of the charter members themselves. As a colony, they had already demonstrated their desire to put their best foot forward and to be known as conscientious and concerned Kappas who wanted to be an active part of their campus. Homecoming last fall found them as a group selling cotton candy in one of the booths on campus. They have also gotten together often for both "surprise" and "planned" outings for their graduate counselor, Janeen Gould, for a pizza party for the alumnae, and for a pledge retreat they say they will never forget. Many of Epsilon Pi's activities are with the other Greek groups at UCR. They had a Greek cheering section for football games, and just before the holidays they went Christmas caroling together.

From their first appearance as a group at Southern Area Council Founders Day celebration in Los Angeles to their presentation to the future of Epsilon Pi with their pledge project (a magnificent wooden plaque with individual pictures of the charter members) they have shown their feelings of togetherness. All of their special feelings of love have been woven into a project which they created just for their sister chapter. Every Epsilon Pi member has worked on the hooked rug with the owl design for Delta Tau.

Now, as a chapter, Epsilon Pi's first steps have been lively but ones they are taking carefully, realizing that every footprint impression made is there forever. These steps are definitely pointed in the direction of growth in size and stature, as they are already into rushing and pledging new members, and as they are well into total programming, working with a goal and following in the footsteps of the many chapters before them who have been helped to stand and move ahead with Kappa love.

In Riverside, the Kappas feel "Everything's Possible with Epsilon Pi!"

A View From My Window

By Evangeline Spangler

On a May morning in 1970 I had my first glimpse of the university campus. I had come to the university to interview for a position as a house director for Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. My husband had died the year before and this would mark a new beginning for me.

When I reached the sorority house I found it quiet and peaceful, full of lovely young girls. I was impressed with them and accepted the job they had to offer. It was during the next four years that I realized how naive I really was and how narrow I had become during my somewhat sheltered fifty-six years of living.

During my stay there I acted sometimes as their housemother, sometimes as their housekeeper, and sometimes just as their keeper. When I left it was with no regrets, only a twinge of sadness and a hope that I would never forget the beautiful lessons they had taught me. For it was I who benefited the most from that unusual experience. It was they who helped me to accept life as it is—and perhaps, as it should be.

I grew up in Texas at a time when young ladies went to finishing schools to learn, not how to work for a living, but how to be poised in the social structure of our day. Therefore, I was pretty-well straight, or square, or whatever the term used to describe millions of women who were born into this age along with me.

To say that I was reserved would be an understatement. This was not in my favor because the girls didn't know what to do with me. Being a true Texan I was friendly by nature but beyond a certain point I didn't bend too well. I knew even in the early days of my residency there that I must make these young people at ease in my presence or we would never have a free and comfortable relationship. Something had to give, and so it did—much to my chagrin.

One Sunday afternoon they invited me to go on a picnic to one of the Horse Farms belonging to the parents of one of the Kappas. I knew they were testing me, as small children often test their parents, but I also knew it was a challenge I had to meet. I was fully aware that any relationship between us would either be with all of them or none of them. They were not divided in their opinions in so far as their housemother was concerned.

The farm was a heavenly spot with white fences running every-which-way and gorgeous animals that are the pampered thoroughbreds grazing motionless on the slanted hillsides. I wanted to be left alone to sit quietly in the silent beauty of this place, but the girls had other plans for me. They were filled with a new energy on this early fall afternoon and immediately chose sides for a softball game. I had a notion it was to be staged for my benefit since my name seemed to head the list. I wasn't so naive that I couldn't see the strategy behind this invitation, but I didn't feel called upon to get hit with a baseball just to prove—whatever it was I felt I had to prove. If there's anything I am not, it's athletic. I had never played a game of softball, but I knew I would play it now.

My first turn at bat was catastrophic. I took a swing at the ball, missed it completely but followed through with such enthusiasm that I pitched head-long on the ground, face down, hands still holding the bat straight out in front of me. I laughed with them, picked myself up and went back to try again amid cheers from the side lines. The next ball connected somehow with the bat, and I made it to first base. This great fete brought me a standing ovation, and I knew how Babe Ruth must have felt when he hit his 100th home run!

And so I passed their test. When I think back on that softball game, I am reminded once again that God does work in mysterious ways His wonders to perform. From that day, and for the remainder of my time there, the atmosphere in the Kappa House did not hang heavy around me.

After that I was invited to do many things with them. I came to know when they asked me because they wanted me and when they asked me because they thought they should. I also learned to accept their invitations, or refuse them, accordingly. Their powder-puff football games played in competition with other sororities on campus was one of their activities they particularly wanted me to attend.

The afternoon of their first game of the season I dressed in blue jeans and jacket befitting the occasion and drove with them to the field. During the play of the game I saw a side of them I had not seen before. I was repulsed at their behavior. They were rude to each other, to the girls on the opposing team and even to the young men who served as their coaches. The language they used was filled with vulgarities and four letter words, the sound of which I have never learned to tolerate.

On the way home I told them quietly but firmly that I wouldn't be going to any more of their games. "I know," I said, "that this is your thing and you are going to do it. But I don't have to watch you or listen to you. I was ashamed of you and embarrassed for you. I couldn't believe that any of you would behave in such a fashion—much less use the vile language that seems to come so easy for all of you."

Word of my disapproval spread quickly. When I answered the rap at my door a short time after our return to the house I found them all there in a sincerely apologetic mood. They had come to promise that if I would attend the games they would make me proud of them by never behaving that way again. After that day I never missed a game or a celebration following a win. I was never to be disappointed in them again, but I smiled to myself as they went far to the other extreme with a dignity and feigned politeness foreign to their natures.

Several games later I left in the middle of the first half to drive one of the girls across campus to class. I was gone only for a few minutes but when I returned several of the girls who were not on the field came to me with Missy as their spokesman: "Where did you go? We thought we'd done something wrong and you'd gone home." And from Ann, "Mrs. V we missed three plays trying to find out who it was that had said—whatever it was they'd said!" And so, another bond was formed between us.

The things they put over me and the things they thought they put over me would fill a tome. Some days were hilariously funny and some were pitifully sad, but none were filled with boredom. As a housemother one's duties are almost nil so I gave my time to them. They used it all up unwittingly and sometimes my energies as well.

Because I had an open door policy my small apartment resembled the lounge at the student center in that there was a constant stream of people in and out from noon until the early morning hours. They "borrowed" my cigarettes, books, pencils, pens, tooth paste, kleenex, and anything else they had a need for at the moment. I, in turn, filled in at bridge, spades, hearts, or wherever they needed a fourth. They came mostly for small talk, but many came alone to sit quietly and just to think out loud. I found that the less I said the easier it was for them to work out their problems. They didn't need or want advice. They needed and wanted a friend.

There was no time of a day or night that I called my own. A call at my bedroom door at four a.m. was not unusual if one of them had just been given an engagement ring—or had just given one back! I learned to change my mood to fit each girl's own particular need of the moment. One would be sad over a broken love affair, and we would cry; the next one would be gay with a new date for a fraternity formal, and we would be happy; the next one would have a funny story to tell about the latest streaking incident, (a sport where young men and women ran across campus naked, sometimes with their faces covered!) and we would laugh; the next one would be failing in her studies and wanting to leave school, and we would ponder.

And then there was Sally: dear, wild, spacey, lovable Sally who was full of problems—until she fell in love. It was the cure for all her ills. One evening I showered and shampooed my hair early because I had promised to watch a movie with some of them and was comfortably settled before the television set in my apartment at the appointed hour. To put it mildly, attired in nightgown and robe with my hair in rollers, my appearance was not fetching. Suddenly Sally came bursting into my room. She took one look at me, and the glow of excitement about her fair young features changed to one of consternation and disappointment.

With exasperation she blurted out, "Mrs. V! Rob's dad's here to meet you—and just look at you!"

I would have laughed, but she was so serious. She had wanted me to make a good impression on Rob's father and by the simple act of shampooing my hair I had let her down. Now she was ashamed of me!

And so it went. There was no way I could be all things to all of them at all times. I learned to accept this and know that sometimes I would win and sometimes I would lose. Whatever turn the many episodes took in a given day, the ease and freedom we enjoyed as a unique kind of family unit had woven itself into a delightful pattern for living. We did not suffer the pangs of the generation gap.

The tears and laughter we shared together will meld themselves into a memory I shall always carry with me. We grew in stature during those years, and we all suffered in our separate ways. Lisa, a beautiful girl who was having a harder time than some with her in-between-years, decided we all had growing pains.

When I first went there most of my time was spent in trying to fit them into the acceptable, to me, system of the so-called establishment. This is the narrow view that many of my contemporaries still hold onto so doggedly. After two years I began to realize the futility of such an approach. It was then I set about trying to release them from my own Picean-bound traditions which are far out-dated in this Aquarian Age. Some would call this falling back on the old adage "if you can't lick 'em—join 'em"—but I call it a respect for the new age; an acceptance of their capabilities embedded in hope for the future.

During this transition I made an effort to keep my weakening thumb on the important issues, but for the most part I learned the art of relaxation. As I perfected this age-old art I learned what fun it could be to live in an old house whose tall and stately columns deceived the leaky plumbing, and the faulty wiring, and all the rest of it. I found that roasting marshmallows and hot dogs over an open wood fire on a snowy day with forty zany young women could be pure pleasure. At such times I was always reminded that there were no problems in my life—at least, none that I could recall.

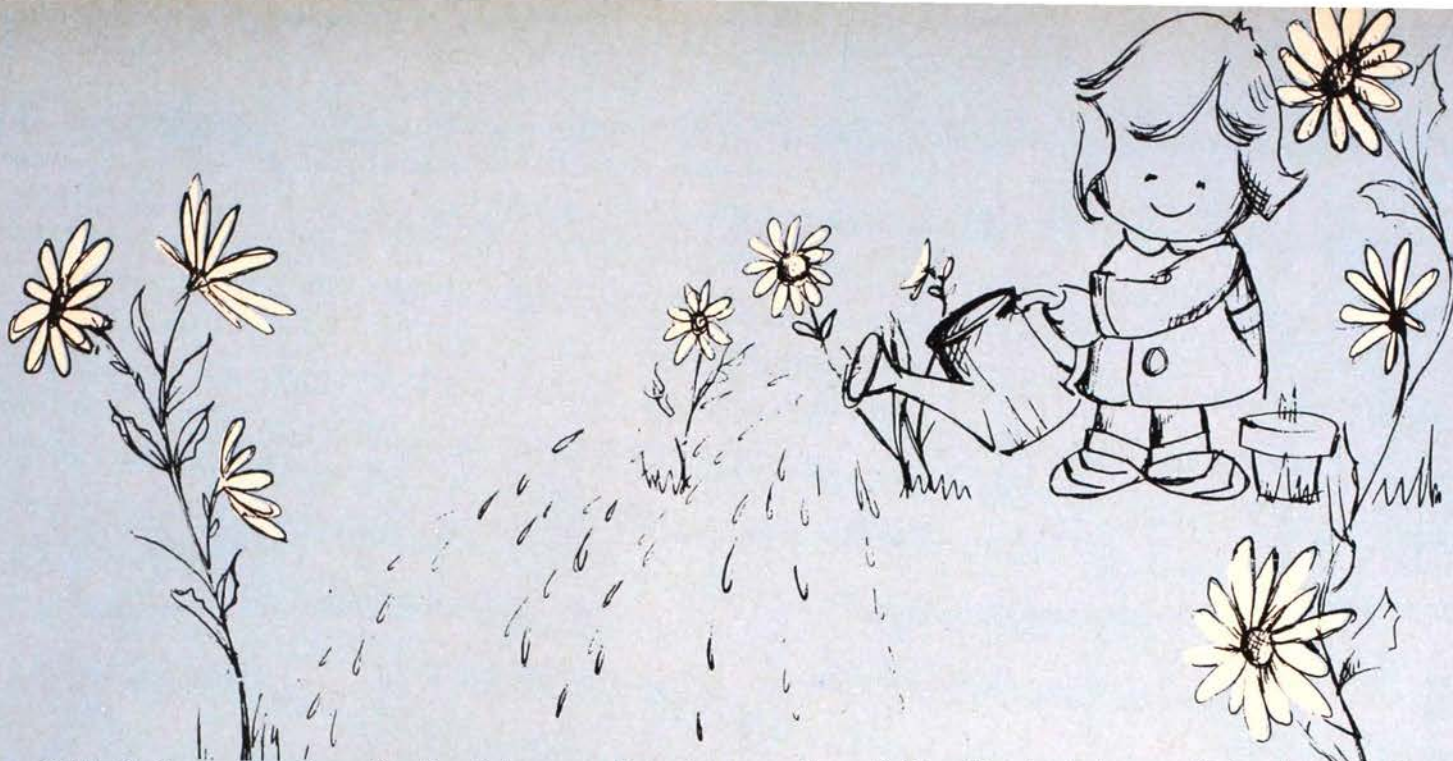

There was a peace and calm that reigned there amid all the clutter, the loud music, the constant ringing of phones and doorbells, the friendly bickering, and sometimes misunderstandings on the upper level. But downstairs, peering through and beyond the blue jeans and ready wit, I saw only wholesome, questioning young women looking for a meaningful way of life; searching for answers to questions that in my young years we never thought to ask. They have a built-in wisdom that far surpasses any generation before them, and I have the firm belief that they will find the answers they seek and bring to flowering maturity the seeds of change planted by those young and restless revolutionaries of the sixties.

I am grateful to these girls who crossed my path and gave me so much that even they were not aware of giving. If only those of us who are more mature in years could but listen and accept what the young people of today have to offer we could learn much from them. As for me, I learned that I have always talked much too much and listened, really listened, far too little.

It was with a thankful heart and a steady expectant outlook toward the future that I left my young Kappa friends to return to my own home in Texas. Here I will spend my time near my own young grandchildren and through them I will watch the changing times and the shape of things to come. Through them I will look forward with solid assurance to the good they will bring out of the chaos my generation has handed them. Through them I will gain a new awareness of understanding and recognition and acceptance of the unlimited abilities of the youth of today.

But it is to the Kappas that I shall always be grateful for teaching me how to accept change as it comes, how to handle with ease the things I cannot accept—but perhaps, most important of all, how to tell the difference.

With Spring come plans for the future, gardens to plant, cleaning to be done and new ideas to try. Planning now, or planting, if you please, for that very special Kappa pledge class means contact between alumnae and actives with the use of this special membership

What is a Kappa? What is a Friend?

"Your Friend is your needs answered.

She is your field which you sow with love and reap with thanksgiving.

And your board and your fireside.

For you come to her with your hunger, and you seek her for peace.

When your friend speaks her mind you fear not the "nay" in your own mind, nor do you withhold the "ay."

And when she is silent your heart ceases not to listen to her heart;

For without words, in friendship, all thoughts, all desires, all expectations are born and shared, with joy that is unacclaimed.

section of The Key to help you find out who, when, and where to send your references. Next time you say, "She ought to be a Kappa"—do something about it. Send a note or reference and begin planting the seeds of your Kappa garden.

And let there be no purpose in friendship save the deepening of the spirit.

And let your best be for your friend.

If she must know the ebb of your tide, let her know its flood also.

For what is your friend that you should seek her with hours to kill?

Seek her always with hours to live.

For it is hers to fill your need, but not your emptiness. And in the sweetness of friendship let there be laughter, and sharing of pleasures.

For in the dew of little things the heart finds its morning and is refreshed."

*A friend is one who knows you as you are Understands where you've been accepts who you've become
And still, gently invites you to grow . . .*

*Kappa Keeps Growing with friendship
an endless variation of acquaintances*

Instructions for friendship garden:

PLANT early seeds of integrity and character.

MIX into environment dignity and respect for others.

NURTURE with knowledge, experience and self-assurance.

WEED out prejudice, deceit and baseness.

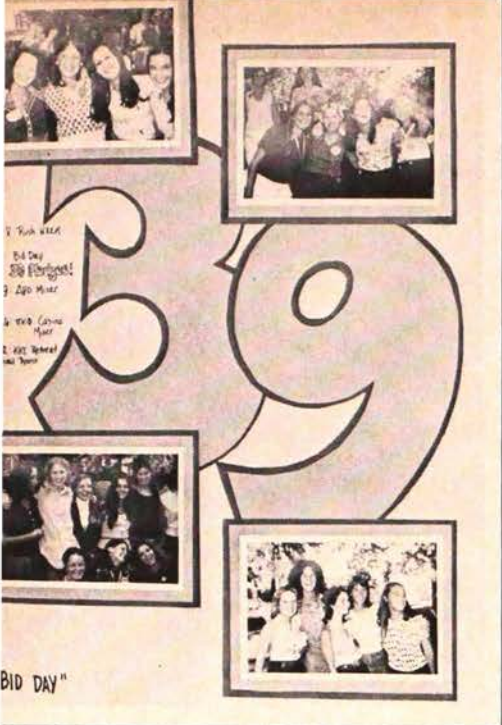

SEPARATE young blooms for individualism, humility and femininity.

LISTEN for the soft sounds of laughter and song.

Give the garden a chance to MATURE for fullest beauty.

TEND with love, understanding, care, dedication and pride!

A Kappa garden thus prepared will bloom forever—for friendship is an experience that knows no season.

What is a Kappa?

A Kappa is an individual unique & special, with her own personality & identity.

She is willing to give of herself to others.

A Kappa reaches out with an open heart & understanding to the needs of others.

A Kappa is someone who is always there and always dependable.

*A Kappa is .
What is a*

By being a friend,
her identity becomes more beautiful.

She is able to forgive another's failings because of the bonds of sisterhood.

ster?*

*She is someone that you and
be!*

By taking an active part in the group to which she is joined, she learns, by giving for the good of everyone in the group, to unselfishly care for others.

Thoughts on Kappa Friendship . . .

For me, friendship is the key word for Kappa. So far, it has provided me with an endless variety of acquaintances and a group of, what are becoming, my very closest friends.

Kappa, being my first encounter with group organization, has continued to surprise me. It is heartening to see a group of people who seem so happy with each other. Conflicts are minimal and are easily smoothed over. I believe that this comes from a mature attitude and the realization that not all of us are alike. Individualism, and independence are very important to me and I feel that, as far as is reasonable, Kappa tries to practice these characteristics.

"And let your best be for your friend." . . . Gibran

Your best being your highest respect and interest. Interest and concern for each other has been constantly evident to me in Kappa. Whether studying, laughing, eating, or crying—there's always somebody there to share it with.

Kappa has also impressed me as being a place of boundless education. Sometimes the lessons are hard—putting up with a messy roommate, a noisy record player or disagreements on rules. All these things are an aid to teaching you to be tolerant, responsible, and a compromising individual.

Lessons in living, such as are found through Kappa, can't be described or expressed in an essay. They are a time that goes on forever, and an experience that never stops happening.

From an essay of a pledge awaiting initiation.

Let it grow—

Share Kappa!

Kappa Kappa Gamma Fraternity

DIRECTOR OF MEMBERSHIP MRS. CHARLES NITSCHKE — 6570 PLESENTON DRIVE — WORTHINGTON, OHIO 43085

Dear Kappas,

It is an exciting time to be a Kappa! I welcome this opportunity to share with you some of the tangible facts of positive growth in our Fraternity as well as in the Greek world.

Consider.....30,914 young women enrolled in rush on campuses where there are Kappa chapters this year. This represents an increase of 2000 from 1974-75.

18,348 rushees pledged some NPC group, 1000 more than last year.

11,109 voluntary references were submitted to our chapters before rush began. This number is 2000 more than in 1974-75.

At this writing . . . over 2400 young women have pledged Kappa during the current year!

Numbers are fascinating but they are only part of the story. More important are the many Kappas all over the country who each year contribute to the success of the membership program. Actives and alumnae alike share pride and enthusiasm for Kappa's positive membership picture.

Stop right now and consider the part you can play in this effort. Think of those very special young women in your community who will be entering college next Fall. Check the directory in this issue to see if there is a Kappa chapter at the school she will attend.

Use the reference form on the next page to let those undergraduate Kappas know about this prospective rushee.

The process is a simple one. If there is an Alumnae Association or Club in your area, send the completed reference to your Area Reference Chairman listed in the Directory. If you live in an area which does not have any Kappa group, send the reference directly to the chapter membership chairman. You can find her name, as well as her school and summer address in the directory pages. Please notice too the rush dates given; many chapters rush as early as August 15 so submit your reference early!

Loyally,

*Sally Nitschke
Director of Membership*

Delta Pi Burns First Mortgage During Reunion

Alumnae News

Willette H. Bland, ΓΨ-Maryland, was honored on her birthday by the 450 persons attending the annual Crab Feast of the University of Maryland, Greater Baltimore Area Alumni Association. She was the first graduate of the College of Home Economics—now Human Ecology—of the University. Helping cut her birthday cake were Lambda PDA Kitty Dennis Thomason and Karen Loss Craeger, both $\Gamma\psi$.

Beverly Laskey King, ΔI -Louisiana State, won the Louisiana Press Women's "Woman of Achievement" award. She is women's editor and Life and Style editor of The Shreveport Times. She has two Kappa daughters, Beverly and Ginny, both ΔI .

Donna Hostetler Miller, $\Gamma\Theta$ -Drake, has been appointed assistant director of development at Drake University in Des Moines.

Kay Miller Ford, $\Delta\Gamma$ -Michigan State, is working toward a master's degree in the University of Illinois Extension Program. She was graduated magna cum laude with a B.S. in nursing from Bradley University in 1974. While at Bradley she was president of the Nursing Club and a member of Phi Kappa Phi honorary society. She attended Michigan State from 1956 to 1958.

Mary Guier Hutchinson, BY -West Virginia, has been welcoming newcomers to Charleston, W. Va., for more than 26 years. She not only is a veteran hostess for Welcome Wagon, she also is the mother of the mayor of Charleston. Recently she was featured in an article in The Charleston Gazette.

Jean Bell Willhite, EA -Arizona State, and Susan Rippetoe Dial, ΔO -Iowa State, have teamed up for a successful business venture in San Marino, Calif. They own and operate The Shoestring, a women's clothing store. They met through the Pasadena Alumnae Association.

Five members of the Dallas Alumnae Association, weary of the predictable fare served at most luncheon meetings, even those of their own alumnae group, decided one day, "We could do better ourselves." They sold the alumnae board on the idea of letting them cater the Kappa luncheons for several meetings. With that the "Kappa Katerers" came into existence. The group included Sally Ann Kay Davis and Claire McDougale Roberts, both $\Gamma\Phi$ -Southern Methodist; Martha Helmers Groebe, ΓA -Kansas State; Ann Cors Long, BP^3 -Cincinnati; and Janet Spencer Mood, $B\Xi$ -Texas. Response was so favorable that the women decided to expand their business. Now known as "The Katerers," the group numbers four. Sally found her busy schedule could not accommodate the new time demands, but she says, "I'll help when they really need me." News of The Katerers' fabulous food and efficient work has spread quickly and the women have had requests from organizations all over Dallas. They have served everything from basket lunches to a sherry and crepe brunch for almost 200. Because they promised themselves this would be a part-time endeavor, they have had to turn down a number of requests. "We'll never get rich doing this," they laugh, "but we do have fun in spite of the hard work. And what pleases us most is that everybody is so complimentary about our food—even our families, who very often get the leftovers for dinner."

Edythe Rethlefs Ibold, BP^3 -Cincinnati, has received recognition in the St. Petersburg, Fla. area as a pioneer in the field of rehabilitation for the retarded. She founded an organization 23 years ago in Pinellas County known as the Pinellas Association for Retarded Children (PARC). The organization, now greatly expanded, operates a nonprofit, charitable community center in St. Petersburg which is designed to develop

Arizona Tournament Serves As Memorial

Alumnae of Phoenix, Scottsdale and Tempe-Mesa recently sponsored their third tennis tournament, this year called the Betty Udell Marshall Memorial Tournament.

The late Mrs. Marshall was one of the organizers of the first tournament in 1973. A loyal and outstanding Kappa, she had served as president of Gamma Zeta Chapter at the University of Arizona, as president of the Phoenix Alumnae Association, and as Kappa Province Director of Chapters. She also had been a member of the first advisory board of Epsilon Delta Chapter at Arizona State, was active in numerous civic affairs and was president of the Junior League of Phoenix.

Proceeds from the tournament were used to establish the Betty Udell Marshall Memorial Fund, which will award scholarships annually to actives from Gamma Zeta and Epsilon Delta. First recipients were Kim Yaeger, ΓZ, and Chari Hiddleston, EΔ. Contributions to the fund may be sent to Arizona State University, c/o Carl Miller, Director of Development, Tempe, Ariz. 85282, or to the University of Arizona, c/o Swede Johnson, Tucson, Ariz. 85721.

New York

Members of the New York Alumnae Association held craft workshops for several months to make items to sell at their successful bazaar. Among the most popular items sold were fabric covered picture frames. Organizers of the project were, from left, Teri Vecchione, Y-Northwestern; Kathleen Thomas Brumder, H-Wisconsin; Ann Crabtree Brown, Δ-Indiana, and Nancy Lucking White, ΔX-San Jose State. Proceeds of more than $500 went to the Rose McGill Fund.

Karen Kreizenbeck Archer, BK -Idaho, designed the cookbook's cover, Ruth Branning Molloy, BA -Pennsylvania, wrote the introduction, and about 60 alumnae contributed recipes and menus. Copies may be ordered at $3 each from the cookbook's editor in chief, Kathleen Shanley Boyles, 306 North Fairfield Road, Devon, Pa. 19333. Proceeds go to Fraternity philanthropies.

La Jolla

Enjoying a meeting of the La Jolla, Calif., Alumnae Association are, from left, 50-year member Mrs. Lloyd C. Young, Frances Houk-meyer Young, $\Gamma \Xi$ -UCLA; Association President Mary James Simpson, $P \Delta$ -Ohio Wesleyan; Kappa PDA Carolyn Conway Madding, and program speaker Mrs. Charles Wollaston, Jane Burbank Wollaston, Σ -Nebraska. Mrs. Wollaston is noted as a designer and seller of Christmas greenery. One unexpected pleasure of the gathering was a brief greeting from the Emperor and Empress of Japan, who were visiting this country and happened to be guests at the same lodge in which the alumnae were meeting.

Seattle

An original Kappa song was performed for Seattle and Lake Washington alumnae at their Founder's Day dinner. The song was composed by Bertha Tremper von der Goltz, BII -Washington, in 1916, when she was a student at the New England Conservatory of Music. Mrs. von der Goltz, who now lives in Westport, Conn., was initiated into the Fraternity in 1914. Pictured here are Seattle Alumnae President Marli Jansen Iverson, BII , who sang the special song, and Helen Temper Lane, BII , who is Mrs. von der Goltz's sister.

From left, Susan Dunlop Goff, I-DePauw; Margery Nobles McIntosh, BK -Idaho; Catherine Brandon Morgan, Jane Duhe Box, and Martha Turner Tucker, all ΔI -Louisiana State. Rutherford House is a halfway house for noncriminal but delinquent girls. Research by local judges, probation officers, the Junior League and other groups determined the need for such a facility. Twenty-five alumnae and some of their husbands worked on renovating the home.

Topeka

Joining with local Pi Beta Phi alumnae, the Topeka Alumnae Association co-sponsored a House and Garden Tour. From left, Barbara Martin Mock, ΓΦ-Southern Methodist, and Georgianna Sewell Morrill, Ω-Kansas. Whittier

The Whittier, Calif. Panhellenic Association has received a Citation for Excellence from the NPC as the most outstanding city Panhellenic organization in Area VII. Kappa support played a large role in Whittier's national recognition. Standing, from left are Whittier Alumnae President Dede Sullivan Areghini, ΓZ-Arizona, and Elizabeth Hawkins Pickett, ΔT-University of Southern California. Seated is Elizabeth Emmert Allor, Δ-Indiana. Mrs. Pickett and Mrs. Allor have long records of Kappa and Panhellenic involvement.

Quad-Cities

A member of the Quad-Cities (Illinois-Iowa) Alumnae Association has been named Quad City Panhellenic Woman of the Year. At right is Frances Mitchell Plumb, E-Illinois Wesleyan, receiving her award from Mrs. Bruce MacNeish, Kappa Delta. Mrs. Plumb has been active in the Fraternity and numerous civic groups. The Quad-Cities Club contributed many craft items for the Panhellenic Association's recent boutique, of which Jean Keane Kelly, ΓA-Kansas State, was chairman. Proceeds provided two $1,500 scholarships.

St. Petersburg Project Is Truly 'For The Birds'

One highly successful and imaginative alumnae benefit was the one-day Gourmet Cooking School sponsored by the St. Petersburg, Fla. Alumnae Club.

Conducted on the campus of Eckerd College, the school included lessons on how to prepare and serve a six-course French dinner. Presiding over the lessons was Chef Peter Kersker of Peter's Place in downtown St. Petersburg. In addition to being a gourmet restaurateur, Mr. Kersker also is a well-known attorney. He provided testing tables for his students to sample his creations and recipe cards on the dishes prepared.

Proceeds went to the Suncoast Seabird Sanctuary, which is dedicated to the rescue, repair, recuperation and return of sick and injured birds to their native habitat. Supported entirely by donations from the public, the sanctuary was featured in a recent publication of the Smithsonian Institution.

Chairman of the Kappa benefit was Mary Ann Rollence Andes, Δ-Akron. As a follow-up, her committee prepared a "Cooking School Evaluation" to help in planning a similar project in the future. The club also prepared a kit on "How to Have a Cooking School," containing detailed instructions on organization, location, publicity, finance, a recipe packet, sample ticket and suggested patrons. Kits may be ordered from the St. Petersburg Club for $1.00 each.

If You Don't Help The Parent First You Can't Help The Child

There was a deafening silence between my husband and me as we approached the imposing hospital which sat on a high hill. Our eight month old son wiggled happily on my lap, not knowing the gravity of our visit.

Doctors had told us nothing during three weeks of testing. In desperation my husband demanded some information about their suspicions. It was bad, something we'd never heard of, "Hurler's Syndrome," whatever that was. How serious, we didn't know.

When we arrived at the hospital, the receptionist hurriedly ushered us through a crowded waiting room to the small office of the head of pediatrics. The slightly greying, slender doctor sat in a swivel rocking chair. Grant and I were given straight chairs. "Miller" played happily on my lap, stretching for all objects within reach.

The doctor began to rock and then reached for a heavy medical volume. He flipped through the yellowing pages until he found the picture he wanted to show us. It was a drawing of a hump-backed, short, middle-aged male resembling the gargoyles of a medieval freize.

This is what your son will look like. Gargoylism, it said under the picture.

I was in such a state of frozen shock that I only remember bits of pieces of what he said.

I was calm, no tears came, but a flush of anger began to rise through my body.

My husband had to press for details even then. The doctor, always rocking, seemed to hold back. He wouldn't explain fully, as if an attorney and his wife, a graduate in violin, could not have been expected to understand. Your son will never say more than two words—will not survive infancy—will have no intelligence.

Thoughts of disbelief raced through my mind. There had been a mistake. He said he had only seen two or three cases in his entire practice. This could not be my son he was talking about: the one who picked up his head just four hours after his delivery as the nurse brought him to me for his first feeding; the one who crawled, sat up and clapped in rhythm; chuckled and babbled happily. It was wrong—wrong—

The doctor finished, but we couldn't be through. What could we do now? We would go anywhere in the world for treatment, just tell us where.

There was no treatment, just take him home and then consider institutionalization. We asked again, WHAT CAN WE DO? Nothing, was the repeated answer. Just then Miller had maneuvered himself facing over my shoulder where he deftly switched off the doctor's lights. I bluntly asked the doctor how he could turn off a light switch if he had "no" intelligence. His face was blank as he shook his head, still rocking, eager for us to depart. We left, feeling a sense of isolation that only other parents going through the same experience can understand.

This happened eight years ago. If only we could have had some contact with parents in a similar situation, many years of searching and loneliness could have been avoided.

It was not until my son had been attending Belle Willard School for physically handicapped children in Northern Virginia that I met Elaine, the mother of a child in my son's class. Elaine had gone through an even more difficult shock in the delivery room after the birth of her son. Nurses whispered so loudly that she heard them say her son had Spina Bifida, a malformation of the spine which damages the nerves to the lower part of the body, usually accompanied by hydrocephalus (water on the brain).

Even though the handicaps of our children were different, we had gone through many of the same feelings of desperation. The more parents we talked to, the more we all found in common.

Four of us decided to set up a plan to help parents in the Washington, D.C. area. One was my son's pediatrician. Elaine and I were interested, of course, and so was Connie, the mother of a child with a deformed arm.

We worked on ideas for almost nine months before we had gathered enough information and courage to approach anyone with our plan.

Ever present in my mind was a remark made by a psychologist at a workshop for the deaf. "If you don't help the parents first, you can't help the child."

We had all been through the torment of thinking we were the only parents in the world undergoing the hell we lived in those first few years.

We had to fight for our sanity and self preservation. Our marriages faltered, our lives changed drastically. Then we had to scrape and dig for every bit of practical information: good doctors with whom we could talk without feeling like dummies; where to buy special equipment; how to make special clothing, how to find a suitable school and on and on.

As we began to discuss our needs, we saw our organization as a "Parent to Parent Exchange." We would have three activities: (1) a volunteer parent telephone Hot Line (Connie's pet project); (2) a hospital visitation program, and; (3) a course providing guidance for and interchange with other parents.

The Hot Line telephone consists of parents trained to counsel by phone. Connie, Elaine and I each have a master file of volunteer parents and their child's handicap. When a parent with a problem calls one of the mental health agencies with whom we work, they in turn call us. We match the caller to a volunteer parent of a child with a similar disorder. That volunteer, experienced parent will return the call within forty-eight hours, listen to the problem and help in any way he can. If the volunteer parent cannot help, he refers the problem to a trained professional.

Pamphlets advertising our service were published with the help of a generous man and a small grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. These are distributed to local hospitals, doctor's offices, public health offices, medical meetings and health fairs throughout the area.

We hope that our hospital visitation program will work like the experience of one volunteer Hot Line mother. Mary's doctor invited his niece, also the mother of a Down's (more widely known as Mongoloid) child to visit her in the hospital. Joan came loaded with pamphlets, information and first-hand experience. Her visit got Mary off to a good start with her new daughter. With our studies of the Reach to Recovery system (for women who have had breast surgery), plus our Hot Line experience, we hope to convince physicians that enlightened parents can work with them as a team. We can relieve doctors of time consuming questions. Also, we can demonstrate to new parents that although the way is rough, they can have a rewarding life.

Our third activity, a course for parents, has proven successful. Elaine and I took Dr. Thomas Gordon's Parent Effectiveness Training Instructor's course because of a suggestion from my son's pediatrician. We changed the examples to fit our own children's special needs.

How I wish I had been able to use the methods taught in this course before the death of my son in November 1974.

Elaine has had many occasions to use the skills with her son. During the end of our week's training, she discovered Clay sulking in his room before school, complaining of a stomach ache. Before the P.E.T. course her reaction would have been to give him some medicine for a stomach ache and let it go at that. Using what she had learned in P.E.T. she realized his comment might be a coded message. Trying to get down to his basic feelings, she began to send some "You're feeling" messages.

"You're feeling upset about something, Clay?"

"Yes, I don't feel good."

"You feel neglected because Mommy has been gone to school all week?"

"Yes, I do. You don't have time to think about what I do."

"You're afraid I have forgotten about your role in the school play tonight?"

"Yes!"

"Your Daddy and I will be there; we haven't forgotten."

"Great."

"How is your stomach ache?"

"What stomach ache?"

Many examples of improved communication between parent and child (even in non-verbal children) have been reported from our first round of classes. Teachers and doctors find it easier to discuss problems with parents who have taken the P.E.T. course.

Because of my experience with my son, I am extremely gratified that Kappa Kappa Gamma has as its national philanthropy the provision of scholarships for teachers of the mentally retarded and handicapped. Little did I know as a member of Beta Theta how profoundly Kappa philanthropies would affect my life.

During last session in the P.E.T. course, Dr. Gordon reminds us: "You have created a life, now let the child have it." He refers us to Gibran's principle in "The Prophet:"

"Your children are not your children.

They are the sons and daughters of Life's longing for itself.

They come through you but not from you,
And though they are with you, yet they belong not to you.

You may give them your love but not your thoughts,
For they have their own thoughts . . .

You may strive to be like them, but seek not to make them like you.

For life goes not backward nor tarries with yesterday."

It seems to me that Gibran's words are especially fitting to parents of the handicapped child.

By Anne Miller

I am not a physician—just a mother.

I am a musician—also a mother.

I am me—a mother.

What can I give to others?

My experience as a mother.

For more information about Parent to Parent Exchange write: Mrs. Anne Miller, 3425 Pellinor Place, Annandale, Virginia 22003.

Editor's Note: Anne Goodwin Miller, BΘ-University of Oklahoma, is the philanthropy chairman of the Northern Virginia Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae Association. For two years she served as a volunteer music teacher and chairman of volunteers at the Belle Willard School for handicapped children in Fairfax County, Virginia.

In addition to Anne's interest in philanthropy, she is a professional singer in the Washington, D.C. area. As a member of the original Leonard Bernstein "Mass" Company she performed at the opening of the Kennedy Center, and the following year toured with Sol Hurok's Company of "Mass" at the Kennedy Center, the Philadelphia Academy of Music and the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City. Presently, Anne is the director of music at St. John's United Methodist Church in Springfield, Virginia. Anne and her husband have recently adopted a daughter, Blythe Elizabeth.

Northern Virginia Kappa Alums volunteer as teacher's aides at Belle Willard. Funds from the profit of the Northern Virginia Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae 1975 champagne brunch went to underwrite the Parent to Parent Exchange which Anne explains in this article.

Editorial suggestions to this article were given by Anne's Beta Theta sister-in-law, Nancy Barnes Goodwin of Clinton, Oklahoma and Mr. Al Egerton of Springfield, Virginia.

Dayton

Dayton, Ohio alumnae get together at work parties to assemble needlepoint kits designed by Judy Brown Black, BN-Ohio State, and Susan Chandler Wild, ΔΔ-Miami. The kits are being sold to raise funds for Gamma Province's Alumnae-Active Interaction Program.

Fort Worth

Fort Worth, Texas alumnae sponsor an annual Spring Tour of Homes to benefit Young Life and Fraternity philanthropies. Nearly 1,000 persons viewed the three homes on the last tour. In one of the homes refreshments were served, in another the "Kappa Pickers" from Texas Christian University entertained, and in the last one baked goods were sold.

Northern Orange County

The Northern Orange County (California) Alumnae Association had such success when it sponsored a tennis tournament that the group has decided to make the tournament an annual event. The entry fee of $10 per participant covered overhead expenses, such as food and trophies, and netted a handsome profit for "Because We Care," a county organization which utilizes volunteer help to serve numerous social service agencies.

Columbus

A tour of Fraternity Headquarters, conducted by Nancy

Sanor Pennell, BN-Ohio State, and Joan Brightman Thatcher Dean, PΔ-Ohio Wesleyan, was the highlight of a meeting at which the Columbus Alumnae Association welcomed new members. Chairman of the event was Sukey Gallen DiCesare, ΔΔ-Miami.

Central Orange County

The Central Orange County (California) Alumnae Club more than tripled its membership during the first year of its formation. Serving the Tustin, Villa Park and Santa Ana regions, the club meets monthly for luncheons. For a club project, members are collecting usable discards from their homes for "Because We Care," a county philanthropic organization.

Beta Iota

Members of the Beta Iota Alumnae Association in Pennsylvania are proud of the citation their group has received from the Fraternity. It reads, in part: "There are not enough ways to express our appreciation for your faithful support and fine representation of Kappa Kappa Gamma since 1898. You have kept the Kappa light shining on the Swarthmore campus even though we have had no chapter there since 1934. You have loved and honored our Fraternity and set a beautiful example of sisterhood for all Kappas to follow." It is signed by Director of Alumnae Betsy Molsberry Prior and Beta PDA Gay Chuba Barry.

retardates to their highest potential and prevent institutionalization. The program now is financed about 65 per cent by governmental aid and is dependent upon community support for the balance. Mrs. Ibold's interest in such an undertaking came about when she gave birth to a retarded daughter in 1948. When she began investigating facilities for the retarded in her state she realized the lack of proper care and public awareness of the problem. Even after World War II, she says, families with youngsters of below-average intelligence were paralyzed with guilt and shame. "It took guts to come out and say you had a retarded child," she recalls. Undaunted, she placed a front-page notice in the St. Petersburg Times announcing a meeting for parents of the retarded. To her surprise 26 people showed up. The group obtained a charter in 1953 and PARC has continued to grow through the years.

Delta Psi Breaks Ground For New Lodge

By Pam Murfee, $\Delta\Psi$ -Texas Tech

What better news could Kappa alumnae and friends share than the plans for a new lodge for Delta Psi chapter at Texas Tech in Lubbock! After twenty years of being a leading sorority on campus, Kappa is ready to move into a lodge which will adequately serve its chapter.

For over a decade, the Interfraternity Housing Corporation, Inc., composed of the twenty oldest fraternities and sororities on the campus, has owned a 25-acre tract of land west of the Tech campus at 16th Street and Quaker Avenue. The purpose of the purchase was to provide homesites for its member Greek groups in a common area.

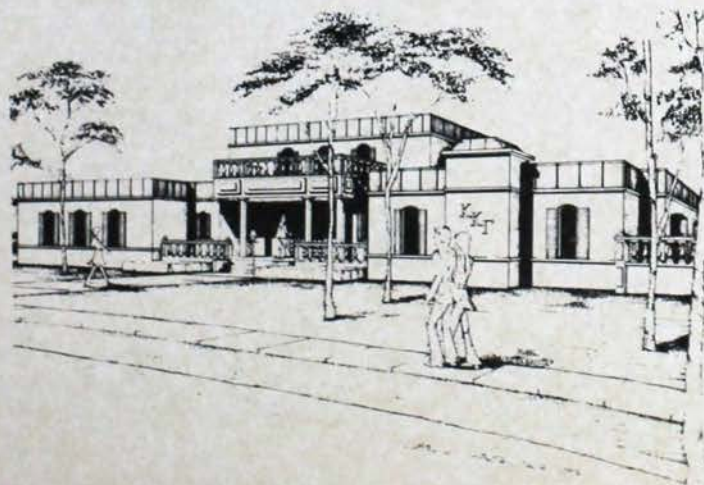

Within the last four years, Greek Circle has been divided among the member groups and equipped with utilities, streets, and paving. Kappa Alpha Theta sorority was the first to break ground and had their first meeting in their new lodge in the fall of 1971. Since then most others have moved into building programs and on January 24, 1976, Kappa held a formal ground breaking ceremony with plans for the formal dedication ceremony this fall. Construction is to be completed by August 1, with costs anticipated to run $170,000. Donations are still needed to complete the upstairs which will be left temporarily unfinished until funds are received. Mrs. Roy Grimes (Jerry Greenman) 3522 58th Street, Lubbock, Tx. 79413, is treasurer of the building fund drive.

Working closely with the architectural firm of Tisdell and Adling is Anne Birkman Hubbard, $\Delta\Psi$ -Texas Tech, who is an interior decorator. The 5,480 square foot lodge is designed in the style of an Italian villa.

The following quotation was borrowed from the Gamma Phi Beta's ground breaking ceremony:

"In loving memory of the heritage of the past; in grateful appreciation of the consecration of the present; in growing anticipation of a glorious tomorrow, we dedicate this parcel of ground upon which shall stand a new chapter house—built on the rock of understanding and love.

May its doors stand for security but open at a touch; its windows look out with kindness toward other houses; its furniture and equipment bear witness that the work of others adds to our comfort; its table remind us that God is the giver of bread, both temporal and spiritual and its books give fellowship with great souls."

Peggy Ackerman, active president; Caroline Oglesby, alumnae president, and Pam Murfee, house board president.

Debbie "Digs" For Fun!

By MARGARET BUFORD, FN-University of Arkansas

The work was tiring and the chiggers and flies were a nuisance. The creek provided the only bathing facilities. But Debbie Oates (Gamma Nu) of Little Rock, Arkansas and her companions from the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville found interesting material left by the Caddo Indians almost 500 years ago. Debbie participated in an archeological "dig" last summer and feels she spent the summer in a worthwhile manner.

Debbie put in some of her time as cook for four women and seven men. She made her home in a tent and awoke at sunrise to the alarm of black flies and crickets. After bathing in a nearby creek, she helped prepare breakfast.

Next, she gathered her equipment, climbed in a jeep, and headed for the site of the archaeological excavation, which, in archaeologists' jargon, is a "dig."

The site—an infinite span of brown and red earth. Debbie's group excavated a site owned by the Standridge family, near a town named Caddo Gap. The town is 60 miles west of Hot Springs, Arkansas.

With persistence and expectation, she would dig trowelful after tedious trowelful. Near 9:00 in the morning Debbie would stop to put up a sun shade for protection against the hot sun's rays.

Back to digging, until about 10:30. Partially refreshed with a peanut butter sandwich and a cold drink, she would dig again until about 2:30 p.m. A typical day—hot and long with an occasional visit from a snake or black widow spider.

Debbie, who is now a senior anthropology major at the University of Arkansas, participated in the program for academic credit. The program is one designed to teach students techniques of excavation, laboratory practices, mapping and survey. The students have the opportunity to acquire experience in excavating a site already cleared and marked for such work.

The group pitched their tents on the grounds of the Caddo Gap School. No hot water or plumbing facilities graced the living quarters. Kitchen facilities in the Home Economics building of the school eased meal preparations for breakfast and supper.

Debbie explains the "dig" excavated a Caddoan Habitation Mound, a site occupied by the Caddo Indians around the 15th century. The site had been partially prepared by the Arkansas Archaeological Society Survey a month before the student group arrived.

No one can be completely sure about the cultural evidence and the conclusions drawn from these "digs," reports Debbie. "Archaeology has been described as myth based on legend related through fantasy," she says.

Debbie did not have to go far under the surface to uncover some evidence. Novaculite flakes or "chips" provided signs of occupancy at one time. Novaculite flakes are generally found on the mountains. When they are discovered in the valleys, as they were at Standridge, it indicates they get there by human means.

"Flotation" was another technique used to gather evidence. In this process dirt filters through screened buckets. Buckets are placed in a creek allowing the current to wash the dirt through. Tiny remains are left on the screens—such as corn kernels, beans and seeds that otherwise would not have been found. These grains suggest the area might have been cultivated by the Indians.

During excavation, three different "house" floors were found. Evidence of hard-packed, burned soil found in rectangular shapes indicated the floors. In one instance, remnants of a short hallway could be seen, with a hearth in the central portion of the rectangle. The excavators also uncovered burned logs. These provided excellent means for dating the remains as the tree rings could be counted.

The members of Debbie's dig found an Indian burial in one of the "houses," uncovering skeletons of two females and one male. A stone blade, found in the burial along with clay pots, bottles and relic jewelry, indicated the degree of prestige held by those buried. The pots bore decorative and graphic designs showing the rather advanced artistic skill of the makers.

"Little excavating has been done in the south central area of Arkansas," Debbie notes, "and little information has been gathered about the Caddo Indians. But more headway can be made through programs such as this where students gain experience by participating in archaeological 'digs.'"

Just a note to tell you how much I enjoyed reading the Kappa history. I know how long and hard you all have worked putting the material together and you've done a super job! One thing did bother me a little—the picture of BN 1957 included me—and I didn't realize I was "ancient history" until my children pointed the fact out to me!

Anyway, great job by you, as always.

Barbara Bidlack Page

... I did exactly what you might expect. I read my chapter first. This led me to realize I will go down in history as being married to my sister's husband, which may come as a surprise to many! Both Sally Hagey Watson and Barbara Hagey Graham were Delta Upsilon—Georgia—Kappas and somehow we got "combined." I, Barbara Hagey Graham, was the field secretary from 1969 to 1970.

Just thought I'd let you know in case the record needs to be changed.

Barbara Graham

Loved the Kappa History. The greatest news this year is that there will be a Kappa Chapter at Texas A & M. Nothing in the world to compare with the Aggie spirit.

But, Texas A & M is not in San Antonio—it's College Station, Texas.

Jo Copenhagen Cox, E-Illinois

Ed. note: Thanks! We know now where A & M is located and expect great things to come from COLLEGE STATION. Summer issue will feature their chapter installation.
